In Memoriam

No more was death a fearsome fact
That brought a shadowy end to precious life;
For Christ had made of death an entrance way
To life that opens wide and deep and high,
Illimitable, joyous, free, eternal in its destiny.
Death was become a door to immortality.

MINUTES OF DOMINION BOARD 1960

THE THIRTY-FOURTH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE DOMINION BOARD OF THE WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Annual Meeting of the Dominion Board of the Woman's Missionary Society was held in Emmanuel College, Toronto, May 24th to May 31st, 1960.

In the opening session on May 24th the President, Mrs. Ernest E. Long led the Board in a service of worship. Following the constituting of the Board, missionaries on furlough in attendance were introduced and overseas students were presented.

The President's address was on the "Theme" of the Board—"Into All The World Together."

Seven new missionaries were appointed to work in Canada and overseas. They were: Miss Shirley G. Beckman, to Angola (in absentia); Miss Muriel E. Stevens, to Angola; Miss Verna M. Crooks, to Lachine, Quebec; Miss Josephine T. Kueman, to Bonnyville, Alberta; Miss M. Joan McLean, to Vancouver, British Columbia; Miss Marion E. Ronalds, to Eriksdale, Manitoba; Miss Wilma P. Sharpe, to Prince Rupert, British Columbia.

Four young women, appointed by Executive for a three-year term of service overseas, were introduced to the Board. They were: Miss Karen F. Hansen, to Japan; Miss Dorothy M. Hurd, to Korea; Miss Miriam A. Skey, to Japan; Miss Margaret J. Storey, to Korea. Miss Skey was present to be welcomed by the Board. To the others who were not able to be present, the Board sent good wishes.

Three associate workers received appointments (in absentia) to work in Canada. They were: Miss Eva Apetagon, to Norway House, Manitoba; Mrs. R. F. Berry, to Calgary, Alberta; Miss Elizabeth A. Caldwell, to Portage La Prairie, Manitoba.

The first business session of the Board was held on Wednesday morning, May 25th. A major item of business in that session was the presentation of the Reports of three Commissions—The Commission on the Work of Women, The Commission on the Integration of the Administration of Overseas Mission Work and The Commission on the Integration of Home Mission Work. In subsequent business sessions discussion was had on the implications in these three reports for the various departments of the work of Dominion Board. From these discussions came comments and recommendations which, endorsed by the Board, were sent back to the Commissions for consideration.

"Mission Night 1960" was the special event on Wednesday evening. The Board and friends of the Board gathered in Deer Park United Church for a service of Public Worship. The guest speaker was Dr. Margaret Shannon, Associate General Secretary of the Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations, United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., whose theme was "Living as a Servant People." Once again, missionaries on furlough, newly appointed missionaries and overseas students were presented.

Noon-hour worship and Bible study for three days, May 25th to May 27th was led by the Reverend George M. Morrison, Assistant Secretary of the Home Mission Board.

Miss Esther Highfield, Home Mission Executive Secretary, gave the report of the year in Home Missions on Thursday afternoon and Mrs. Hugh D. Taylor, Overseas Missions Executive Secretary reported on the Overseas work during the session on Friday afternoon. Thursday and Friday mornings were given to the reports of the work in Scholarship, Candidate, Home Organization and Periodicals Departments.

The Treasurer and Assistant Treasurer gave very encouraging reports of Finance showing a substantial over-all increase in receipts for 1960. Increased allocations for 1961 as presented were accepted by representatives of the Conference Branches and approved by Board.

On Friday evening a special session was held, open to the public, in Emmanuel College, at which time the Board looked at its Missionary Task. Miss Winifred Harris, Home Missionary, and Miss Marjorie Tunbridge, Missionary on furlough from Japan, were guest speakers. The Mission Study for 1960-61 was introduced by the Reverend Charles Stewart and Miss Frances Bonwick. Audio, and Audio-Visual materials were introduced by the Reverend Anson Moorhouse, Miss Helen Currie and Miss Nancy Edwards.

The Annual Board Dinner was held in Annesley Hall on Monday evening, May 30th. Greetings were brought from the Dominion Council of the Woman's Association by Mrs. J. Y. MacKinnon, and from the Executive of General Council by Dr. Ernest E. Long. Miss Elma Inman, missionary on furlough from Trinidad, and Miss Winnifred Sitahal, scholarship student from Trinidad, were guest speakers at the Dinner. They spoke of the work of the Church and of the Church institutions in Trinidad. Tributes were paid to seven missionaries who were retiring. They were: Miss Ruth Lanigan, Miss A. Winifred Harris, Miss Violet M. Stewart, Miss Christina V. Baxter, Miss Florence E. Cruchy, Miss Mary E. Martin and Miss Alice B. Munns. The Board also expressed its very sincere appreciation of the work of several of its Executive members who were retiring from the Executive.

Special tribute was paid to the President, Mrs. E. E. Long who was terminating her service as President at this Annual Meeting. Mrs. C. S. Patterson expressed the deep appreciation of the Board and of the whole Society for the service Mrs. Long has given to the work of the Society and of the Church through the years of her presidency. Her far-sightedness and great concern for detail gave a quality of leadership much needed at this strategic time.

The work of the Board through its various business sessions may be seen in the record of the Board action which follows.

On Tuesday morning, May 31st all business was concluded. At the end of the session, the In Memoriam Service was held, led by Mrs. J. Erle Jones. The Reverend Wilbur Howard installed the officers for the coming year. Mrs. C. S. Patterson, newly installed President gave a closing message to the Board and the Annual Meeting came to a close with the members and friends of the Board joining together in a Communion Service led by the Reverend Wilbur Howard.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE

The following recommendations from Executive were adopted, the following action taken on general matters and the following reports received.

MATTERS REFERRED FROM 1959 ANNUAL MEETING

Memorial No. 3 (1959)—Re W.M.S. Periodicals

Report:

The matter of W.M.S. Periodicals was given careful study by the Executive during 1959-60.

Re The Missionary Monthly

On conclusion of the study, recommendation was sent to the Commission on the Work of Women stating that our Society sees the necessity for a magazine for the new organization for women of the United Church, as a successor to The Missionary Monthly and the Woman's Association Bulletin and that we favour publication of the new magazine for women being the responsibility of the new Board of Women.

The following statement was made with regard to the value of such a magazine and to its contents:

(a) To interpret the purpose and responsibility of the organization to its members.

(b) To give the whole membership a better understanding of the work of the two major uniting organizations which becomes our common heritage.

(c) To interest and enlist a larger number of women in the missionary efforts of The United Church of Canada and in the total mission of the Church.

(d) To provide programme suggestions and news of the women's groups across Canada.

(e) To assist in financial promotion if the organization is to have responsibility for raising a portion of the Missionary and Maintenance funds of the Church.

(f) To retain the interest of the women of the Church in the younger groups and their assistance in providing leadership for them.

The content of the magazines would necessarily be somewhat different from that of The Missionary Monthly and the W.A. Bulletin and should include:

1. Information about the home and overseas mission work of missionaries of The United Church and about important happenings, and trends in the World Church—including material supplementing the current mission study of the Church, recruiting needs, etc.
2. Helps for the various departments and interests of the women's organizations.
3. Aids for worship and Bible study.
4. Accounts of projects of women's groups in the local churches.
5. Items interpreting and supporting work for younger groups.
6. Other matters of special concern to Church women.

It is realized that the new Woman's Organization will seek to develop an inclusive concern for the total work of the Church. Its magazine will not be the organ of an administrative Mission Board as is The Missionary Monthly but a channel for education in the total mission of the Church. For this reason, we feel that the editorial policy for a new woman's magazine must be carefully worked out, taking into account both the educational responsibilities of the new organization and the responsibilities and editorial policies of other Boards.

Re World Friends

The continuance of World Friends magazine within the Church was seen to be a necessity. Following discussion in a Sub-Committee on Periodicals, of the Commission on the Work of Women, it was decided that World Friends should be continued and should be published by some Board of the Church other than the Board of Women. Consultation was had with other Boards and a recommendation regarding the future publication of World Friends appears in the Recommendations from Executive.

In evaluating World Friends in considering where it might be published, the following statement was made:

The increasing use of our children's missionary magazine (now 53,500 subscribers) would indicate that it is stimulating interest and serving a definite need in the Church.

1. Many thousands of children receive the magazine individually through the mail. Their understanding and acceptance of boys and girls of other nationalities (in their own communities and abroad) is facilitated by its reading, and their interest in the work of the Church is increased.

2. At the junior age, many children first choose their future vocations. Through the stories and pictures in the magazine, the young readers see how such professions as teaching, nursing and welfare work, are used in Christian service. It would seem, therefore, that World Friends can be a factor in recruiting candidates for church work.

3. The leaders of Mission Bands, Explorer, Tyro and Church School groups use the magazine extensively as a supplement to their mission study and to other activities.

As there is no other magazine in the church for children, it was felt that World Friends should be continued to serve both children and their leaders in missionary education.

Since it is probable that organizational responsibility for all Younger Groups will in future reside in the Board of Christian Education which co-operates with the Board of Information and Stewardship and the Board of Publication in providing United Church materials for Younger Groups, it will be necessary to clarify both responsibility for publication and the editorial policy for this magazine.

Memorial No. 6 (1959)—Re Pamphlet for use of Church Visitors in Visiting New Canadians

That, following consideration of the recommendation from Dominion Board regarding a pamphlet for the use of Church visitors in visiting New Canadians and having looked over a number of pamphlets available in various languages and consulted some missionaries and Europeans now in Canada, we recommend: That a pamphlet with wording as suggested by the Home Mission Committee be prepared, either in a number of languages in the one pamphlet or in separate pamphlets.

Memorials No. 10 and 14 (1959)—Re Representation on the Executive of Dominion Board

That the regulation governing membership on the Executive of Dominion Board, which provides for five out-of-town members who must be within 80 miles radius of Metro Toronto, be altered to provide for seven out-of-town members within a radius of 125 miles.

Memorial No. 13 (1959)—Re Lord's Day Act

Report:

The Citizenship Committee reports that it finds it inadvisable to attempt to clarify a legal act in a "popular program," since every statement in a legal act has significance as it is stated and can only be interpreted as it stands.

The committee has prepared for publication in July Missionary Monthly, a discussion outline based on the booklet "Why Sunday."

Attention is called to recent discussion and action of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service as reported on pages 150-153 and page 230, of "Witness to the Light" the Annual Report of that Board.

Memorial No. 19 (1959)—Re Worship Materials for Younger Groups

That we do not prepare books of worship materials for Younger Groups but that we draw attention to the many suitable books now in print. A carefully selected list of these is available from the Home Organization Department.

ACTION OF EXECUTIVE RATIFIED

Re Annual Report

Whereas 4,200 copies of "Missionaries at Work" and 4,000 copies of "Facts and Figures," printed in 1959 were a sufficient number;

That for 1960 we have the same quantity printed as in 1959.

RECOMMENDATIONS FROM EXECUTIVE

Re Visit of Miss Wilna Thomas to Overseas Fields

That we authorize the visit of Miss Wilna Thomas, Executive Secretary elect for Overseas Missions, to our Overseas Fields leaving approximately July 1st, 1960 and returning approximately May 10th, 1961 and that the cost of approximately $3,000.00 to be met from Provisional and Emergency.

Re Appointment of a Field Secretary

That the appointment of a second Field Secretary be authorized.

Re Appointment of an Assistant Editor for The Missionary Monthly

That in consideration of the future of The Missionary Monthly, we authorize the appointment of an Assistant Editor, such appointment to be made jointly by The Dominion Board of the Woman's Missionary Society and The Dominion Council of the Woman's Association; and, further, That the Dominion Board and the Dominion Council share equally in the salary.

Re Salaries of Missionaries and Associate Workers

(a) Salaries of Home Missionaries and Associate Workers

That, effective January 1st, 1961

i. Salaries of Home Missionaries be a minimum of $3,200.00 increasing at the rate of $100.00 a year to a maximum of $3,600.00, plus the usual fringe benefits for missionaries and with no change in the basis of rental charges.

ii. Salaries of Associate Workers, who are graduates of the United Church Training School, be a minimum of $3,200.00 increasing at a rate of $100.00 a year to a maximum of $3,600.00 with provision for a short furlough of two months after a term of service.

iii. Salaries of Associate Workers who are not graduates of the United Church Training School, be a minimum of $2,800.00 increasing at $100.00 a year, to a maximum of $3,200.00 with provision for a short furlough of two months at the end of a term of service.

iv. and further, That the salaries of certain Associate Workers with more than ten years of service to their credit but who are not graduates of the United Church Training School be placed within the salary scale for

Associate Workers who have the U.C.T.S. training and that the following workers receive salary in 1961 on this basis according to their years of service:

Miss Ida Drake	$3,600.00
Miss Emily Putnam	$3,600.00
Miss Blanche Gerhard	$3,600.00
Mrs. Winnifred Gall	$3,200.00
Miss Cladys Watson	$3,400.00
Miss Joyce Facey	$3,200.00

(b) Salaries of Overseas Missionaries

That since a study of the salaries and allowances of the overseas missionaries of the Woman's Missionary Society and the single missionaries under the Board of Overseas Missions is now in progress in preparation for the proposed integration of administration of overseas work of both Boards, any recommendation on this matter which may come to the Dominion Board in 1961 be made retroactive to January 1st, 1961.

(c) Furlough Salaries for all Missionaries—Home and Overseas

That, effective January 1st, 1961, furlough salaries for all missionaries—Home and Overseas—be $3,600.00 a year.

Re the Missionary Retirement Fund

(a) That the Retirement Fund of the Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada be closed for receipts of assessments upon the date fixed for the integration of the Home and Overseas Mission Boards of the Church respectively; That all obligations of the Retirement Fund up to that date be met from the Retirement Fund which shall continue until the last beneficiary of the Fund is deceased; and further, That active missionaries of the Woman's Missionary Society be transferred to the appropriate pension plan of the Church as of the date of integration.

(b) That we request the Church, in any improvement in annuities provided for missionaries following the date of integration, to give consideration to the members of the Retirement Fund of the Woman's Missionary Society.

Note: Should the recommendation re the Retirement Fund be unacceptable to the General Council of the Church, there is provision for the winding up of the Retirement Fund and the meeting of the obligations of this Fund in the present Constitution of the Retirement Fund.

(c) That actuarial advice be secured on all outstanding obligations for annuities, pension and retirement fund annuities in view of possible integration with the Boards of the Church and That this advice be received by December 1960.

Re Negotiating the Transfer of Administrative Responsibilities, Staff and Equipment, preparatory to the Integration into the Boards of the Church

That authority be given to Executive to negotiate with the Church in matters pertaining to the transfer of administrative responsibilities, staff and equipment preparatory to the Integration of the work of the Dominion Board with The Boards of the Church.

Re "World Friends"—Subscription Period

WHEREAS younger groups in our churches reorganize in September and many Sunday Schools run their program from Fall to Summer; and,

WHEREAS World Friends is no longer printed in July and August; and

WHEREAS we have had many requests for a change in the subscription period;

That the subscription period for World Friends be changed to run from September to June.

Re Future Publication of "World Friends"

That looking to the continuance of the World Friends as a magazine for education in Missions for children age 3 to 12 years, we favour a plan for its publication by the Board of Publication.

And further, That the Board of Information and Stewardship be apprized of the decision concerning the necessity of continuing World Friends and of the thought given as to the Board under which it might be published and, That we approach the Board of Publication with a request for consultation re publication of World Friends, which might lead to formation of definite plans before the annual meeting of the Boards in 1961.

Re Missionary Education Values of "The Missionary Monthly" and "Missionaries at Work"

That, in addition to planning for the continuation of the missionary emphasis now in The Missionary Monthly within the woman's magazine, the Board of Information and Stewardship and The United Church Observer also be asked to consider ways and means whereby all the missionary education values which are now included in The Missionary Monthly and Missionaries at Work may be retained for the Church.

Re Retirement Fund Annuity

That, since an Actuarial evaluation of Retirement Fund was requested, and figures have been secured, and continuing past Policy of an Annuity payable commensurate with 1½% of maximum salary (i.e. currently $45.00 per year for years of service with a maximum of 35 years), And following approval by Board of the recommendation regarding salaries for missionaries of $3,600 per year, beginning January 1, 1961, Retirement Annuities be $54.00 per year of service with a maximum Annuity of $1,890.00—This to be effective January 1, 1962, the funds required to implement this to be taken from Reserve Funds.

PRELIMINARY REPORT TO THE LONG RANGE PLANNING COMMITTEE

An Analysis of the Work of the Board of Overseas Missions and the Overseas Work of the Woman's Missionary Society from 1927 to 1959

The Decline in Personnel

1. The record shows a generally downward trend in the number of missionaries throughout the period under review.

2. Between 1927 and 1929 the number of O.M.B. missionaries declined from 399 to 380. This was mainly caused by losses in West China due to the revolutionary situation there. In most other areas the numbers remained stationary or showed a slight increase during this period. West China personnel declined from 166 to 137. Japan registered a slight decline.

During the same period the number of W.M.S. missionaries dropped from 186 to 169. Here also the main losses were in West China, with some decline also in North China and Japan.

3. Shrinking budgets during the depression years from 1929 to 1939 resulted in a further serious decline in the number of O.M.B. personnel, from 380 in 1929 to 267 in 1939. The W.M.S. staff was not affected in the same way by the depression. There were 174 W.M.S. missionaries in 1939 as compared with 169 in 1929. Between 1929 and 1933 the number actually increased to 182.

4. The most serious decline in the number of missionaries occurred as a result of World War II, between the years 1939 and 1944, especially from 1940-41 on when all missionaries were withdrawn from Japan and Korea and the work in China and India suffered severe losses. The low point for both Boards was reached in 1944, when there were only 150 missionaries left under the O.M.B. and 92 under the W.M.S.

5. The immediate post-war years saw a temporary resurgence until 1947 for the O.M.B. and 1948 for the W.M.S., as the China staffs were strengthened and missionaries were sent again to Japan and Korea. Then within the next five years the final withdrawal from China brought the O.M.B. staff to its all-time low of 127 in 1952. In the same period the W.M.S. staff was reduced to 109, although it did not drop to the war-time low of 1944.

6. From 1952 to 1956 the O.M.B. staff again increased. The opening of work in Northern Rhodesia and Hong Kong and the strengthening of the staff in Japan, Korea, India and Angola, brought the number of missionaries back to the post-war level of 1945. The W.M.S. staff dropped slightly to 106 during this period, after rising to 115 in 1953.

7. During the last three years the number of W.M.S. missionaries has remained stationary. The O.M.B. staff, however, has suffered another reduction, especially in India and Angola. This has been offset by slight gains in Korea, Northern Rhodesia and Hong Kong, but the general trend is downward. Reasons for the decline include the following: (1) Health; (2) Growing concern about the education of children; (3) Changing conditions in the overseas Churches which result in problems of adjustment and/or serious questions about the role of the missionary. Some of these factors also affect recruiting, with the result that new recruits have not been found in sufficient numbers to offset losses through withdrawals and regular retirement.

8. In all other periods of decline except the most recent one the withdrawal of missionaries has been necessitated by external or historical circumstances. The recent withdrawals are all voluntary (except those for health or similar reasons), and come at a time when there is no external barrier to the continuance of the missionary in his work. This is a matter for great concern. To see the situation in perspective, however, it would be necessary to know: (a) how many missionaries have left the service voluntarily during the whole period since 1927; (b) how many would have withdrawn eventually through frustration, vocational uncertainty or for other personal reasons, had external factors not compelled their return to Canada.

The Relation of Funds to Personnel

A great change in the ratio of funds to personnel has taken place during the period under review. During the earlier years the appropriations from the M. and M. Fund to the Board of Overseas Missions corresponded in a general way to the number of missionaries. During the depression an effort was made to maintain strength in personnel as far as possible by reducing salaries and cutting work budgets. The decline in revenue was thus much sharper than the decline in personnel. In 1927 the Board was spending $2,758 for every missionary (wives included). By 1933 this figure had dropped to a little over $1,400 and it remained at about this level until 1941. The war years saw income maintained at existing or slightly higher levels despite a very sharp decrease in personnel, with the result that the spending per missionary by 1945 was back almost to the 1927 level. The withdrawal from China between 1947 and 1952 was accomplished without loss of revenue to the Board. In fact, the appropriation from the M. and M. Fund increased during this period from $439,841 to $610,000. The opening of work in Northern Rhodesia absorbed some additional revenue, while resources were transferred to other areas in the form of larger grants to overseas churches and institutions. This was reflected in a further sharp rise in the ratio of spending to personnel. In 1952 the Board received from the M. and M. Fund a basic appropriation of $4,803 per missionary. The same trend has continued, especially during the last three years of gradual decline in personnel. In 1959 the M. and M. appropriation amounted to $8,696 per missionary.

Overseas spending by the Woman's Missionary Society followed a curve approximately similar to that of the Board of Overseas Missions up until 1950, except that the fluctuations were not as extreme. The relative decline in income during the depression was not as great, and recovery began earlier. As in the case of the Board of Overseas Missions, salaries and work budgets were cut in an effort to maintain personnel as far as possible. In 1933 a 25% reduction was made in all work estimates, salaries were reduced by 10% and grants to co-operative work by 12½%. Salary reductions were increased to 15% the following year.

Since 1950 O.M.B. income has been gaining much more rapidly than that of the Woman's Missionary Society. Yet there has been a moderate increase in W.M.S. income as over against a stationary or slightly declining number of missionaries on the staff. Thus the recent trend as regards the relation of funds to personnel is similar for both Boards.

It should be pointed out that during this whole period inflation has lowered the value of the dollar considerably. Missionary salaries have increased. In 1945 a married man with two children in his first term in India received $2,100 per year. In 1959 a man in the same circumstances received $3,800. Travel costs and other items incidental to the support of missionaries have also increased correspondingly. The disparity in the ratio of funds to personnel over the years is thus not as spectacular as a superficial glance at the statistics would indicate. Moreover, building and other costs have increased greatly in the overseas fields, and thus the effects of inflation are felt in the work budget as well as in missionary support. Nevertheless, the fact remains that in recent years the support of missionary personnel has accounted for a progressively smaller share of the budget for overseas missions.

General Observations

It must be kept in mind that a decline in the number of missionaries in any given area over the years does not represent as serious a loss in personnel as one might at first imagine. The same period of time has seen a steady growth in indigenous leadership in the overseas churches. National leaders are now doing many things that were once done by missionaries, and the overseas churches have taken over from missions the responsibility for direction of the Christian programme. We shall not again expect to have as high a proportion of missionaries in a given overseas church as we used to have in some areas. It would be a mistake, for example, to look back nostalgically to the time in 1927 when 166 missionaries were working in an area such as the province of Szechwan.

This, however, gives us no grounds for complacency. The fact is that The United Church of Canada has fallen back very seriously in its contributions to Overseas Missions since Church Union. Only in 1959 did the M. and M. appropriation reach and overtake the 1927 level ($1,200,000 in 1959 as compared with $1,100,306 in 1927). The overseas budget of the Woman's Missionary Society, at its highest point now since 1932 ($608,000 in 1959, $620,000 for 1960), is approaching its 1927 level of $673,086 but still well below its 1931 peak of $915,362. Moreover, in view of the decline in the value of the dollar since 1927, our real contribution is actually much less today than the figures indicate. The cost of living index in 1959 was 73.27% above the index for 1927. It thus requires $1.73 today to do the work of $1.00 in 1927. An M. and M. appropriation of $1,903,000 would be needed today to match the real value of the 1927 appropriation. (Note: It would be very difficult to calculate the varying rates of inflation in the overseas fields, but the above indicates the value of the contribution from the point of view of the donor Church.)

At the same time the missionary task of the Church is by no means accomplished. On the contrary:

(1) The resurgence of the non-Christian faiths on the one hand, and the spread of western secular ideologies on the other hand, confront the world-wide Church with the greatest challenge which it has faced for many years.

(2) The population explosion is adding to the Church's evangelistic task at a staggering rate in numerical terms. In 1953 Charles W. Ranson wrote: "The task of world evangelism has hardly yet begun. It is a simple statistical fact that the task confronting the Church today in the evangelization of the so-called 'non-Christian' peoples of world is, in terms of population, more formidable than when Carey wrote his famous Enquiry and set out upon his heroic enterprise to India. The natural growth of the population has far outpaced the slow and steady progress of Christian expansion. The field is still the world, and, if it is a smaller world geographically, it is a much more populous one that it was a century and a half ago." (That the World May Know, pp. 92f.) This problems has become even more aggravated since this was written. The ratio of Christians to non-Christians in the world—already calculated at 2%, 1% or less in many of the populous areas of the earth—will continue to shrink as the population mounts.

(3) With mounting populations human need also mounts. Poverty, hunger and disease are terrifying spectres haunting our civilization. While governments and inter-governmental agencies are now moving into this field with resources far larger than the Churches can command, there is still a challenging need for the peculiar ministries that the Church can render in the name of Christ. If here and there governments are able and willing to take over services initially begun by missions, the Church will find other fields in which to pioneer or to complement the efforts of other agencies.

The United Church needs to face in a massive way her responsibility for world-wide mission in our day. This means on the part of the Church at large a renewal of conviction regarding the Lordship of Jesus Christ and a renewed dedication of her resources to the fulfilment of His mission in the world.

On the part of overseas mission boards it means working out ways in which our Church can participate effectively in world mission in partnership with other Churches under the changing conditions of the present day.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

Missionary Personnel

The pattern of missionary work has changed radically over the past few years, as has been already pointed out, and will continue to change. The so-called "younger churches" are increasingly developing their own leadership and are taking over responsibility for the administration of their work. "Missions" are passing out of existence, and the responsibility and authority once vested in the "mission" now rests with the local Church. The missionary now works as a colleague and partner ("fraternal worker" as he is sometimes called) within, at the invitation of, and under the direction of the overseas Church. Some of the Churches of Asia are beginning to send out their own missionaries and thus participate in the world mission along with the Churches of the West. The world Christian mission is thus becoming a world-wide partnership with a world-wide base instead of a unilateral, western-based operation as was formerly the case. Such organizations as the East Asia Christian Conference point up this shift of balance.

This does not mean that missionaries from our Church will no longer be needed. The Overseas Churches are still very weak in leadership and face overwhelming tasks. Their own responsible leaders are appealing to us to send missionary colleagues, although they are quite vocal as to the type of missionary who will be regarded as acceptable. In most of the areas where we work, more missionaries are required than we are at present able to recruit. At the same time, missionaries will not be required in as large numbers as in the past, for the reasons above noted. In spite of the overwhelming evangelistic task which we face in the world, we must resist the temptation to flood the overseas territories with missionaries, even supposing we are able to do it. There are some groups who are doing this on a large scale. Their evangelistic zeal is commendable, but their strategy is open to question, as they tend to ignore the importance of building up the indigenous Church as the real evangelising agency. Our policy must be to strengthen the overseas churches for their evangelistic task, and to provide missionary personnel only to the extent that will serve these ends.

As for the kind of missionaries needed today, D. T. Niles stated recently that they are of three kinds: (1) specialists; (2) short-term appointees; (3) those who go for life service.

Finance

The present trend as regards the ratio of funds to personnel will likely continue for some time. It has proven extremely difficult in recent years to find new recruits in sufficient numbers to meet the requests from the Overseas Churches with which we are working. An intensified recruiting campaign may yield better results—but the conditions under which we operate today call for an increasing emphasis on quality rather than on quantity as such. Further, the saturation point in the existing areas of work will be lower than formerly, as noted already. The opening of new fields or new work through ecumenical channels will absorb additional personnel. Nevertheless the probability is that, provided givings to the M. and M. Fund continue to increase at the present rate, we shall have available more and more money to invest in our overseas work that is not related directly to the support of missionary personnel. If a larger share of the M. and M. Fund should be allocated to overseas work, as many people in the Church believe should be done, this would be even more the case! Indeed, we will have a responsibility to present the Church with a programme that will challenge it to a larger investment of its givings in work beyond our own shores. At this point great wisdom will be needed. The effectiveness of an evangelistic programme in any given area does not necessarily vary directly as the amount of money invested in it. Too high a level of subsidization of a given overseas Church may sometimes have a damaging effect. Money must be spent with great care in such projects as will not cut the nerve of local stewardship and evangelistic effort. As a general principle, therefore, we shall not look forward to increases in grants to overseas Churches for their regular work, but rather consider specific projects, perhaps on a short-term basis, as grants for regular work decrease due to increasing self-support by the Churches themselves.

A Programme of Expansion

We look forward to a programme of expansion along the following lines, each of which will have to be carefully studied and worked out:

(1) Expansion in the existing areas. The secretaries of the two Boards have been requested to make a detailed study of the needs and opportunities in each of the existing areas of work over the next ten years. The results of this study, after discussion by the committee as a whole, will be embodied in a later report.

(2) The opening of work in new areas, preferably in cooperation with existing Churches or missions. A survey of areas for the possible establishment of new work is now being made, particularly in reference to Latin America.

(3) Participation in "ecumenical mission" in a more flexible way by contributing funds and/or personnel to projects under the International Missionary Council, the World's Student Christian Federation, or other ecumenical organizations. We believe that this type of development will be in harmony with present-day trends in the Christian world mission. Authority is now being sought from the Executive of the General Council for a change in the Constitution of the Board of Overseas Missions which will make possible the adoption of such a flexible policy.

The following will serve as illustrations of the types of project in the ecumenical field which are being considered in this connection:

(a) Further participation in the work of the Mindolo Ecumenical Centre, Kitwe, Northern Rhodesia.

(b) The sending of personnel for student work through the World's Student Christian Federation for work under S.C.M.'s in various areas.

(c) Strategic short-term projects in Christian Literature through the Committee on World Literacy and/or in radio and audio-visual communication through RAVEMCCO.

(d) A cooperative study on the approach to Islam in Africa through the International Missionary Council.

(e) Funds to make possible an exchange of missionaries from churches overseas to The United Church of Canada.

As we move further into the field of "ecumenical mission" it will be seen that there are areas of possible overlapping with other organizations within the United Church, particularly the Committee on Overseas Relief, Inter-Church Aid and Service to Refugees. For this reason there will be need for continuous consultation between the proposed new Board of International Mission and the Committee on Overseas Relief, Inter-Church Aid and Service to Refugees.

Re Constitution, Wonju Hospital Board, Korea

That approval be given to the following change in the wording of Article 11, Section 4, of the Constitution of the Wonju Union Christian Hospital as approved at Dominion Board, 1959: "Staff nurses shall be appointed or dismissed by the Director of Nurses, subject to the approval of the Superintendent of the Hospital", in place of ". . . after consultation with the Superintendent of the Hospital".

Re Deed of Trust

That the following Deed of Trust be approved as the legal document covering the transfer of our W.M.S. property in Japan from the UCC Shadan to the IBC Shadan, in place of the one approved at the Dominion Board in 1959:

JAPAN PROPERTY TRANSFER AGREEMENT

This agreement, made this day of , in the year of one thousand nine hundred , by and between the of (herinafter called party of the first part), and The Zai Nippon Interboard Senkyoshi Shadan of Room 801, Bible House, No. 2, Ginza, 4-chome, Chou-ku, Tokyo (hereinafter called party of the second part),

WHEREAS party of the first part conveyed or transferred the real and personal properties which are described in the annexed list and will convey or transfer to the part of the second part various kinds of properties in the future from time to time and party of the second part has received said properties or will receive properties in the future and hold them in its name as the legal owner thereof; and

WHEREAS party of the second part is willing to comply with the wishes of the party of the first part to render assistance, in cooperation with other organizations who are members of the party of the second part, to the United Church of Christ in Japan in engaging in and promoting evangelistic, educational, social, medical and other work among the people in Japan, and the conveyance and/or transfer of said properties were or will be made upon trust for such purposes:

NOW, THEREFORE, THIS AGREEMENT WITNESSETH:

1. Party of the second part declares and agrees to hold, manage, use or dispose of these properties in the best judgment and discretion of the party of the second part, subject to conditions or instructions, if any, which may be prescribed or given by the party of the first part for the propagation of Christianity, carrying on of Christian education, and performance of works of charity and benevolence.

2. In holding these properties, party of the second part shall keep clear accounts and/or keep correct records so as to keep them separate and independent from other properties and also clearly indicate in the books that they are properties held in trust as prescribed hereunder.
3. If and when party of the second part sells or otherwise disposes of subject properties subject to specific instructions of the party of the first part by reason either of their being no longer used or of the party of the second part being dissolved, party of the second part shall transmit the proceeds of sale or other disposition thereof to the party of the first part through the Interboard Committee for Christian Work in Japan, unless otherwise instructed by the party of the first part.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the undersigned have hereunto set their hands on the day and year first written above.

Zai Nippon Interboard Senkyoshi Shadan

Re Missionary Housing, Trinidad

That approval be given to the following recommendations of the Joint Policy and Medical Committee re Missionary Housing in Trinidad:

1. That residences for missionaries are planned for the use of missionary personnel and are not necessarily attached to any institution. Such residences which happen to be located adjacent to an institution do not necessarily belong to that institution.

2. That if in any individual case a missionary residence is to be transferred to Presbytery (or to one of Presbytery's institutions, or to other competent authority, e.g. Committee for Women's Work), the residence should be sold or rented at its real value, and budgeted for in the proper quarter and at the proper time. The transfer should not be hastily arranged, but should be preceded by consultation between the Boards in Canada and the Committee of Missionaries on the one hand, and the Presbytery or other competent authority on the other hand, this in accordance with the recommendation from the Committee of Missionaries.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF EXECUTIVE COVERING HOME MISSIONS

Re Recruiting Needs for 1960-61

That the recruiting needs for the Home field for 1960-61 be as follows:

2 (Husband and Wife) for a School Home
2 Church Extension Workers
3 Rural Community Workers
1 Inner-city Worker
2 Workers among Indians
1 Worker among Chinese
9 Nurses, including 2 Superintendents

Assiniboia—Re Sale of Part of Property

That, subject to the approval of General Council, we sell to Mr. George Radu of Assiniboia, for the sum of $1,000.00 cash, 50 feet of our property in Assiniboia which is not needed by our Society, this 50 feet to comprise Lot No. 5 (40 feet) and the most easterly 10 feet of Lot No. 4 in connection with the Assiniboia Girls' Residence.

Assiniboia—Re Sale of Additional Part of Property

That, subject to the approval of General Council, we sell to Mr. Keith Bishop of Assiniboia, for the sum of $1,000.00 cash, 50 feet of our property in Assiniboia (in addition to the 50 feet recently sold), which is not needed by our Society, this 50 feet to comprise the most westerly 30 feet of Lot 4 and the most easterly 20 feet of Lot 3 in Block 40 Plan W2283, Assiniboia, in connection with the Assiniboia Girls' Residence, this land also to be used for the erection of a residence.

Namur—Re Sale of School Home and Furnishings

That, further to our action in October 1959 regarding the disposal of the Namur School Home building, and on the recommendation of the Superintendent of Missions for the Montreal-Ottawa Conference, with the approval of the Board of Home Missions and subject to the approval of General Council, we now sell the Namur School Home (which is attached to the manse) to the congregation of the United Church in Namur (known as Eglise Unie Saint-Paul de Namur), for the sum of One Dollar ($1.00), on the understanding that the Trustees will keep adequate insurance on the building and maintain it in respectable condition, this to be effective May 1st, 1960, and further, that the furnishings be included in this transaction.

Smoky Lake—Re Sale of Smoky Lake House

That, with the approval of the Alberta Advisory Committee, and subject to the approval of General Council, we accept the offer from Mr. John Benard of Edmonton, Alta., who is to be the Public Welfare Officer in the Smoky Lake area, of $6,500.00 for our Smoky Lake residence, on the following terms: Cash down payment of $1,000.00, the balance of $5,500.00 to be payable at $60.00 a month, including principal and interest at 6% per annum.

Regina—Indian—Re Sale of House

That, subject to the approval of General Council, and on the recommendation of the Advisory Committee of the Saskatchewan Conference Branch, because of the need of Miss Ida Drake for larger quarters in Regina for Indian work, and with the approval of the Home Missions Committee at its June meeting to sell the house at 210 Broad St., Regina, when a suitable offer was received, we now accept the Offer of Purchase of $6,000.00 from Cervase Smith, Dorothy E. Smith, Dale Cameron and Letitia Cameron of Regina, Sask., for Lot 1, Block 73, City View, Regina, Sask., known as 210 Broad St., as of July 1st, 1959, and on the following terms: $700.00 deposited on June 26th and the balance of $5,300.00 before possession is granted to the purchasers upon acceptance of this offer, this price to include one oil burner and one space heater in the house and one Connor washing machine.

Regina—Indian—Re Purchase of New House

That we authorize the purchase of a three-bedroom bungalow at 248 Angus St., Regina (Lot 29, North 20 feet of 28 Block 63, Plan Coronation Park A.P. 5716) at a cost of $13,000.00 cash, to replace the smaller house sold recently for $6,000.00, this house to be used by our worker among Indians in Regina, cost to be met from Property Account, a deposit of $450.00 to be forwarded immediately to reimburse the Saskatchewan Conference Branch funds, the balance, $12,550.00, to be sent to Drope & Hosie Co. Ltd., Regina, to be held in escrow pending registration of a clear title and all extra work to be completed in a good and workmanlike manner in accordance with the Offer to Purchase.

Moose Mountain—Re Permit for Use of Land for Church

That we ask the General Council of The United Church of Canada to complete on behalf of the Woman's Missionary Society the Agreement between Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth the Second in right of Canada and The United Church of Canada whereby permission is granted for the use of a parcel of land for a Church site on the White Bear Indian Reserve No. 70, in the Province of Saskatchewan, (described as all that certain parcel of land on the southeast quarter of projected Section 16, Township 9, Range 2, West of the 2nd Meridian, having a frontage of 60 feet and depth of 115 feet, lying adjacent to and immediately east of the Moose Mountain Mission site and as designated by the Indian Superintendent), this permit to be for the term of one year from the first day of November, 1959, and thereafter from year to year as long as required and during the pleasure of the Minister of Citizenship and Immigration, the Church to pay annually in advance the sum of $1.00 on or before the first day of November every year, this amount to be met from the Moose Mountain Estimate.

Moose Mountain—Re New Church and Christian Education Centre

That, on the recommendation of the Saskatchewan Advisory Committee and the Superintendent of Missions for Southern Saskatchewan, we authorize the building of a Church and Christian Education Centre combined on the Moose Mountain (White Bear) Indian Reserve at Carlyle, Sask., at a cost not to exceed $15,000.00 to be met from Property Account with the hope that it will be covered by Gifts for Building Advance, and further, that Mr. J. Lyle Pickering, our lay worker at Moose Mountain, act as supervisor and contractor and employ Indian labor where possible.

Bonnyville—Re Sale of Soil

That, on the request of the local Hospital Board and with the approval of General Council, we authorize the sale of soil from the Katherine H. Prittie Hospital, Bonnyville, to the Department of Highways, for the construction of the road from the hospital to Bonnyville, the amount to be reported later.

Ethelbert—Re Sale of Doctor's Residence

That, as our medical work in Ethelbert, Man., has been discontinued for some time and there has been no doctor there, and with the approval of the Manitoba Conference Branch, subject also to the approval of General Council, we accept the offer of Mr. William M. Paziuk of Ethelbert, Man., of $2,500.00 cash for our doctor's house in Ethelbert; and further, that while Mr. Paziuk is having water and plumbing installed separately in the house we allow him the privilege of hooking up with the hospital water system until the summer, but not later than September 1st, 1960, at a suitable rate to be decided.

Ethelbert—Re Sale of Ethelbert Hospital

That, with the approval of the Manitoba Advisory Committee, and subject to the approval of General Council, we accept the offer of $3,000.00 cash from the Ukrainian Greek Orthodox Parish of Ethelbert, Man., through Mr. N. A. Hryhoreczuk of Ethelbert, for our Ethelbert Hospital, to be used as a manse for their minister, as the medical work in Ethelbert has been closed for some years.

Burns Lake—Re New Nurses' Residence

That, on the urgent request of the Burns Lake and District Hospital Board and Dr. G. E. Darby, the Hospital Co-ordinator, we approve of the erection of a new Nurses' Residence at Burns Lake as soon as possible, while the construction company is still in Burns Lake, at an estimated cost of $60,000.00, our Society to contribute approximately $22,000.00, with the knowledge that Government grants of approximately $38,000.00 will be forthcoming eventually but that we may have to advance the full amount in order to begin immediately, to be met from Property Account General.

REPORT OF EXECUTIVE COVERING FINANCE

FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1959

This year, our membership provided 91.6% of our income with which our established work is maintained.

Receipts

In 1959 total receipts for the General Fund amounted to $1,562,058.26.

Conference Branches	$1,431,666.19
Donations	47,596.58
Interest on General Fund	70,013.22
Sundry	12,782.27
Total	$1,562,058.26

Re Grants from Property Account

Total disbursements covering grants from Property Account in 1959 were $299,446.18. Of this total, $201,431.69 was for Overseas Missions and $98,014.49 was for Home Missions. Interesting points are the sale of the house in Regina for $6,000.00 and the purchase of another larger house and additional furnishings for $13,500.00 for better accommodation for our Indian work there. You will be interested to know that we have received from the Province of Alberta in repayment of our capital investment in the John Neil Hospital, $16,418.00 in 1959.

Re Gifts for Building Advance in 1958

The 1958 objective was $65,000.00 and we did not reach the full amount. However, we did raise $39,752.44 for G.B.A. in that year. This was not available for spending until 1959. Disbursement has been made as follows:

	Objective	Amount Raised	Disbursement
John Neil Hospital, Cold Lake Operating Room and Equipment	$40,000.00	$21,771.38	$ 3,745.75
Korea, Library, Ewha University	25,000.00	17,981.06	17,981.06

RECOMMENDATIONS APPROVED

Re John Neil Hospital, Cold Lake

Whereas all the funds for the building of John Neil Hospital at Cold Lake were drawn from Property Account General before this G.B.A. amount was raised and because current property requirements are excessive;

That the amount of $18,025.63 remaining to the credit of John Neil Hospital, Cold Lake, Alberta in Property Account Designated be transferred to Property Account General.

Re Indore Christian College

Whereas there is still no assurance that the site for a women's hostel at Indore Christian College can be obtained and because present property needs exceed present funds;

That the unused G.B.A. amount of $27,500.00 raised in 1955 for a women's hostel for Indore Christian College, India, now be released from Property Account Designated and be credited to Property Account General.

Re Policy of "Gifts for Building Advance" in 1961

That we continue the Policy of "Gifts for Building Advance" in 1961 and set the objective at $65,000.00 with the understanding that the total amount of allocation sent to each Conference Branch plus the estimated Conference Branch Legitimate Expenses be allocated to the Presbyterials and that the total allocation sent to each Presbyterial plus estimated Presbyterial Legitimate Expenses be allocated to the local organization.

Re Auditors for 1960

That we appoint as our Auditor for 1960, Ross, Touche and Company, Chartered Accountants.

Re Scale of Salaries for Salaried Officers

That the salary scale for salaried officers be raised from $4,000-$4,500 to $4,500-$5,000, and that all salaried officers now in our employ be placed on the maximum salary from July 1, 1960.

Re Cost of Living Bonus

That missionaries serving in head office receive a cost-of-living bonus of $300.00 per annum retroactive to January 1, 1960.

Re Estimates for 1961

That the amount available for 1961 Estimates be $1,600,000 of which $465,000.00 be allocated for Home Missions, $625,000.00 for Overseas Missions, and $510,000.00 for all other Estimates. Any amount over allocation shall be drawn from Current Reserve Fund.

Re Home Mission Estimates

That the Home Mission Estimates for 1961 be as follows:

Boarding Schools and School Homes	$ 36,405.00
Community Missions East	109,231.00
Community Missions West	122,188.00

Re Allocations for Conference Branches—1961

That the amount allocated to Conference Branches for 1961 be $1,500,000.00, summarized as follows:

Alberta	$ 68,400.00
Bay of Quinte	153,100.00
British Columbia	77,620.00
Hamilton	195,800.00
London	221,400.00
Manitoba	104,120.00
Maritime	159,210.00
Montreal and Ottawa	157,120.00
Newfoundland	13,500.00
Saskatchewan	78,560.00
Toronto	271,170.00
	$1,500,000.00

Since this sum is essential to the maintenance of our total work, it must be safeguarded by the following:

(a) There should be no unallocated amounts allowed to remain in the Conference Branch.

(b) All Finance Committees of Conference Branches should make adequate allowance in their budgets for all necessary expenses of their Branch, so that amounts remitted to Dominion Board be not less than the allocations above mentioned, plus expenses.

(c) As proven in the past, proportionate and systematic giving is the most worthy method of our Missionary Finance and should therefore be encouraged.

(d) Conference Branches should give all possible assistance and encouragement to Presbyterials that they may reach and exceed their allocation in order to have the satisfaction of contributing toward "Gifts for Building Advance."

REPORT OF THE CONFERENCE OF MISSIONARIES

The report of the Conference of Missionaries was presented by Miss Margaret Scrimgeour. On the motion of Miss Scrimgeour, seconded by Mrs. VanAllen, the report was accepted. The report read as follows with recommendations contained in it dealt with as indicated.

1. We wish to express our thanks for the privilege of attending this thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Dominion Board. For us to share in the fellowship and deliberations is a mountain-top experience of our furloughs. From this peak unfolds the view of the new and broader highway on which all the women of the Church will reach out "into all the world together".

We also wish to thank members of the Dominion Board for the tangible expressions of their concern as evidenced by grants for furlough studies, the increases in furlough salaries, pension benefits and in many other ways.

2. Furlough Study

WHEREAS it is the feeling of the W.M.S. Missionaries coming on furlough that information and/or advice regarding furlough study would be much appreciated, and, since under the new program of integration not only single women but all the missionaries will be concerned, we recommend that provision be made for executive responsibility in the area of advice and information about furlough study, for example (a) a list of colleges, schools and possible courses of study available in Canada, the United States of America and other countries. (b) The availability of appraisals of previous furlough study. (c) Information re special institutes or conferences such as Bossey, Switzerland. (d) Information regarding programs of Canadian lay training centres. (e) Possible observation of useful work and experimentation.

Note: If such information were given a year in advance of furlough, it would facilitate consultation with the Church where the missionary works.
AGREED.

3. Missionary Education

WHEREAS it is essential that the entire Church be well informed re the work of the Church at home and overseas, and whereas ministers are the chief means of educating our Church, and whereas we note that many of our ministers have had no opportunity to study missions during their theological course, we strongly recommend that, wherever possible in consultative relationship with other boards, the executive of the Dominion Board urge that the necessary steps be taken to make a course in missions compulsory for all theological students.
AGREED.

4. Slides

WHEREAS some missionaries coming home on furlough are desirous of borrowing slides to use in deputation work and whereas other missionaries have good pictures from which slides or film strips could be reproduced and be made available to the whole church, we recommend that consultation be made with the audio-visual department of the Board of Information and Stewardship with a view to clarifying procedures through which these things could be done.

It is further recommended that the members of the Furloughed Missionaries' Conference be made aware of resources available through Avel and other channels.
AGREED.

5. Pension Policy

WHEREAS the present policy regarding the making of final payments on the decease of recipients of the Retirement Fund is liable to cause adverse criticism from families and friends, we recommend that, if at all possible, the procedure used by the Church be the same as the one used by the government.

Action of Board re the above recommendation on Pension Policy was as follows:

That we receive this recommendation from the Missionaries' Conference and refer it to the Executive for their consideration, and further That any amendment to the Constitution of the Retirement Fund, which may be proposed by the Executive following its consideration of this recommendation, be sent to the Conference Branches prior to their Annual Meetings in 1961 so that it may be considered by the Annual Meeting of Dominion Board in 1961.

MEMORIALS FROM THE CONFERENCE BRANCHES, 1960

From Bay of Quinte Conference Branch

1. Re In Memoriam Certificates

Whereas the "In Memoriam" certificate in its present form is lacking in warmth; and

Whereas a suitable verse inscribed therein would give more comfort to the bereaved;

Recommend: That the following verse, or one more suitable, be inscribed on all "In Memoriam" Certificates;

Deepest Sympathy goes out to you,
May God send you hope
With each new day,
His love and care
To guide your way

Not Sustained

FROM LONDON CONFERENCE BRANCH

2. Re Mission Band Reporting

Recommend: That the Mission Band Superintendents be required to report to the Presbyterial Secretary for Mission Bands only once a year, rather than twice; and that one report form annually be required.

Not Sustained

3. Re Worship Services in The Missionary Monthly

WHEREAS worship services in The Missionary Monthly are considered too difficult for proper presentation in the time allotted;

Recommend: That they be simplified, but include candle lighting worship services for special programs e.g. Christmas and Easter. Not Sustained

4. Re New Organization for Women

WHEREAS a new woman's organization is in the process of formation which will include both W.M.S. and W.A.;

Recommend: That earnest thought and most prayerful consideration and study be given to all phases of this plan to make certain that the great and vital work accomplished by the self-sacrifice of loyal W.M.S. women in the past will be sustained and strengthened in the new group.

Sustained

FROM MONTREAL AND OTTAWA CONFERENCE BRANCH

5. Re Relationship with W.A. Presidents

WHEREAS in 1957 Dominion Board sustained a Memorial, the concluding recommendation of which was "that Woman's Association Presidents, at all levels, from local to Dominion, may be made corresponding members of the Woman's Missionary Society Executives;" and

In order to extend the full courtesy to Woman's Association Presidents that the parallel by-law of the Woman's Association extends to Woman's Missionary Society Presidents;

Recommend: That the word "corresponding" be deleted from the original recommendation. Sustained

6. Re Women in Full Time Church Work

WHEREAS, we of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference Branch, Woman's Missionary Society, think it would be a meaningful experience for girls and women entering training for full time service in Church Work to be recommended and received by their local Presbytery; therefore Recommend: That this matter be given careful consideration with a view for incorporation in the next revised United Church Manual.

Referred to Executive for Study

FROM TORONTO CONFERENCE BRANCH

7. Re "Candidate" Reports

WHEREAS there is such an urgent need for candidates in the various fields of the work of the Church; and

WHEREAS it is one of the responsibilities of the W.M.S. members to present this need to young people; and

WHEREAS in many congregations, there have been no recruits over a period of time;

Recommend: That the following questions be added to the Annual Report form sent to Auxiliaries and Federations:

"Have you had a candidate from your Church enlist for full time service this year?"

Referred to Executive

REPORT OF THE RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE

Re Television and Radio Broadcasting

1. WHEREAS we realize the tremendous influence on public opinion of television and radio programs

(a) Resolved: That a letter of commendation be sent to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for producing such programs as "Invisible Rain", The Heritage Series, the Tabloid interview concerning parole of prisoners, the close-up interview with Mr. Norman Phillips, programs dealing with the refugee such as Trans-Canada Matinee programs on World Refugee Year and the Christmas Eve program "Report from Kapfenberg". (A copy of this letter to be sent to Dr. A. Stewart, Chairman of Board of Broadcast Governors).

(b) Resolved: That a letter be sent to Mr. T. J. Allard, Executive Director, Canadian Association of Broadcasters expressing apppreciation for the initiative of local radio and television stations in producing educational and citizenship programs; and commending them for their cooperation with Churches and other local organizations in their "educational and citizenship objectives."

2. WHEREAS the Board of Broadcast Governors has presently on its books regulations forbidding advertising on radio or television by beverage alcohol corporations;

Resolved: That a letter approving the restriction of beverage alcohol advertising be sent to Dr. Andrew Stewart, Chairman, Board of Broadcast Governors, Ottawa.

Re Food Surpluses

3. WHEREAS about half the world population suffers from chronic malnutrition, and famine occurs periodically in many areas, and

WHEREAS food surpluses build up in certain areas of the world from time to time;

Resolved: That we commend the Government of Canada for its recent action in releasing stocks of food and grain to needy countries; and, taking into account the economic complexities involved in solving the whole food problem, that we urge the government to do everything in its power to aid the economic and agricultural development of the less fortunate countries, giving all possible aid in the Colombo plan. We also recommend that it consider support for the World Food Bank.

Re Laws Dealing with Sex Offenders

4. WHEREAS the report of the "Royal Commission on the Criminal Law Relating to Criminal Sexual Psychopaths", published in March, 1958, after four years of intensive study, begins with the statement:

"The fundamental criticism of the Canadian law is that it has not proved to be effective", and

WHEREAS the Commission Report gives a well-documented condemnation of the existing law, which the government has so far not amended:

Resolved: That we urge the Government of Canada through the Minister of Justice to amend its law relating to criminal sexual psychopaths with all possible despatch; and provide facilities for scientific research into the problem of sex deviation with a view to providing treatment.

Re Immigration and the Refugee Problem

5. WHEREAS there are those in Canada willing to adopt Korean orphans, particularly those of mixed blood, and other refugee children not otherwise admissible to Canada;

Resolved: That we request the Government of Canada through the Minister of Citizenship and Immigration to facilitate the admission to Canada of such Korean orphans and other refugee children who can be placed for legal adoption in Canadian homes.

6. WHEREAS the government of Canada has admitted 100 refugee families with tubercular members and has announced it will admit additional similiarly afflicted families;

Resolved: That we heartily commend this action and urge the government of Canada to enlarge this scheme to include not only families with tubercular members but those with members physically handicapped.

7. WHEREAS the Government of Canada has now announced that it will extend the private sponsorship program of admitting refugee families beyond the end of World Refugee Year;

Resolved: That we urge members of our Society to encourage local congregations or church groups to sponsor refugee families as a practical demonstration of their sincerity of purpose in this matter.

8. WHEREAS we regard Canada's immigration laws as too limiting in the face of world needs, and discriminatory as regards race,

Resolved: That, in agreement with the policy of General Council, we request the Government of Canada through the Minister of Citizenship and Immigration to amend its immigration regulations to include larger quotas from Hong Kong, Japan, Korea, Haiti and the Federation of the West Indies.

Re International Affairs and World Peace

9. WHEREAS a new crisis has presented itself in world tension and we believe that Canada has a strategic position in the world;

Resolved: That we commend the Government of Canada through the Prime Minister in its efforts to control nuclear armaments and take part in disarmament conferences; that we express our confidence in the government that it will keep pressing for continued negotiation in efforts to resolve differences and tensions among nations; and that it will always keep in mind that cessation of nuclear tests and disarmament are essential steps to world peace.

Re Temperance Education

10. WHEREAS it is recognized that education with regard to alcohol and its effects on the individual and society is essential to the control of its use;
Resolved:

(a) That members of our Society be urged to help to implement the recommendation of the Canadian Temperance Federation that there be a counsellor, or Temperance Committee in every local church with education material for frequent presentation to all church groups.

(b) That we commend the Canadian Temperance Federation for its encouragement of Youth Temperance Groups and the publicity given.

Re Penal Reform

11. WHEREAS on the release of women from federal penitentiaries and provincial reformatories, provision is made for money in their pockets, and

WHEREAS there is no such provision made for women released from jails;

Resolved: That we send letters to the Departments of Reform Institutions and the Attorney-General of the various provinces requesting that girls and women, being released from court on acquittal from jail on completion of sentence, be given means of returning to their homes.

TRIBUTES TO BOARD MEMBERS AND MISSIONARIES RETIRING

BOARD MEMBERS

Mrs. Ernest E. Long

This Dominion Board honours another greatly beloved President who this year is concluding her years of service as President. Mrs. Ernest E. Long has guided the Dominion Board and its Executive through three very strategic years in the history of the Society and of the Church. It would not be possible fully to express the appreciation which all those who have worked under her leadership have felt for her unstinting giving of herself, her time and her ability.

Mrs. Long brought to her office an intimate knowledge of the Church and a deep concern for its mission. She had served in congregations, in Presbytery and Conference areas, in the Church at large, and in the organizations of the Woman's Missionary Society. She became a member of the Executive of Dominion Board in 1953, first in the capacity of Secretary for Christian Citizenship. In this office she gave an outstanding service, but left it in response to a call to become a Vice-President and to serve as Chairman of the Candidate Committee. To this Chairmanship she brought her knowledge of candidate work, and her understanding of the need for missionary personnel, having served in earlier years as a Candidate Advisor in the Montreal and Ottawa Conference Branch.

In 1957 Mrs. Long became President of Dominion Board, and through the years since that time, she has given her discerning mind and dedicated spirit to many complex problems of the Society and the Church.

Mrs. Long has represented the Society at General Council and on the Executive of General Council. She has been a member of the three Commissions of General Council which have been studying the future of women's work and the future of the administration of missionary work—namely, the Commission on the Work of Women, the Commission on the Integration of Overseas Missions, and the Commission on the Integration of Home Missions. She has contributed much to the planning for future organization and future work of the Church.

The Dominion Board is grateful for the service Mrs. Long has given and for the leadership which her far-sightedness and devotion to mission has enabled her to give.

Mrs. C. Maxwell Loveys

It is with joy and a very real sense of gratitude that members of Dominion Board may join with Mrs. Loveys in looking back over the years of her service for the Church. We believe they have been years as rich for her in all that makes life worth-while as they have been for all those who have been privileged to be associated with her.

Mrs. Loveys began her work with the Church in St. Columba House, Montreal, as Church Social Worker. This was before her marriage when she served as a Home Missionary. Her interest in people and her ability to meet strangers and help newcomers resulted in her next appointment being that of Immigration Worker at the port and railway terminals in Montreal.

After a furlough in 1931 she became Travelling Secretary for the Woman's Missionary Society and filled that position until her marriage two years later. During the few but happy years of her marriage she, with her husband, shared a vital interest in the work of their Church and their home was always open to Church workers, Church groups and their countless friends from all walks of life.

In 1935 Mrs. Loveys was appointed by the Dominion Board to the office of Home Mission Executive Secretary. Since that time, for twenty-five years, she has been part of the Home Mission of our Church. From Newfoundland to British Columbia she has travelled and many have been the places, and the events, the institutions and particularly the people that have been touched with the warmth of her personality and the wisdom of her understanding.

Mrs. Loveys' service to her Church has been much wider than just through the Woman's Missionary Society. She has been an active member of Timothy Eaton Memorial Church, Toronto. She has been a member of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service; a member of the Board of Home Missions and its many committees; a member of several committees of the Board of Christian Education.

Mrs. Loveys has contributed much to the work of The United Church of Canada. She has been part of all that our Church has been and she will continue to be part of the greater future that lies ahead for the vision which she has brought to these latest years of her service is one which will carry forward into the years to come in the shaping of a Church growing in its witness and service to the people of this country.

The Dominion Board rejoices with Mrs. Loveys in all the years of her service and wishes her well in all the years to come.

Mrs. A. D. Matheson

Mrs. A. D. Matheson is resigning at this Board meeting from her position as Secretary for Korea, in which capacity she served faithfully for three years. Before accepting this office she had been a Member Without Portfolio on the Executive, and a member of the Overseas Missions Committee. Prior to this she had experience as Candidate Advisor on the Toronto Conference Branch.

Her gracious, friendly personality has endeared her to those with whom she has worked. The Overseas and Scholarship Committees have particularly appreciated her ability to co-operate and her willingness to go the second mile.

The Korea missionaries join with the Executive members in saying "thank you" to Mrs. Matheson and assuring her that our very best wishes go with her.

Mrs. Gordon Sisco

Mrs. Gordon Sisco, who is leaving the Executive following this Annual Meeting, has had many years of interest in the work of The Woman's Missionary Society. Her concern for the work of missions has been grounded in an all-inclusive concern for the total work of the Church. Mrs. Sisco, who as the wife of Dr. Gordon Sisco, for many years the Secretary of General Council, has known well the whole work of the Church and the relationship each part of the Church bears to all other parts in the carrying-on of that work.

Mrs. Sisco has served the Dominion Board in several capacities—formerly as a member of the Home Mission Committee and more recently as a member of Executive without portfolio and as a committee chairman. The Board and its Executive are grateful for the services she has given.

Mrs. J. R. Wilkinson

A daughter of the Manse, and experience in teaching has been the fine background from which Mrs. J. R. Wilkinson came to our Dominion Board. For more than ten years Mrs. Wilkinson has been Secretary of Indian Work and a member of the Home Mission Committee. During that time Mrs. Wilkinson has visited every piece of Indian work under our W.M.S. but one. Also, she has attended several Conferences of Indian Workers both in Canada and in the United States, and was a member of the Commission of General Council on our Indian Mission Work.

We shall remember Mrs. Wilkinson for her quiet friendliness, her gift of music, her warm hospitality and her strong Christian character, and our best wishes go with her and her husband not only in the coming year in Great Britain, but in all her endeavours in the years to come.

She has made a fine contribution to the life and welfare of our Indian people.

MISSIONARIES

Miss Christina V. Baxter

Miss Christina V. Baxter is retiring after thirty-six years of service in India. Born at Drumbo, Ontario, she later moved to Hamilton, and after matriculation there, she attended the Faculty of Education in Toronto. Returning to Hamilton she taught for nine years before she left for India under the Presbyterian Church in 1924. She was stationed at Jhansi for language study. In 1925 she was transferred to Dhar under the United Church where she was in charge of educational and evangelistic work for her first term.

On her return from furlough in 1931 she became Principal of the Teacher Training Classes at Indore. This was her special work, broken for one term when the classes were discontinued but taken up again when they were re-opened.

From early days in India Miss Baxter's good judgment in the many phases of Mission work was much appreciated by her colleagues and she was appointed to many committees. From 1947 to 1952 she was Associate Secretary. In 1951, during Miss Martin's furlough, the duties of Treasurer of the Mission also devolved upon her. For several years she also served as Secretary of the Educational Commission.

Another service rendered for some years was that of editor of Jyoti Kiran, the little Sunday School paper published in Hindi by our Mission but used widely throughout the Hindi-speaking area of India and beyond.

Miss Baxter's deep interest in the girls of her Teacher Training Classes, whose careers she has followed with joy and sympathy, is attested by the continuing contact she has with many of them. Throughout our area are found many Indian fellow-workers, men and women, who look back with gratitude to her guidance in their difficulties and to her encouragement. She leaves behind a host of friends who remember her with warm affection and who wish for her many years of active and enjoyable retirement.

Miss Florence E. Gruchy

A tribute to Miss Florence Gruchy who for 39 years has served in India.

Miss Gruchy was born in France and took her elementary education in England. After coming to Canada she graduated from the University of Saskatchewan and as a nurse from the Winnipeg General Hospital. She joined the Woman's Missionary Society staff in India in 1920.

Her first appointment was to the newly opened Banswara Hospital where she became the first nursing superintendent. Here she organized a fine nursing service to meet the needs of the aboriginal peoples, the Bhils who lived in the area. Florence shared in the pioneer labours of Miss Catherine Campbell and Dr. Chone Oliver for the Church and the medical work in Banswara district.

In subsequent years Florence Gruchy worked and taught in the Ratlam, Hat Piplia and latterly the Indore Hospital.

All through the years Florence Gruchy's primary concern and interest has been in the teaching and training of Indian nurses and the many aspects of this work such as the translating of nursing texts into Hindi. Early in her service she became a leader in the founding of the Mid-India Board of Examiners for Nurses, which assisted in standardizing Nurses' Training in Christian Hospitals in Central India. She was a pioneer and a member of the first executive of the Nurses' Auxiliary of the Christian Medical Association which aims to fortify the spiritual and cultural life of the student and graduate nurses as well as giving them an opportunity to share professional knowledge.

These were two outstanding efforts on behalf of the nursing profession in India.

Miss Gruchy has been a competent, respected and beloved instructor, friend and colleague to nurses, patients and other missionaries. A seed has been sown; leaven has been hid in the meal. The life and example of Florence Gruchy will continue to inspire generations of Indian nurses. We pay our tribute to Miss Florence Gruchy for the many years of devoted service and wish her well.

Miss A. Winifred Harris

Miss A. Winifred Harris is the daughter of a Newfoundland parsonage. As her father's "right hand man," she received excellent training for her life work long before entering the Methodist National Training School. Moving every three or four years (as was then the custom for Methodist ministers) she was lighter of Church fires, organist, Sunday School teacher and leader of youth groups in various Newfoundland centres. Often, too, she accompanied her father to missionary meetings, where she led the singing and, with a friend, sang duets unaccompanied, because of no instrument. As later in China, and more recently in Canada, her sense of humour and ability to tell a good story endeared her to many, many Newfoundlanders.

Her call to overseas was very definite. While serving under the Home Mission Board in Winnipeg she was one evening urging young people to respond to Christ's call to serve Him overseas, when an inner question suddenly came, "Why don't you answer the call yourself?" Before long, in 1921, she was on her way to West China, confident that this was God's purpose for her and, somehow, an extension of her father's ministry.

After language study Miss Harris was appointed to work in the strongly Buddhist and conservative city of Kiating. There she served for many years, both as an evangelistic missionary in city and country and as an educational missionary in the Girls' Primary and Middle School. During Miss Graham's absence on furlough in 1935-36, Miss Harris made a great contribution to the Christian cause in Fowchow in both school and Church. Her last term in China, prior to and throughout the first one and a half years of Communist rule, was lived in Chengtu, where, as Secretary-Treasurer of the Woman's Missionary Society West China Mission, her responsibilities in that disturbed time were very great. Following the missionaries' withdrawal from China, and furlough, she served in the Canadian Chinese work, from 1952-57 in Vancouver, then for two years in Ottawa.

Miss Harris has always exerted a strongly Christian influence in the place and upon the people amongst who she has lived. Not only has she preached the truth as it is in Christ, but she has demonstrated it in her daily life. Through her, many have seen something of the fulness of life offered to mankind by Christ. She has been a friend to all—the high, the low, the illiterate country woman, the keen University student. They have loved her and trusted her. In time of war, of insecurity, sorrow and stress; she mediated faith, hope and love till those whose lives her life touched grew strong again. Always, but especially in the time of revolutionary change, her Christian insight and wise counsel meant much to the leaders of the Church in West China.

Recently a young Chinese, who came from Ottawa, was asked if he knew Miss Harris. His face lit up in a wonderful way as he replied, "Oh yes, she is my very good friend. She was at my wedding. She helped me so very much. Now she writes to us sometimes from Vancouver!"

Though Miss Harris is retiring from the active work it can be no real retirement, for the faith, hope and love that are hers in Christ do not cease with the passing of years.

Miss Ruth Margaret Lanigan

Miss Ruth M. Lanigan, whose home is in Melbourne, Que., had business training before studying at The United Church Training School.

After graduation in 1928 she spent two busy years with the young people in the School Home at Wahstao, Alta., and then began five years of important work at the Ukrainian Mission in Winnipeg. She learned to speak Ukrainian and this knowledge, together with her sympathetic understanding of the problems of New Canadians, endeared her to the whole Ukrainian community.

The year 1935 was spent in furlough, after which she served a year in community work at Sault Ste. Marie.

In 1937 Miss Lanigan accepted an appointment to File Hills, Sask., where she served in Indian work until 1942. Her patience and quiet manner made her work with the Indians most effective.

In 1943 we find Miss Lanigan in Northern Frontenac in Ontario, and after three strenuous years in this remote area she was appointed to community work in the City of St. John, N.B.

After two years the West beckoned again, and Miss Lanigan went to Drumheller, Alta. Here, again, her sympathetic understanding of human problems helped her to interpret the Saviour's love for all mankind and the Church's desire to help them.

1950-51 was furlough year and then began a long and interesting term at United Mission, Sydney, N.S.

For the past two years she has served in Hamilton at All People's Churches, St. Christopher's in particular, and here, as in all her previous appointments, Miss Lanigan's ability to play the piano, sing and teach crafts has been a great asset.

The Woman's Missionary Society appreciates the service she has rendered and wishes her many happy years of retirement.

Miss Mary E. Martin

One recalls the words of Carlyle: "I should say sincerity, a deep, great genuine sincerity, is the first characteristic of all men in anyway heroic." To know Mary Martin is to become impressed with her integrity and with the feeling that she has found the secret of the "Art of Noble Living". During the last few years in particular we have been more and more aware of her uncomplaining heroism.

In answer to the call from her Master and His Church she came to India in 1921 and after studying the language in Ujjain was assigned to take responsibility for the evangelistic work in the Ratlam area. In 1928 she was appointed to Dhar where she served until her retirement. There she not only guided the evangelistic workers but was also responsible for the work of the school, a task she handled with the utmost thoroughness.

We remember her perhaps most for her outstanding contribution in the Treasurer's office. For 14 years she served as Treasurer of the Mission Council and for ten years as Treasurer of the Executive Board. With the formation of the Masihi Sewa Mandal she had the distinction of becoming the first Treasurer of that body. At the same time she had the responsibility of the Treasurership of Malwa Church Council and also of the General Assembly of the United Church of Northern India.

At all Council meetings people constantly looked to her for guidance and as the authority in financial matters. Many a time the admiring laughter would burst forth, when after discussing some impractical financial venture, Miss Martin would firmly bring the Council to reality by saying uncompromisingly "We haven't got the money—you can't do it".

It would seem that we took her hard work, sound judgment and ability too much for granted. We were reminded of this rather sharply when a government official from Delhi visited her office. After examining the book-keeping system and noting that a colossal amount of work was done by only two staff members, he expressed his amazement and admiration for the skill of the Treasurer.

It was her rectitude that made so many people wend their way to her office for advice and counselling—from the school children, to the evangelistic staff members, teachers, fellow missionaries, and high Church officials, both Indian and Canadian. They came with the assurance that even though what they heard might be hard it would be a generous and just judgment.

Guests to her home have memories of evenings spent quietly over good books, stimulating laughter-filled conversations, the strains of good music—a home where gracious living was the keynote.

In India people recall the deep, quiet faith of Mary Martin that was so obviously expressed in her attitude towards her work and to people. Perhaps too they are learning the lesson she taught so clearly.

were wisdom—in the scorn of consequence."
(Tennyson)

Miss Alice B. Munns.

Miss Alice B. Munns, a daughter of the manse, went to India in 1919. Her first appointment was Principal of the Girls' School and School Home at Neemuch. On her return from furlough her field of service for the next twenty years was at Ujjain. She was associated with the late beloved Miss Jessie Grier. For a number of years she was Principal of the School but a great evangelistic zeal, no doubt inherited from her father led her to transfer to Evangelistic work. In 1935 Miss Grier laid her mantle on Alice's shoulders and from henceforth her time was spent in the villages teaching the women and children of Jesus Christ. Today many men and women can point to her and say "It was she who persuaded my parents to let me go to school and who encouraged me, nay more, made it possible for me to go." Her great sense of humour, her love for and understanding of people drew them to her.

In 1946 she remained at home to undertake a labour of love for her aging parents. When that task was completed she returned to India where for the past ten years she has continued her village work in the Kharua District adjoining Ujjain. In the lives of many village Christian women the event of the year was a holiday to Kharua to attend a school for leaders. To some it was an opportunity to learn to read, to others intensive Bible Study, to all health study, child care and good fellowship.

For many years Miss Munns edited the Sunday School paper for children: "Rays of Light". Thus through the printed page she was able to reach the hearts of young and old and to strengthen them in matters spiritual. "Rays of Light" has wide circulation in India and goes to some of the Islands in the Pacific where India's people are found.

Her executive ability and sane judgment were highly regarded by her colleagues. She was Associate Secretary of the Mission and has served on nearly all committees of Mission Council, latterly of the Mandal.

We are grateful for her years of selfless service in India. We wish for her contentment, happiness and peace as she joins the ranks of those who have completed their active missionary service. May she be blessed and be a blessing among the loved ones in the homeland.

Miss Violet M. Stewart

Miss Violet M. Stewart, whose home is Toronto, has had a varied and interesting service in Honan, West China, Korea and Canada.

Because of her business experience, she was appointed in 1918 to Hwaiking, Honan, as an assistant in Industrial Work.

After furlough she returned to Hwaiking in Honan and then on to Tientsin.

During the years from 1931 to 1936, some of which were furlough years, some leave of absence, Miss Stewart spent one year at The United Church Training School.

After this year of study she returned to Honan as an Evangelistic Worker among women and girls.

Miss Stewart, after a short holiday, worked in the London Missionary Society Hospital in Tientsin. During the disturbances at the beginning of the Second World War she was among those transferred to West China, where she spent two years.

Miss Stewart came on furlough in 1942 and took courses in weaving in Montana and became a master weaver. This craft became very useful a few years later in Korea.

As it was still impossible to return to China because of the war Miss Stewart served one year as Office Secretary in the Overseas Department of the Woman's Missionary Society before returning to Honan in 1945.

In 1947 she was again transferred to West China, where she taught weaving.

At the close of her furlough in 1952, because of the political situation in China, Miss Stewart was appointed to Home Mission work in Calgary in Trinity Church.

January 31st, 1954, Miss Stewart was released from Calgary to prepare for a special type of work in Korea, and took a few months' refresher course in weaving in New York. In April, the same year, on loan to the Korea Church World Service, Miss Stewart left for Korea to teach weaving to the Korean widows and remained until she had trained a Korean to succeed her in this project.

Her next appointment was in Bienfait, Saskatchewan, in community work. This field she found to be a very challenging charge, but her outgoing personality and her fine Christian witness overcame many difficulties.

July 1st, 1959, Miss Stewart received furlough and retires July 1st of this year.

The Woman's Missionary Society gives thanks for a woman of so many fine talents, who willingly served where the need was greatest.

One still possessed of so much vitality and enthusiasm will surely find much to do in the future days for the Church.

We wish for her the continuing blessing of health, happiness and service as she begins this new phase of her life.

HOME MISSIONS

"From ocean to ocean and from the river to the ends of the earth"—from Newfoundland to British Columbia, the St. Lawrence, Great Lakes, plains and mountains to the North West Territory—this is Canada. Here reside people in large cities and lonely frontiers—rich and poor, old and young. The Home Mission spirit of our Church seeks to present Christ to every man, woman and child in Canada. Dr. D. T. Niles, General Secretary of the East Asia Christian Conference, speaking in Atlantic City to the Joint Assembly of the Division of Home and Foreign Missions of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., reminded us that our Lord is at work and we are called to be witnesses. "As witnesses for Christ," he said, "we make our lifetime vocation the intense identification with people outside the Church." In other words, the Church must draw a circle large enough to include all within and without. She cannot become a "closed club." Her mission is truly a mission to the uttermost. Such implies coming to know people and persons in their own right where they are now. It means working with people, rather than doing for people. It means a recognition of the fact that we are "our brother's brother" rather than "our brother's keeper" and that at no time can we spiritually ostracize another child of God, no matter who he may be.

In this diminishing world, where deep resentments burn within the hearts of countless millions against nations, classes and persons, there is a growing consciousness that all are in this together, and that what happens to one affects all. We live in dangerous times, and yet withal we live in the presence of contrasts. For example, we accept without question the over-abundance of food which is provided at every meal during a Conference called to consider the Mission of the Church at Home and Overseas, at the very moment that the headlines in a local newspaper read: "War on Hunger, Eisenhower pleads." In reality we cannot have our Christian religion separate from the people around us; nor can we live this life, or life after death, out of harmony with the Creator of it. In the words of R. H. Edwin Espy, the Assistant General Secretary, National Council of Churches: "Ours is a total Gospel for the total needs of man in the total world. It is too big for a divided Church. The unity of our mission must transcend our divisions, it must embrace the nations, and it must also encompass all the departments and functions into which the Church of our specialized age has come to be divided."

"Integration" is a word that has come to have real significance during the year 1959. Many streams within our United Church are coming together and new life is in the process of being born: a new Woman's Organization—a new Overseas Mission Board—a new Home Mission Board. We are all caught in the implications of this new birth. Within our own Society we sense closer relationships as we mutually share in particular phases of our Church's life with the various Boards of our Church—the Board of Evangelism and Social Service, the Board of Home Missions, the Board of Christian Education—particularly as we have shared in the expanding ministry of our Church through the Sunday School in the Home—by Mail and Air, the Church Vacation Schools, Christian Youth Caravans and the Senior Adult Movement.

Co-Workers in the W.M.S. Home Mission Enterprise—Who are they?

Fifty-four missionaries and 51 associate workers stationed all across Canada, giving dedicated service;

A Home Mission Committee of conscientious "full-time" volunteer women working under the Executive of the Dominion Board at 85 St. Clair Ave. East, Toronto;

The Conference Branch Advisory Committees, providing more volunteer women, whose wise counsel and criticism cannot be measured;

Summer students who go from The United Church Training School to serve on W.M.S. and Board of Home Mission fields in Canada;

Our full-time W.M.S. staff at 85 St. Clair Ave. East, with special mention of the Finance Department and our own two excellent and dedicated office secretaries in the Home Mission Department;

Last, but not least, the woman in the Auxiliary who gives of her time, talent and means to make this possible.

These are they who carry forward the Home Mission cause of the Woman's Missionary Society—"Co-workers with God."

We remember with appreciation and thanksgiving the lives of those of our number who have moved into Higher Service since our last Dominion Board. We shall be remembering them in a special Memorial Service:

Miss Alice Cronkhite
Miss Lottie M. Deacon
Miss Henrietta E. DeWolfe
Miss Adelaide Harrison (Home & Overseas)
Miss Jeanie R. King
Miss Emma J. McDougall
Miss Ethel McEachran, B.A. (Home & Overseas)
Miss Sophie Mitchell
Miss L. Clara Preston, Reg. N. (Home & Overseas)

Other changes have come to our Home Mission personnel during the year. We would pay tribute to three of our missionaries who retire from the active work, namely, Misses A. Winifred Harris, Ruth Lanigan and Violet Stewart. These women will be receiving recognition for their years of service at this Board.

Five of our workers submitted their resignations as W.M.S. missionaries. Miss Hedwig D. H. Bartling, a member of the Deaconess Order, continues to serve the Church in a congregation in Vancouver. Miss June M. Rothwell is nursing in a city hospital. Miss Geraldine Dearing and Miss Grace King resigned to marry ministers. Miss Nancy Caverhill, a nurse, will be leaving our Katherine H. Prittie Hospital in June to marry a minister in Saskatchewan. We would say a word of appreciation of Mrs. Harriet A. Phillips, an associate worker, who resigns this year after many years as Matron of our Children's Home in Lachine, Que. Our best wishes and prayers follow all these women.

We have appointed five new Home missionaries and one associate worker from this year's graduating class of The United Church Training School:

Miss Verna M. Crooks, B.A., has been appointed to the Children's Home, Lachine, Que.

Miss Josephine Kueman, Reg. N., to the Katherine H. Prittie Hospital, Bonnyville, Alta.

Miss M. Joan McLean, to the Chinese Church, Vancouver, B.C.

Miss Marion E. Ronalds, Reg. N., to the Elizabeth M. Crowe Memorial Hospital, Eriksdale, Man.

Miss Wilma P. Sharpe, Registered Technician, is to undertake a new work in Prince Rupert, particularly among our Indians.

Our associate worker is Miss Elizabeth Ann Caldwell, B.A., who has been nominated by our Society to be Teacher-Advisor under the Indian Affairs Branch at our Indian Residential School in Portage la Prairie, Man. She will be the Director of Christian Education in the residence.

We are also appointing Miss Eva Apetagon, a young Indian Canadian woman, a graduate of the Cook Christian Training School, Phoenix, Arizona, to work with Mrs. Gall at Norway House. We have a particular interest in Eva, as she is one of our W.M.S. Scholarship students.

While we have ninety-eight women and seven men in Home Mission Work across Canada under the Woman's Missionary Society, and many more under the Board of Home Missions, there are still many places without a worker.

We face this Board knowing we are far from meeting the recruiting needs for the Home field for 1960-61—our bare minimum needs being:

2 (Husband and Wife) for a School Home
2 Church Extension Workers
3 Rural Community Workers
1 Inner-city Worker
2 Workers among Indians
1 Worker among Chinese

20

The new Inter-Board Committee on Recruiting, upon which the Woman's Missionary Society has representation, is making every effort to secure more recruits, but this must become the job of all of us. We need men and women for full-time work in the Church and we need them now. He or she who enters into this work can be assured of a full and challenging life with never a dull moment—some hard moments, 'tis true, but with God's help you get through them.

For a close-up of the work of our Missions for the year 1959, you will want to procure a copy of "Missionaries at Work" as soon as it is off the press.

We shall now look at the work as a whole from the W.M.S. offices of the United Church House, Toronto. We shall do so under the six categories into which our Home Mission work is divided, with an additional section relating to a witness made to our Universities last year.

BOARDING SCHOOLS AND SCHOOL HOMES

The School Bus may be seen in all parts of Western Canada transporting children from the more isolated spots to one of the large modern school units which has taken the place of a number of country school houses. Motor cars make travel easy. The local grocer in the small town is by-passed for the shopping centres in larger towns and cities. This has resulted in a diminishing need for Boarding Homes. Children live at home and commute to school.

Our two residences in Bonnyville, Alta., are not needed as Boarding Homes. Last year the Boys' Home was vacant and only six children were in the Girls" Residence. A similar story can be told in Teulon, Man. Only the Girls' Home was open last year, with three girls in residence. The Children's Home in Lachine, Que., is a notable exception and continues to meet a real need for 19 boys and 10 girls.

A new situation has arisen, however, and it would appear that we shall continue to need Boarding Homes for some time for some of our Indian Canadian boys and girls during the years of integration. This experiment last year in the Assiniboia Girls' Residence in Saskatchewan verified this fact. Seventeen girls, 11 to 17, were in residence in 1959 attending the United Church and the Public School in Assiniboia. They came from the different Reserves in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, where unfortunately many of our Indians have been infected with the undesirable characteristics of our "white culture." In the love and affection of our Home, and within the Church, school and community, it is our hope that as we come to know each other as persons there will develop a growing understanding and respect in an atmosphere that says, "You are my child and not an unwanted biological accident."

The Federal Government, through the Indian Affairs Branch, is very conscious of what can happen, and they ask us to consider keeping both our Homes in Teulon open as Boarding Homes under the Church for about 30 teen-age boys and girls, many of whom could not take advantage of higher education for various reasons if they remained in their homes on the Reserve. As in the case of our Assiniboia Girls' Residence the Indian Affairs Branch would pay $50.00 a month for each Indian boy or girl. With the Indian Affairs Branch, we should like to see both Indian and non-Indian use our Homes, but, as has been said, there is not the same need for Boarding Homes for our non-Indian boys and girls. The fact remains, too, that three of the non-Indian children left the Assiniboia Girls' Residence this year when the Indian children arrived. This whole process of integration is a two-way street upon which each of us has still to find his or her way.

Through money grants to the Board of Evangelism and Social Service it has been possible to further the work of The Church Home for Girls, East St. Paul, Man., The Inter-Provincial Home for Young Women, Moncton, N.B., The Victor Home for Unmarried Mothers, Toronto, Ont. and The United Church Home for Girls, Vancouver, B.C. We have also continued our interest in the French Institute, Pointe-aux-Trembles, Que, and St. John's Hall, Quebec, Que., through a grant to the Board of Home Missions.

Last year, at the request of the Superintendent of Missions of the Montreal-Ottawa Conference and the minister of Seven Islands, Que., we authorized a Scholarship of $300.00 to Miss Gloria Osborne of Harrington Harbor in order that she might have the privilege of attending High School in Seven Islands. We also authorized a Bursary of $750.00 for the school year for Miss Adrienne Paquette, a French Protestant girl from Thurso, Que., who is taking Grade X work at Pointe-aux-Trembles French Institute.

COMMUNITY MISSIONS EAST

Sometimes we forget that people are persons and that some of these persons live in St. John's, or in an isolated fishing village in Newfoundland. Sometimes we must be reminded that Helen, a little Negro girl, is discovering a new meaning in life because of her contacts with th C.G.I.T. group in the United Mission in Sydney, N.S. We must be reminded that Mr. and Mrs. Black, after sitting in the missionary's Church Membership class in Newsom Hall, Glace Bay, N.S., have decided to enter into full membership in the Church; that it does matter to the little old lady, alone in one of the public wards, that the hospital visitor stops to wipe away her tears and chat awhile; that there is someone at the Port to meet the young Italian family and to care that they find a place to live. How can we ever know what it means to Mary, a woman of the street, to be invited to come in for tea by the attractive young missionary, as she pauses to watch a group of women entering City Mission in Montreal; or what it means to Bill, age seven, whose deserted mother is struggling to make ends meet, to enjoy the hot meal which is served each day in St. Columba House in Montreal; or what it means to the little handful of people who come together in Muskoka or Matheson to worship? Sometimes we forget that there are persons living in the heart of a Hamilton, a Toronto, a Windsor, a Sault Ste. Marie, or that some of them are lonely, hungry, unemployed, or some of them are caught in a web of sin of one kind or another.

While the Home Mission enterprise has been instrumental in making life more abundant for many in 1959, there were still many unmet needs in our Community Missions East. For months we had no one for City Mission in Montreal. It was only when one of our Overseas missionaries from India returned to Canada to be with her elderly parents that we were able to arrange for her to spend four days a week in City Mission. We have had numerous requests from the Board of Home Missions for more workers.

In 1959 our work in Northern Frontenac was closed, in order that it might be transferred to the Board of Home Missions and an ordained minister posted there. Our missionary was transferred to the Lakeview United Church area in Port Credit.

Two of our women were in Immigration work in Toronto and later one was transferred to work in the Bathurst St. United Church area in the same city.

Upon the request of the Board of Home Missions we opened work in the Church of the Redeemer in Montreal among the Italian people, employing a young Italian woman.

While we were unable to provide as many persons as needed, grants were made to the Board of Home Missions to help with the work at Brunswick St. United Church, Halifax, towards the salary and maintenance at Minto, to the Church of All Nations, Montreal, Church Extension in Toronto, the Immigration Centre in Toronto and towards a worker in Elliot Lake.

We take pleasure in having a share in furnishing the new Fred Victor Mission, Toronto, which should be completed before the end of 1960.

COMMUNITY MISSIONS WEST

In a letter accompanying her annual Narrative Report, one of our missionaries writes, "I am not happy with my Report. It seems scrappy, no continuity, but I guess that is how my job is. There is no one big project to report as such, yet all these small projects are integral parts of that great project we are all engaged in—the bringing of folk into a knowledge of the love of God and His Son, Jesus Christ, that they may learn to know Him as their Father and as members of His family."

We are very conscious of the individual person within the "whole," yet we must be equally conscious that the "whole" is not an individual person, but many, many persons. We are living in a time when persons are being born so quickly and persons are living so much longer that the "whole" is in danger of becoming mass bound and distorted. We witness this process going on in community after community in Canada. A city bulges out into the mountain sides—spreads over the plains—even encroaches into the midst of great lakes, which are reclaimed to make more room for more people. Schools and Universities cannot keep up with the growing population and poor housing has become a common social problem in all our urban centres. Isolated communities like Prince George, B.C., are filled with scores of transients, men and some families, without social and spiritual resources to cope with the situations.

Our Church through the Home Mission cause, is striving to keep both to the forefront and the edge of the work of the Church in Canada. Dr. M. C. Macdonald, the Secretary of the Board of Home Missions, at its Annual Meeting, drew attention to the fact that in 20 years our population will range somewhere between 24,000,000 and 27,500,000—or an increase from 6,300,000 to 9,000,000 persons. He went on to say, "This means more from M. and M. for Property and Church Extension budgets. It means an intensified recruiting programme to provide the ordained ministers, trained women workers, and an ever-growing list of full-time lay workers." More people—more money—is also the plea of our Woman's Missionary Society. Requests keep coming to us as a Society to finance and send out more and more women workers as Church Extension workers, Institutional workers and Rural Community workers.

While the report for 1959 for Community Missions West is a worthy one, it does not begin to keep up with the need, money-wise or person-wise.

In Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver seven of our W.M.S. workers served within Inner-city Institutions and aid-receiving congregations under the Board of Home Missions. We also had four Hospital visitors under our Community Missions West, whose ministry was to those in hospitals in Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary and Winnipeg.

We have opened two new pieces of work, namely; Church Extension in Calgary and to assist the Rev. Gwen Symington on the nine-point Evergreen Pastoral Charge in Edmonton Presbytery.

We were also able to place two women in Edmonton and one in Vancouver to serve as Church Extension workers.

In the pamphlet, "New Prospects for the Rural Church," prepared by the Joint Committee on the Rural Church appointed by the Board of Home Missions and the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of our Church, a very careful study has been made, which warrants our attention. "The time has come for The United Church of Canada to take a bold, imaginative and creative approach to the work of the Church in rural society . . . A realistic assessment of the present situation, however, reveals the fact that critical days have come upon many rural communities in Canada and therefore upon the rural Church. Changing sociological, economic and population conditions are challenging the Church to re-examine her position in the country and to explore new methods and approaches to the task of communicating the Gospel."

The tremendous shortage of ordained ministers has affected the rural Church particularly. The trained woman worker can make a real contribution. Unfortunately, there are all too few available. Last year eight of the women graduates of The United Church Training School and three others had pastoral charges in Presbyteries in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. Before the end of the year, when one of these young women became the wife of a Saskatchewan minister, we had no one to take her place. We were unable to fulfil requests for workers in Flin Flon, Man., Fort William, Ont., Sudbury, Ont., Smoky Lake, Alta. and Prince Rupert, B.C.

When ordained men were available we closed out the work in the Loon Lake area in the Battleford Presbytery and in Bienfait, Sask., thus freeing two of our missionaries to begin other work this summer.

As in Community Missions East, the Woman's Missionary Society makes a grant towards the salary of an office worker in First United Church, Vancouver, B.C. and two women workers for Central Mission and Point Douglas Mission in Winnipeg, Man.

INDIAN

"Please do not judge an Indian until you have spent a moon in his moccasins."

Reference has already been made to opening our Boarding Home in Tenlon, Man., to include Canadian Indians. In the year 1959, besides the 17 boys and girls who reside in our Girls' Residence in Assiniboia, Sask., 110 teen-age boys and girls live in our Portage la Prairie Indian Residential School. The past year has continued to be one of sharing as far as our Indian work has been concerned. There is the sharing within a C.G.I.T. group, a Curling Bonspiel, a Church Worship Service, a Public School classroom, a hockey game and an evening in a friend's home. There is the sharing of Church, Government and community in an effort to break down barriers that have almost isolated our Indian Canadians to the detriment of all. The Woman's Missionary Society, in co-operation with the Board of Home Missions, has been privileged to participate in numerous Conferences of Principals of Indian Residential Schools and Government officials. There has been a coming together of Indians and non-Indians from all walks of life, in such a body as the Indian-Eskimo Association, or in some of our cities in the close co-operation of Churches, the Federal Government, social agencies and interested citizens. Last year many hours were spent in the preparation of Briefs to present to the Federal Government with respect to the rights and privileges of the Indian Canadian.

There has been a growing number of our Indian Canadians moving into our cities from the Reserves. The contrasts in the life in a very secular inner-city and on an Indian Reserve cannot be bridged over night. So often it seems that the evil in both our cultures has had a fatal attraction for many. To assist the Indian young people and families, as they move into the cities, we provided one of our missionaries with a house last year, where Indian young people may spend a few days or a week to become familiar with the "social graces and habits" that are so much a part of our life, thus enabling them to move into the world of business and school without too great a contrast in their way of living. Perhaps most important has been the practical demonstrations of Christian love and care and the opportunity for Indian and non-Indian to come to know one another as persons. There is still a long way to go but we may take heart that there are indications of a growing together as Canadian citizens, which has been enhanced by the developing co-operation of Churches with Governments, social agencies and community organizations.

An interesting change in practice has been made in compliance with the request of the Board of Home Missions, transferring to that Board our Indian work where men lay supplies are employed, as and when the work becomes vacant. Rama Indian Reserve will be the first to be affected, when Mr. Edward Ronayne, lay supply, leaves to attend Queen's University in preparation for the ministry this Fall. We shall transfer the Indian work in Rama to the Board of Home Missions as of July 1st, 1960.

MEDICAL

There is no question that the service rendered to countless persons within our four W.M.S. hospitals is out of all proportion to the faithful, over-worked personnel who render the service. We need more nurses. We realize, too, that consideration must be given to providing more adequate Nurses' Residences. The new Burns Lake Hospital is expected to be ready for use this summer. We hope that the Nurses' Residence will be completed and in keeping with the hospital, providing adequate living quarters for the entire staff. Discussions regarding a Residence in Cold Lake were initiated last year, in the hope that a more adequate one might soon be provided for the staff in connection with our beautiful, well-equipped John Neil Hospital. Also, negotiations have begun with the Health Departments of the Provinces concerned, with a view to possible new hospitals to replace the Elizabeth M. Crowe Memorial Hospital in Eriksdale, Man. and the Katherine H. Prittie Hospital in Bonnyville, Alta.

Our medical work in Ethelbert, Man. has come to an end and transactions have been initiated to sell the old hospital building and doctor's residence.

Re-payments on capital expenditure on the John Neil Hospital, Cold Lake, are being received regularly, and will be repaid by the Government over a period of 20 years from July, 1958.

Another gift of $1,000.00 from the Austin family in memory of "Auntie Eleanor" is to be used for the purchase of equipment for this hospital.

Dr. Margaret Savage, one of our loyal and great women doctors serving in the John Neil Hospital, has asked us to find a dedicated young doctor who would go to Cold Lake to assist her and to eventually take over the large and growing practice in that community.

The Burns Lake Hospital and community experienced a great loss in the death of Miss Clara Preston, Reg. N., who served as a missionary in the hospital and upon retirement lived in the community. A Memorial Chapel is being built within the new hospital in her memory.

During the year grants were made to the Board of Home Missions towards the Queen Charlotte Islands' General Hospital in Queen Charlotte City, B.C. and towards the salary and expenses of the Hospital Co-ordinator, Dr. George E. Darby.

We close our report on Medical work with a request, "Please, more nurses!"

ORIENTAL

CHINESE

The young Chinese bride is afraid and confused. She must appear in Court relative to her recent entry to Canada from China. To this young Chinese woman, who is not a Christian, and trembling in the severe Court atmosphere, our missionary brings assurance in her own language, telling her that though she may not realize it she is really not alone—God is near and cares. When the experience came to an end the young bride turned to the missionary and said, "Isn't God wonderful!"

In city after city, and in many of our larger towns, newcomers are arriving from China. They do not know our language and our ways. Christianity is a strange religion to many of them. We are fortunate to have the services of several missionaries who used to serve in China. In Nanaimo, Victoria, Vancouver, Hamilton and Ottawa we have our workers. Requests came to us from Saskatoon, Calgary and Toronto for more workers. Recently two young Chinese women from Hong Kong came to our attention and we have placed one in Saskatoon and the other in Calgary, with Rev. and Mrs. Alfred Day.

To assist in the work we have authorized a special Literature grant for Chinese literature and to purchase reels for a tape-recorder, also a book, "Speak Cantonese."

The Chinese and Japanese Conferences, which meet in Vancouver alternate years, are proving to be of great value to our workers in so many ways. It is an opportunity to share problems and difficulties, to discover new ways and to have fellowship together.

JAPANESE

Our Japanese missionary who works in Steveston, Vancouver and the Fraser Valley reports that the congregation in Steveston is half Japanese and half Occidental. In fact, the whole community is half and half, which is a healthy situation.

Many of our Japanese people are scattered throughout the Okanagan Valley, where one of our missionaries moves among them, assisting in the organization of their Church groups and attempting, too, to come to know those outside the Church. These women are obviously held in respect by the people with whom they work. The Christ and His Church are brought closer to them because of their witness.

A NEW FRONTIER

A year ago the Student Christian Movement of Canada made a request, would the Woman's Missionary Society make Dr. Katharine Hockin available to them for one year? After one year, we quote from her Annual Report:

"'The factor of sheer numbers in many Colleges makes for teaching that has only time to lecture while the receptive or passive student takes notes and writes the necessary exams . . . The obedience of the Christian in the academic demands of 'loving God with our minds' is something that young Christians are ill-equipped to bring to the yeasty campuses of 1960."

"So it seems that the Canadian University of today becomes a Frontier of Christian witness and affirmation for our day which is far from being creatively met . . . At this time in the development of Canadian Universities there is an urgent challenge to Christian forces to realistically assess the needs of the academic world and the task to be done, and then to set about the task with some effective deploying of the personnel available."

Dr. Hockin speaks with concern of the prevalent secular, atheistic and agnostic influences within our Universities and the need for the warm understanding of Church folk generally.

The request has come again, would the Woman's Missionary Society be prepared to provide the services of Dr. Hockin on an experimental basis under the Student Christian Movement for a further two-year period? And so this missionary has been assigned to the Student Christian Movement for a two-year period with an opportunity at the end of 12 months to evaluate the effectiveness of this particular witness.

A FEW PERSONAL WORDS BY THE EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

My first word must be one of gratitude for the life and work of my predecessor, Mrs. C. M. Loveys, and for the helpful and wise counselling of the Chairman of the Home Missions Committee, Mrs. C. S. Patterson. I carry on a task that has been well done through the years, and at my side are wise counsellors.

TRAVEL

I am grateful, too, for the opportunity to look and see so much of the work and workers in this first year.

One can cover a great deal of ground in six weeks via 'plane, train, bus and car! These first weeks in September I saw our work in Vancouver, Nanaimo, Victoria, with a day at a School for Leaders at Shawnigan Lake. In Alberta there was an opportunity to meet members of the Conference Branch Executive in Red Deer and to become acquainted with our workers in Calgary, Edmonton, Smoky Lake and Viha, with a stop-over at our two hospitals in Bonnyville and Cold Lake. Then on to Saskatchewan, where I came to know many of the Conference Branch Executive in Regina and our Regina workers. I spent a night at the Girls' Residence in Assiniboia, called upon the two lay ministers on the White Bear Indian Reserve in Moose Mountain and the Cote Indian Reserve in Kamsack, respectively, had an enjoyable hour with Mrs. Marian Hu Chen in Saskatoon and visited our community workers in Bienfait and in Yorkton. It was with Miss Evelyn Mathews, on the way to Hamton, that we became stuck, and I mean "stuck," in my own Saskatchewan mud! A 'plane flight dropped me into Winnipeg in time for an evening especially planned by our W.M.S. women for our workers in and around Winnipeg. After seeing our many centres in Winnipeg, there was the introduction to our 110 Indian girls and boys and their enthusiastic Principal in Portage la Prairie. There was a trip out of Winnipeg to our Boys' and Girls' Homes in Teulon, a trip north to the Elizabeth M. Crowe Memorial Hospital in Eriksdale and on to Gypsumville to spend the night and to accompany our missionary on a tour of her two-point charge, and then back to Toronto.

Since then there have been two trips to Winnipeg to attend special Conferences of Principals of Indian Residential Schools, together with Government personnel, and a visit to Portage la Prairie. There was the trip to Montreal to see our work and workers, when I had the experience of sharing in a French Service of Holy Communion in the quaint old Church, Eglise St. Jean. In Lachine, Que., the joy of meeting the boys and girls in our W.M.S. Children's Home will not soon be forgotten. The work in Hamilton, Toronto and Windsor has become real since seeing it and talking personally with the workers.

Just prior to Dominion Board, a Japanese Conference in Vancouver, business related to proposed new work in Prince Rupert, and concerns in our Burns Lake and District Hospital, took me to Vancouver, Skidegate, Prince Rupert, Burns Lake and North Prince George.

In December I had my introduction to the meetings of the Joint Assembly of the Division of Home and Foreign Missions of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., meeting in Atlantic City. In the not-too-distant future, I hope to make a W.M.S. "pastoral call" on the Maritimes and Newfoundland.

Perhaps one word that would describe the experience of the past eight months better than another would be "sharing"—sharing concerns, experiences and hopes with a missionary, an Advisory Committee—sharing responsibilities co-operatively with a Government official, a Welfare Council, a Church Presbytery, a Church Board—in brief, sharing in the Home Mission Task of the Church—a great enterprise!

ESTHER M. HIGHFIELD,
Home Mission Executive Secretary.

OVERSEAS MISSIONS

"One of the gravest dangers facing the whole missionary movement today is loss of nerve. This all too commonly takes the form of dismissing the western initiatives of the past for having been so often unimaginative, and then goes on to argue that today they are undesirable. What is badly needed is a recovery of the deep assurance that the initiatives which matter are the initiatives of the Holy Spirit. He can and does take the most unlikely instruments to work out his purposes. What is wanted above all in our world today is a great company of men and women of every race and nation who really do believe in the Holy Spirit and are prepared to put their lives in his hands."

These words of Canon Max Warren from a recent C.M.S. News Letter, confront us with a very real challenge. There may be times and occasions when we feel disturbed at what is happening in what we used to call "overseas missions". As the "Younger Churches" grow in membership and in the development of their life and work and assume more and more responsibility for work which formerly was carried by missionaries, we may feel that the day of missions is over or at least that our participation is not so much needed as in former days. Fewer missionaries may be needed in these areas. We rejoice in these evidences of the vitality of these Churches. This is what we have been working for. However, we must never lose our sense of obligation for mission. If we are needed in fewer numbers in some areas, there will come the call to pioneer or perhaps to co-operate with Churches in other countries.

Whatever happens we know that Christians of all races are called to be part of God's Mission and to work together under the guidance of the Holy Spirit in witness to His saving power and in service to those in need. I would like to remind you of the words of Rev. Charles Ranson, speaking at the I.M.C. Assembly in Accra, Ghana in 1957: "There are those who repeat glib phrases about the end of the missionary era. There is enough truth in this to make it plausible and dangerous. We have reached the end of a phase in the missionary movement. But the missionary task of the Church remains as long as time continues. And that task today is greater than ever and as urgent as it has ever been. That which God has wrought in the last two centuries, may prove to be but the prelude to and the preparation for greater things. We may be at one of the turning-points of Christian history."

Missionary Staff

At the present time there are 92 missionaries and five short-term teachers and nurses on our active list. We are happy to note the appointment of two new missionaries and four short-term teachers at this Board. This brings the total to 103 which is two less than the total reported in 1959. We have come to the time when a number of our senior missionaries are retiring each year, and their loss combined with a few others who have to withdraw for health or personal reasons means that our total staff is decreasing in spite of new appointments being made. At this Board meeting there are requests for the appointment of 31 new missionaries. While these requests are not so numerous as some few years ago, because of the growing number of well-qualified national women who are able to carry responsibility, still these requests have been sent to us by the various Churches overseas and we should be doing everything in our power to find properly qualified young women to fill the needs. It is inconceivable that in our United Church of Canada there are not young women who would be willing to offer their services if they knew of these opportunities.

Property Needs

Again this year we had before us a considerable list of requests for property grants from the various churches and institutions overseas. The Overseas Missions Committee, in considering these requests, felt that our Society should meet as many as possible before the proposed integration of administration of overseas work under a new board comes into force. We have a certain obligation especially to women's colleges and schools to see that they have the necessary physical facilities to do their work.

Future Policy

The Joint Policy and Medical Committee of the Board of Overseas Missions and Woman's Missionary Society gave considerable time and thought this past year to a discussion of long-range planning for the overseas work of The United Church of Canada. The General Council at its meeting in 1958 authorized the setting up of a Long Range Planning Committee to give thought to future policy of the whole Church in all its Boards and Departments over the next five-ten year period. A preliminary report on Overseas Missions was prepared for this Long Range Planning Committee which represented the thinking both of the Board of Overseas Missions and the Woman's Missionary Society with reference to its Overseas Department. This report was approved by our Executive and is presented for ratification to this Board. Certainly it is important to consider possible areas of future expansion in new areas or in new co-operative ventures, in view of the gradual increase in the assumption of responsibility, both in direction and financial support of work, on the part of the Churches in areas where The United Church of Canada has had relations in past years.

The Commission on the Integration of Administration of the Overseas Work of the Board of Overseas Missions and Woman's Missionary Society asked the Joint Policy and Medical Committee to study the various questions involved in the co-ordination of the policies of our two Boards as we approach the formation of the proposed new board. A questionnaire was sent out jointly by both the Board of Overseas Missions and Woman's Missionary Society asking for the opinions of all overseas missionaries on missionaries' salaries, allowances, housing, and retirement arrangements under the proposed new board. The answers have now been received, and this study will go forward in the next few months.

As a move for closer co-operation immediately and in view of possible integration in the near future, our Executive invited the Board of Overseas Missions to appoint one of its secretaries as a voting member of the Overseas Missions Committee of the Woman's Missionary Society. The Executive of the Board of Overseas Missions appointed Rev. T. E. F. Honey as this representative and the Overseas Committee has been very glad to welcome him as a member. This immediate measure of closer co-operation is an indication of our growing interdependence.

Department of Overseas Missions, Canadian Council of Churches

In January of this year the Annual Meeting and Consultation of the Department of Overseas Missions, Canadian Council of Churches, was held at the Guild Inn, Scarborough, with Bishop Lesslie Newbigin as the theme speaker. Bishop Newbigin is the general secretary of the International Missionary Council and comes out of long and fruitful experience in church work in South India. He is a Bishop of the United Church of South India.

Among other matters Bishop Newbigin presented the needs of the International Missionary Council Committee on the Ministry for a qualified person to be appointed by the International Missionary Council to give his full time to a study of the development and future needs of Theological Colleges in Asia, Africa and Latin America which lie outside the purview of the Theological Education Fund. Since the Canadian Mission Boards had been the first boards to give support to any study of theological education under the International Missionary Council, and since we had been informed that our interest and support had stimulated this whole matter, the representatives at the annual D.O.M. meeting felt that we should challenge our boards to undertake this further responsibility. A well qualified person was in sight, and a tentative budget of $25,000 over a three-year period had been prepared. Canadian boards are already contributing about $4,000 per year to this same Committee on the Ministry so it would mean almost doubling our respective grants. An amount to cover our share is included in the 1961 estimates.

A recent meeting of the Executive of the Department of Overseas Missions approved the following statement on the tragic situation in South Africa:

"The Executive Committee of the Department of Overseas Missions of the Canadian Council of Churches, composed of representatives of Canadian Churches which have for many years sought to serve the welfare of the African peoples, in many parts of the continent, which are now involved in their life in many ways, and which are deeply concerned about their future development, expresses its deep distress and regret at the apartheid policies and laws of the Government of South Africa, and the mob violence, repression and death which have resulted therefrom, and especially at the horrifying events of the last few days.

The Executive Committee urges the Government of Canada

"1. To express its deep dismay at these tragic happenings;

"2. To declare for itself and for the people of Canada their open and unequivocal support of the claim of all men everywhere to the human rights and fundamental freedoms set forth in the Declaration of the United Nations, and especially the right of all to participate freely and fully in responsible democratic government without racial discrimination against any;

"3. To secure full and accurate reports on the happenings in South Africa and make these available to the Canadian people."

The Vellore-Ludhiana Committee has been active throughout the year.

Division of Foreign Missions, N.C.C.C.

Our Society is related to a number of area and functional committees of the Division of Foreign Missions, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and shares in their home-base budget, and in the projects undertaken jointly overseas under their auspices. Increasingly work in countries abroad is better done co-operatively than by an individual board. As time goes on, more and more of the responsibility for overseas work will have to be taken in this way. These committees are all related to the National Christian Councils in the various countries. Since all the major Canadian Churches have work in India, the Canadian mission boards co-operate through the Department of Overseas Missions, Canadian Council of Churches in relation to the National Christian Council of India.

The Japan Committee shared in plans for the centenary in Japan last Fall.

The Korea Committee has been concerned throughout this year to strengthen the National Christian Council of Korea as much as possible. The Korea Committee on Christian Education has also been re-organized under new officers.

At one of its meetings the Korea Committeee had Rev. Russell Stevenson, of Church World Service present a review of the operations of this organization in Korea. It was pointed out that serious need does still exist and some parts of the programme will be retained.

The Committee on World Literacy and Christian Literature, familiarly known as Lit-Lit, has been pointing out to the boards the urgent necessity for an enlarged programme for the training of writers, and the publication of books and pamphlets of all kinds. An Advance Programme of Literacy and Christian Literature on a five-year plan is being proposed. Lit-Lit feels that it "can no longer attempt to plan a world-wide strategy on the basis of ceilings and percentage quotas which must be geared to boards that fail to meet their quotas". A minimum goal should be "a literate church to serve a literate community". For this a number of types of new literature are needed, such as material on community development, Christian family magazines, literature for new literates, theological booklets for pastors and laymen. More missionaries should be assigned to full-time literature work. Training and scholarship programmes for national workers should be stepped up.

A few facts may bring this situation home to us. More than two-fifths of the world's population over fifteen years of age, an estimated 700,000,000 adults, still cannot read or write.

Some 500 book titles, plus hymnals, booklets and tracts, are published annually by the Literature Committees of the various National Christian Councils and other Christian Literature agencies. Lit-Lit is putting great emphasis on facilities for the training of personnel, such as Department of Journalism, Hislop College, Nagpur, India, and All-Africa Literacy and Writing Centre, Kitwe, Northern Rhodesia. In 1959, Lit-Lit held ten training institutes or workshops, in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

More than 32 magazines around the world are subsidized by Lit-Lit and its sister organization, the Committee on Christian Literature for Women and Children in Mission Fields.

A massive Christian literature programme has been initiated in Africa in response to the request of the All-Africa Church Conference at Ibadan, Nigeria. The first stage was the opening of the Africa Literacy and Writing Centre at Kitwe, Northern Rhodesia in July, 1959. The second stage is an All-Africa Literature Planning Conference projected for 1961. Stage three will be the actual publishing of hundreds of thousands of books. This will mean more money and personnel from mission boards.

RAVEMCCO (Radio, Visual Education and Mass Communication Committee) also has a greatly enlarged programme for the extension of HLKY in Korea and DYSR in the Philippines. An East Asia Christian Mass Communication Committee has been set up under the East Asia Christian Council. The South East Asia Radio Project is being planned through this Committee. A studio will be set up in Hong Kong and Chinese language programmes prepared there. Included in this whole project are Thailand, Burma, Malaya and Indonesia.

International Missionary Council

We have continued our grants to several projects under the International Missionary Council and increases have been made to the World Christian Books project, the Study Centres, and Theological Education.

The integration of the International Missionary Council and the World Council of Churches is still under study. Comments have been invited from all the member organizations (the Canadian member is the Department of Overseas Missions, Canadian Council of Churches). If there are fewer than six member organizations who take adverse action, the integration will be consummated at a joint meeting of the International Missionary Council and World Council of Churches to be held in India in December, 1961.

World Council of Christian Education

Two new Sunday School Curriculum projects are now on the way. One for the Caribbean area, to which our Society is making an annual grant of $500 for a three-year period.

The other is the South East Asia Sunday School Curriculum project which is just in the initial stages. Our Society has granted $150 in 1960 and should make similar grants in 1961 and 1962. The request came in too late to be included in the 1961 Estimates.

A World Institute on Christian Education is to be held in Northern Ireland in 1962. Because of the value of such a gathering we have included an amount of $1,250 for this purpose in the 1961 Estimates. It is to assist in providing travel costs for nationals in Christian Education work from Asia and Africa.

World's Student Christian Federation

Our Society has had a grant to this organization for a number of years to assist in providing student secretaries for universities in Latin America, and to share in particular in the support of the S.C.M. secretary in Chile.

In 1959 and 1960 grants of $1,000 were made to help underwrite the study project on the Life and Mission of the Church which is being undertaken through the World's Student Christian Federation in order to arouse Christian students to their part in the World Mission of the Church. A similar amount is included in the 1961 Estimates.

The Canadian School of Missions

In recent years there has been a change developing in the constituency which the Canadian School of Missions serves. A study is now in progress on the future of the School. Our Society is represented on the Committee which is making this study.

AFRICA

The recent tragic events in the Union of South Africa and the disturbed conditions in Northern Rhodesia form a sombre background for any report of this past year's work. As Christians, and as those concerned in the work of the Church in Africa, we cannot but feel deeply involved in this whole situation.

In the midst of this acute tension and at times violent disturbances, the Christian Church has to carry on its work of witness and service. Christians of any land cannot stand aloof from such events, and especially in Africa today, they are called upon to make plain to governments and peoples alike, the principles of freedom and the inherent worth and dignity of every individual person, of whatever race. "The winds of change are blowing in Africa today" as Prime Minister Harold MacMillan so plainly put it. These "winds of change" will have a profound effect on the Church in Africa and on our relationship to it.

The All-Africa Christian Conference which was held at Ibadan, Nigeria in January, 1958, provided an opportunity for Christians from all parts of Africa south of the Sahara to meet one another and face together some of the issues involved. At that Conference it was decided to set up a Continuation Committee which in turn has brought into being the All-Africa Church Conference with headquarters at Mindolo, Kitwe, Northern Rhodesia. Rev. Donald M'Timkulu has been appointed secretary. $500 was approved by the Executive as our Society's contribution to a maintenance budget for 1960 and a grant of $500 is recommended to this Board, towards the cost of a residence for the secretary at Kitwe.

NORTHERN RHODESIA

The political situation in Northern Rhodesia has been disturbed throughout this past year. The Monckton Commission was appointed by the Government of the United Kingdom to study the question of the political structure of the Federation. The African population of the territory has always been opposed to the Federation, and especially to any move towards dominion status. They desire their political freedom.

The Northern Rhodesia Christian Council which includes representatives from most of the Churches in the territory, issued the following statement at their meeting in 1959:

"The Christian Council of Northern Rhodesia, (recognizing the opposition to the concept of Federation which already exists among the great majority of the inhabitants of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland), believes that any increase in the powers of the Federal Government toward complete autonomy within the Commonwealth may only rightly be granted when it is based upon the full consent of the majority of the people of the Federation.

"The Council is convinced, in the interests of the future unity, peace and prosperity of the Federation, that no attempt should be made to grant such an increase of powers until such time as the extension of the Franchise makes it possible for the majority of the people of the Federation to declare their desires."

There have been two losses to our missionary staff in Northern Rhodesia this year. As reported last year, Miss Thelma Conway was married in June, 1959. Although she withdrew from the work of our Society as a missionary, she continued to work full time under the Church of Central Africa in Rhodesia, being stationed at Mufulira. Our Society made a grant to the Church to make this possible. She and her husband are planning to return to Canada this coming summer where Mr. Clear will continue his studies as a candidate for the ministry. Miss Elsie Bünner also resigned last year and was married in October. She continued to work in a voluntary capacity after her marriage. She and her husband also expect to come to Canada this summer.

Miss Winona McGill has been doing language study at Mbereshi in the northern part of the territory for some months and will be appointed to work on the Copperbelt in the near future.

Through the year there has been correspondence with the Synod concerning the proposed integration of mission and church in that area. The United Church of Canada is not involved in the actual integration. Nevertheless we are concerned because the arrangements made will affect our missionaries. The proposed plan was discussed by the Joint Policy and Medical Committee (Board of Overseas Missions and Woman's Missionary Society) and certain suggestions were forwarded to the Synod. One result of the proposed integration may be that our missionaries may be appointed to work in the rural areas as well as on the Copperbelt. Also we have ceased to have a W.M.S. Treasurer in Northern Rhodesia and instead send salaries and allowances direct to each missionary.

The Women's Training Course in Christian Home Making at Mindolo continued to make its very valuable contribution to the life of the Church during this past year. Mrs. Essie Johnson, the first director, was home on furlough for six months this year and during her absence Mrs. Henry Makulu, the assistant director, carried the full responsibility. Four courses of four months each have now been held with approximately 24 women in each. In between these courses, a one-month refresher course is held for graduates of the four-months' courses. The results of these courses are being felt throughout the Church. In an area of rapid social change, such as the Copperbelt, the building of stable family life is essential for the development of community in general and the Church in particular.

Mrs. Makulu is going to Geneva with her husband this year for a period of further training, and it is anticipated that when they return Mrs. Makulu will become the director. Also we are happy that the request for $25,000 in Gifts for Building Advance in 1959 was fully subscribed. This was sent forward at once and the building of residences for the women on the cottage plan has already begun. The main class-room and chapel building was built with funds made available from a mine Trust Fund.

The Ecumenical Centre at Mindolo has also been going through a period of rapid development. The Literacy and Writing Centre was opened on July 1st, 1959, under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Sadler. Our Society made grants of $500 in 1959 and 1960 towards scholarships including travel, for courses at this Centre. Two from Angola participated in the first course, along with 18 others (16 Africans and four Europeans in all). Courses and conferences in Christian Education, Social Studies, Industrial Evangelism, the Work of the Laity and others on an inter-racial basis, are also being projected as more leadership is available. The headquarters of the Y.W.C.A. in Northern Rhodesia and of the All-Africa Church Conference are on the property although not part of the Ecumenical Centre.

ANGOLA

The need for missionary staff has again been a concern both for the Church in Angola and for our Society. We regret to report that Miss Erna Leach, who was appointed last year, resigned in the Fall because of a change in her personal plans. Miss Helen Stockton has continued on sick leave throughout the year, but we are happy that she is making such a good recovery and we hope that eventually she will be able to return. Miss Edith Brown came home for a serious operation and has also been on sick leave. She made an excellent recovery and we are regarding this sick leave as a substitution for her furlough which was due in 1960. She will return to Angola in the late summer. The return of Miss Anne Copithorne to Angola at the end of the year brought great joy to the Church in Angola as well as to us. She arrived in Angola on January 8th. Miss Jean Walker has been studying Portuguese in Lisbon since January and we hope she will be able to go to Angola this coming fall.

We are delighted with the appointment of two new missionaries, Miss Muriel E. Stevens, Reg. N. and Miss Shirley G. Beckman, a laboratory technician. They will receive a warm welcome in Angola. They will study Portuguese at the University of Wisconsin for at least the fall semester. There still remains a formidable list of requests for new missionaries from the General Assembly of the Church in Angola. A Household Science teacher is urgently needed as well as more nurses. Our missionaries are all carrying an almost impossible burden of work which is resulting in breaks in health. For example, Miss Edith Clark has this year had responsibility not only as director of the Folk Betterment Programme, and heading up the teaching of Umbundu to new missionaries, but in addition was asked to carry responsibility for the Rural Life School at Camundongo for several months until Rev. and Mrs. Dille (American Board missionaries) could arrive back from furlough. The nurses and doctors in the various hospitals are too few to cope with the situation. Hence each one is carrying much too heavy a load of work.

New regulations regarding the training of nurses have come into force in Angola recently. All nurses must now secure Government diplomas in order to work freely. This means they must take their basic training in a Government hospital. Because of this situation the three year nursing course at the Dondi hospital has been discontinued, and a committee are studying the possibility of a short course or courses for nurses who have the Government diploma.

Miss Margaret Dawson, who has been on furlough this past year, has been granted a second year to permit her to take a course in pedagogy in Lisbon in order to give her increased competence in education in Angola.

A generous gift of $10,000 came to the hospital at Chissamba this year through our Society from Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Bridgman and family and friends as a memorial to their son Donald who was killed in the Second World War. To this was added an anonymous gift of $1,000 for the same purpose. A children's wing is being built with these gifts and this will mean more accommodation and greater efficiency in caring for children of the whole area. Dr. Betty Bridgman is at present one of the doctors at Chissamba.

Means School reports an attendance of 249 this year.

The secondary school course at Currie Institute (Professional and Technical School) prepared a class of 17 for the examinations at the end of the second year of the Cielo Preparatorio and all 17 were successful. The School had a registration of 63 this year in the first year and 24 in the second year which is a notable increase. A significant number of these are girls.

The need for more young men and women to secure an education is more and more apparent if the Church is to have adequate leadership, and if Christian young people are to take their place in society. This means an increase in scholarship funds. The American Board and the Board of Overseas Missions are making grants for students to go to Lisbon for higher education. As soon as young women are prepared to do the same, we should be ready to assist with scholarship grants. The residence for African students in Lisbon to which we made a grant last year, was purchased, and is now in operation under the direction of Mrs. John T. Tucker. We may be asked for a grant to help with overhead expenses. This institution is of great value to African students as a real home.

INDIA

At this Dominion Board meeting we are honouring four of our missionaries from India who are to retire during the coming year. Their departure from India has meant a real sense of loss on the part of the missionary group and the Indian Church. Miss Gladys Thornber has been on leave of absence due to family reasons, and has been giving part-time service to our Home Mission work in Montreal. We are hoping she will be able to return to India before too long. Miss Kathleen Metheral is also still on leave of absence and is in Home Mission work. While we rejoice that she can serve in Canada, we still continue to hope that her health will permit her to return to India soon. We are happy to report that Miss Jean Cradock has agreed to remain in India for one additional year and consequently her term of service was extended for that period. She has done an excellent job in organizing the children's ward at the Indore Hospital and in training an Indian nurse for that work.

It is greatly regretted that there has been no new missionary to appoint this year. The Malwa Church Council has been asking us for both evangelistic and medical missionaries for a number of years. They have been making real efforts to find young Indian women to take training for evangelistic work, but have not had much success. It is recognized that there are some difficulties for young Indian women entering this form of service. It would be practically impossible for them to tour in the village and rural areas as our Canadian missionaries do. It may be that some new pattern will have to be evolved for women in evangelistic work by the Church in India. Although competent and well-trained Indian nurses are now available and are taking over the administrative positions, a few requests are still before us for nurses to teach in Nurses' Training Schools, or for Public Health work.

We are happy to report that Miss Dorothy Pearson has been re-appointed to India since she has now a clear health report from the Inter-Church Medical Board. In response to the urgent request from the Sri Padmavathi Women's College at Tirupati, South India to direct their Home Science Department, we have agreed to second her to that College for a period of five years. The College is to pay her the usual salary for their staff members, and we will supplement that to bring it up to maximum missionary salary. We will also be responsible for the cost of her travel to India. This is a new venture in co-operation with a non-Christian private College. We have been assured by the College authorities that she will have complete freedom as a Christian, and the National Christian Council and the local Christian church in Tirupati welcome this move.

During this past year a number of requests for financial aid in certain projects came to us from the Mandal and in response the following grants were made: Literature Committee, Rs. 3,000; Printing and Postage, 150; Medical Commission, 5,000; Audit Expenses, 1,250. Total Rs. 9,400 (approximately $1,900); X-Ray for Banswara Hospital, $1,000.00.

The Committee of Missionaries requested grants to cover certain urgent repairs to missionary residences, for which approximately $3,040 was granted.

The Mandal gave considerable time at its annual meeting last fall to a discussion of policy for evangelistic work. As a result the following decisions were made and efforts are being made to proceed along these lines:

1. To request Malwa Church Council to consider the policy of consolidating the work by having two or three point charges in place of the one point charge which is the present arrangement.

2. To lay stress on the use of voluntary lay workers.

3. To work for an increase in givings so that progressive and complete self-support can be achieved as soon as possible, as well as a share in the task of evangelism.

4. To place greater emphasis on the responsibility of pastor and congregation for more evangelistic work in their own areas.

The Literature Committee has been active throughout the year and has a vigorous publishing programme.

An important event this last year was the All-India Christian Endeavour Convention which was held at Indore in October with about 250 delegates from many parts of India.

The new Sunday School Curriculum which was prepared as a result of the work of the India Sunday School Union over the past few years is now ready in English and the Hindi edition is to be available this year. Our Society shared in the cost of the production of this new curriculum through our grants to the World Council of Christian Education for the India Sunday School Curriculum project.

Vellore Christian Medical College is still struggling to complete the necessary buildings and equipment to meet rising standards in medical education. The Mandal has urged The United Church of Canada to respond to this need. Hence an additional grant of Rs. 2,480 (approximately $500) for maintenance was approved by the Executive in 1959 and 1960 and a similar amount has been included in the 1961 Estimates.

The Diamond Jubilee of the Vellore Hospital and the Golden Jubilee of the School of Nursing is being celebrated in July of this year. To commemorate the occasion it is proposed to erect a permanent building for the School of Nursing and a dormitory for the men internes, both of which have been long-felt needs. To make this possible a "Jubilee Fund" will be open throughout 1960. A grant from our Society for this purpose is included in our property needs.

Miss Gladys Hamilton has consented to remain at Vellore for one additional year of service before returning to Canada since she is needed in the School of Nursing.

Miss Renuka Mukerji, Principal of the Madras Women's Christian College reports that there were 362 students in attendance this year of whom 188 were in residence. Fifty-seven per cent. are Christians. Dr. Florence Farmer is enjoying her work at the College and has made a very real contribution.

Ludhiana Christian Medical College has also had a difficult year financially. It is making every effort to meet the deadline for up-grading buildings, equipment, and staff in order to hold its permission to train students for the higher grade medical degree.

When Dr. Helen Huston returns to India this summer she will go to Nepal to work under the United Mission to Nepal. With our consent she has been loaned to this work by the Mandal. This is an inter-church mission under the auspices of the National Christian Council of India. There are 85 on the staff including representatives from the United Kingdom, U.S.A. and India. It has its own Board of Directors, and receives support from several Churches in India, and mission boards in the United Kingdom and U.S.A. A grant of Rs. 5,000 is included in our 1961 Estimates. This is a new venture on our part and we are happy to have a share in this significant co-operative programme. It is at present limited to medical work but this is an important phase of Christian witness.

HONG KONG AND TAIWAN

Three million human beings are settled in homes within 62 square miles of Hong Kong's total 392 square miles. At the end of last year 273,435 persons were living in the Government's resettlement areas and tens of thousands were still living in the squatter shacks perched on the roofs of the city's tenement buildings, in shacks and in tenement bedspace homes. Child life is being moulded by these conditions into something far different from that planned by the Heavenly Father.

The effort of the Hong Kong Council of the Church of Christ in China to make it possible for Hong Kong's children to fare better is channelled through two rooftop centres located in two resettlement areas, through these Community Centre buildings located in different resettlement estates, in a small beginning of providing mechanical training for boys, and through the ministry and service rendered to deprived children by individual church congregations.

The programme of the centres maintained on rooftops or in separate buildings includes an opportunity to acquire a basic skill in reading, writing and arithmetic. Daily supplementary feeding is provided to meet the results of undernourishment. Food is supplied mainly through Church World Service. Health care is provided by nurses who are important members on the staffs of these centres.

After five years of an extremely busy programme of work in various phases of the Church in Hong Kong, Miss Annie Thexton left on February 29th for her final furlough before retirement. Since her main experience and training had been in childhood education she gave outstanding leadership in that field.

In addition she represented our Society on various church and co-operative committees. Miss Jean Windsor, who arrived in Hong Kong last September and who has been doing language study since then, has been called upon to take over some of Miss Thexton's committee work. At present, Miss Isabelle Miller and Miss Windsor are the only two W.M.S. missionaries in Hong Kong.

Grants of $710 have been made this past year to provide more adequate furnishings for the apartments where our two missionaries live, and for the doctor's apartment at the Junk Bay Church Clinic.

A suitable place for holidays for our Hong Kong missionaries has proved very difficult to find where the cost is reasonable. It is necessary to get away from Hong Kong itself in order to have a change of climate and surroundings. This involves air travel. Consequently an annual grant of $300 for each missionary was approved with the understanding that this will be available only when the missionary goes outside the Colony for her holiday.

A generous gift of $2,000 was received this year from a donor who wishes to remain anonymous. This was used to equip a special school where refugee children who complete the junior course given in the rooftop schools, can receive senior elementary education and be prepared to write the examinations for entrance to secondary schools.

For some time the Junk Bay Church Clinic where Miss Isabelle Miller works, has felt the need for a resident doctor. An appeal was made to the Board of Overseas Missions and our Society for an annual grant of $1,200 each. This was approved. An English Baptist woman doctor, Dr. Ellen Clow, formerly from North China, agreed to come, since no Chinese doctor could be found who could accept the position. It is a great relief to the Clinic to have a doctor there full-time.

The Pui Ying Middle School is now in their new building. They are carrying a very heavy debt on this building and we are asked for a grant to assist in meeting their obligations. Miss Thexton taught part-time in this school and it is anticipated that Miss Jean Windsor will do the same.

In August of 1959 the cornerstone was laid for the new four-storey, 12 class-room building of Hip Woh School on the property of the Morrison Memorial Centre. On February 15th, 1960, the school moved into the new building. About 600 children can be accommodated and later it is expected that there will be two sessions—morning and afternoon in which over 1,000 children will be enrolled. Most of these children come from refugee families. This school is asking for more foreign teachers

The Morrison Memorial Centre was dedicated on April 9th. The headquarters offices of the Hong Kong Council of the Church of Christ in China are in this building as well as a Reference Library for Christian workers. The Churches of the Hong Kong Council have a very active programme of evangelism. At the end of 1958 the membership was 12,645, of whom 908 were new Christians, baptized during that year.

Dr. Leslie Kilborn retires from the Medical School of Hong Kong University this spring. Instead of coming to Canada to retire, however, he is to be the vice-president of Chung Chi College for a period of at least two years. Chung Chi College continues to develop in its physical plant, in the number of its students and in its academic courses. In the 1958-1959 session there were 517 students of whom 186 were women. Students were there from North Borneo, Singapore, Malaya and other parts of Southeast Asia.

The report of the Council on Christian Literature for Overseas Chinese states that the outstanding event in the field of Christian Literature during the year was the Second East Asia Christian Literature Conference held in Japan. The Conference emphasized that the Church needs to pay more attention to literature. Half the population in East Asia is under twenty years of age and that is one reason why audio-visual materials and literature are so important. Of the 62 books published during the past year, two were original Chinese works, 25 were new translations and 35 were reprints. The magazine "Outlook" which began in January, 1959, has been well received. Our Society provides the salary of its editor.

Our Society is related to the Presbyterian Church in Taiwan through the presence of two of our missionaries who are on the staff of the English Presbyterian Mission in South Taiwan. Miss Ruth MacLeod has been giving a good deal of her time to the development of women's work in the Church. Miss Gretta Gauld has been on furlough during this past year. She expects to be appointed to a Leprosy Clinic on her return which will be a new assignment in co-operative work for the Presbyterian Church.

JAPAN

An event of special significance during this last year was the celebration of the centenary of the arrival of the first Protestant missionaries in Japan. This was held in early November in Tokyo. There were large and impressive services of remembrance and witness in which all the major denominations joined. In addition the United Church of Christ in Japan held certain services of its own. The Moderator of The United Church of Canada sent a message of greetings for the occasion by the hand of Dr. C. J. L. Bates who had been especially invited to share in the services and to visit Kwansai Gakuin University of which he had been president for many years. During these celebrations, Governor Azuma of Tokyo honoured 500 special foreign guests at a reception at Kiyozumi Park. Among those so honoured were members of overseas Japanese churches, retired missionaries, and representatives of co-operating agencies, churches, and mission boards.

In August over 150 blind Christians gathered in Tokyo to celebrate the centennial anniversary of evangelism to the blind. There are about 18,000 blind persons in Japan, about 2,00 of whom are Christians.

Disaster struck with great suddenness in Japan this year in two very severe typhoons which caused very heavy loss of life and widespread damage to property. The first one swept through Yamanashi Province and our school at Kofu was seriously damaged. There was no loss of life here. The repairs needed for property were met by insurance, government and municipal disaster reconstruction grants, and gifts from graduates and friends of the school.

The second typhoon was centred in Nagoya although damage was done in the Tokyo area as well. The Committee on Overseas Relief of The United Church of Canada sent an immediate grant of $5,000 through the Division of Inter-Church Aid and Service to Refugees of the World Council of Churches. In addition our Society made a grant of $3,000 and the Board of Overseas Missions granted $5,000 through the Interboard Committee for Christian Work in Japan to assist in the relief work under the United Church of Christ in Japan, and to aid in rebuilding damaged churches. The second typhoon was the worst in Japan's history.

In addition to our regular grants in the Estimates, three special grants were approved this year: Chiba Rural Evangelism, $740.00; Radio Evangelism, $500.00; Additional Grant to Kofu School, $757.47.

Toyo Eiwa Girls' High School in Tokyo celebrated its 75th Anniversary during the first week of November 1959. Also the Shoei Junior College and Girls' High School celebrated its 70th Anniversary that same week. One of our missionaries, Miss Laura Darby, is on the staff of this school.

The report of the Education Association of Christian Schools in Japan states that there are a total of 212 Christian schools from primary to post-graduate institutions, with a total of 143,000 students.

We still have the request before us for the appointment of more new missionaries as High School Teachers. No one is available this year for such appointment on a missionary basis, but we are happy to report the appointment of two young women as teachers of English for a three-year period: Miss Karen F. Hansen, B.A., and Miss Miriam A. Skey, B.A. Both are exceptionally well qualified. Both are completing work this year for their M.A. degree—Miss Hansen in Linguistics, and Miss Skey in English. They will receive a warm welcome in Japan. A third such short-term appointee was authorized but could not be secured. Because only one short-term teacher was appointed in 1959, Miss June Robertson agreed to stay on for one more year. She will be returning to Canada this summer.

Tokyo Woman's Christian College reports a graduating class of 492 in 1959. This brings the total number of alumnae up to over 7,000. The College is trying to restrict its student body to about 1,600 in order to have more intimate contact between faculty and students. For the new college year beginning in April 1959 there were 1,083 applicants, and only 276 of these could be accepted by the College of Letters. The Junior College was able to accept 237 out of 728 applicants. There is great need for more residence space for students. Only 360 can now be accommodated, and there are 730 from outside the Tokyo area. The College hopes to build another student residence this year to accommodate 75 more students and is requesting financial assistance.

KOREA

This past year was marked by further development in our co-operation with the two Divisions of the Methodist Board of Missions in the U.S.A. in the erection of the new hospital at Wonju. The building was completed in the early fall and was formally opened on November 7th. Dr. T. T. Brumbaugh and Miss Margaret Billingsley, secretaries of the above two Divisions, were in Korea at the time and were present at the ceremony. Nine of the UCC missionaries attended as representatives of The United Church of Canada. This new hospital accommodates 50 patients and fills an urgent need in that city. Dr. Florence Murray is the medical superintendent at present, and Miss Ruth Saunders has been the nursing superintendent for this past year. No missionary staff was available from the Methodist Mission. Miss Saunders comes on furlough in 1960 and there is no nurse readily available to take her place. There are not yet a sufficient number of adequately trained Korean nurses to fill positions of this kind, and hence a missionary nurse is needed. Our Korea Mission Committee appealed to us to appoint a short-term nurse, but we have not been able to find one who is willing to go.

The new W.M.S. house for our missionary staff for this hospital has been completed. The Board of Overseas Missions are about to build one on the same property for Dr. Hugh Rose who has just gone to Korea and is studying Korean language so he can take over from Dr. Murray when she leaves Korea for retirement next year.

We are very happy in the appointment of two teachers of English for a three-year period, Misses Dorothy M. Hurd, B.A., and Margaret J. Storey, B.A. Both are from Winnipeg and Miss Storey is a graduate of the University of Manitoba and Miss Hurd of McMaster University, Hamilton. They will fill a very real need in Korea. We regret that we were not able to respond to the requests from Korea for the appointment of some additional missionaries.

A number of extra grants had to be made through this year to meet emergent needs totalling approximately $8,975.00.

These were met from gains on exchange in the Korea Estimate.

Our evangelistic missionaries are now assigned to their work by the United Work Committee, which is the Committee which administers our UCC grants and directs the work done by missionaries. It is appointed by the General Assembly with representatives from the UCC Korea Mission Committee and the Women's Organization of the Church. Its constitution was approved last year by the Dominion Board. This United Work Committee has been desirous of assigning at least one missionary, man or woman, to each Presbytery. So far there have not been enough missionaries to cover all the Presbyteries. This year our W.M.S. missionaries were assigned as follows: Miss Ada Sandell to Kunsan and Kumjai Presbytery; Miss Willa Kernen to Chunbook Presbytery; Mrs. Elda Struthers to Kyunggi Presbytery; Dr. Florence Murray to Kangwon Presbytery.

The latter two are not supposed to be assigned to church work because of their duties in Ewha Woman's University and the Wonju Hospital respectively, but they are both interested in evangelistic work and do a good deal of visiting churches and preaching. Therefore the United Work Committee assigned them to the Presbyteries within which they are residing.

There has been a further development in the Christian Broadcasting Station HLKY. The main station is in Seoul and has a strength of 10,000 watts. Broadcasting hours have been increased from 31½ to 65 hours per week. Programmes include newscasts, music, drama, entertainment, education, cultural programmes, and the preaching of the Gospel. Two relay stations have been opened during this year, HLKT at Taegu on March 26th, 1959, and HLKP at Pusan on December 23rd, 1959. Both of these draw their basic programme material from HLKY at Seoul, and are on the air 45½ hours per week. Four million persons, all potential listeners, live in these three cities. There have been effective results from this broadcasting programme. The evidence is convincing of a wide-spread listening audience and of numbers who are led to accept the Christian faith because of what they have heard. These are often people who could not be reached in any other way because they would not come to a church service or public Christian meeting. Those who write of their desire to know more about the Christian faith are put in touch with a church near to them.

The National Christian Council Radio Committee are planning for five new relay stations, one of which is planned for the Iri area. The cost of building the station and providing the necessary equipment, together with the cost of the first year's programme amounts to $10,000. The Board of Overseas Missions have granted $5,000 and a request for a grant of $5,000 is included in our list of Property requests to this Board. This would be a very fruitful use of UCC funds in the proclamation of the Gospel in Korea.

Ewha Woman's University continues to grow in number of students and in its physical plant. There are now about 7,800 students, 116 of whom are in the Graduate School. Over 1,000 graduated in February, including 34 from the Graduate School. To complete the whole University with all its projected departments a total of two million dollars is needed. This includes some buildings already up. One half of this amount is being raised in Korea. The Ewha Co-operating Committee in North America is starting out on a campaign to raise the other million dollars in the United States in the next few years. Our grant of $25,000 for the Library made in 1959 is part of this total programme.

Each year under the personal direction of Dr. Helen Kim, the president, an evangelistic campaign is held at the University. In 1959 about 900 students and faculty members accepted the Christian faith and were baptized.

Ewha has also a programme of spring and summer holiday work in which a large proportion of the students and faculty participate. Groups work in the suburbs of Seoul and in other areas in service projects and in what we might call preaching missions. Several hundred have become Christian as a result. The service projects include rural community work and educational programmes.

The present disturbed political conditions in Korea caused us considerable anxiety for the safety of our missionaries. However, as this report is being written word has come that all are well and are not in any personal danger. Schools were closed and normal life disrupted but the Church has a mission in disturbed days as well as in peaceful ones.

TRINIDAD

Presbytery was faced with a new situation this past year with the appointment of Rev. Mary McInally by our Society. This was the first time that an ordained woman missionary had been appointed and as yet there are no Trinidadian women who have reached this status. After due consideration Presbytery accepted Miss McInally as an ordained member of that body in the same relationship as the ordained men missionaries. The only difference was that for her work she still was under the direction of the Committee for Women's Work. However, there was consultation between this Committee and the Presbytery and with full agreement of both bodies she has been appointed to Siparia to teach in the High School part time and also do some evangelistic work in that district.

The need for Canadian teachers on the staffs of the various High Schools has become more acute since it is growing more difficult to secure properly qualified Trinidadian teachers in sufficient number, which is partly due to a recent change in the policies of the Department of Education. Miss McInally's appointment to Siparia is the first time a W.M.S. missionary has been appointed to a school other than the two Girls' High Schools, Naparima and St. Augustine. Since all the other schools are co-educational there may be a call for Canadian women teachers at all these other schools in future.

The Committee for Women's Work has reported that the Naparima Girls' High School has 854 students (712 in the High School, 59 in the Prep. School and 83 in the Kindergarten), St. Augustine Girls' High School has 405, and Archibald Institute 33. This means that all the institutions are filled to capacity and beyond. We have urgent requests for three teachers and we regret having no one to send this year.

Miss Margaret Vanderburgh, director of Archibald Institute, who went to Trinidad two years ago on a two-year appointment is scheduled to return to Canada this year, but we are hoping that she will agree to remain for one more year, since we have no one in sight to replace her.

Emergency grants of $600.00 were made during the year from gains on exchange in the Trinidad Estimate.

In addition a grant of $3,500 was made from Provisional and Emergency Estimate to purchase two cars to replace two which were of ancient vintage.

In September 1959 the first Sunday School Curriculum Conference for the Caribbean was held in Jamaica under the auspices of the World Council of Christian Education. Grants were made by mission boards concerned in this area, including our Society. That Conference agreed to set up a Continuation Committee to prepare a new Sunday School curriculum. Rev. David Mitchell of British Guiana was appointed editor, and grants were requested of all the mission boards over a three year period. Our share of the necessary annual budget is $500. This amount was granted by the Executive in 1960, and is included in the 1961 Estimates.

From August 23rd to September 1st, 1960, a second Assembly of the Presbyterian Churches in the Caribbean is planned, to be held in Trinidad.

According to the constitution prepared by the Continuation Committee, The United Church of Canada is entitled to send two consultants. Our Society has agreed to send our General Secretary, Miss Anne Ward. We feel it is important that one of the two should be a woman, as the churches in this area need encouragement to give women an adequate place in their Courts as well as in their life and work.

Conclusion

In closing this report I would like to remind us all of the debt we owe to our missionaries who are our representatives in various parts of the world. Under changing conditions, with new tensions and sometimes frustrations, they share with their friends and colleagues of the Churches and institutions under which they work in the great task to which we are all called. They ask for our support through prayer, understanding, and affection. Also I would remind us all of the many men and women in the Churches of Asia, Africa, and Trinidad to whom we of The United Church of Canada are bound by close ties of fellowship and the mutual sharing of responsibility for Christian witness in these lands. We rejoice in their success, we are concerned in their problems, and we pray that God may richly bless both them and ourselves as we seek to know His will for us all and to follow where He may lead.

RUTH H. TAYLOR,
Overseas Missions Executive Secretary.

CANDIDATE

Seven young women were received as Candidates for missionary service in the year 1959-1960. These received appointments at the Annual Meeting on May 24th.

Miss Shirley Grace Beckman, Reg. Technician—to Angola

Miss Beckman's home is in Halifax where she is a member of Fairview United Church. She is a graduate of Queen Elizabeth High School and is trained as a Laboratory Technician. She has had experience as a Laboratory Technician in Highland View Hospital, Amherst, N.S., and in Camp Hill Hospital, Halifax. She has taken the required one year of study at the United Church Training School.

Miss Verna Marilyn Crooks, B.A.—to The Children's Home, Lachine, Quebec

Miss Crooks' home is in Halifax where she is a member of St. John's United Church. She is a graduate of Dalhousie University in Arts. She has had experience during the summers from 1955-1958 in the Nova Scotia Training School for Mentally Retarded Children. Miss Crooks has completed the two year diploma course at the United Church Training School.

Miss Josephine Teresa Kueman, Reg. N.—to the Katherine H. Prittie Hospital, Bonnyville, Alberta

Miss Kueman was born in Czechoslovakia. She is a member of St. John's United Church, Bonnyville. Miss Kueman is a graduate of Mack Training School for Nurses, St. Catharines, Ontario. Prior to entering the United Church Training School to take her missionary preparation, she was a staff nurse in the hospital at Bonnyville. She has completed the one year course at the Training School as required for nurses and is looking forward to returning to Bonnyville as a missionary nurse.

Miss Margaret Joan McLean—to Chinese Work in Vancouver, B.C.

Miss McLean's home is in Toronto where she is a member of Fairlawn United Church. She has had business training and experience, and took one year of special study at Victoria University, preparatory to entering the United Church Training School. During the summer of 1959 between her two years at the Training School, she served under the Department of Home Missions of our Society, in All People's Church, Hamilton. She has completed the two year diploma course at the United Church Training School.

Miss Marion Ethel Ronalds, Reg. N.—to the Elizabeth M. Crowe Memorial Hospital, Eriksdale, Manitoba

Miss Ronalds' home is in Bathurst, New Brunswick, where she is a member of First United Church. She holds a first class teacher's certificate and is a registered nurse, a graduate of Saint John General Hospital. Miss Ronalds has had experience as a nurse at the Red Cross Outpost Nursing Station, and Red Cross Outpost Hospital in New Brunswick. She has completed the studies at the United Church Training School as required for missionary nurses.

Miss Wilma Pearl Sharpe, Reg. Technician—to Indian Work, Prince Rupert, British Columbia

Miss Sharpe's home is in Yorkton, Saskatchewan, where she is a member of St. Andrew's United Church. She is a registered laboratory technician, having received her training in Regina General Hospital, and has had experience as head technician in the Yorkton General Hospital. During the summer of 1959 she served in Newfoundland under the Home Mission Department of our Society. Miss Sharpe has completed the two year diploma course at the United Church Training School.

Miss Muriel Evelyn Stevens, Reg. N.—to Angola

Miss Stevens' home is in Bowmanville, Ontario. She is a member of Maple Grove United Church. Miss Stevens is a graduate of Western Hospital, Toronto, and is a registered nurse. She has taken the public health course for nurses at the University of Toronto, and has done special study in midwifery in South London Hospital, London, England. Miss Stevens has had experience in the Victorian Order of Nurses—Toronto Branch, and North York Branch. She has completed the course at the United Church Training School, as required for missionary nurses.

QUALIFICATIONS AND PREPARATION OF MISSIONARIES

PERSONAL

In addition to the primary requirements of Christian faith and character and a deep desire to make Christ known and to participate in the development of a Christian world, the following qualities make for effective Christian service: good health, tact and courtesy, courage and resourcefulness, ability to co-operate, and capacity for leadership. Church membership and active participation in the life of the Church are essential.

A medical examination under the direction of the Inter-Church Medical Board, with a satisfactory report is required.

Age for appointment—Canada—23-35
Overseas—25-35

ACADEMIC QUALIFICATIONS

All candidates are required to have basic academic qualifications as follows:

(a) A University degree—this represents the most valuable academic preparation; or

(b) As a minimum requirement in academic preparation, Senior Matriculation. (See exception made for nurses who would serve in Canada—Section D below)

The equivalents recognized for Senior Matriculation for different provinces are as follows:

British Columbia	Senior Matriculation
Alberta	Grade XII
Saskatchewan	Grade XII
Manitoba	Grade XII
Ontario	Grade XIII
Quebec	Senior High School Leaving Certificate or McGill Senior School Certificate
New Brunswick	Senior Matriculation or first year University
Nova Scotia	Grade XII
Prince Edward Island	Senior Matriculation or third year certificate of Prince of Wales College
Newfoundland	Grade XII or first year Memorial University

PROFESSIONAL TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE, AND MISSIONARY TRAINING

A. For Appointment in Christian Education and Evangelism in Canada or Overseas

(1) A candidate with University graduation is required to take the two year diploma course at The United Church Training School and, if possible, the Bachelor of Religious Education degree.

(2) A candidate with Senior Matriculation or equivalent, as listed above, is required in addition to have professional or business training, such as a first class teachers' certificate or graduation from a regular business course, with two years' successful experience and to take the two year diploma course at The United Church Training School.

(3). A candidate for service overseas with graduation in Theology from any United Church Theological College, is required to spend a period of time in specialized missionary preparation. (Financial help where necessary for such a candidate, will be provided for the period of specialized missionary preparation.)

B. For Appointment as an Educational Missionary for Service Overseas

All candidates for Educational Work Overseas are required to take a one year course in specialized missionary preparation during which time they will live in residence at The United Church Training School and participate in residence activities. This will follow professional training and experience as required for the specific appointment:

(1) For High Schools—A Secondary School Teacher's certificate and two years' successful teaching experience.

(2) For Educational Work in the field of Elementary Schools—a first class teacher's certificate from a Teacher Training College with at least two years' teaching experience.

(3) For College and Universities—A graduate degree and successful teaching experience in the subject to be taught.

(4) For specialized work in education, two years' successful teaching experience.

C. For Appointment to Medical Service Overseas

(1) Doctors—a medical degree, internship and a period of specialized missionary preparation.

(2) Nurses—A candidate for service as a nurse overseas, in addition to basic academic training, is required to be a Registered Nurse with at least two years' successful experience, and possible post-graduate training in accordance with current requests from Overseas Churches or Committees. She is also required to complete successfully a special one-year course in missionary preparation provided through The United Church Training School.

D. For Appointment to Medical Service in Canada

(1) Nurses—A candidate for missionary service as a nurse in Canada, should have, preferably Senior Matriculation, but in any case not less than Junior Matriculation, and must be a Registered Nurse with two years' successful experience. She is required to complete successfully a special one-year course in missionary preparation at The United Church Training School.

SALARY

The Society makes adequate provision for salary, and for travel to and from fields of work, gives a furlough year with salary, for study and refreshment, and has an efficient plan for retirement and sick allowances.

BURSARIES

The Society also provides bursaries for missionary candidates in training at The United Church Training School.

Anne I. Ward, Secretary.

SCHOLARSHIP

Overseas Students in Canada.

The year 1959 opened with a total of seven students from India, Japan and Trinidad continuing their studies in Canadian Universities either on full or partial scholarships from our Society.

In the spring, Mrs. Eunice Hanoomansingh and Miss Joan Nobee completed the Arts Courses at Mount Allison and Victoria University respectively and returned to Trinidad. Both are now on the staff of the St. Augustine Girls' High School.

Miss Rachel Philip of India, who had been studying at the Department of Zoology at the University of Toronto completed the Special Study project there and returned to India in early November. Her colleagues will be glad to have her back again at Women's Christian College, Madras.

Miss Akiko Wakabayashi was awarded the M.S.W. degree at Convocation on November 30th. The end of the year found her observing in a School for Maladjusted Children in Oxfordshire, England, part of a study and observation period arranged for her by the British Council, en route to her home in Japan.

Mrs. Mitsuko Miyazoe was granted a second year of study by the Inter-Board Committee. She is working toward her M.S.W. degree from the School of Social Work in the University of Manitoba.

Miss Nola Mootoo and Miss Vashti Ramsumair, both of Trinidad, are continuing their undergraduate Arts Course at Mount Allison University.

In the autumn, five new students joined our W.M.S. Scholarship family. Miss Aiko Chujo, a teacher from Kwassui Senior High School in Japan, enrolled in the English Department of the University of Toronto to work towards her M.A. in English.

Miss Bernice Sinanan, who graduated from the United Church Training School in 1956, and who has since been doing Evangelistic Work in her home country of Trinidad, entered Mount Allison University to study for her Arts degree.

Miss Winnifred Sitahal, teacher and Matron of Archibald Institute in St. Augustine, Trinidad, started study in the Diploma Course at Macdonald Institute, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Mrs. Carolyn Hamid, a teacher from Trinidad, enrolled as a non-resident student at the United Church Training School on a partial scholarship.

The fifth student, Miss Leela Canara, though part of our family, is not in Canada but at Selly Oak College in Birmingham, England. Miss Canara has her M.A. in Sociology as well as business training, and has been the accountant at Indore Christian Hospital. At Selly Oak she is taking courses in Christian Education, Personal Evangelism and Counselling.

Canadian Scholarships

Miss Eva Apetagon, Canadian Indian, has been continuing her course in Phoenix, Arizona, at the Cook Christian Training School, entering her last year of study there in September.

One Canadian student, who is preparing for medical work overseas, was granted a small Scholarship to assist her in completing her Science Course.

Scholarships Granted Overseas

A third type of scholarship grant is the grant directly to the Churches with which we are related overseas, to help promising students complete their education in their own countries.

These grants go to Angola in Africa, Hong Kong, India, Japan and Korea. University students, teachers for Church kindergartens, Christian girls' schools and colleges, Church workers, medical students and others, are among those who are being assisted. In addition there are two high school students, and one nurse in Portgual—approximately forty-five students in all.

It is with a real sense of gratitude that we hear of one of these students who has just completed her course and is interning in the Christian Medical College at Vellore. The missionary who wrote said: "I only hope we can provide scope for her abilities as a leader in our church here in Malwa—really something challenging."

In most cases, reports are not available, so we must read between the lines and use our imagination to turn "facts and figures" into eager, talented young people preparing themselves for Christian service in their own countries. For all these young people, wherever they are studying, we sincerely hope that their training and desire to serve may be equal to the responsibilities they will eventually assume.

IDA MACKENZIE, Secretary

PERIODICALS

To feature, in The Missionary Monthly, special concerns of the Society and the Church during any given year, and yet to do justice to the regular ongoing missionary work sometimes reminds one of the juggler's art of keeping many balls of assorted sizes and variegated colors all moving smoothly through the air.

The special concerns for 1959—60 have included "Africa Year", "World Refugee Year" and the proposed new organization for women.

Since June of 1959 every issue has carried something about Africa—from the first brief announcements of study books to pages of articles, stories, news, pictures, book and film reviews. The news column "Concerning Neighbors" by Frances Bonwick, and "The W.M.S. Goes to the Pictures" by Isobel McFadden have been regular features supplementing the study program again this year.

In World Refugee Year there has been a greater opportunity than previously to focus on the needs of refugees and the work done on the problem by the Church and the United Nations during the past decade. The Christian Citizenship department has made this a primary concern.

Of the materials about the proposed new women's organization, an article from the December magazine by Miss Dorothy Young, "A Sound of Going" has been reprinted by the Society as a leaflet and is being widely distributed.

Such reprinting of articles is a source of satisfaction which has been tapped several times this year by our own Society and by other Boards of the Church or other organizations as, for example, "Meals on Wheels" by Mrs. J. L. Halpenny, and "The Canadian Temperance Federation Faces a Perennial Problem" by Dr. John Linton. Some material on Women's Work has been prepared and published for joint use by the W.A. Bulletin and The Missionary Monthly. Articles have also been reprinted in other magazines as, for example, "The Bible in India" by Rev. E. J. Heuer in the magazine of the American Bible Society.

Stories of the "Churches East and West" have been featured wherever possible, with special emphasis on the sister Churches of Asia and Africa. A vital part of this story, of course, has been the letters, reports and special articles from our missionaries and their colleagues in these churches.

For every department of the Society—from Auxiliary to Baby Band, together with Christian Citizenship, Supply, Community Friendship, Associate Members, Christian Stewardship—has come a wealth of program suggestions, news and inspiration from the members of the Home Organization Committee each month.

The June '59 issue on Penal Reform and Rehabilitation, planned by Christian Citizenship has been used and studied by other organizations as well as by our Society. A special series of "Studies in the Acts of the Apostles" was prepared by Dr. Winnifred Thomas, for personal and group Bible Study.

Conference Branch news has continued to pour in from every Conference Branch and Presbyterial.

To the Press Secretaries and to our many other contributors go our grateful thanks.

The young readers of World Friends found the African study colorful and interesting this year! Other areas where the church is at work were not forgotten, but any stories, pictures, articles and plays in the magazine helped to increase our children's understanding of the new Africa.

Two biographies of young church workers were of special interest. The childhood and training of Elsie Bunner and Shirley Johnston were presented as part of the foundation of their Christian Stewardship now being fulfilled in Africa.

"Getting to Know You" introduced to World Friends, Juniors from Korea, Africa and Japan, who were chosen by one of our missionaries in each country. They told World Friends readers about themselves and asked questions about Canadian life. Interesting answers were received in the mail and some were printed in World Friends along with questions to be answered by the overseas children. Kind missionaries co-operated in translating questions and writing answers for the overseas children. In this very personal way, the boys and girls were made aware of many interesting aspects of life in countries where our Church is at work.

Club News, showing Mission Bands, Explorer and Tyro groups in action was increased this year, often suggesting to readers activities for their own groups.

A monthly item "Terry The Tyro" presented an appealing "ad" for the Tyro group organization, and "On Stage Everybody" was one of the most popular features of the magazine with both children and their leaders.

This has been a vigorous and stimulating year for World Friends. Thousands of new readers have been added to our lists—always a challenge and responsibility that we are happy to try to fulfill.

The United Churchman is an official organ of The United Church of Canada in the Atlantic provinces and is published twice a month in Sackville, New Brunswick.

The Woman's Missionary Society has the privilege of a full page or more in each edition amounting to a total column space of about 1,200 inches during the year. Our readers are thus kept in touch with important Conference Branch and Presbyterial matters. The quarterly financial reports of Maritime Conference givings are eagerly studied and keep us on our toes. Auxiliary news is kept at a minimum as our Press Secretaries are urged to make good use of the local press.

As members of that great Society whose members have "the world in their heart" we devote much of our space to the world mission and our place in it. This includes discussion of plans for stronger and more effective witness and service—the new One Woman's Organization—as well as a studied view of far places, refugee camps which accuse us, lists of missionaries wanted, which challenge and perhaps our most popular feature, news of our missionaries on the field and stories about the people with whom they work.

The United Churchman appears to be an integral part of United Church life in the Atlantic provinces. The W.M.S. Page and a more recently acquired page devoted to W.A. news now make a substantial Women's Section in this Church paper.

The past year has been an interesting one in the Periodicals Department. We have watched, with almost a thrill, as subscriptions continued to rise in number for World Friends. These subscriptions do not all come from the younger groups within the W.M.S. family by any means—but are being received in large quantities by Sunday Schools; and other organizations.

It has been an important year for The Missionary Monthly. To ensure an alert and informed membership, as progress is made towards the new Woman's Organization of our Church, every member should be a subscriber and reader of this our magazine. In many Presbyterials such a goal has been set and we have congregations now receiving The Missionary Monthly for each woman member. If this were possible in all areas, our circulation figures would show a great increase.

The voluntary dedicated work of all our Presbyterial Missionary Monthly and World Friends Secretaries, and the promotion carried on by our Conference Branch Secretaries is our greatest evidence of co-operation. We feel assured that their enthusiasm will stimulate subscriptions.

Four thousand, two hundred copies of "Missionaries at Work", Part 1, and four thousand copies of "Facts and Figures", Part 2, of the 34th Annual Report were published.

HOME ORGANIZATION

AUXILIARIES, FEDERATIONS, AFFILIATED SOCIETIES

Team Work

The review of the year 1959 as presented by the Home Organization and Portfolio Secretaries in this report is the record of the work of a team of women meeting regularly for worship, mutual encouragement and committee planning, then separating to spend long hours in follow-up through correspondence, preparation of materials, monthly articles written for the magazine and compiling of Conference Branch reports! It is a constant source of satisfaction to work with the Home Organization team and to its members, including my fellow-secretaries Miss McKeen and Miss Thomson, I pay tribute as well as to Miss McFadden, our writer. To Miss Fraser, Miss Wright and Miss Shea, who support us all with efficiency, we are grateful. A special expression of appreciation is due to Mrs. Outram who resigns this year after chairing the Home Organization Committee for ten years with the skill and graciousness that have commanded both respect and affection.

Drifting Arrested

A statistical review of adult organizations surprises us with increases in the total number of Auxiliaries and Federations (in spite of Auxiliaries "absorbed" when Federations are formed), in Affiliated Societies, in membership and in givings. Membership increases are probably accounted for by the rapid spread of Federations—new ones having been formed during 1959 bring the total now listed to 315.

Portfolio Secretaries report that whereas last year there seemed to be a tendency to drift because of uncertainty about the future, volunteers are very much on the alert again. This year more literature is being ordered, more systematic visiting and training of visitors is being done, more poundage was contributed to Supply and Relief work, more Associate Members were listed and there seems to be more of a trend toward a stronger emphasis on specific Citizenship concerns. Certainly more officers are planning more carefully for Rallies, Presbyterials and Schools and it is difficult to keep far enough ahead of the demand for resource materials. There are even more Presbyterials reporting, since we now have both Vancouver South and Vancouver Burrard, both Westminster and Fraser!

Routine and New Priorities

Such an optimistic picture however is counterbalanced by the fact that less and less time seems to be spent on thorough planning for advance; more women each year seem to be entering the ranks of those employed outside the home; women are often too busy to give enough time to executive planning even when travel expenses are met, and reporting of work done often leaves little time for consideration of what ought to be done. Has the time come when in light of pending re-organization we should be prepared to break with the accepted routines and establish new priorities? Could not all "reporting" at Annual Meetings, except the summary of the Corresponding Secretary, be cared for in Executives, so that time may be freed in Presbyterial and Branch for conference and discussion on the actual concerns of Portfolio work, more consideration of trends in Mission today and coming to grips with some of the issues confronting the Church and laity? If this is not done time must be found for more special training conferences aside from Annual Meetings. Why could Sectional Rallies not now be turned into three-session workshops with Bible Study in the morning, Program Workshops in the afternoon and introduction of Audio-visual aids in the evening?

More women (2,000) were reached in Leadership Schools last year and some new ventures were tried. There was a second school in London Conference Branch, a new school in Victoria Presbyterial, several conferences for Federation officers and workshops in specific portfolio work, e.g.: Community Friendship. Of thirteen Conference area Schools five were held in co-operation with the Woman's Association. Joint camps (W.A.-W.M.S.) are now held in two Presbyterial areas. An increase in Leadership Education has also been made possible because Miss Thomson, Field Secretary, has been urged to make training conferences her primary responsibility and already she has attempted this as she has moved from Toronto to Newfoundland, from Alberta to British Columbia.

Commission on the Work of Women

Much time has had to be set aside for the Commission on the Work of Women and its many sub-committees. If the plan recommended to General Council is adopted, long hours of re-organization and preparation will still be involved for Home Organization staff and Portfolio people. Reports show that Questionnaire No. 2 distributed by the Commission created much discussion in groups and congregations. There is still much confusion and uneasiness but the release of the Preliminary Draft Report to Conference Branches has helped to dispel some fears and a more positive attitude is beginning to appear.

A backward look reveals that the Home Organization Secretary has carried out one and two week assignments in the Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Toronto and Newfoundland Branches since last Board with briefer contacts in London, Hamilton and Bay of Quinte. These out-of-office trips have given opportunity for discussion and listening regarding women's work.

Servicing of Organizations.

A volume of materials for promotion and servicing of organizations must each year be prepared and kept up to date, including Thank-offering Services, Price Lists, Literature Memos, Schedules, Bulletins, Certificates, Handbooks, Leaflets. Miss Fraser, who takes much responsibility for liaison with printers and the Distribution Centre, reports placing 145 orders for 1,104,431 pieces of material with printers and publishers. This is in addition to the mimeographing done in the office itself. This last year some literature was prepared jointly with the Woman's Association including a card for Federation Members, suggestions for Joint Schools, suggestions for Federations, a revision of United Church Women at Work and a listing of Bible Study courses for use in women's groups.

Bible Study and Special Concerns

During the year our Department secured for printing in The Missionary Monthly a six-month Bible Study course on the Book of Acts, Bible Study courses were suggested or provided for Leaders Schools and the booklets "Methods of Small Group Bible Study" and "Chart for Adventure" were provided for Leaders. Some Branches, Presbyterials and Sectional Rallies are including Bible Study with small group discussion in regular programs. A survey of 6 Branches reveals that 365 Auxiliaries report some members in some form of Bible Study group; seven Presbyterials surveyed, list 105 Auxiliaries with members sharing in some form of Bible Study. These groups are mostly organized in congregations but some are experimental groups carried on by the women themselves. The impetus being given by Bible Study seminars in Lay Training Centres, or sponsored by the Canadian Council of Churches seems to be reflected in increased interest in our organization as well as in other areas of the Church's work. Several members of the Home Organization Committee attended Seminars conducted by Hans Rudi Weber of the World Council of Churches, and it is hoped that another of his Bible Study courses may soon be available for use.

During the year a special effort has been made to keep World Refugee Year before our constituency. Several articles have been secured for The Missionary Monthly including a play written by Miss Isobel McFadden. Every Conference Branch reports Supply and Citizenship Secretaries active in promotion of concern for Refugees. The film, "We Very Much Regret" and "The Long Stride" and tape-recorded interviews from the Berkeley Studio have been fairly generally used.

Last year's emphasis on Penal Reform seems to have carried over into further interest in and co-operation with both Elizabeth Fry and John Howard Societies.

Study Program and Our Sense of Mission

It is difficult to assess the degree to which the study program of our Society is making impact. One can only state that reports indicate that Reading and Program materials and Audio-Visual Aids are widely used and that a concern is maintained for the outreach of the Society. Awareness of a world-wide community for which Christians must assume some responsibility is found in reports of group contacts with persons seeking to interpret the Mission of the Church, not only in Africa as a whole but in Canada, the Caribbean, Japan, Ireland, Pakistan, the Sudan, Brazil, Mexico, Trinidad, Northern Rhodesia, Korea, India, Nigeria, Ghana, Hong Kong, Bolivia and Nepal! If this eagerness to achieve a world vision is matched with a concern that the Kingdom shall become reality we should not hesitate to move into new forms of association in these days that are, as Dr. D. T. Niles reminds us, so "charged with change".

DOROTHY M. YOUNG, Home Organization Executive Secretary

FIELD WORK

Since Dominion Board 1959, I have been giving leadership or sharing in training sessions in Missionary Education. These have included over 130 small groups, workshops with leaders of Younger Groups and officers of adult groups in W.M.S., one School for Leaders, two Presbyterial Annual Meetings, four Affiliation Services, a few Youth rallies and several Sunday Services.

Activities Throughout the Year:

June: Two weeks were enjoyed in the Dundas-Grenville and Glengarry Presbyterials of Montreal and Ottawa Conference Branch.

July: In July I attended a one-week's Conference on Missionary Education at Silver Bay, New York. I found this brief opportunity for training at the beginning of Africa Year a tremendous help in my own leadership.

In July I shared in leadership at the Saskatchewan Conference Branch School for Leaders held at the Prairie Christian Training Centre, Fort Qu'Appelle, where I appreciated the fellowship and the opportunity to have three or four continuous sessions in which to give training to Mission Band Leaders and Explorer Counsellors.

August: Holiday time.

September, October, November: All five of the Newfoundland Presbyterials welcomed me into their many communities. In Bonavista Presbyterial the president accompanied me to all sessions. What a valuable experience this was in the strengthening of His work! I also appreciated sharing for two weeks in team leadership with Christian Education staff there.

December: In office.

January: Early in January I participated in an Explorer Counsellor Conference in Hamilton Presbytery. Two Toronto Presbyterials invited me to give leadership in Program Planning for officers of Federations.

February: How happy I was to return to Alberta Conference Branch for the second time. The Conveners of Presbytery Christian Education Committees and Presidents of Presbyterials joined hands in planning this itinerary. Miss Burns, Associate Field Secretary, and I gave joint leadership throughout one Presbyterial.

March: After a few days rest I launched into more activity in my first visit as Field Secretary to British Columbia. Miss Philip joined me for work in the Kamloops area. Parts of Kamloops-Okanagan Presbyterial, Cariboo, Prince Rupert and Fraser Presbyterials were visited.

April, May: As this goes to press I leave for Fort St. John, Peace River Presbyterial to spend a month in five northern Alberta Presbyterials.

What Types of Opportunities Does a Field Secretary Welcome?

a) To meet in two- to three-hour training session in Missionary Education with Leaders of Younger Groups—Baby Band Superintendents, Mission Band Leaders, Explorer Counsellors and C.G.I.T. Leaders.
b) To meet in a two- or three-hour training session in Missionary Education with officers and representatives of Auxiliaries, Federations, Affiliated Societies and Mission Circles. W.A. representatives are also welcome.
c) To meet with children or youth where time permits.
d) To co-operate with leaders from other Boards of the Church.
e) To present the Missionary Education program to church members where there are no group leaders.

General Comments

The year has been a busy and happy one. I wish to express my appreciation for the hospitality and friendship shared throughout my travels.

What has 1960 meant to each member of the W.M.S. family? Has it meant growing in the Christian faith? Has it meant discovering new avenues for expression of that faith? It is my hope that through our "field work" service we may help in fulfilling these aims of Missionary Education.

"Any woman who cannot attend the meetings, but who is in sympathy with the aim and object of the Society and contributes, is an Associate Member."

All by itself this quotation does seem like a simple statement and yet, "There does seem, in some quarters, a lack of understanding as to the real meaning of Associate Members".

Some Presbyterials failed to report any Associate Members at all. One reported a group of Associate Members having regular meetings! One reported male members! We commend this evidence of initiative.

There is an ever increasing number of Auxiliaries who have no Associate Members' Secretary. Many of these have Associate Members. From a scattered survey, I have learned that in these situations Associate Members are often looked after by the executive; i.e.: names are assigned to various people, "the Adopted Grandmother plan", or to group leaders who are then responsible for so many Associate Members for a fixed period. These leaders in turn, arrange for individual members of the group to visit them. This plan seems to be working satisfactorily in some cases, while in others the opinion is that a secretary does a better job of organizing and reporting.

Many, many reports state, "The Associate Members' Secretaries seem to be extremely active and achieving good results". Much visitation, with leaving of mite boxes and missionary literature is evidenced. Excellent supply work has been carried on by Associate Members and many assisted with Auxiliary programs.

The Missionary Monthly and Newsletter for Associate Members are not being used as extensively as they might be but the majority of secretaries take time to state that the most interested Associate Members are the ones who read The Missionary Monthly.

This is the first year that we have not asked for separate accounting of Associate Members' givings. Only two reports mention this at all. It would seem that this change has caused scarcely a ripple across Canada!

Without doubt, regular contact has developed a spirit of real fellowship between Associate Members and active groups.

The question uppermost in our minds these days is, "How will we proceed to maintain these contacts and this fellowship, in the new organization?

Meanwhile, this message comes from one Conference branch:

"I would like to take this opportunity to urge all Afternoon and Evening Auxiliaries and Federations to appoint Associate Members' Secretaries so that the work of our Church may be extended to those who, through disability, indifference or timidity are not active in missionary work."

And so would I!

(MRS. K.) GRACE JULL, Secretary

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP

"There is a definite upsurge of interest in this Department," one secretary reported. As this comment re-echoed through many Branch reports, the total picture of Christian Citizenship became alive and encouraging.

Temperance

Temperance Education is a chief concern. Despite educational effort, social drinking is more prevalent. Canada last year reported 250,000 alcoholics. We must ask ourselves "Are we making an impact?"

Members of the Woman's Missionary Society actively campaigned against local option in some places. Education of younger people was seriously undertaken and support of Toc Alpha was noted. One group visited an Alcohol Research Foundation.

Opening of liquor outlets was protested, as was insidious liquor advertising. Opposition to beer parlors in airport terminals and cocktail lounges on planes was voiced. The Prime Minister was written approving his stand in not serving liquor at a reception in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

Social Welfare

"There always seems to be confusion of Christian Citizenship, Community Friendship and Supply," is a comment with which we agree. Perhaps the new women's organization will solve this problem. The meaning of "Supply" seems clear; "Social Welfare" is more complex.

Study of Penal Reform was reported from seven Conference Branches (even Bermuda adapted the Penal Reform program); others had reported on this in 1959. Some took action following their study. An investigation into the care of women prisoners in a provincial jail resulted in a woman being employed on the staff of the John Howard Society. Also, the Dominion Government was petitioned re treatment of sex criminals.

Trading stamps were discussed and resolutions forwarded to the Government.

Racial Brotherhood

Auxiliaries have practised their belief in the brotherhood of man by entertaining Overseas Students, welcoming New Canadians, learning of problems of minority groups and teaching English to Germans, Hungarians, Chinese and others. They have learned about World Refugee Year, studied the African racial problem which is now so acute and helped through some "adoption" plan, students in Trinidad, India, Africa and Korea.

Action varied as follows:

Visits to Courts of Citizenship to welcome New Canadians receiving citizenship papers.

Holding "Citizenship Night" with other groups—fourteen national groups being represented and welcomed.

Writing C.B.C. because of concern over discrimination against colored people.

Sending a resolution to the B.C. cabinet regarding the "Fair Accommodation Practices Act".

World Peace

Can there be world peace with millions homeless, others hungry, and still more downtrodden and exploited because of color? Every Branch emphasized the World Day of Prayer and continuing prayers for peace.

Literature on world peace was distributed. The work of the United Nations was studied; the Hallowe'en collection for UNICEF was encouraged. Some studied the use of nuclear power, then protested nuclear bomb testing.

Use of Materials

"A far better use of materials is noted" one secretary reported. Films and filmstrips played an increasing part in introducing discussion or "as a means of teaching things too difficult to put into words". One Auxiliary timed a meeting to coincide with the radio program, "Citizen's Forum". We commend the initiative of the Auxiliary whose members wrote and produced their own original drama.

General

Since Christian Citizenship is basically a concern to meet human need the cumulative effect of enthusiasm for study and action has tremendous potential.

We look to a future when we shall link our efforts with W.A. workers that together as United Church women we may "study that we may serve".

(MRS. JAMES G.) LOUISE DUNCAN, Secretary

COMMUNITY FRIENDSHIP

As reports of the year's work, compiled by the Conference Branch Community Friendship Secretaries, have come to hand it has astonished me that so many types of visiting have been done and such diversified services given. This year no statistical records were required from visiting committees but such sentences as the following indicate that the momentum of the Department has not suffered.

"There has been an increase in interest and practical help." "More members are sharing in the work than ever before." "Most groups have Community Friendship well-organized." "The stressing of quality in visiting is apparent." "More thought is being given to improving visiting."

Community Friendship work was kept before the whole membership of Auxiliaries and Federations in various ways.

There was a real trend toward co-operation between the W.A. and W.M.S. in visiting. Other Community Friendship Secretaries were closely associated in visiting with Baby Band and Associate Members' Secretaries.

There was a general consensus that more Leadership Training courses and Workshops were needed. One such workshop for Nursing Home visitors where the Director of Nurses took part was reported. Members of visiting committees had attended Schools for Leaders, some specially planned Workshops and some informal get-togethers for information and instruction.

Too few personal notes were sent to the Community Friendship secretaries in churches to which members of Auxiliaries and Federations were moving. Some felt that notices from the church office itself were enough. Where a personal note had been sent the new person usually became an active and valuable member of the new church group.

Services given to newcomers, immigrants, aged persons, the sick and other special groups ranged from the personal chat to an elaborate inter-denominational survey of a whole town. Regular visiting in Homes for the Aged and Nursing Homes has been zealously promoted everywhere. Well-organized committees properly instructed and functioning with definite plans have replaced much haphazard, seasonal visiting of the past. A large increase in the work with Senior Citizens was reported. Community Friendship Secretaries have a much broader vision of the magnitude of the task and its importance in meeting the basic needs of people.

Newcomers and immigrants to various communities were welcomed to the homes of Auxiliary members and to church activities. New Canadians have become members of many Auxiliaries. Lessons in English and in Canadian history and government have been offered by church groups.

Community Friendship committees are working in many fields where little contact was previously made. Residents in trailer courts and military camps have been specially visited. One Auxiliary was concerned for those living in lumber camps and lighthouses. Follow-up calls were made on patients leaving hospitals. Visitors gave assistance in a School for Retarded Children and in a corrective school for boys, while a dinner was given for children in a School for the Deaf. Some Community Friendship visitors helped in the work of Alcoholics Anonymous. One Secretary who lives in a resort town has specialized in visiting accident cases among tourists. There has been a continual searching and exploration into the needs of the community as a whole with a broader concept and a widening realization of the place a friendly visitor from the church may fill.

The report of the year's work in Community Friendship can perhaps be summed up in the words of one secretary when she said that Community Friendship has become a very important avenue of service since it would seem that the only hope for a real and lasting peace must come from a feeling of friendship beginning in small groups in small places and reaching out into the world at large.

(Mrs. R. E.) Lila Thompson, Secretary

SUPPLY

A fairy story always has a happy ending. However, if you were to follow each task or each gift in our Supply Story you would find, if not an entirely happy ending, at least one which is happier than it might have been. Let me say "Thank you" to everyone who sent a little happiness to near and far away places.

It seems ridiculous to express an ephemeral substance like happiness in terms of poundage, yet think of almost 68,000 pounds of supplies going, in 1959, to Home Mission centres. More pounds were mentioned of which no records were kept. Workers on Indian Reserves and in Community Missions found good use for boxes of clothing and some 2,500 quilts and blankets. Varied gifts, from sewing machines to "Upper Room" subscriptions carried the concern of our members.

Church and Woman's Missionary Society hospitals received supplies—slippers, bathrobes, nightwear, baby gowns, sheets, towels. Supply workers, of all ages, provided 990 layettes and many extra articles for new babies, our new Canadians! This is an increase of 260 over 1959 but Canada has a high birth-rate!

Needed too, were the mittens, socks, sweaters and caps which went to comfort both old folk and young children. Hearts need warming too and 8,503 children must have had a happier Christmas because people cared enough to send with gifts, gay wrappings and ribbon.

Our home communities were not neglected. Fire, flood, sickness and unemployment were made more bearable because generous friendly assistance was extended to victims. Support was given to many different "Homes".

Homes for Senior Citizens, Homes for Retarded Children, Rescue Homes, Nursing Homes. Each has its needs which our people tried to meet. Community work such as the making of cancer dressings, visits and gifts to hospitals, especially children's hospitals, was reported. Many times reports told of Auxiliaries making money donations to worthy appeals outside The United Church of Canada. Should "Auxiliary" money donations be used this way?

Every Conference Branch reported the Younger Groups assisting greatly in Supply work. Their self-chosen tasks ranged from making Welcome Kits for use by Port Workers, selling Christmas cards for Overseas Relief funds or filling Christmas stockings for a children's ward, collecting magazines and making Valentines for hospitals, to providing Christmas dinners. Help went to refugees in Korea and the Middle East as well as to patients in sanitaria and hospitals in Canada. Younger Groups collected clothing, made Check-po's, So-po's and towel kits, and contributed money for shipping charges.

The statistics in Overseas Relief Work for our church showed increase of 45,500 pounds in materials for Overseas Relief Depots. There was improvement, too, in the quality of the goods. From the Overseas Relief Depot at 100 Simcoe Street, Toronto, 100½ tons went to Lebanon and Korea. The Vancouver Depot, Welfare Industries, First United Church, 111 Victoria Drive, sent 60 tons to Korea. Almost 3,000 quilts and 1,000 layettes were in these shipments as well as 842 Towel Kits, Check-po's and So-po's, soft toys, wee unbreakable dolls, new cloth and sewing materials as well as quantities of used white cotton and damaged nylons.

Needed personal parcels continued to go to missionaries in Korea, but the request of the missionaries is that all used clothing and damaged nylons be sent only through the Overseas Relief Depots.

The outstanding motif in all this work is that of outreach. . . . Outreach to far away places and people who are in need of help. . . . Outreach into our home communities. . . . Outreach too, with welcoming hands, to other groups in our Church, Younger Groups, men's groups, members of Session, Stewards and W.A.'s. Word comes that Supply work has often become a church project or a joint W.A.-W.M.S. project. If, together, we can share and give, pray and love, the message of Christ Jesus may be revealed to more of His children.

So we end the 1959 chapter of the Supply Story.

(Mrs. P. E.) Mary E. Ault, Secretary

THE YOUNGER GROUPS

Our Younger Groups

The Annual Reports of work with Younger Groups indicate a fairly healthy missionary family. We note that the Groups that have been growing most rapidly and consistently are Explorers and C.G.I.T., and that Mission Bands remain fairly constant. During the past few years Baby Bands and Mission Circles have been showing a small but consistent decrease.

It is difficult to analyze these statistics, but I would like to suggest some possible reasons for the trends:

(1) The Canadian post-war "Population Explosion" babies have arrived in force in the Junior and Intermediate age groups, providing large numbers of girls in Explorers and C.G.I.T.

(2) The difficulty of finding a time of day, or day of the week, when Primary children can come, or be brought to a meeting is one of the problems confronting many congregations, both rural and urban, which would like to have Mission Bands. A second major problem for Mission Bands is the finding of adequate leadership.

(3) There seems to be less and less need for a purely feminine organization for young women in the Mission Circle age-groups.

(4) There seems to be some grounds for thinking that a misunderstanding of the purpose of Baby Bands is quite general. Parents rightly do not wish to enroll their pre-school children in an organization which holds organized meetings. The primary purpose of helping parents to do missionary education in the home appears to be receiving inadequate attention.

Leadership Education

Opportunities for Leaders to receive training in missionary education have included: two, five-hour Leader's Conferences planned by Presbyterial Secretaries, Schools for Leaders, one-hour Conferences at Presbyterial Annual Meetings and Sectional Rallies, Conferences and Workshops planned in co-operation with Presbytery Counsellors for Children's and Girls' Work, and C.G.I.T. Camps where a particular person was responsible for Missionary Education. Leaders of Younger Groups have expressed special appreciation of the help given by Miss Marion Thomson, wherever she has travelled.

More and more women are being drawn into leadership; many of them feel inadequate for their responsibilities. More and more training opportunities should be made available.

Coaching Conferences

Coaching Conferences for Presbyterial Secretaries for Mission Bands and/or Affiliated Explorer and/or C.G.I.T. Groups were held in Saskatchewan, London and Bay of Quinte Conferences Branches.

Christian Education

The past year has offered an increasing number of occasions when W.M.S. and Christian Educational personnel could work together. In Presbytery and Conference, this co-operation has been largely in the area of Leadership Education. Nationally, it has also included program preparation.

Summer Student Field Workers

Four young women from the United Church Training School served as Student Field Workers in the summer of 1959. Miss Mary Thomas and Miss Elaine Harland served in Ontario; Miss Betty Ann Caldwell in Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan; Miss Bessie Lane, in British Columbia.

The work they did in introducing the Africa Study materials, and in missionary education at camps was deeply appreciated.

Summer Program

In 1959 it was possible to have someone present missionary education at thirty-three Camps, one or more in every Conference of the Church. Campers, leaders and camp committees have expressed appreciation for the work of a B.C.I.T. Leader, two Scholarship Students, eight Missionaries-on-furlough, and three of the four Summer Student Field Workers in Missionary Education.

Miss Margaret Godwin, a Leader of Bermuda Girls In Training, came to Canada and gave leadership at three C.G.I.T. Camps. We are grateful to the Methodist Church of Bermuda for making this very profitable visit possible, and hope a similar visit may be arranged in the future.

Committee Work

A good deal of the Secretary's time is spent on Committee Work, within the Society, in Boards of the Church (Christian Education and Information and Stewardship), and in the Department of Christian Education of the Canadian Council of Churches.

Field Work

In the past year some time has been spent in the Maritime, Montreal and Ottawa, Bay of Quinte, Toronto, London, Manitoba and Saskatchewan Conference Branches in such gatherings as Schools for Leaders, Mission Band Leaders' Conferences, Explorer Counsellors' Conferences, C.G.I.T. Leaders' and Senior Girls' Conferences, Presbyterial Annual Meetings, a Conference Branch Annual Meeting, and Coaching Conferences for Presbyterial Secretaries.

The Office

The facilities and beauty of the new United Church House have made the hours in the Office pleasant. The Staff of the Home Organization Department working so happily and efficiently keep the routine and the unexpected work of the day running smoothly. We welcome to the Staff Miss Evelyn Shea, and express appreciation for her skill and spirit of service.

The Ongoing Task

We go forward with hope. We look to days which will bring new ways of working, confident that the Christ Who has been the Lord of the past is also Lord of the future, and that He calls us to become involved in His mission.

R. CATHERINE MCKEEN, Secretary for Younger Groups

MISSION CIRCLES

There continues to be a slow but steady downward trend in number of Circles and in membership. Givings were down, but only because some groups failed to make their remittances on time. Two thousand and twelve members contributed $12,115.45, an average of $6.00 per member and an increase of $0.40 per member over last year.

Enthusiasm of the members and keen interest in doing things for others were highlights of the reports. Community Friendship projects received the greatest response. On the other side of the picture, study and action on current problems was badly overlooked and reading in most Circles was poor, although one Conference Branch reported an increase where records were kept. Little reference was made to use of The Missionary Monthly or other periodicals.

Worship and Study

Most Circles used the current worship and study materials. One Advisory President conducted a Bible Study with the Group. The Africa Study was well received and was presented in many ways: through slides, maps, speakers, quizzes, panel discussions, skits. Films were used extensively. In one Circle the members discovered they did not know enough about the missionary work of the Church and decided to study "Acts of the Apostles" and Paul's Missionary Journeys. Another group reported that each member was reading Africa Disturbed at home.

Other programs included a travelogue on Mexico; missionary speakers from Africa and India; illustrated addresses by a guest from Norway, by two teachers who attended the World Council of Christian Education Convention in Tokyo, and a speaker from the United Nations. The filmstrip "Strangers in Their Own Land" was followed up by conversations re closer contact with Indian girls off the reservation.

Community Friendship and Supply

One can only marvel at the "good works" of this relatively small group of the W.M.S. family. There was a marked increase in visits made to shut-ins, hospital patients, newcomers. Hot meals were served in a manse during the mother's illness; baby sitting was done in the minister's home; carols were sung at a nursing home; hospitals were decorated and Scripture bookmarks and favors distributed; gifts were sent to missionary prayer partners. Supply parcels included midwifery kits, mitts, toys, clothing, afghans, crib quilts, Bibles, Sunshine Boxes, children's aprons, pillow cases, layettes, kits to Port Workers.

Service in Congregations

Many members practised stewardship of talents and time through service in Baby Band, Explorers, C.G.I.T., Sunday School, Choir, and membership in Y.P.U.

Leadership Training

Secretaries are making a determined effort to strengthen Circles through Rallies and Coaching Conferences. Deep appreciation was expressed for assistance given here by missionaries. One Secretary reported the personal contact made at School for Leaders was the most effective part of her work. "It generated enthusiasm—broadened their outlook".

Church Work as a Vocation

Presentation in this field appears to have been weak. One member is attending Naramata. "Two plan to attend the United Church Training School when professional training is completed." Dramatization has proven to be a good way of presenting the opportunities for service. One Secretary says, "If our local Auxiliaries would demonstrate more concern about providing group leadership for our young women, more of them might be considering full-time service in the Master's Kingdom. You and I may be up to our ears in church work but—are we lighting lamps—really lighting lamps?"

AFFILIATED C.G.I.T. GROUPS

Friendship Diary

Just as we expected, Friendship Diary met with a mixed response. One Secretary said, "The fact that leaders found it more difficult to present seemed to challenge them to greater efforts." Leaders who undertook the study with much trepidation were often startled by the ideas and enthusiasm that came from the Group.

Practical examples of C.G.I.T. efforts to be neighbors to people near at hand included such ventures as:

Visiting a Hungarian Presbyterian Church and meeting several times with the teen-age girls of the church, who had come to Canada following the Hungarian Revolution.

Studying about the Hutterites and visiting their Colonies.

A picnic for all the girls in the community, regardless of religion.

Getting to know Eskimo patients in the local Sanitarium.

Entertaining New Canadians.

Visiting a Synagogue.

Attending Citizenship Court and serving at the reception for New Citizens after the ceremony.

Visiting Rest Homes.

Reading to a blind man.

Entertaining girls from a community where there was no C.G.I.T. Group, and creating interest in organizing a Group.

Meeting with young Canadian Indians.

Visiting Senior Citizens and really getting to know them as people.

Discussing beliefs with Jewish and Roman Catholic girls.

Holding Sunday School Classes for children in an Orthopaedic Hospital.

Obtaining names of hospital patients who had no one to visit them, and making weekly visits.

Sending greeting cards to older folk residing in Homes.

As one Secretary said, "The wonderful thing about many of these projects is that they were carried on through the year and some into 1960!", and another, "This is a study that will go on bearing fruit throughout a lifetime."

Ways and Means

Groups used various program ideas, such as: panel discussions, audio-visuals, visits, parties, speakers followed by discussion, research, handicrafts, drama, buzz groups and debates.

Literature and Audio-Visuals

This study stimulated a wide variety of interests, with a longer-than-usual list of books, periodicals, and audio-visuals being used.

Givings

Some Groups—an increasing number in some Conference Branches—secure their Affiliation Gift by offerings—this is being encouraged. Once again C.G.I.T. Gifts for Special Objects have increased by a sizeable sum.

Supply and Overseas Relief

C.G.I.T. Groups have had a significant share in such practical service as is possible through Home Mission Supply work and Overseas Relief. They made: Welcome kits, layettes, corsages for hospital patients, Check-up's and

World Friendship Rallies and World Day of Prayer

Many Groups across the country took part in Rallies and/or World Day of Prayer Services.

Church Vocations

No report mentioned Church Vocations being presented to C.G.I.T. Groups!

Bible Study and Mission Study

At least some Groups began their Mission Study with Bible Study. "One group reported that they used the Diary hand in hand with Bible Study," writes one Secretary.

Leaders who would like to do more thinking about the Biblical basis of Mission will find "In One Spirit" by D. Campbell Wyckoff of real help. Every Leader should have an answer to the question, "Why a Mission Study anyway?"

B. CATHERINE MCKEEN, Acting Secretary

AFFILIATED EXPLORER GROUPS

The 1959 Missionary theme, "North American Neighbors" was presented to Explorers through the book Ten Pairs of Shoes by Mae Hurley Ashworth. This was a most fortunate choice of study book for it was greeted with more than usual enthusiasm by both girls and leaders. In each session, Explorers were encouraged to put themselves in the shoes of a boy or girl from some part of the North American continent.

Activities—which sound so similar when listed year after year—were filled with meaning for Explorers as through their "doing", they gained understanding and appreciation of circumstances in which other boys and girls live. To this end, Juniors dressed dolls, made puppets, set up Eskimo igloos or Indian villages, made leis. Some prepared food typical of various regions; some dramatized stories. Songs and folk dances were enjoyed by many groups.

Service Projects also were carried on with enthusiasm. Used clothing was gathered for Overseas Relief. Treats were provided for hospitals and for shut-ins. Gifts were made for distribution by Port Workers and Hospital Visitors. One enterprising group adopted a Korean orphan!

Worship centering on the theme of the day was reported.

Visual Aids are increasing in popularity. A variety of films and filmstrips was reported. The filmstrip, "Rudi Comes to Canada" heads the list.

General—for the first time all groups reporting have used the current mission study material for Explorers. The growing practice among local Auxiliaries of supplying groups of Explorers with the Junior Packet is, to some extent at least, responsible for this improvement. An increasing number of Auxiliaries, too, provide Explorers with World Friends and their Counsellors with The Missionary Monthly. In spite of this evidence of growing interest on the part of Auxiliary women in Affiliated Explorers, they do not widely support Explorers by attendance at Affiliation Services.

Regret was expressed by some Presbyterial Secretaries for Affiliated Explorer Groups that the girls have so little opportunity to meet missionaries. It was suggested that Explorers be kept in mind as itineraries of missionaries on furlough are arranged.

The cry for leadership is still heard in many districts. Shortage of leaders is felt less keenly in Presbyterials reporting Leaders' Conferences and Workshops. Presbyterial Secretaries for Affiliated Explorer Groups need the active support of every W.M.S. woman in arranging and promoting such gatherings. We live in an age of challenge—but what more stirring challenge have we than to give to children and youth a vision of the World Mission of the Christian Church!

MISSION BANDS

Although we can claim no increase in the total number of Mission Bands, it is significant that in several of the Conference Branches there has been a marked increase in membership and givings. The Bands now in existence are doing effective work and enlarging their sphere of influence.

Since our records show that over one hundred new Mission Bands were organized in 1959, and our Annual Reports indicate a decrease in the total number of Bands, we realize that a disturbing number of Mission Bands have ceased to function in the course of the past year. The reason given most often has a sadly familiar ring—"We could find no one to carry on as leader." Are W.M.S. members losing their sense of urgency in this matter? The children of a congregation do not wait until a leader is found for this work. They continue to grow, to develop attitudes and ideals without the influence of missionary education. A sobering thought!

There is a new trend evident in the reports of the relationships of Mission Bands to other church groups. An increasing number of Bands are receiving help and encouragement from congregational Christian Education Committees, from Federations, and from Sunday School staffs. Auxiliaries are continuing to support leaders and Bands by providing material assistance in the form of packets and expense accounts, by being thoughtful hostesses and charming guests as the occasion demands, and by assisting with everything from piano playing to transportation.

The requirement of Temperance Education continues to give difficulty. Leaders who feel that it must be definitely related to teaching about alcohol, report that home customs make this task most difficult. Increasingly, however, leaders are realizing that education in the stewardship of all of life is basically Temperance Education, particularly where Primary children are concerned. Many report forms indicate that Temperance Education has been done through stories, informal discussions, and projects stressing the stewardship of all that God has given.

Leaders are unanimous in their approval of World Friends. They use it as a source of stories, poems, plays, and pictures. Many Bands are supplying World Friends for every home in the congregation in which there are public school children.

There is general appreciation and use of the materials provided for Mission Band leaders. The Leaders' Guides are popular; there is increasing use of filmstrips, and a number of leaders report that they find much help in The Missionary Monthly, The Observer, and The Christian Home.

The usual variety of worthwhile projects has been reported. Mission Bands are showing an increasing interest in the senior citizens of their communities. A number of Bands are carrying on a friendly correspondence with Mission Bands in which there are Indian or Negro members. Even in their money-raising projects, our Bands are stressing and publicizing the outreach of the Christian Church through their themes, decorations, and programs.

Again we salute and pay tribute to the fine women who are leaders of the Mission Bands of our churches. All reports testify to their enthusiasm, their initiative, and their consecration.

BABY BANDS

1959 indicates a slight increase in the number of Baby Bands, with a large decrease in members, and a small decrease in givings.

The small decrease in giving does not give us concern since our purpose is to provide missionary education rather than to raise money; but the decrease in numbers of children enrolled should make us pause. Are we trying to reach all the pre-school children within our Church family?

The statistics lead us to wonder whether this is an indication of hesitancy about promoting organizations of the Society because the future has seemed so uncertain. If so, 1960 should show a brighter picture when we can feel more sure of the direction in which we are going, with a determination to take strong, healthy organizations into the new ways of working. Or do these statistics reveal lack of conviction about the need for missionary education, or of understanding of the specific purpose of Baby Bands. For instance, a report of combining the Nursery Roll and the Baby Band indicates that nothing is being done on behalf of the three-, four-, and five-year-old children; a report of lack of interest on the part of mothers may indicate only that the purpose of the organization has not been well interpreted; a report that "the children are too young to understand" makes us realize that our intention to do parent education has been obscured by a feeling that there must be formal teaching of the children. We shall hope to strengthen the work in 1960.

What has been Happening?

"Many visits were made . . . The Auxiliary members often help with the visiting, and the distribution of literature."

"Each mother of a new baby was visited by an Auxiliary member."

"Baby Band Mothers made layettes, quilts, helped the Auxiliary with bales, organized a Baby-Sitting Service so that young parents would have an opportunity to attend church service."

"World Friends is used extensively and Auxiliary or Federation members help Baby Bands both financially and otherwise."

"Mothers helped with Supply work with showers of diapers and used clothing."

"There was co-operation between the Nursery Roll Superintendent and the Baby Band Superintendent, and in some churches also with the Family Life Superintendent."

"At fifteen Baby Band Parties in one Presbyterial $290.00 worth of literature was sold to mothers."

"Baby Band material and missionary literature have been left in all homes."

"A Visiting Committee made up of representatives of Baby Bands, Nursery (including Nursery Roll) and Kindergarten Departments of the Church School avoids much over-lapping, and produces far-reaching results."

What Can Be Done About Weaknesses?

—The lack of understanding of the basic purpose of the Baby Band should make us do some serious thinking and careful interpretation.

—The compulsion to have "meetings"—especially for children—needs to be examined.

—The scarcity of women willing to give leadership in this area is a widespread problem needing to be met with imagination and dedication.

—The filmstrip "Growing as World Friends", not mentioned in many reports, should have more promotion.

—The request for program material for Mothers' Groups can be partially answered by promotion of the Church's Family Magazine, The Christian Home.

—More emphasis should be put on visiting in the homes of pre-School children.

—Mothers can become more interested in the mission work of the Church if they are informed. Providing missionary education literature will help.

—Continued promotion of The Missionary Monthly, World Friends and current study materials is a partial answer to all the problems enumerated.

One Final Word

A deeper understanding of the meaning of missionary education of young children, and a stronger conviction about the Mission necessity underlying all of the Christian life are needed as we look to the days ahead.

R. Catherine McKeen, Acting Secretary

LITERATURE

Reporting

Conference Branch Literature Secretaries have faithfully completed their summarized Annual Reports. The totals of figures given show increases in all phases of the work. Yet, though some Conference Branches show increases in the number of Literature Secretaries appointed, others have such large decreases that it indicates a whole Presbyterial report may have been omitted. Where the number of Auxiliary libraries was decreased we are compelled to ask what was done with the books. If an Auxiliary had a library last year, surely they have one this year. Many felt that direct reporting by the Secretary of the department concerned would produce more accurate figures and more complete information.

Important Figures

Taking into consideration the fact that the figures given are not entirely correct but that mistakes might average out from year to year, we are happy to find an increase of 17 appointments of Literature Secretaries in Auxiliaries in 1959 over 1958, a total of 2,585, but there are still 744 Auxiliaries who have no Literature Secretaries. There is an increase of 96 in the number allowing time for promotion in meetings and 89 more have purchased the complete Bookshelf.

Promotion

To assist our Literature Secretaries in their work, we produced and distributed in 1959 the booklet "Promoting and Selling—Tips for Literature Secretaries". A copy was sent to every Auxiliary and Mission Circle Secretary as well as Presbyterial and Conference Branch officers. Comments from Secretaries say "excellent", "helpful", "have experimented in almost all its suggestions" and "signs on every hand of its practical use". Many of its promotional ideas came to the fore in reports. As well as the usual book reviews, displays, posters, discussions of books read, lists distributed and many ways of circulating books both to members and shut-ins, some have reported more unusual ideas. For the first time reports indicate that local librarians have been invited to Auxiliary meetings to present available books on the Study Theme and more members turn to Libraries for books. Several report publicity given to books by their minister, literature included in the church racks and libraries and W.M.S. women in charge of "Book Week" in their church. Some Secretaries linked our Study Materials with current radio, TV and newspaper events. One Conference Branch Secretary mimeographed copies of "Two minute sales talks" she had used and distributed them to Presbyterial Secretaries, these to be used to combat such ideas as, "I have no time to read" and "My mind wanders". Book reviews and Literature Pages in The Missionary Monthly were commended.

Interest in Reading

There is evidence of increased interest in reading though some comments are contrary. More books are circulated, sales are higher, more reading is being done in congregations and there is increasing tendency to study the Bible. There has been greater patronage of displays at Rallies, Annual Meetings, and Schools for Leaders. Some report that the discontinuance of the award system caused a decided decrease in interest and wish to see its return. Stimulation was given to reading interest by this year's theme, "Africa", and the untiring efforts of enthusiastic Secretaries.

The Annual Report

The Annual Report seems to be a necessity in all Auxiliaries. "Missionaries At Work" was used for program and reference regarding "Missionaries for Prayer". It is imperative that this material, in some way, be readily available to readers after the work of our Board has been integrated with the Mission Boards of the Church. Assigning a missionary for prayer to each organization not only supports the worker but also creates interest in her and her work and encourages reading. This also is a point to be remembered in planning for the new organization.

"Facts and Figures" sometimes is used as basis for programs but usually for reference and information for officers. It has been admitted that it is also used "to settle arguments".

1959-60 Theme "Africa"

Africa has proved a popular and timely Study Theme. Though we have no sales figures for W.M.S. purchases, the Board of Information and Stewardship report the sale of 7,500 copies of the Study book, Africa Disturbed, an increase of 500 over 1958. "Of the seven background titles comprising the Bookshelf, six books had average sales of 1,575 copies each and one book, African Manhunt, sold 8,400 copies and was top of the "most interesting" list on every report. "I'll Sing Not Cry", the major United Church film was also named on every report.

Audio-Visuals

There have been decided increases this year in the use of all types of Audio-Visuals. The most pronounced increase took place in a Conference Branch which had had a very successful demonstration and workshop at their Summer School for Leaders. This is the first year that no complaint has been made about the cost of these tools. Is this a sign that groups in churches are co-operating and sharing costs?

Drama

Drama does not appear to be widely used. Many report skits and panel presentations where names of plays are asked for. The need for worthwhile plays for female casts, e.g.: The Playette Quartette, has been brought to our attention.

Federations

Reading and study in Federations has been causing some concern. Interest has not always increased where Auxiliaries who were studying have joined with Woman's Associations in Federations. There is need for brief, simple programs which can be included in already crowded agendas or some other way of creating interest in these groups. However, one Federation reported interest and a good deal of reading being done in all 14 circles, and that they were ready to vote a substantial amount of money for books for 1960. Another Federation spends $100 on books each year, about 40 being taken out by members at each meeting, proving that keen interest can be achieved in these groups.

Younger Groups

There has been more promotion by our Secretaries of books and materials for Younger Groups as well as books for their leaders.

Individual Effort

Many sales are due to the efforts of individuals. One Auxiliary Secretary sold $175 worth of books before Christmas by taking her display to each of the small group meetings in the church plus a few outside groups. Such efforts are indeed commendable.

Distribution

Many difficulties have had to be ironed out in the distribution of literature. Complaints are still being received from the field, but many have been well satisfied with displays and service. Appreciation of the Depots across the country has been expressed.

Attendance at the Annual Meeting of the Commission on Missionary Education of the National Council of Churches of Christ, U.S.A., as your representative is always a stimulating experience in ecumenical fellowship and I am grateful to the Board.

My gratitude also is extended to Miss Dorothy Young, Rev. R. Catherine McKeon and the office staff for wise counsel, patient assistance and the devotion of each one to her part in the routine and sometimes bothersome detail of the Literature work.

To serve is a privilege.

(Mrs. E. W.) Isabel Hickeson, Secretary

Gifts for Building Advance in 1959 covered four projects—in Northern Rhodesia $25,000.00 towards Mindola Women's Training Centre; in Canada $19,000.00 towards advancement of Indian Work at Moose Mountain and Ahousat; $6,000.00 towards Scholarships for Home and Overseas and $15,000.00 towards Cars for Work in Canada and Overseas.

In accordance with Policy, each Presbyterial exceeding its Allocation was privileged to vote the excess over Allocations to these projects. Every project has been over-subscribed with $6,690.89 credited to Maintenance. The detail is indicated in the following schedule.

In comparing 1959 expenditures with those of 1958, we notice a slight decrease in both Overseas and Home Missions, part of which will be reflected in the increase in Co-operative Work. Scholarship shows practically no difference. Candidate shows an increase of $2,083.93 and this difference is in additional bursaries, travelling expenses for more missionary candidates and additional for publicity purposes. The Home Organization decrease is really not a decrease, for summer student workers' expenses included here in 1958 are now shown under "Summer Student Workers" within Home Missions Estimates. With the employment of more summer student workers by the Society, this change has been necessary in the keeping of our records. The Periodicals decrease will be explained in their report. Administration shows a large increase and the greatest part of this is attributable to increased salaries and the expense of moving from one building to another and establishing the new offices along with a considerable rise in rent. Some of the decreases in this area are in Audit and Legal fees, $1,200.00, a decrease of almost $1,800.00 in Presidents' and Secretaries' Expenses and the Expenses of Committees and Representatives to Conferences. The decrease in Pensions of $24,800.25 is because we are comparing with a figure which in 1958 included Past Service Benefits when officers and staff went into the Lay Employees' Retirement Plan. As I mentioned above, there is the increase in Co-operative Work of $10,890.69, $7,884.37 of which was Overseas Missions and $3,406.32 of which was Home Missions, with a decrease of $400.00 in Other Co-operative Work. Among the Miscellaneous Grants, the increase of $13,397.55 is mainly an increase in Travel, Outfits and Salaries of New Missionaries.

Investments

The General Investments Reserve carried forward a balance from 1958 of $1,233.24. During 1959, the purchase and sale of securities has yielded a gain of $14,798.13, leaving us with a total reserve of $16,031.37. This reserve is maintained to meet future profits and losses in the exchange of securities. This was reviewed at the end of 1959, and it was decided that it was not sufficiently large to distribute to the associated funds.

Interest amounting to $189,165.36 was distributed to the funds according to their proportionate average capital for the twelve months November 30, 1958 to November 30, 1959. This interest income was $39,183.91 more than it was in 1958. You will note also on your Balance Sheet that there is an amount of $13,430.20 interest to be distributed at November, 1960; this is consistent with our interest distribution date of November 30 each year.

General Fund

Within General Fund, you will notice that at the end of 1958 we left $1,360,000.00 with which to meet the Estimates of 1959. At the end of 1959, we have left an amount of $1,450,000.00 with which to meet the 1960 Estimates. This is money on hand before spending. In 1959, we showed an excess of receipts over disbursements amounting to $218,058.02. This, along with what we had on hand at the beginning of the year to meet 1959 expenditures permitted us to place in Current Reserve, $128,058.02. Our Current Reserve Account now totals $645,235.17. This stands as a buffer between receipts and disbursements when there is the need.

Property Account

In 1959, Property Account received a total of $191,857.32. Out of it we actually spent $299,446.18. Therefore within the year 1959, we spent $107,588.86 more than we received. This resulted in the final balance at December 31, 1959 being $96,159.32—far smaller than its opening balance of $212,321.64. I might draw your attention also to the fact that of this $96,159.32, $12,712.13 had already been promised before the end of 1959, but had not been spent at the end of the year. The balance of Designated Funds at the end of 1959 is $161,713.96. This, along with the $96,159.32 in Property General, makes a total at the end of 1959 in Property Account of $257,873.28 as compared with a total of $365,462.14 at the end of 1958. The status of this account will bear careful watching in 1960. If any Auxiliaries are holding bequests, they should be urged to send them in to the Treasurer's Department to assist in meeting property needs.

Bequest Permanent Reserve Fund

This fund received 95 bequests totalling $92,612.06 during the year, 1959. The interest of $24,646.41 is directly transferred to Property Account, each year. Out of bequests received, it was necessary to pay almost $4,000.00 in succession duties this year. To the $600,000.00 which always remains in Bequest Permanent Reserve Fund was added in 1959, $88,637.09. This was distributed as follows: $69,675.33 to Property Account General, $11,550.48 went to establish Specific Trust Funds, the interest on which was designated for specific purposes. Retirement Fund received $7,411.28 from the Ashton T. Fife Estate. Therefore our Bequest Permanent Reserve Fund remains at December 31, 1959, at its decreed $600,000.00. As you will remember, this was the maximum set for it in 1947.

Retirement Fund

The receipts of the Fund consisted of a total of $304,044.50 coming from a grant from General Fund, the assessments paid by the missionaries into the Fund, the interest on securities and bank interest, plus part of the bequest from the Ashton T. Fife Estate. The details of this will be found in your statement of Receipts and Disbursements for the Fund contained in your financial statement. Annuities were paid out to 112 retired missionaries in a total of $90,179.64 and $1,328.57 was refunded because of resignations. This meant that Capital was augmented by $212,536.29 plus residuum from Guaranteed Annuities of $9,059.59 leaving total in Retirement Fund Capital at the end of December, 1959 at $2,028,824.41.

Guaranteed Annuities

You will notice in the statement of Receipts and Disbursements that the interest received on the capital of this account amounted to $10,896.80 in 1959. Annuities paid out amounted to $29,911.51.

There were 19 annuities received during the year amounting to $26,869.06. During the year, the annuities which matured amounted to $35,856.76 divided, as you will see, between Retirement Fund Capital and General Fund Donations as the annuitants specified. Details of this will be found in the Capital Account of the Guaranteed Annuities Fund on your financial statement. You will remember that Society policy states that on maturity of an annuity, the residue is credited to Retirement Fund Capital or, if designated, as a Donation to the Society. The capital balance of the Guaranteed Annuities Fund as of December 31, 1959 is $270,092.52.

G.B.A. Scholarship Fund

You will notice from the Scholarship Schedule that a total of $21,536.02 was spent on Scholarships in 1959. The sources of income were from G.B.A. Scholarship Fund, from the Scholarship Estimate contained within Estimates, and from grants from Specific Trust Funds for Scholarships.

I would like to call your attention to the G.B.A. Scholarship Fund Capital Account. At the beginning of 1959, it contained $23,497.98. This capital earned interest of $870.43. From G.B.A. Scholarship Funds raised in 1959, an amount of $6,000.00 is added to augment this, making total receipts of $30,368.41. As you will notice by the schedule; $12,223.13 was spent from this during the year, leaving in G.B.A. Scholarship Fund Capital as of December 31, 1959, a balance of $18,145.28.

General

The Auditor's Certificate precedes the Financial Statements. As usual, there was an actual count of the securities made as of December 31, 1959, and all the accounts were examined and reviewed.

Again, I wish to acknowledge with thanks, the efforts of all the treasurers in Local Auxiliaries, Presbyterials, Conference Branches and on Overseas and Home Mission Fields. With the work of all, we circle the world. Ours is an important responsibility.

Auditors' Report

The Woman's Missionary Society of
The United Church of Canada,
Toronto, Ontario.

We have examined the Balance Sheet as at December 31, 1959, and the related Statement of Receipts and Disbursements for the year ended on that date, which have been prepared from the books of account of the Assistant Treasurer of The Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada and have obtained all the information and explanations we have required. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion the accompanying Balance Sheet and the related Statement of Receipts and Disbursements are properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the position of the constituent funds as at December 31, 1959, and the cash transactions for the year ended on that date, according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us and as shown by the books of the Assistant Treasurer.

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP

To summarize the annual reports has been a very interesting and stimulating experience. Some secretaries have been very meticulous about detail at the local level, which gives one much information about the presentation of Christian Stewardship throughout the year. It is difficult to adequately portray the progress that has been accomplished in this department, as the spirit of Christian Stewardship permeates the whole of life, and gives a greater sense of responsibility in the use of everything we have, time, talents and possessions.

The reports of the 11 Conference Branches are very encouraging. All exceeded their allocations, and all but one exceeded the givings of the previous year.

Conference Branches	Increases Over 1958	Over Allocation
Alberta	$ 2,110.00	$ 5,722.00
Bay of Quinte	2,283.00	6,439.00
British Columbia	1,201.00	2,601.00
Hamilton	4,600.00	10,988.00
London	5,561.19	6,879.19
Manitoba	1,262.34	3,500.00
Maritimes	3,500.00	8,430.00
Montreal-Ottawa	3,935.00	9,563.00
Newfoundland	(dec.) 751.00	(inc.) 310.00
Saskatchewan	2,747.00	4,566.00
Toronto	10,280.00	12,568.00

These increases indicate a willingness on the part of our women to give sacrificially, if necessary, to carry on the missionary program. Some of the comments from reports are:

1. There is a greater sense of dedication, faithfulness, responsibility and interest in our missionaries and all missionary work at Home and Overseas.

2. There is a spirit of co-operation between W.A. groups and Affiliated groups.

3. One group, beset with economic difficulties due to a poor harvest, met its allocation as a result of prayer and sacrificial giving.

4. Younger women are becoming members, and showing greater interest in accepting responsibility.

5. Some younger groups are assuming larger portions of the allocation, thereby giving evidence of a growing awareness of the need.

6. All reported more Bible Study and Prayer Groups, consequently greater understanding and growth.

7. Increased systematic giving.

We give thanks to God for these increases and evidences of growth in membership, and co-operation with other groups in our churches.

In order to facilitate the raising of allocations in our Auxiliaries and Mission Circles, we are using the medium of education to show the value of Planned Finance, or using the Budget Plan.

Of the 3,507 groups reported for in 1959—

2,082 are giving systematically
861 have a Finance Committee
787 use the Budget Plan
2,079 have Financial Surveys
2,781 report having a Christian Stewardship Secretary
2,447 present Christian Stewardship regularly through—worship, illustrated talks, panel discussions, questionnaires, records, tape recordings, films, talks from The Missionary Monthly and missionaries' letters, special speakers, workshops, posters and skits. One reported studying the women of the Bible who were good stewards, and another dramatized a Bible story.

Missionary for Prayer

At the Commissioning Service for our missionaries each year we, as the Woman's Missionary Society, promise to support those who commit their lives to the service of our Lord and Master. In order to fulfill our pledge, we ask each adult group to accept the name of a missionary, to correspond with her, and to help maintain her through our givings, and sustain her through our prayers.

The past year 2,833 groups have fulfilled this request. This still leaves 674 groups which have not shared in this request and privilege.

All Branch reports indicate a keener interest in their Missionary for Prayer, and more groups requesting names. Interest has been aroused in such groups in the different fields of service through correspondence with the missionary. It is the personal touch, through letters, that arouses a deeper concern in the hearts of many women.

We are very grateful to the faithful Christian Stewardship Secretaries from coast to coast; to the 11 secretaries on Conference Branches who have given generously of their time through correspondence with their secretaries and in mailing all suggestions and instructions sent from Dominion Board; to the 102 secretaries on Presbyterial level who have kept the material in circulation to the local secretaries, who have helped plan the presentation of Christian Stewardship in the Auxiliaries.

The year 1959 has been one of progress, much has been achieved, and we are full of gratitude to our Heavenly Father for His wonderful goodness to us. There are still thousands of God's children who have never heard the good news—"Jesus loves," and "Jesus saves." "The fields are white, ready for the harvest"—but the workers are too few. May we accept our responsibilities for the evangelization of all men everywhere. May we use every God-given ability, and live our belief, and believe Christ's promise, "Lo, I am with you alway."

(Mrs. R. P.) Garnette M. Lowery, Secretary

REPORT OF THE RETIREMENT FUND FOR 1959

The membership of the Retirement Fund at December 31st, 1959, was 285. Included in this total were 112 retired missionaries and 173 active missionaries or former missionaries who have retained credits on the Fund.

During 1959, eleven missionaries retired and seven resignations were accepted.

Ten retired missionaries died during the year.

You have in your possession the Financial Statement as presented by the Assistant Treasurer. The Retirement Fund, Capital Account, received a grant of $30,902.00 from the General Fund, and in addition $9,059.59, the residuum of Guaranteed Annuity Gifts.

The total amount paid in assessments by missionaries amounted to $13,327.50 and the annuities paid to retired missionaries totalled $90,179.64.

The Retirement Fund was augmented by $185,992.64, part of a bequest from the estate of the late Colonel Ashton T. Fife.

Again, may we express our sincere appreciation of the splendid co-operation of the Assistant Treasurer, and the other members of the staff of the Finance Department.

(Mrs. C. H.) Rita K. Cavers,
Retirement Fund Secretary

Constitution
OF
The Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada

Art. 1.—Name: This Society shall be called the Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada.

Art. 2.—Aim and Object: The Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada seeks:

To unite all the women of the Church for the World Mission of Christianity; to provide missionary education for children, teen-age girls and young women; to encourage study, prayer and giving on behalf of Christian Missions at home and abroad.

To share in sending the Gospel of Jesus Christ to every Canadian and to peoples of other lands; to bring healing and education to those in need; to aid in the development of the Christian Church in Canada and of the world-wide Church of Jesus Christ.

To create bonds of Christian friendship between its members and peoples of other races and other lands; to enlist the whole membership in united effort for temperance, social welfare and world peace; to build up a fellowship committed to the doing of God's will and to the extension of God's Kingdom in the home and the community, in Canada and throughout the world.

Art. 3.—Relationship and Work: It shall act jointly with the Mission Boards of the Church in the defining of its activities, working in harmony with them and receiving their approval in the employment of its missionaries and fields of labour.

To further this purpose it shall have representation on the Mission Boards of the Church.

Art. 4.—Organization: The Society shall consist of a Dominion Board, Conference Branches, Presbyterial Societies, Auxiliaries, Mission Circles, Mission Bands, Baby Bands, Affiliated Societies, Affiliated C.G.I.T. Groups, and Affiliated Explorer Groups.

Art. 5.—Membership: Membership in a local Auxiliary, Evening Auxiliary, Mission Circle, Mission Band or Baby Band, shall constitute membership in the Woman's Missionary Society. The membership shall be classified as Life and Annual.

The Dominion Board

Art. 6.—The Administrative body of the Woman's Missionary Society shall be the Dominion Board. It shall consist of its officers and other members of Executive, and two elected representatives from each Conference Branch, at least one of whom shall be a portfolio secretary. If the President of a Conference Branch who is a Vice-President, ex-officio, of Dominion Board be unable to attend, a substitute elected by the Conference Branch shall be a member of Board in her stead. The Dominion Board at its discretion may in any given year designate one of the Conference Branch Officers as one of the two elected representatives.

In order to bring the voting power of the Branch delegates to the Annual Meeting of the Dominion Board proportionately nearer to the voting power of the Executive, each Conference Branch shall be given one extra vote in addition to the three now held by Conference Branch delegates, this vote to be cast by the President of the Branch on request and the President's vote to express the opinion of the delegates from her Conference Branch.

Each Overseas Field shall have one voting delegate at the Annual Meeting of the Dominion Board to be elected by the Mission Council or Missionary Committee, from among the missionaries on furlough from the field who will be in attendance at Dominion Board Meeting; and the Home Field shall have voting delegates equal to the number from the Overseas Fields, these to be elected by ballot by all the home missionaries in active service from among the home missionaries on furlough who will be in attendance at the Dominion Board Meeting.

The Moderator and Secretary of The United Church of Canada shall be members ex-officio of the Dominion Board; and the following Boards and Committees of the Church shall name one of their Secretaries or another representative as a member of the Dominion Board: Board of Overseas Missions, Board of Home Missions, Board of Information and Stewardship, Board of Evangelism and Social Service, Board of Christian Education, Committee on the Deaconess Order and Women Workers of the Church and The Dominion Council of the Woman's Association. The Principal of the United Church Training School shall be a member ex-officio of the Dominion Board.

The Dominion Board shall meet annually at such time and place as it may determine.

Art. 7.—Officers of the Dominion Board: The Officers of the Dominion Board shall be a President, the immediate Past President, Vice-Presidents, General Secretary, Treasurer, Assistant Treasurer and such other officers as shall be necessary. These shall be elected by ballot after nomination at the annual meeting of the Dominion Board, except salaried officers who shall be appointed by the Dominion Board on recommendation of the Executive. The Presidents of Conference Branches are also, by virtue of their office, Vice-Presidents of the Dominion Board.

Art. 8.—Duties of the Dominion Board: The Dominion Board shall decide all matters of general policy; receive the annual reports of the Executive Committee; give instructions for the ensuing year; receive reports from Branches; take into consideration the interests and requirements of the whole Society as presented in these reports; consider and deal with all estimates for work; appoint an auditor annually; and transact any other business that the interests of the Society may demand.

Art. 9.—The Executive of the Dominion Board: The business of the Society during the year shall be transacted by an Executive, which shall consist of the immediate past president, the officers, portfolio secretaries and such other persons as shall be elected by the Dominion Board, fifteen of whom shall be a quorum, and, without in any way limiting the foregoing—

The Executive of the Dominion Board shall have power:

(a) To borrow any sum or sums of money upon the credit of the Society by way of loan, discount, overdraft or otherwise, and, as security for any money so borrowed, to hypothecate, mortgage and pledge all or any stocks, bonds, debentures, negotiable instruments or other real or personal property of the Society.

(b) To sell, convey, assign, transfer or otherwise dispose of all or any stocks, bonds, or other securities of every description held or owned by the Society and to sign and execute on behalf of the Society all and any instruments of transfer and other documents whenever necessary or proper to effectuate the same.

(c) To authorize from time to time by resolution or by-law, such officer or officers of the Society as the Board may appoint to make, draw, accept and endorse bills of exchange, promissory notes and cheques, and to execute, on behalf of the Society, all such documents, agreements, securities, conveyances, assignments and transfers as aforesaid.

(d) To delegate from time to time, by resolution or by-law all or any part of the powers hereinbefore set out to any adminstrative body of the Society.

Conference Branches

Art. 10.—A Branch shall be organized in each Conference and shall consist of the Presbyterial Societies within its bounds.

Each Conference Branch shall endeavour to further the interests of the Society's work within its own territory, shall organize Presbyterial Societies and shall carry out the recommendations of the Dominion Board. It shall receive annual reports from all Presbyterial Societies within its bounds, and from these reports shall be prepared a comprehensive report of the Conference Branch, which shall be forwarded to the General Secretary of the Dominion Board for embodiment in the printed annual report of the Society.

Each Conference Branch is free to frame its own By-laws, provided they are in harmony with the Constitution and By-laws of the Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada.

Though the Dominion Board is the only body to initiate work, each Conference Branch through its Executive has the privilege of recommending to the Dominion Board, any extension of or suggestions with regard to mission work within its bounds.

Art. 11.—Annual or Biennial Meeting of Conference Branch: The Annual or Biennial Meeting of each Conference Branch shall be held at such time and place as it shall from year to year determine. The reports of the various Presbyterial Societies connected with the Conference Branch shall be considered, and any other business that the interests of the Society may demand shall be transacted. An abstract of the reports shall be presented to the Conference. An Auditor shall be appointed at the Annual or Biennial Meeting of the Conference Branch.

Its voting members shall be the Executive of the Conference Branch and a delegation from each Presbyterial Society, the number of delegates from the Presbyterial Societies to be determined by vote of the Conference Branch at any annual meeting according to either Plan A or Plan B.

PLAN A—Six representatives, namely

(a) The Executive of the Conference Branch shall consist of the immediate Past President; the officers, portfolio secretaries and such other persons as shall be elected by the Conference Branch, and the Vice-Presidents, ex-officio, of the Conference Branch (Presbyterial Presidents). In addition to the meeting at the time of the Annual Meeting of the Conference Branch the Executive shall have at least one meeting during the year for which the Conference Branch is responsible for the expenses entailed by the attendance of the Vice-Presidents ex-officio.

(b) Sub-Executive—The Sub-Executive shall consist of not more than 10 Conference Branch officers of whom 5 shall be a quorum. It shall be appointed at the annual meeting of the Conference Branch and shall meet at the call of the President and Secretary as often as may be necessary to transact any business that may arise between the annual meetings of the Conference Branch.

Presbyterial Societies

Art. 14.—A Presbyterial Society shall be composed of all the Auxiliaries, Evening Auxiliaries, Mission Circles, Mission Bands, Baby Bands, Affiliated Societies, Affiliated C.G.I.T. Groups, and Affiliated Explorer Groups within the bounds of the Presbytery.

Its object shall be to develop interest in the missionary work of the Church, to organize and foster missionary societies among the women and young people of the congregations within its bounds and to carry out such recommendations as shall come from the Conference Branch.

It shall receive annual reports from all such Auxiliaries, Evening Auxiliaries, Mission Circles, Mission Bands, Baby Bands, Affiliated Societies, Affiliated C.G.I.T. Groups, and Affiliated Explorer Groups, and from these shall be prepared a full report of all the work, which shall be forwarded to the Corresponding Secretary of the Conference Branch along with a statistical report of membership and contributions.

Each Auxiliary and Evening Auxiliary shall be represented at the Annual Meeting by its President or her elected substitute, and two delegates; each Mission Circle by its Advisory President, or President, or her elected substitute, and one delegate; each Mission Band by its Superintendent or President or her elected substitute and one delegate; each Baby Band by its Superintendent or elected substitute; the Affiliated C.G.I.T. membership of each local church by an elected representative; the Affiliated Explorer Group membership of each local church by the Chief Counsellor or her substitute. Each Affiliated Society shall be represented by its President or elected representative.

Each Presbyterial Society is free to frame its own By-Laws, provided they are in harmony with the Constitution and By-Laws of the Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada.

Art. 15.—Annual Meeting of Presbyterial Society: The Annual Meeting of each Presbyterial Society shall be at such time and place as it shall from year to year determine. The officers shall be elected and the reports of the various Auxiliaries, Evening Auxiliaries, Mission Circles, Mission Bands, Baby Bands, Affiliated Societies, Affiliated C.G.I.T. Groups, and Affiliated Explorer Groups connected with the Presbyterial Society, shall be considered, and any other business that the interests of the Society may demand, shall be transacted. An abstract of the reports shall be presented to the Presbytery.

NOTE—In any case, save where absolutely impossible, the Annual Presbyterial meeting should be held prior to the meeting of the Conference Branch.

Art. 16.—Officers of Presbyterial Society: The officers shall be a President, Immediate Past-President, two or more Vice-Presidents, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary, Treasurer, and such Portfolio Secretaries as may be necessary for the work, all to be elected annually.

Art. 17.—Executive of Presbyterial Society: The Executive of the Presbyterial Society shall consist of not less than ten members, including the Officers of the Society, of whom five shall be a quorum, and shall be elected at the Annual Meeting of the Presbyterial.

The Executive Committee shall meet at the call of the President and Secretary, and shall administer the affairs of the Society during the year.

Local Organizations

Art. 18.—In a congregation any group of women, who are in sympathy with the Aim and Object of the Society and who agree to promote its interests and to contribute to its funds, may be organized as an Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society.

Art. 19.—Membership of Auxiliary: Any woman may become a member of an Auxiliary, who is in sympathy with the Aim and Object of the Society, and who signifies her acceptance of the responsibilities of membership by signing the Membership Roll and receiving a membership card. In addition, she shall pay an annual membership fee of fifty cents, the method of collecting the membership fees to be left to the discretion of the Auxiliary. Twenty-five dollars given at one time shall constitute Auxiliary Life Membership. A Life Member shall be entitled to membership in any one Auxiliary with which for the time being she may be enrolled.

Art. 20.—Officers and Executive of Auxiliary: The officers of an Auxiliary shall be a President, two or more Vice-Presidents, a Recording Secretary, a Corresponding Secretary, a Treasurer and such Portfolio Secretaries as may be necessary.

These, together with the President of the Evening Auxiliary, the Advisory President of the Mission Circle, the Superintendent of the Mission Band, the leader of Affiliated C.G.I.T. Groups, the Chief Counsellor of the Affiliated Explorer Group, and the Superintendent of the Baby Band, shall constitute an Executive which shall transact business requiring attention between regular meetings of the Auxiliary.

The minister shall have the right to preside at the election of officers.

Art. 21.—New Work: No Auxiliary shall initiate work on its own account, or divert its funds to objects other than those covered by the budget.

Art. 22.—Classification of young people's and junior organizations shall be according to the organization of The United Church of Canada for similar ages, as follows:

Mission Circle	18 to 25 years, approximately

Baby Band	to 5 years, approximately

Definite graduation into senior organizations as outlined above shall be promoted.

Art. 23.—Mission Circles: Any group of girls or young women, in sympathy with the Aim and Object of the Society, who agree to promote its interests, may be organized as a Mission Circle of the Woman's Missionary Society. Any young woman may become a member of a Mission Circle, who is in sympathy with the Aim and Object of the Society, and who signifies her acceptance of the responsibilities of membership by signing the Membership Roll and receiving a membership card. In addition, she shall pay an annual membership fee of twenty-five cents, the method of collecting the membership fees to be left to the discretion of the Mission Circle. $10.00 given at one time, shall constitute Circle Life Membership, which shall lapse on graduation into an Auxiliary. A Circle Life Member shall be entitled to membership in any one Mission Circle with which, for the time being, she may be enrolled. When the members of the Mission Circle have reached full adult life, they shall graduate into an Auxiliary, with full adult responsibilities.

Art. 24.—Officers and Executive of Mission Circles: The officers of a Mission Circle shall be an Advisory President, who shall be a member of the Auxiliary, a President, two or more Vice-Presidents, a Recording Secretary, a Corresponding Secretary, a Treasurer and such Portfolio Secretaries as may be necessary. These shall constitute an Executive which shall transact business requiring attention between regular meetings of the Mission Circle. The Advisory President shall be a member of the Executive of the Auxiliary.

Art. 25.—New Work: No Mission Circle shall initiate work on its own account, or divert its funds to objects other than those covered by the budget.

Art. 26.—Mission Bands: Any group of children may be organized as a Mission Band under a Superintendent, for the purpose primarily of developing a missionary spirit. Any child may become a member of the Mission Band by payment of ten cents annually, but the Superintendent, with the approval of the Auxiliary, may, for the whole Band, substitute for a membership fee regular attendance at meetings as a basis of recording members. The payment of $5.00 at any one time shall constitute a Band Life Membership which shall lapse on graduation into Mission Circle or Evening Auxiliary. A Life Member shall be entitled to membership in any one Mission Band with which for the time being he or she may be enrolled.

Art. 27.—Officers and Executive of Mission Bands: The officers shall consist of a Superintendent, who shall be appointed by the Auxiliary, a President, a Vice-President, a Recording Secretary, a Corresponding Secretary and a Treasurer. These shall constitute an Executive which shall transact business requiring attention between regular meetings of the Mission Band.

Art. 28.—New Work: No Mission Band shall initiate work on its own account, or divert its funds to objects other than those covered by the budget.

Art. 29.—Baby Bands: Children five years and under may be enrolled as members of a Baby Band, the object of which shall be to foster a missionary spirit from the earliest years, and to preserve and increase the interest of the mothers in missionary work. Any child may be made a member of the Baby Band by the enrolment of his or her name by the parent on the Superintendent's membership roll. The payment of one dollar shall constitute a Baby Band Life Membership which shall lapse on graduation into the Mission Band.

Art. 30.—Canadian Girls In Training: When a C.G.I.T. Group decides to affiliate and holds its Affiliation Service, it shall be recognized as an Affiliated Group, with the understanding that its programme include adequate missionary education and its service, a contribution to the Woman's Missionary Society funds.

Art 31.—Explorers: When the Counsellor of an Explorer Group decides that her Group should become an affiliated group, and the Service of the Dedication of the Treasure Chest is used the Group shall be recognized as an Affiliated Explorer Group, with the understanding that its programme include adequate missionary education and its service a contribution to the Woman's Missionary Society funds.

Art. 32.—Associate Members: Any woman who cannot attend the meetings, but who is in sympathy with the aim and object of the Society, and contributes, is an Associate Member.

Art. 33.—Affiliated Societies: Any association of women in a congregation other than Auxiliaries, Evening Auxiliaries and Mission Circles, shall have the status of an Affiliated Society of the Woman's Missionary Society by contributing to its funds annually.

Art. 34.—Change of Constitution: This Constitution may be altered or amended at any Annual Meeting of the Dominion Board by a two-thirds vote of the members present, notice of such amendment having been given to each Conference Branch at least two weeks before its Annual Meeting. All alterations or amendments to the Constitution shall be subject to the approval of General Council.

She shall conduct all business correspondence and shall present a monthly financial statement, and an Annual Report with an audited statement to the Committee for transmission to the Dominion Board. She shall issue and sign all cheques, which shall be countersigned by the Chairman or a substitute appointed by the Dominion Board or its Executive Committee.

XXXIX.

Nominating Committee

There shall be a Nominating Committee, appointed by the Executive of the Dominion Board, composed of five members of the Executive, one of whom shall be the chairman. The chairman's term of office shall not exceed three years. The President of each Conference Branch shall be, ex-officio, a member of the Nominating Committee. The Committee shall report to the March meeting of the Executive nominations for the Dominion Board Sessional Committees necessary for the conduct of the annual meeting. The Committee shall receive and submit nominations for the voluntary Executive officers, Portfolio Secretaries of Overseas Missions, Home Mission, Home Organization Departments, Secretary for Christian Stewardship, Secretary of Retirement Fund, the Secretary for Literature and for the members of Executive without portfolio. The Committee shall accept nominations made not later than twenty-four hours previous to elections and shall report to Dominion Board all nominations regularly made. Voting shall be by ballot.

Following the election of the Executive, the Chairman of the Nominating Committee shall receive nominations for Chairmen of Standing Committees. A meeting of the Nominating Committee, augmented by the Sub-Executive shall report such nominations to the meeting of the Post-Board Executive for election. Prior to the June meeting of Executive the Nominating Committee augmented by the Sub-Executive and the Chairman or Secretary of each Standing Committee, shall meet to consider nominations for members of Standing Committees and report to the June meeting of the Executive.

The Nominating Committee shall receive notification from the Executive of resignations and vacancies in Executive and Standing Committees and shall receive nominations for the same and report to Executive for the period between meetings of the Dominion Board.

NOTE:

Nominations, accompanied by a statement of qualifications of the nominee and a statement to the effect that her consent has been secured, shall be made in writing and signed by the person making the nomination. Nominations shall be submitted not later than 24 hours previous to election.

XL.

Office Advisory Committee

There shall be an Office Advisory Committee, appointed by the Executive Committee of the Dominion Board, and composed of the President, the First Vice-President, the General Secretary, and the Chairman and Secretary of each Departmental Committee employing staff whose duty it shall be to consider and advise regarding any matters pertaining to the efficiency of the office administration.

XLI.

Advisory Committees

(a) In Conference Branches an Advisory Committee of the Dominion Board shall be nominated by each Conference Branch at its annual meeting, or, if deemed advisable, by its Executive, authority for such action being given by the Conference Branch. These Committees shall be appointed by the Dominion Board or its Executive and shall consist of not less than three or more than five members, of which the President shall be Chairman, and a member so designated, Vice-Chairman. The immediate Past President of the Conference Branch shall be eligible to serve as a member of the Advisory Committee during the time she is immediate Past-President. The term of office for a member of the Advisory Committee, other than the President or immediate Past President shall be five years.

It shall be the duty of the Advisory Committees of the Executive of the Dominion Board in each Conference Branch to take a sympathetic interest in the Mission work supported by the Woman's Missionary Society within the bounds of the Conference; to have a personal knowledge of the missionaries and their work; to advise in the filling of vacancies of staff, to recommend candidates for missionary service at home and abroad; to take a sympathetic interest in overseas college students; and to advise when requested by the Principal or Head of an Institution in the preparation of estimates or other needs.

In cases of emergency in the field, it shall have administrative powers until such time as instructions can be received from the Executive of the Dominion Board.

The Chairman of the Advisory Comittee shall receive from the Home Mission Executive Secretary of the Dominion Board a duplicate of the Annual Report of each piece of mission work within the bounds of the Conference Branch and present these, if desired, at the Conference Branch Annual Meeting.

(b) Candidate Secretaries—The Conference Branch Candidate Secretary shall not be included in the five members of the Conference Branch Advisory Committees but after receiving from Dominion Board Candidate Committee a candidate's application she shall present it, for recommendation, to the Advisory Committee of which she shall be, for the time being, a voting member. She shall forward the Conference Branch recommendation to the Candidate Secretary of Dominion Board.

XLII.

Bequests (Legacies)

All moneys received from Bequests (legacies) unless specifically designated in the will, are placed in a reserve fund, called the Bequest Permanent Reserve Fund: the accrued interest becomes the Property Account from which grants are made for extension and improvement to the mission property of the Woman's Missionary Society. When the total amount in Bequest Permanent Reserve Fund is equal to the maximum fixed by the Dominion Board for retention in that fund, any balance over and above this fixed maximum shall be transferred to Property Account. As all such moneys do not apply on allocations, they shall be sent immediately on receipt to the Treasurer's Department of the Dominion Board. They shall be reported in the Financial Statement of the Assistant Treasurer in the year in which they are received; the books of the Dominion Board Treasurer for these moneys close December 31st. A list of all Bequests (legacies) received within each Conference Branch shall be sent to the Conference Branch Treasurer from the Treasurer's Department of the Dominion Board.

XLIII.

Any association of women in a congregation (other than Auxiliaries, Evening Auxiliaries, Mission Circles, shall have the status of an Affiliated Society of the Woman's Missionary Society by contributing to its funds annually. (Constitution, Article 32.)

The invitation to become an Affiliated Society shall be extended by the Presbyterial principally to Woman's Associations (or Ladies' Aids) in congregations where there is no Auxiliary.

In addition to making a voluntary contribution to the funds of the Woman's Missionary Society, which shall be sent direct to the Presbyterial Treasurer, the Affiliated Society shall include missions in its programme by devoting ten or fifteen minutes at each meeting or the full period at one or two meetings a year to a missionary programme, and by reading The Missionary Monthly and other missionary literature.

The President of an Affiliated Society shall be a voting member of the Presbyterial and a corresponding member of the Presbyterial Executive, and all members of an Affiliated Society shall be invited to the Presbyterial annual meeting and to sectional meetings or rallies.

Mission Circle By-laws

(See Constitution, Articles 23-25)

I.

Meetings—Regular meetings of the Mission Circle shall be held on the ..... of the month at .... o'clock.

The programme of all regular meetings shall include a worship service.

The election of officers and portfolio secretaries, and of delegates to the Annual Meeting of the Presbyterial, shall take place at the December Meeting.

The Annual Meeting shall be held in January, when the reports of officers and portfolio secretaries shall be given, the new officers installed, the auditor appointed for the ensuing year.

II.

It shall be the duty of the Advisory President to act in an advisory capacity to the Mission Circle. She shall also be responsible for maintaining a co-operative relationship between the Auxiliary and the Mission Circle.

III.

The duties of other officers shall be as prescribed for officers in Auxiliary By-laws, except that the Corresponding Secretary shall send her annual report to the Presbyterial Secretary for Mission Circles by January 5th.

IV.

In accordance with the Constitution of Mission Circles, such Portfolio Secretaries shall be elected as are necessary to look after the work engaged in by the Mission Circle. The duties of these Secretaries shall be similar to those of Auxiliary Portfolio Secretaries, as defined in Auxiliary By-laws. As the Mission Circle grows in ability to support the entire programme of the Woman's Missionary Society, Portfolio Secretaries shall be added and take their place on the Executive Committee.

The Affiliated C.G.I.T. Group

Plan of Affiliation

Approved by the Board of Christian Education and the Woman's Missionary Society:

1. The leaders of each group that has registered with the Girls' Work Secretary of the United Church will receive, in the early autumn, a letter including an announcement of the missionary study for the year. The Presbyterial Secretary for Affiliated C.G.I.T. Groups is prepared to give help with missionary projects and has a supply of material including Affiliation Services and report forms.

2. The Group will plan its missionary project and giving, remembering that the gifts of an Affiliated Group are given to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund through the Sunday School, and to the Woman's Missionary Society through the Presbyterial Treasurer.

3. The best time for the group to decide about Affiliation with the Woman's Missionary Society is during the missionary project or at its close, when their interest in missions is greatest. The groups should renew their decision each year. A service of Affiliation is available for use at such time as will be most effective.

4. When the project is completed the Leader of the Affiliated C.G.I.T. Group will fill out the report form which will be sent to her by the Presbyterial Secretary for Affiliated C.G.I.T. Groups. When this account of their project is approved by the group, it is sent to the Presbyterial Secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society whose name is on the form. There is no fee for affiliation. No special sum is asked from any group. Their contribution is devoted to what is called a "Special Object for Affiliated Groups." The Woman's Missionary Society sends information about the way in which the money is used to all Affiliated Groups, and to any others who write for it. It would be advisable to secure this information before the missionary project begins, so that it might be used at that time.

5. Each group is expected to carry out a missionary project, in any case, with the assistance of the literature provided, whatever the decision regarding affiliation.

The steps just outlined concern the Group in the local Church where the minister, Sunday School teachers, C.G.I.T. leaders and W.M.S. Auxiliary members should co-operate as fully as possible regarding missionary education. Those responsible for girls' work in Presbytery and Presbyterial, in Conference and Conference Branch, should also co-operate fully in order that the missionary work of the Church under the Boards of the Church may be presented to girls as one enterprise of very great interest and importance.

Mission Band By-laws

(See Constitution, Articles 26-28)

I.

The ..... Mission Band shall hold its regular meetings on ..... at ..... o'clock. The Annual Meeting shall be held in the month of December. The programme of each regular meeting shall include a worship service.

II.

The Superintendent, who shall be appointed by the Auxiliary to her position, shall be responsible for all the meetings. She shall adopt suitable measures to promote interest in Missions. She shall promote subscriptions to World Friends and forward same to the Auxiliary Secretary for The Missionary Monthly and World Friends, or to the Presbyterial Secretary for The Missionary Monthly and World Friends.

It shall be the duty of the Superintendent of the Mission Band to supervise the activities of the Mission Band, to keep the Auxiliary well informed of these activities, and to seek the sympathetic co-operation of the members of the Auxiliary. She shall prepare an annual report for the Annual Meeting, a copy of which, together with the tabulated statement and the names of the newly-elected officers, shall be forwarded to the Presbyterial Secretary for Mission Bands by January 5th.

III.

The duty of the President shall be to preside at all stated meetings.

IV.

In the absence of the President, a Vice-President shall perform all the duties of the office.

V.

The Recording Secretary shall keep a record of the proceedings at all meetings of the Band and give proper notice of all special and regular meetings.

VI.

The Corresponding Secretary shall carry on all necessary correspondence. She shall also with the President, Recording Secretary and Treasurer, prepare the annual report and forward it by January 5th to the Presbyterial Band Secretary.

VII.

The Treasurer shall receive and where possible deposit in a Bank all funds raised by the Band. She shall forward the contributions on the 5th of April, July, October and January to the Presbyterial Treasurer.

VIII.

A member shall be appointed in each Band to obtain subscriptions for World Friends and also to arrange for its distribution. These subscriptions shall be given to the Superintendent for forwarding as stated in Mission Band By-Law II.

IX.

Each Mission Band may choose an appropriate name.

X.

It is advisable to have an expense fund provided in some way for the Mission Bands, as the regular contributions for Missions should not be taken for this purpose.

The Affiliated Explorer Group

Plan of Affiliation

Agreed upon (1956) by the Board of Christian Education and the Woman's Missionary Society:

1. In a congregation where there is an Explorer Group for junior girls (9, 10, 11 years of age), Explorers shall be the recognized week-day programme for Junior girls, and the Group may be affiliated with the Woman's Missionary Society.

An Explorer Group shall be organized according to the plan suggested by the Board of Christian Education.

2. The current Junior Mission Study Packet, and "World Friends" shall be the basic material for the Missionary Exploration. A Group is expected to carry out a Missionary Exploration whether or not it affiliates with the Woman's Missionary Society.

3. The Explorer Chief Counsellor shall be appointed by the Christian Education Committee (or its equivalent).

A Vice-President for Younger Groups appointed in the Auxiliary, shall be a liaison officer between the Explorer Groups and the Auxiliary, offering the support of the Auxiliary to the Counsellor and the Group, and keeping the Auxiliary interested in the work being done in the Explorer Group. In a congregation where there are two or more Auxiliaries, responsibility for keeping in touch with Younger Groups should be divided—e.g. one Auxiliary being responsible for Baby Band and Mission Band, another for Explorers and C.G.I.T.

4. When in addition to using the current Mission Study Packet, the Explorers make, through the Presbyterial Treasurer, a money gift (the amount of which is voluntary) to the work of the Woman's Missionary Society, the Group shall be an Affiliated Explorer Group.

There is no allocation for an Affiliated Explorer Group, but the money gifts of Affiliated Explorer Groups are devoted to a Special Object.

5. The Auxiliary is encouraged to provide annually the mission study packet for the Explorer Group.

6. The Chief Counsellor reports annually to the Board of Christian Education.

The Chief Counsellor of an Affiliated Explorer Group, in addition to the above report, reports annually (on a separate report form) about the Missionary Exploration to the Presbyterial Secretary for Affiliated Explorer Groups, and send the Group's money gift to the Presbyterial Treasurer.

7. In a congregation where it is not possible to have an Explorer Group and an Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society is prepared to provide leadership for week-day meetings of children, 9, 10, and 11 years of age, the Mission Band is the recognized week-day organization for Junior as well as Primary children. (Wherever possible, separate leadership shall be provided for Junior and Primary children.)

Note: The plan outlined above concerns the Group in the congregation, where the minister, Sunday Church School teachers, Explorer Counsellors and Auxiliary members should co-operate as fully as possible in providing missionary education. Those persons responsible for Children's Work in Presbytery and Presbyterial, in Conference and Conference Branch, should co-operate fully in order that the missionary work of the Church may be presented to the girls as one enterprise of very great interest and importance.

Baby Band By-laws

(See Constitution, Article 29)

I.

Children of five years and under may be made members of the Baby Band by the enrolment of his or her name by the parent on the Superintendent's membership roll. The payment of one dollar shall constitute a Life Membership, which shall lapse on graduation into Mission Band.

II.

The object shall be to foster a missionary spirit from earliest years, and also to preserve and increase the interest of the mothers in missionary work.

III.

Each Auxiliary shall appoint a Superintendent of the Baby Band.

It shall be the duty of the Baby Band Superintendent to seek to enrol the babies and children of the congregation up to five years of age in the Baby Band, to interest the mothers in providing missionary training and influence from earliest childhood, and to carry out the plans and methods of the Department. She shall receive Life Membership fees and other contributions, keep an accurate account of same, and remit the funds to the Presbyterial Treasurer. She shall promote subscriptions to World Friends and forward same to the Auxiliary Secretary for Missionary Monthly and World Friends or to the Presbyterial Secretary for Missionary Monthly and World Friends. She shall prepare an Annual Report for the Annual Meeting of the Auxiliary, a copy of which, together with the tabulated statement shall be forwarded to the Presbyterial Secretary for Baby Bands by January 5th.

IV.

At least two meetings of Baby Band members and their mothers shall be held during the year, and at one of these a graduation into the Mission Band shall be a part of the proceedings.

The Retirement Fund Constitution
OF
The Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada

—as revised effective January 1, 1960

Article I—Name

1. The Fund shall be called the Retirement Fund of the Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada, hereinafter called "the Fund."

Article II—Object

1. The object of the Fund shall be to provide annuities for its members.

Article III—Membership

1. All Missionaries of The Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada, both active and retired, except those ordained to the ministry, who, from time of ordination are on the Church Pension Plan, shall be members of the Fund, as well as certain Missionaries who have withdrawn from the Service of The Woman's Missionary Society in accordance with Article VIII, paragraphs 2 and 3, and those ordained to the ministry who were members of the Retirement Fund prior to their ordination but who from time of ordination are on the Church Pension Plan, including all Missionaries of the Corresponding Societies of the various branches of the United Church prior to Church Union, hereinafter called "Missionaries."

Article IV—Assets of the Fund

1. The assets of the Fund shall constitute and be set apart as a common trust consisting of the capital investment of the previous Retirement Fund and Rest Fund (separate accounts being kept of the Rest Fund), together with revenue derived from the following sources:

(a) Proceeds of investments.

(b) Contributions by Missionaries.

(c) Grants from the General Fund of the Society.

(d) Legacies, donations and the proceeds of special trusts.

Article V—Contributions by Missionaries

1. The annual rate of contribution to the Fund shall be $90.00 per annum, but in no event shall a Missionary make contributions to the Fund or any previous Fund for a period of more than 35 years.

2. Missionaries who serve in any year for a shorter period than ten months, or who give part-time service only during such year, shall contribute one-half of the annual assessment. Any fraction of a year less than four months shall not be reckoned or taken into account. Salary under appointment is recognized in the case of all newly appointed Missionaries in relation to their standing on the Fund.

3. The Assistant Treasurer shall be authorized and required to pay over to the Retirement Fund from the salary of each Missionary monthly the sum of $7.50, being one-twelfth of the annual assessment required from each Missionary. Where it is impossible to deduct the assessment from the Missionary's salary, the Missionary shall remit to the Assistant Treasurer. This shall apply to the benefits as stated in ARTICLES VII, VIII, and IX of this Constitution.

ARTICLE VI—CONTRIBUTIONS BY BOARD

1. The Board shall allocate at least $72,000 per annum for a period of 20 years to the Fund, beginning with 1960, in order to cover the actuarial liabilities at the effective date of this revised Constitution.

ARTICLE VII—BENEFITS IN EVENT OF RETIREMENT

1. Normal Retirement Date for a Missionary shall be at the end of the month in which she attains age 65, but in any event she shall actually retire not later than age 68, prior to which she shall have completed any furlough to which she is entitled.

2. The Missionary shall be paid her annuity monthly ceasing with the last monthly payment made prior to her death. The first payment shall be made at the end of the month subsequent to the date at which actual retirement takes place.

3. The amount of the monthly annuity shall be determined by multiplying the number of half-years of completed service as a Missionary at actual retirement date by $22.50 and dividing such amount by 12, but in no event shall such annuity be greater than $1,575.00 per annum.

ARTICLE VIII—BENEFITS IN EVENT OF WITHDRAWAL

1. In the event of a Missionary withdrawing from the services of the Woman's Missionary Society for any reason other than disability or retirement, she shall be entitled to receive in cash the total amount of contributions she has made to the Fund or any former retirement fund, accumulated at 3% interest, compounded annually, except in the case of a Missionary who contributed to the Rest Fund of the Methodist Church of Canada, in which case the rate of interest used in accumulating such contributions to the Rest Fund shall be 4% compounded annually.

2. If a Missionary elects not to receive such contributions in cash, in accordance with paragraph 1 above, and has contributed for at least ten years to the Fund or any former retirement fund, she shall be entitled to an annuity at her Normal Retirement Date of $22.50 per annum for each completed half year of service up to the date of withdrawal, such annuity to be paid in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as if she had remained a Missionary to Normal Retirement Date.

3. Notwithstanding anything stated in paragraph 2 above to the contrary, if a Missionary changes her relationship to the Society from that of a Missionary to that of an Executive Officer, or if she should accept employment with another Board or Congregation of The United Church of Canada and elects not to receive such contribution in cash in accordance with paragraph 1 above, she shall, provided she has given continuous service to the Society or to the Society and the Church of ten years or more, be entitled to the benefits stated in paragraph 2 above, irrespective of the number of years she has contributed to the Fund or any former retirement fund.

Article IX—Benefits in Event of Disability

1. In the event of a Missionary becoming totally and permanently disabled prior to the actual retirement and if the Missionary has contributed for at least ten years to the Fund and/or any former retirement fund and provided that in the judgment of the Medical Board recognized by the Society there is total and permanent disability, such Missionary shall be entitled to an annuity. The amount and type of annuity paid shall be determined as if actual retirement occurred at the date disability is admitted by the Board in accordance with Article VII.

2. The Board reserves the right, at any time, to require the re-examination of any member of the Fund, who is receiving the annuity because of disability for submission to the Medical Board recognized by the Society and to reconsider her standing on the Fund in the light of the Medical Board's report.

Article X—Administration of Fund

1. The Fund shall be managed, controlled and administered by the Dominion Board of the Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada (herein called "the Board") or its Executive Committee.

2. The Board shall at its regular Annual Meeting appoint a Secretary for the Fund.

3. The Board or its Executive Committee may make rules and regulations not inconsistent with the terms of this Constitution for the administration of the Articles thereof.

4. All payments made to or from the Fund shall be in lawful currency of Canada.

5. A record shall be kept by the Board for each Missionary which shall show all contributions made as well as all pertinent data in order to determine benefits to which she may be entitled.

Article XI—Actuarial Valuation

1. There shall be an actuarial examination of this Fund at least every fourth year after the effective date of this Constitution or more often, as may be decided by the Board.

Article XII—Amendment of Constitution

1. This Constitution may be changed at any Annual Meeting of the Board by a two-thirds vote of the members present, notice of such proposed change having been given to each Conference Branch and to each Home and Overseas Missionary, at least three months before the Annual Meeting of the Board.

Article XIII—Winding Up of Fund

1. The Board at any time may decide to wind up the Fund. In such event a first charge on the funds will be the purchase from a recognized insurer of annuities to all Missionaries who have retired. The balance of the funds will be used to purchase from a recognized insurer for active Missionaries, deferred annuities to start at Normal Retirement Date, on an equitable basis.

Installation Service

For use in Conference Branches, Presbyterial Societies, Auxiliaries and Mission Circles

Quiet music while the newly elected officers come forward and take their places in front of the pulpit.

LEADER: At this time the . . . . . (name organization) enters upon a new year of work in The Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada. As it calls upon its new officers to undertake their duties, it is fitting that we should all, as members, reaffirm our purpose and rededicate our lives to the great tasks to which God has called us.

Let us pray: Almighty and Everlasting God, who hast promised to be always with Thy Church, grant unto us, Thy servants assembled here, Thy gracious presence and blessing. Take from us anything that is unworthy and insincere in our life. Give us a pure intent, a patient faith and a continuing zeal in our endeavours. Govern all our doings, we pray Thee, that Thy Kingdom may be advanced and Thy will be done. Amen.

Let us now rise and dedicate ourselves to the Aim and Object of our Woman's Missionary Society.

(Congregation rises.)

To unite all the women of the Church for the World Mission of Christianity;

To provide missionary education for children, teen-age girls and young women;

To encourage study, prayer and giving on behalf of Christian Missions at home and abroad;

UNISON: We now dedicate ourselves.

LEADER: To share in sending the Gospel of Jesus Christ to every Canadian and to peoples of all lands;

To bring healing and education to those in need;

To aid in the development of the Christian Church in Canada and of the world-wide Church of Jesus Christ;

UNISON: We now dedicate ourselves.

LEADER: To create bonds of Christian friendship between its members and peoples of other races and other lands;

To enlist the whole membership in united effort for temperance, social welfare and world peace;

To build up a fellowship committed to the doing of God's will and to the extension of God's Kingdom in the home and the community in Canada and throughout the world;

UNISON: We now dedicate ourselves.

(Congregation seated, Officers alone standing.)

LEADER: You have been selected by your fellow-members to be the officers of this ..... (name organization) for the coming year. We believe that you have been called to your tasks in order that, through your life and work, God's Kingdom of truth and love and righteousness may be extended. We in this ..... (name organization) are looking to you for leadership. Yours then is a high privilege and a sacred responsibility.

Remembering our obligations as officers and members of The Woman's Missionary Society, to study, pray, give and work for the growth of Christ's Church and the extension of His Kingdom, I ask you now to affirm your willingness so to do:

Do you purpose to prepare yourself for leadership by a faithful study of God's Word and of the work and service of The Woman's Missionary Society?

ANSWER (together): I do.

Do you purpose to pray unceasingly for the work and service of The Woman's Missionary Society, and to seek, in prayer, the guidance and strength you need for the duties of your office?

ANSWER (together): I do.

Do you purpose to give sacrificially for the work of The Woman's Missionary Society and to commit yourself to God that He may use you in the service of His Church and of His Kingdom?

ANSWER (together): I do.

Do you purpose to work for the growth of Christ's Church and the extension of His Kingdom in your own community, in Canada and throughout the world?

ANSWER (together): I do.

Do you, then, signify that you are willing to accept the privileges and responsibilities of your office?

ANSWER (together): I do.

LEADER: I, therefore, in the name of The Woman's Missionary Society, set you apart as the Executive of ..... (name organization) for the coming year, each to her appointed duty or office.

PRAYER OF CONSECRATION (or short extempore prayer):

Eternal Father, source of all light and life, deepen in us and in Thy Church, devotion to Christ, sympathy for the needy, and zeal for the extension of Thy Kingdom. Pour out upon our membership the spirit of intercession that all who love Thee may be united in vision and service for the coming of the promised day when Christ shall claim His Dominion.

In His blessed name we ask these things. Amen.

BENEDICTION:

Now unto Him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us; unto Him be glory in the Church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen.

Note—Before the Service is begun the leader should announce clearly that the officers are to come forward and take their places while the quiet music is being played.

In some cases it may be desirable for the leader to call each officer by name individually, as she comes forward, so that the organization may thus become better acquainted with its new Executive.

The leader should indicate the form of the responses to be made in unison.

Members of The Woman's Missionary Society should be encouraged to memorize the Aim and Object. The repetition of the Aim and Object in unison might be substituted for the reading of it by the Leader with the response from the congregation, "We now dedicate ourselves." The Membership Card (2 cents each; 20 cents per doz.) might be distributed and used for this purpose and members asked to keep the Card and memorize the Aim and Object.

Copies of this Installation Service may be secured upon request to the Literature Distribution Centre,

A SAFE AND RELIABLE INVESTMENT
A LIFE-LONG INCOME THAT WILL NOT SHRINK—

By the Guaranteed Annuity Plan of The Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada, annuities will be accepted at any time and the donor be paid income thereon at a most attractive rate, this depending upon the donor's age at contract date. Many friends are welcoming this Plan, for it not only makes possible the disposition of a capital amount during the donor's lifetime (rather than a legacy later) which, upon maturity, becomes immediately effective without legal process or administration expense, but at the same time pays an annuity. A suitable bond, over the signatures of the Officers of the Church and of the Society, guarantees the payment of the annual income.

Complete information may be secured upon application to the Assistant Treasurer, 328 United Church House, 85 St. Clair Ave E., Toronto 7, Ont.

This book contains reports of the work of the missionaries for the year 1959, written and sent forward by them in the early months of 1960.

The foreword in each chapter is taken from the Annual Report of the Home Mission Executive Secretary, Miss Esther Highfield, and of the Overseas Missions Executive Secretary, Mrs. H. D. Taylor, respectively. Their fuller reports will be found in "Facts and Figures," Part II of the Thirty-Fifth Annual Report.

FOREWORD

The School Bus may be seen in all parts of Western Canada transporting children from the more isolated spots to one of the large modern school units which has taken the place of a number of country school houses. This has resulted in a diminishing need for Boarding Homes. Children live at home and commute to school.

Our two residences in Bonnyville, Alta., are not needed as Boarding Homes. Last year the Boys' Home was vacant and only six children were in the Girls' Residence. A similar story can be told in Teulon, Man. Only the Girls' Home was open last year, with three girls in residence. The Children's Home in Lachine, Que., is a notable exception and continues to meet a real need for 19 boys and 10 girls.

A new situation has arisen, however, and it would appear that we shall continue to need Boarding Homes for some time for some of our Indian Canadian boys and girls during the years of integration. The experiment last year in the Assiniboia Girls' Residence in Saskatchewan verified this fact. Seventeen girls, 11 to 17, were in residence in 1959 attending the United Church and the Public School in Assiniboia. They came from the different Reserves in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The Federal Government, through the Indian Affairs Branch, is very conscious of what can happen, and they ask us to consider keeping both our Homes in Teulon open as Boarding Homes under the Church for about 30 teen-age boys and girls, many of whom could not take advantage of higher education for various reasons if they remained in their homes on the Reserve.

No Time for Quiet Deliberation

In the office of Prime Minister Macmillan at 10 Downing Street, there hangs a sign, "Quiet, calm deliberation disentangles every knot." During the past year, we at the Lachine Home did not have very much time for quiet deliberation. With our large family of exuberant children most knots and problems had to be settled right on the spot. We are very thankful to God for another year of health and happiness. Boys were in the majority again—23—along with 10 girls. From January to June the children were in the older age group. Several boys and girls had been at the Home for a number of years. Carol has been here eight years, and Peter, Barrie and Wayne six years. Carol was in first year high school, and we were very proud when she received seven honors. She has now gone to Vancouver to live with an aunt, and is continuing her work with the C.G.I.T. and Sunday School. The older boys are continuing their high school in Montreal. The children who came to us in September are younger, and we are enjoying them very much. Our family is international; we have 12 nationalities including two little colored sisters, who are proving to be a joy to every one.

Happy Times at the Home

Our school reports have been excellent, all but one child being promoted, which is quite an achievement considering that all do their homework together in one room.

During the year, three groups of young men came to entertain the children—the Rovers, the St. Paul's Anglican young men and the Kiwanis. This was especially good for the boys, because at the Home they are entirely under the influence of women.

We want to send a special "thank you" to our many prayer partners, who have upheld us in prayer throughout the year. Some of you have sent us generous gifts of money, which we have used, together with a gift from the Lakeshore Lions club, to buy red plaid woollen blankets for the boys' beds. The boys are delighted with them.

We have enjoyed the visits of several W.M.S. Auxiliaries, who held their meetings at the Home, each bringing us a generous pantry shower and gifts of quilts. We enjoyed especially the films shown of the visit to Africa by Mrs. Lovell Baker and Mrs. Ross.

Our Parents Night at Christmas was the highlight of the year. The children put on a play "They came bringing gifts," taken from World Friends. Through the generosity of one of our workers, Madame Lefebvre, we were able to have beautiful costumes and scenery. The presentation of New Testaments, in their own language, to our new Canadian parents was very worthwhile. One mother who is Russian was deeply touched.

After the distribution of gifts, the children served refreshments and the parents enjoyed an hour of fellowship together, visiting and making friends with people from other lands.

A Shortage of Girls

Mrs. Phillips has written a general report for the Home, so I will confine myself to writing about my particular duties as Girls' Matron.

As we started the year 1959 we found ourselves with fewer girls than usual. Each year after the mid-summer term there are changes, some of the children are of an age to leave the Home, or in other cases, circumstances in their own homes have altered and parents are able to keep their children with them. Strangely, it seems, there were very few applications for admission of girls for the fall term, but plenty for boys. Thus I took over a group of smaller boys with my girls who were mostly older. Two girls were in their first year of high school, so in the first part of the year I had a group of older girls and small boys. Any zest and sparkle that was lacking in the task of Girls' Matron were supplied by the addition of these small boys.

With the closing of the school year our older girls were ready to graduate from the Home. Our high school girls both passed their grades with good standing. They are now living with relatives and continuing their high school education. We are glad to hear good reports from them.

For August and September the children all went on holiday, a number going to the Amy Molson Camp, where for some years our children have spent their summer vacation. They come back in good health from their weeks out of doors, having had a holiday and a change, and happy to be back again.

A number who left the Home at the end of June had been with us for some years and the Home seemed strange without them.

A Dream Come True

In my dreams of the future I have always thought how happy I would be if sometime I might have a little child of another race and color amongst my charges. This fall my dreams came true—doubly. Imagine my delight when two little brown sisters arrived with their mother, both in their dainty summer dresses, with their tight, shiny black braids secured with perky ribbon bows. The care of this kinky black hair was one feature which had not entered my dreams. But I have been very happy with my little brown girls and though the snarls in the hair are not the only ones we have had to untangle, we hope that all the family are learning lessons in understanding.

We have usually taken no children below kindergarten age but this fall we did accept two little girls whom we felt really needed what our W.M.S. Home had to offer. The home of one has been re-established and a very happy little girl left us after a few months to live with her young parents again. The other child came to us because her mother was ill in hospital with polio. Now the mother is recovering and was even able to be with us at our Parents Night party at Christmas time.

The End of a Regime

When school opened in January, 1959, after the Christmas holidays, we had a group of ten high school girls. They all attended the United Church services and Sunday School. Unfortunately, there was no United Church Young People's group, as in former years, owing to lack of leadership. For recreation the girls enjoyed skating and curling and the usual school parties.

There were two outstanding students in the group. One received a special award at graduation for having obtained the highest average in the Grade Eleven examinations and in September enrolled in the University. Another girl was given a scholarship which would pay for her tuition at Teachers' College, where she enrolled in the September classes.

We are always happy to find the building being used for Church group work. In May one of the Church groups planned a social evening for Senior Citizens, when forty older people were present. In June we had a very successful W.M.S. tea.

When the fall term commenced we had just three girls in residence. Beginning last September a new plan for rural high schools was started in Manitoba. The aim is to provide high school in every district so that students will not have to leave their district to attend high school. This means that there is very little need for our boarding homes, as most of our students came from districts where there was no high school. Our Homes have been in Teulon for over forty years and have provided a much needed service and turned out many fine students. But as the country has developed the need has gradually become less and we now know that the time has come for the Homes to be closed.

EDYTHE G. STEWART

Boys' Residence,
Teulon, Manitoba

School opened at the Boys' Residence, Teulon, Manitoba, on January 5th, 1959, with fifteen boys in the residence. One of the first things the boys do on returning after holidays is rush to the kitchen to look over the new work list for the first three weeks and find out who prepares vegetables, sets tables, sweeps dormitories, etc., and dish crews for morning, noon and evening meals. Everyone wants to do morning dishes and have it over for the day, but, of course, they must take turns on all chores.

We had an abundance of snow which kept the boys busy shovelling paths. They also took turns doing a good turn for a neighbor, keeping her paths cleared of snow and carrying in wood and coal, as her husband is over 70 and crippled.

As each birthday turns up we have a birthday supper, with a cake and candles, ice cream for dessert, an orange, candy and nuts to finish off with, and of course a "Happy birthday to you" sung with vigour by all. This occasion is usually hilarious with a speech by the one celebrating his birthday. Some speeches are extremely witty and entertaining, others are full of wisdom and advice for the younger and older brothers in the residence. All the candy and nuts for the birthday suppers and for sometime afterwards, every year, is provided by the Edythe Stewart W.M.S. Auxiliary of my home church, in a large Christmas package which always arrives in time for our Christmas dinner party.

Winter and Spring Events

A new curling rink was opened in Teulon and I think every boy had at least one try at the very popular game, and some took part in the school bonspiel. Hockey and skating were enjoyed too, and when winter sports were over, it was rugby and baseball. One of our boys was the hero of the Teulon baseball team, being an expert pitcher.

The boys all attended church regularly and at Easter time Gerry Tenant, one of our Grade 11 students, attended our minister's communicant's classes and became a member of the United Church on profession of faith.

Teulon Graduation was held on May 14th, and was a lovely ceremony with the community hall very prettily decorated, and the students all dressed up for the occasion. Two of our Grade 11 students, along with three others of the school, received special achievement awards of $20.00 each. These two boys were recommended for scholarships.

A Busy June and Farewell in August

June is always a busy month. It was especially busy for me this term as I left two days before school closed to take the Summer Course offered to older women at the United Church Training School. In spite of arriving late I found the course a very rewarding experience and did enjoy the fellowship and friendly spirit of the 24 women who were there all the way from Halifax to Vancouver.

I had not expected to be leaving Teulon in the fall, but when it was announced by the Teulon School Board that there would not be room for non-resident students in the school and the Residences would therefore be closed, and as the matron of the Girls' Residence had resigned, Mrs. Loveys asked me if I would go back to the Girls' Home in Bonnyville, and I said I would. This meant curtailing my holidays considerably and hurrying back to Teulon on August 8th to complete the housecleaning, balance my books, and pack my belongings. My nephew, living in Winnipeg, came out to Teulon on August 18th, packed my baggage into and on top of his station wagon and drove me to the C.N.R. Station in Winnipeg where I boarded the train for Edmonton, then changed for Bonnyville, arriving here the next evening, August 19th.

A Siege of Colds

The 1959 term opened with nine girls in residence. Many of them came back from their Christmas holidays with colds; the cook caught one too, so we had a regular siege of colds and flu, and I had a busy time for a few days. When I thought, "Well, this is over," one of our girls had an accident. She injured her back and was in the hospital a week, was home here for a week or ten days, fell on the ice while skating and injured her knee, was back in hospital again. She fell another couple of times and injured the same knee, so it was a case of hot or cold compresses or hot lemonade with Vicks rubs for the better part of the winter. I was thankful I kept well myself but glad when spring came and I could relax and draw my breath and say, "Well, we're still all here and looking none the worse for our trying times." But the girls kept happy and said they never thought they would get such good care any place but in a hospital.

In May we were very happy to have the Ogema ladies meet at the Home with some of our W.M.S. ladies and a pleasant afternoon was spent. We also were fortunate to have a visit from Mrs. Loveys and Mrs. R. J. Davidson in the spring.

In June we had our closing party. The girls entertained their friends to a Chinese supper and spent an hour in dancing; then they went bowling, returning to the Home for a snack and a few games.

We only had one Grade 12 girl who graduated and is now attending business college in Regina. All our girls passed the final exams. When they first came to the Home, they could not see why we had to have rules and regulations such as supervised study period, quiet time and free time. But after they got their marks from the June exams, they said they could see where it paid to have a regular routine.

We had all our bedrooms and Study Room redecorated in the summer and I painted all the bedroom furniture so everything was bright and cheery for our new girls.

A Busy Fall

We opened the new term in September with 17 girls, 15 of them new ones. The girls range in age from 11 to 17, and all are in public school except four. Three of the girls assist in Kindergarten Sunday School. The younger girls attend Sunday School and all attend morning church service.

It has been a busy fall, but the girls have been happy and contented. They have a full day as they are taking an interest in school and sports activities. Some are in the basketball, volleyball and bowling teams. This year there is an open rink at the high school grounds so many go skating.

One of our girls won second prize ($2.00) on her Remembrance Day poster. Another girl's poster was chosen to send to Regina.

Miss Elizabeth Mewhort spent a few days with us last fall and we were also visited by Miss Esther Highfield and Mrs. R. J. Davidson.

At Christmas Time

At Christmas when the different schoolrooms were putting on parties, our girls were very shy about going, but when I produced a party dress for each girl, they went off to the party quite happily. They came home very excited, telling me what a lovely time they had had.

We had our Christmas party on December 19th, when our girls entertained their friends to a Christmas turkey dinner with all the trimmings, after which they gathered in the Study Room and had games and contests until Santa Claus' bells were heard and they found him in the living room ready to hand out the numerous gaily wrapped gifts which were under the tree. The evening was spent in dancing and singing Christmas carols.

I took them all to Regina on December 22nd and got them off on their buses for home. During our wait in the afternoon we visited the museum, stores, and had our dinner. Some of the girls were wishing we would miss their bus so they could stay overnight with me in the hotel.

All except one returned after the holiday and the common remark was, "We were so glad to get home but we are happy to be back here again."

I want to take this opportunity to thank all the W.M.S. members who so generously gave gifts of jewellery, clothing and bedding. If you could have seen the faces of the girls as they opened their gifts, it would have given you a big "Thank You" without words.

Pleasant Surprises

Being back in the Girls' Residence again seemed like coming back home after seven years' absence. The first Saturday I was here one of the nurses asked me if I would like to go to the church in the evening to see a wedding. I asked who was getting married and they told me Betty Erickson who was one of my small girls the last two years I was here. Naturally I was delighted to go to her wedding. She had grown almost beyond recognition and was a beautiful bride. She got a big surprise when she saw me in the church.

I found the "Flyer" running from Edmonton to Bonnyville a wonderful improvement on the untidy and slow trains of former days, and I had the pleasant surprise of meeting Ila Newton on board on her way to Vilna. It was interesting to see the new two-lane highway under construction which I understand is to be paved a little way beyond Bonnyville, and should be finished by spring. I was pleased to see so much more of this north country opened up and so many new modern schools built. But I was particularly happy when I found the little United Church that was moved from Duclos to Bonnyville while I was here, in such good condition, the many improvements that had been made and the evidence of a growing congregation of dedicated people. The new manse built next to the church, where many parents take their small children to be cared for during the morning service, a Junior and Senior choir, mission band, C.G.I.T., Young Adults Group and W.A., all under splendid leadership, are all evidences of growth within the church.

From September to December

The first thing I did on arrival was to answer all the applications that had been accumulating since June. However, most of the parents not receiving an answer to their applications, I expect, thought the Residences were closed and made other arrangements for placing their children, which was perhaps the best thing when a matron could not be found for the Boys' Residence.

School opened Tuesday, September 1st, with one boy and two girls in the Residence. On September 16th, two more girls arrived and about a week later I found a woman from Ardmore who could come and help in the Residence, part time.

In October I drove with our minister and three other ladies to Vermilion to attend a W.M.S. and W.A. Rally, which was well attended and very interesting and worth while. I met Ila Newton again and also some old friends from Cold Lake.

The students were very busy before Christmas practising for the school concert which was a joint one taking in all the classes. The

C.C.I.T. put on a short play in our schoolroom which was very well done and directed by one of the nurses who is their leader.

When the October reports came out for the school, our Dorothea and George Thomson took first class honors, and Phyllis Fleming, Grade 11, also took honors.

We missed having no boys to join with us at our Christmas dinner party. However, we had a very happy time and the girls and George were all excited about going home for the holidays.

Miss Deacon invited me to the hospital for Christmas dinner and I invited Miss Deacon and all the nurses here for New Year's dinner, also Miss Willows, but she was going to Edmonton. It turned out that Miss Deacon could not come here either, but four nurses were over and we had fun.

COMMUNITY MISSIONS EAST

FOREWORD

Sometimes we forget that people are persons and that some of these persons live in St. John's, or in an isolated fishing village in Newfoundland. Sometimes we must be reminded that Helen, a little Negro girl, is discovering a new meaning in life because of her contacts with the C.G.I.T. group in the United Mission in Sydney, N.S. We must be reminded that Mr. and Mrs. Black, after sitting in the missionary's Church Membership class in Newsom Hall, Glace Bay, N.S., have decided to enter into full membership in the Church; that it does matter to the little old lady, alone in one of the public wards, that the hospital visitor stops to wipe away her tears and chat awhile; that there is someone at the Port to meet the young Italian family and to care that they find a place to live. How can we ever know what it means to Mary, a woman of the street, to be invited in for tea by the attractive young missionary, as she pauses to watch a group of women entering City Mission in Montreal; or what it means to Bill, age seven, whose deserted mother is struggling to make ends meet, to enjoy the hot meal which is served each day in St. Columba House in Montreal; or what it means to the little handful of people who come together in Muskoka or Matheson to worship? Sometimes we forget that there are persons living in the heart of a Hamilton, a Toronto, a Windsor, a Sault Ste. Marie, or that some of them are lonely, hungry, unemployed, or some of them are caught in a web of sin of one kind or another.

While the Home Mission enterprise has been instrumental in making life more abundant for many in 1959, there were still many unmet needs in our Community Missions East.

In 1959 our work in Northern Frontenac was closed, in order that it might be transferred to the Board of Home Missions and an ordained minister posted there.

Upon the request of the Board of Home Missions we opened work in the Church of the Redeemer in Montreal among the Italian people, employing a young Italian woman.

We take pleasure in having a share in furnishing the new Fred Victor Mission, Toronto, which should be completed before the end of 1960.

NEWFOUNDLAND CONFERENCE BRANCH

A. RUTH TILLMAN

Christian Education Worker,
Newfoundland

There are many facets to my work as field secretary for Christian Education. There is work on committees—The Conference Christian Education Committee, the C.G.I.T. Committee, the Boys' Work Committee, the Loon Bay Camp Committee and many others. I must also attend as many presbytery meetings as possible, and there is also attendance at the annual Conference in June which lasts a week.

I have a very considerable correspondence to answer. The other day I listed the letters waiting for an answer: three or four from C.G.I.T. leaders; two from Y.P. unions; two from Explorer counsellors; enquiries from groups and ministers, and letters from Toronto. Along with this type of correspondence there are field letters to various groups, and promotional materials and letters in regard to camp programs.

There is supervision of the literature depot with Miss Bursey, our office worker, and advice to be given about what to order.

While in St. John's I am often called upon to interview visitors from the Church offices on behalf of the United Church radio station, VOWR. I also try to send regular news bulletins to this station for "Church News Calendar" and "Invitation to Worship."

All these things take about one-third of my time; the other two-thirds I am away on field work.

Field Work

Last winter I visited Baie Verte and La Scie, travelling from Gander by mail plane. At Baie Verte the plane landed on the harbor ice just as the school children were coming out of school, so I clambered down from the small plane into a small group of children, who were as good as a radio announcement, for they all went home to announce that I had arrived. It is a short plane hop from Baie Verte to La Scie, where we landed on a frozen lake behind the fishing town of La Scie. When I met the C.G.I.T. in the little building which is used as a Christian Education centre there, I noticed on the side wall an area on which the Explorer Group had displayed their work. In a place of honor was the notice: "La Scie Explorer group—organized September, 1955, by Miss Nancy Edwards." Both Explorer and C.G.I.T. groups were well organized, important groups in that church. When I met the W.A. groups in both these communities we talked of the opportunity of affiliation with the W.M.S. and there was an enthusiastic acceptance of the idea by both groups. Sundays spent in both communities were busy—preaching twice, speaking to the Sunday School.

During the month of May I shared in the leadership of three C.G.I.T. rallies—at Glovertown, Elliston and Gander. Perhaps the one which stands out in my memory is the rally at Elliston, where over 90 enthusiastic girls came to meet in a fairly small building, one of the groups had come almost 50 miles in the back of a truck over dusty, gravel roads.

This year I had two trips to Toronto—the first in April in order to attend the National C.G.I.T. Committee meetings, and the annual meeting of the Department of Christian Education of the Canadian Council of Churches. The other trip was in September to attend the postponed meeting of the Board of Christian Education and staff conferences.

In June we were grateful for the visit of Miss Lois Boast, Girls' Work and Church Camping Secretary for the Board of Christian Education.

A Summer of Camping—and then Autumn

Camping was again my major effort during the summer.

There are many stories one could tell about camp, but I'm going to content myself with only one. One of the Junior Camp counsellors told us that one morning as she and her group were coming from their own little part of the camp, where they carried on their program each morning, one of the girls said to her, "Cee, 'Squantum,' even the trees and grass look greener and the wild flowers prettier than I ever noticed before! Guess I'm really learning to look at what God created."

The fun and laughter which accompanies the swimming period; the sense of reverence and worship which pervades the outdoor chapel during morning worship; the thrill of discovering a new truth for oneself from the Bible study; the growing experience of give and take in group living—all these mean to me that camping can be one of the most important phases of my work in Christian Education.

October and November were busy ones for field work. I travelled over 3,000 miles in the trusty W.M.S. "Studelapumpa" as well as by car and plane. Among the events were a couple of Christian Education Institutes and a series of workshops for Sunday School teachers and leaders of primary and junior age levels. These were co-operative ones, in which Christian and Missionary education were stressed and Miss Bone, Secretary for Explorers and Junior Work of the Board of Christian Education and Marion Thomson, W.M.S. Field Secretary, were co-partners. In between all this field work, in November I had a quick trip to Tatamagouche, N.S., to attend the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Atlantic Christian Training Centre. One Saturday in November I attended a meeting of young people in Corner Brook which resulted in the formation of the Grand Falls Presbytery Young People's Union.

December is always such a busy month at the office that I try, if possible, to spend most of my time in St. John's. This year the 10,000 copies which we ordered of the National C.G.I.T. Vesper service proved to be insufficient, so the National C.G.I.T. Committee had to air express 2,000 more to us, and that was barely enough! When we counted up the number of letters and mimeographed pieces we had sent out it was almost 6,000 pieces and almost 800 parcels of literature had been mailed.

STELLA A. BURRY

Community Worker,
Community Centre,
St. John's, Newfoundland

The past year has been an eventful one in Newfoundland. Against a background of industrial unrest, strikes, tragedies of the sea, unemployment and warnings of a further state of unemployment when Pepperrell Air Force Base closes, we have carried on our work of Christian witness and service through our Centre.

The Relief of Need

During the pre-Christmas season I considered the needs of 110 families for Christmas cheer in the form of hampers. Good used clothing was distributed to 45 families during the year. A special demand on our clothing Supply Room was made after the awful night of storm in February when the disaster at the Battery caused much loss of property and some loss of life.

The housing situation here is acute, but by means of contact with the City Welfare Department and the Housing Authority we can render a little service in this connection. Unemployment is ever with us—St. John's has too little industrial development for a growing city, and a good many people here, as elsewhere, are too dependent on social assistance.

We are ever challenged by numbers of unchurched families. Up a little lane in a little house in one of the worst parts of our city I was making a call just before Christmas on an old grandmother and her grandson, who is in his twenties. I spoke to the young man about Gower Street Church and his connection there. He informed me that "he wouldn't know what the inside of Gower Street looked like."

The Agnes Pratt Home is firmly established now, its rooms full and its guests happy and well served.

Our Community Centre Women's Fellowship continue their fund-raising projects toward the support of the camp, study program of the W.M.S. and straight givings toward the Program of the W.M.S. They raise altogether approximately $475.00 a year.

During the year I was given the opportunity of conducting the Bible Study at the Grand Falls Presbyterial at Gander and here in St. John's at the fall rally of the Presbyterial.

Summer Work

Improvements to our Camp property are taking place, and we now have a total area of about 20 acres. About half my time is taken up with Camp property and its management. During Camp operation 126 boys and girls, under about 30 voluntary leaders, receive Church Camping benefits from the regular programs suited to the various groups. Last summer I arranged for and led almost entirely the course on religion for about 125 young people just out from high school and preparing to give service in some of our outport schools.

It is impossible to express adequately my gratitude to the W.M.S. for sending Miss Wilma Sharpe, a student of the Training School, to help with the work. She spent the major part of the summer at Burry Heights Camp where she gave valuable leadership. The last part of her stay was devoted to directing a Vacation School in the Blackhead Road area.

Two teachers from Ontario, holidaying in Newfoundland, stayed with us and helped Miss Sharpe conduct the school.

The Residence

One hundred and seventeen guests, including sixty-two transients found home and friendship at Emmanuel House during the year.

We think our permanent staff of two faithful assistants would be hard to replace, and during my holiday and furlough we were fortunate in having Mrs. Reynolds live in and welcome the fall students. Students looking for accommodation here are in the majority these days. This is a great service to our outport parents and their daughters as they are given real care as well as supervision in their study periods.

After twenty-one years as a community centre worker here I am still happy and very busy; this work represents a great need and a constant challenge.

M. ELIZABETH McCOLGAN

Missionary-at-large,
Twillingate Presbytery,
Newfoundland

May I share with you some of the interesting things I did during my three months in the St. John's area?

At the W.M.S. Presbyterial I discussed problems with the Candidate Secretaries and at the supper hour I spoke on the use of Audio-Visual aids with auxiliaries; this was followed by a discussion of the use of filmstrips and movies in presenting the missionary program.

For three Sundays in succession I visited the Young People's Bible Study Group where together we discussed the meaning and significance of Church membership. I organized the World Day of Prayer Service for Girls, and was happy to have C.G.I.T. groups from the United and Presbyterian churches, Girl Guides from the Anglican Church and Cadets from the Salvation Army Training School worshipping together at this service, which was broadcast over Wesley United Church radio station VOWR.

Sunday School Teachers' Workshop, a rally for leaders of Tyro and Sigma-C groups held in Gower Street United Church, C.G.I.T. Conferences and an affiliation service, meetings with the W.M.S. of Wesley United Church, a Conference of the Christian Education Committee—these and many other events made the weeks in St. John's fruitful and memorable, and gave me many helpful ideas to carry back.

Back in Lewisporte

Because of the time of the year and the condition of the roads when I returned to my headquarters in Lewisporte in March, it meant that travel could not take me too far afield for a while. On Easter Sunday morning the W.M.S. car "McChugg" got caught in a snowdrift on its way with me to conduct services in Porterville. Three men got the car out of the drift, but persuaded me to go back to Lewisporte as the roads were worse further on. So back I went, haunted by the thought of the little Porterville congregation waiting in vain for me to arrive.

Spring brought a number of C.G.I.T. events; Provincial Camp Council Executive meeting in St. John's; rallies in Gander and Gloverton; and the National C.G.I.T. Committee meetings as chairman of the Newfoundland Committee. Following these meetings I attended a conference at Birchmuir Lodge in Peterborough, Ontario, sponsored by the Department of Christian Education of the Canadian Council of Churches.

One more field trip was made before spring Presbytery and Conference; this took me to Bonavista Bay, Wesleyville, Valleyfield and Brookfield.

The summer months brought interesting days at Loon Lake campsite. The first event was our Caravan training period for six young people before going out to small coastal communities. During the months of July and August we worked with boys and girls of junior, intermediate and senior age groups as well as Sunday School teachers and mid-week leaders. Provincial Camp Council had as overseas guest Miss Frances Wallbridge, on furlough from Angola.

Two Exciting Weeks at Englee

My first field trip of the fall took me to Englee in White Bay much farther north than I had ever been. We had a rough passage, the boat on which I was travelling being twice storm-bound on the way. But there was a delegation of C.G.I.T. girls to meet me when the boat finally docked.

I had a busy two weeks at Englee. The first two days of my stay I spent in visiting. Then I had meetings with the various church groups, and at two very interesting ones with the women, affiliation of the W.A. and W.M.S. was thoroughly discussed. Visiting the day schools, a junior and teen-age rally, and work with the C.G.I.T. were some of the other items on my itinerary. I was proud of the 12 C.G.I.T. girls who at their UNICEF project for children of the world made approximately $65.00.

It was an exciting day when I left Englee. My first trip in a Beaver mail plane! Almost every person in the community came down to the wharf to see me off and I felt like a celebrity. It was a wonderful send-off after a tremendous two-week visit.

Rattling Brook Joins King's Point

In November, Marion Thomson, Field Secretary for the Dominion Board of the W.M.S. and I went to King's Point where the folk from Rattling Brook joined us. We worked with Sunday School teachers, junior and teen-age boys and girls. After church services we held a meeting of the women of the two communities and were thrilled to find they were quite enthusiastic about becoming an affiliated group. We met with the C.G.I.T. group, and all the while were aware of the possibilities and potentials for a boys' group here, but where to find a leader? Can you imagine how I felt when a young boy of Tyro age stepped up to us outside the hall where we had been having a meeting with the C.G.I.T. and asked—"Aren't you going to have some kind of group for us boys?"

Summer Work

I arrived in Glace Bay on the morning of July 2nd, and began making preparations for the camps which I was to attend. The camp which I directed was for Junior girls in and around Glace Bay, and commenced on July 10th. The leaders who were chosen before I came were very good indeed, but another year I would hope to have more adult leaders and a Camp nurse. It is hard to make some of the women understand that our camps must be standardized and comply with regulations.

The camp was filled to capacity, and I believe it was a happy and profitable experience for all. I stayed to give leadership at the Camp for Junior girls in the Sidney area. Miss Betty Bone was the Camp director, and the help she gave me and the knowledge about camping will be invaluable in the years to come.

When I returned to Glace Bay I took two services while the minister was on vacation; I also did considerable hospital visiting and called on all the old people and shut-ins of the congregation.

The morning service in Newsom Church is at 9.45, and Sunday School had always been at 2.30 in the afternoon. In September several of the teachers informed me that if Sunday School continued to meet at this time, they would be unable to attend. We gave this matter a great deal of thought, because many of the children attended church with their parents. However, we decided to try the morning time for three months, and so far it hasn't made any difference in the attendance.

The Women's Guild which met here in the Church House for 22 years became the Woman's Association a year ago.

Mid-Week Groups and Sunday Schools

There are three C.G.I.T. groups with very good leadership and 32 girls in the department. The three Explorer groups are quite outstanding, I think; the eleven-year-old group might put an older group to shame when they conduct their meetings, and the worship period is really important to them. The Mission Band leaders are young women with children in Mission Band, but we could certainly use two more leaders.

The Sunday School in Tower Road School is small, due mainly to lack of interest in the homes. None of the people come to church, but quite a few "pay the church," a term used here a great deal, though it is the first time I have encountered the system. The Coal and Power Company have a check-off system and send a cheque to different churches every month.

More children, too, could attend Newsom Sunday School, as we have a very good staff of teachers and officers. For the first time teachers from Newsom went to the Sunday School Convention in Summerside, P.E.I.; a carload went from Knox Church too and we planned a Teacher Training Course together.

The parents attended the Annual Christmas Concert in large numbers and the concert was very good. The parents were invited to Sunday School on Christmas Sunday but I'm afraid they were noticeable by their absence. We had an excellent filmstrip "The Christ Child Comes to Christian Homes," and the Young People's Bible Class conducted the worship service.

In all our church groups we seek to lay the foundation for a richer, fuller belief in God. Of course our enthusiasm gets a jolt once in a while when our teaching ability is tested and we get such answers as these in Bible Study Tests from Intermediate Church School pupils—

"The way Christianity spread to Antioch is because somebody told him."

"Saul's conversion was this way—He was on the road to Damascus when he met a chariot sitting in a chair reading the Bible, and he said to the chariot, 'Do you understand what you are reading?'"

A Wonderful Year in the Church Groups

The Baby Band members, as usual, enjoyed their picnic at Point Pleasant Park, and the Annual Christmas party.

It is interesting to note the story of our new Baby Band leader for 1960. She is a member of our W.M.S. Auxiliary. As we talked over a cup of coffee in her home, after taking pictures of her two children who are members of the Baby Band, I learned that she had been a little Roman Catholic girl living at Whitney Pier in Sydney. She had come down to the Explorers at the United Mission when Miss Miranda Brown and I were serving there. She said: "That was the only happiness I knew in childhood." That was the beginning of a wonderful experience in Christ for her, and now she serves the Church faithfully in Halifax.

The Lathern Bell Auxiliary has had a wonderful year of fellowship and study. They exceeded the highest allocation yet given them by $4.00. This group stands ready to help at all times with the Baby Band and Explorer activities, serving at parties, presenting insignia, and donating "World Friends" magazine.

Twenty-six Explorers enjoyed their mission study, "Ten Pairs of Shoes." After the Good Friday Service, the Explorers and Junior Congregation each presented their minister with a pair of miniature china shoes to represent their Mission study. Tucked inside one shoe was $100.00 for the Current Expenses of the Church and $100.00 for the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. They also presented the organist and her husband with $75 to buy their new choir gowns and gowns for two other members of the choir.

Twenty-nine girls of Explorer age enjoyed the fresh ocean breezes, good meals, fellowship, fun and Bible study at Camp Brunswick during the second week of July.

The Junior Congregation increased from 30 to 50 members during the year. This group is very interested in the study of Africa.

At the Port of Entry

Perhaps statistics is as good a way as any to gauge the work involved at the Port of entry for immigrants. They are as follows for 1959:

No. of boats arriving from Europe carrying immigrants	98
No. of freighters carrying immigrants	40

Religious categories of immigrants: Roman and Greek Catholic—19,150; Protestant—1,684; Greek Orthodox—3,374; Hebrew—485; Others (Moslem, Hindus, etc.)—174; No Religion—38; Religion not listed—42. Total, 24,947.

An all time high record of parcels were sent in by missionary-minded groups of our Church in every province of Canada. These totalled 707. Are these gifts appreciated? I cite one case: A letter came from the mother of a family of immigrants in Manitoba. She says: "Just a line to thank you for the wonderful welcome you gave our family to the new country. Your lovely gifts warmed our hearts and gave us some measure of confidence which—to be quite honest—at that time we did not feel! Thank you so much. The toys kept the kiddies entertained during the long train journey, and so made it easier for me. Duncan is already making use of the warm snow suit, and the diapers. Everything turned out for us far better than we dreamed. . . ."

I tell this story that you members of Auxiliaries, Sunday Schools, Mission Bands, etc., may know what a large part you play in turning fear into confidence, doubt into hope here at the Port. Without you we would not be able to carry on this great work in nearly as effective a way. It is you who deserve all the smiles of appreciation, and the "Thank you's" punctuated with graceful European curtsies.

Successful Group Activities

During the year the various groups have continued their activities with good attendance.

The Mabel Newsom Affiliated Society have had a successful year with an increase in membership. On two occasions we were the guests of Trinity W.M.S. Auxiliary. At our Spring Thankoffering we were happy to have Mr. Bert Samaroo, student from Pine Hill College as our guest speaker. Trinity Auxiliary were our guests at this meeting.

Our C.G.I.T. group has increased considerably in membership. We are glad to report that the three voluntary workers are giving excellent leadership. We held our Tea and Affiliation service at the end of May with Rev. Clarke MacDonald as the guest speaker. The Explorer group continues to function under the capable leadership of the two voluntary workers of last year. In June eleven girls graduated into C.G.I.T. Two voluntary workers assist with the Mission Band of 43 members.

We have had an increased atendance in Sunday School this year as well as an increase in teachers.

In April of this year, Mr. Bert Samaroo came to us as student minister for the summer. He did an excellent piece of work in this area especially among the young people both in organization and leadership, and in organization of the Tyro group. He also attended camp with the Junior boys.

The Caravaners with the help of ten local leaders conducted a very successful Vacation School in July. The average attendance was 100. Camp at New Campbellton was an exciting time for both boys and girls. The Junior Girls had the privilege of having Miss Betty Bone from Toronto as their Camp Director. She was much beloved and the Mission girls will not soon forget her.

Favors Given and Received

We were favored in the Autumn with a visit from Dr. Dorothy Long and the Conference Branch Executive. They spent an afternoon at the Mission visiting the different groups at activities.

Welfare work among the needy continued during the year. Many boxes of used clothing from Sydney and district and from Ontario were gratefuly received and put to good use where needed.

Christmas with its usual activities—Sunday School concert and White Gift Service—was a joy to all.

I must not forget to mention the successful face-lifting in the interior of the Mission building. The bright and attractive modern kitchen and other renovations have helped to make the work of your missionary more enjoyable.

Before closing this report I would like to say how much I have appreciated the faithful support of the Sunday School teachers and midweek voluntary workers, Rev. Clarke MacDonald and Trinity Church Session, Miss Annie MacIvor, retired missionary, who continued to give valuable help as teacher and leader in the Sunday School. I would also like to thank the many groups and individuals who so kindly sent boxes and Christmas gifts and donations to the Mission.

HELEN E. MACK

Community Worker,
St. Columba House,
Montreal, Quebec

As I look back over my 1959 calendar many pictures come to my mind. Some of them are glowing with love and laughter, some are rich with Christian fellowship, some are dim and blurred with frustration and disappointment, while a final group are incomplete. Would you care to look over my shoulder as I study my collection of prints more closely?

Grade A Glossy Prints

There are several good prints in this set but I think I'll have to give the best mark to a picture of 75 to 80 youngsters from Lorne Public School trooping into St. Columba House for a hot lunch. This picture is made possible through the co-operation of the United Church of Canada, the Kiwanis Club of Montreal, and the Canadian Progress Club, and is very much appreciated by the children, the parents, the teachers and the Protestant School Board.

Another clear print indicates a growth in our midweek youth activities. Each Monday after school some 25 to 30 youngsters tumble in for Mission Band and we have such wonderful fun and fellowship that some of them drop in almost every day to find out if it's "Columba House day" today. Our Explorer Group numbers 16 this year; our C.G.I.T. group meets each Friday after school and, thanks to the generosity of the Women's Union (W.A. representatives from various United Churches in the city) both our Canadian Girls In Training and our Explorers are completely outfitted with uniforms. It was a memorable day for the C.G.I.T. when they, in complete uniform, served tea to the Women's Union at their November meeting in St. Columba House.

A third glossy print depicts several speaking engagements at various W.A. and W.M.S. meetings, at a Mission Circle Rally, at a Sunday School Anniversary, at a Conference Branch meeting, and at a Mission Band Rally. These are always happy occasions for your missionary not only because of the gracious hospitality and the wonderful friendship but also because of the generous gifts which come to St. Columba House as a result of such visits—gifts of food for our supply cupboard, clothing for our clothing room, books for our library, a worship centre for our clubroom, to say nothing of money for equipment, uniforms, Christmas parties and hampers, etc.

And here is a delightful picture of a Sugaring-Off Party! Thanks to the generosity of the Kiwanis Club several of our boys and girls attended this party on a lovely Saturday afternoon last spring.

Church Vacation School in July added many good prints to my collection. Look at this lovely one of some 20 kindergarten youngsters marching around the room with their rhythm band instruments as their teacher plays the piano. And here's one of our student minister doing woodwork with a group of Juniors. Yours truly is over here in the corner getting ready for a combined Primary-Junior worship service which will close the morning session.

Color Prints

My favorite color print of 1959 is one of our brand new Pointe St. Charles Young People's Union. This group was organized during the summer with the assistance of our student minister and now numbers 14 enthusiastic members. We meet at St. Columba House each Monday evening for our regular meeting but half of our members are also present to teach Sunday School each Sunday.

Last May we spent a very happy evening at St. Columba House on the occasion of our annual W.M.S. Mother's Day Service. Instead of bringing in a special speaker we rehearsed and presented a play entitled "The Fair Family Worships" which was very well received.

Perhaps you are wondering about this last color print—it's nothing but a picture of a Lenten Folder! But through its use some of our members discovered for the first time the real meaning of Christian Stewardship.

Blurred Prints—and Incomplete

I'm not a very good photographer and I'm afraid there are some rather blurred prints in my collection.

Here is a set taken at Macaulay Camp last summer. There are several good ones amongst them—morning worship at the breakfast table, an evening program by the campers, hayrides, our Church Vacation School closing exercises—but there are several spoiled ones too. Here's one that was spoiled by a much too large registration and an insufficient number of adult leaders. And here's another that pictures some score of eleven-, twelve- and thirteen-year-old boys and girls who ought not to have been at a mothers' and children's camp—they need an entirely different type of program. This third one shows a family who were badly in need of personal counselling but whom the director, your missionary, was unable to help both because of her lack of training in this field and also because she was very much too busy working with the older boys and girls.

The final pictures are incomplete but I am hopeful that this first one at least will be complete in my 1960 album. It is a picture of midweek boys' work, a program which was sadly lacking at St. Columba House during a large part of 1959. I am happy to report, though, that we have one boys' group organized now and that we are already talking about the possibility of having some of our boys attend a boys' camp next summer.

This last picture is a rather disturbing one; it has to do with the dearth of Christian family life in this corner of our Master's vineyard. There are altogether too many broken homes here, too much loose living, too much alcoholism and too much unemployment to promise a very bright future for many of the boys and girls who are growing up in this area. I feel so inadequate in so many ways but I pray that with God's help this picture, too, will some day become brighter.

GLADYS B. WATSON

Hospital Visitor,
Montreal, Quebec

A Great Many Visits

The work of your hospital visitor in Montreal is constantly increasing as new wings are being added to hospitals. A new building is being added to The Verdun Protestant Hospital which now houses over 1,600 mentally disturbed patients. With the additional long corridors, the routine visitor has to cover many additional miles each day. Sometimes I think a scooter would be helpful!

Your hospital visitor continues to visit 10 hospitals regularly making 287 visits during 1959 and visiting 5,201 patients.

Your visitor and a volunteer pianist have been visiting The Verdun Protestant Hospital every Wednesday morning for over a year. We conduct three worship services in three sections of the hospital before doing our visiting. We find the patients waiting for us and if we happen to be delayed for a few minutes, they greet us with "You're late! We thought you weren't coming today!" In our large city hospitals most of the patients, except those from out of town, have their own church friends and minister but in Verdun every patient needs a personal friend to confide in. At Christmas time the head nurse on one floor, where there are 155 patients, asked me to provide 67 pairs of stockings for patients who never have a visitor or receive a letter or parcel.

In the Nursing and Convalescent Homes

I cannot speak too highly of the work being done by our volunteers in visiting the Nursing and Convalescent homes. This year we have added six new homes to our list and seven additional churches, making a total of 36 homes and 32 churches. In fact, church groups are now finding new homes in their own vicinity and offering to visit them. 8,844 patients were visited by them. This visiting is a joint effort on the part of The Woman's Association and The Woman's Missionary Society in the local church.

In September a Workshop for visitors was held. Miss Mary O'Brien, Director of Nurses in Grace Dart Hospital, with a wide experience in nursing the chronically ill and working with senior citizens, gave some very helpful suggestions on how to make your visit worthwhile, and pitfalls to be avoided. We also had a talkie, "Still Going Places" showing how people with severe strokes or fractures can be rehabilitated.

The committee send me a written report each quarter, and here are some of their comments:

"Had one of the patients to dinner one night."

"Small corsages of fresh roses were given each patient."

"A tape recording was made of our Christmas pageant and special music which was given in the church before Christmas. This was played for the patients on the evening of December 21st."

"We take, on occasion, dessert for 30 patients. (Fruit salad or ice cream.)"

"The Christmas party was a very pleasant afternoon. Our minister came along. We sang carols, talked, and had lovely refreshments and gifts for each lady."

Due to the generosity of our church members, who donated gifts and money, approximately 600 patients in three hospitals—Verdun, Grace Dart (T.B.) and Montreal Protestant—received gifts of pyjamas, night gowns, stockings, socks, cardigans, braces, jewellery, etc., at Christmas time. Several C.G.I.T. groups made corsages, crackers filled with candy and homemade cookies. Many ladies from various churches helped assemble, wrap and deliver the gifts. Without the wonderful support I have received from these people, most of this work could not have been accomplished and I do thank them. May God bless them all for this is truly the Lord's work.

Adjustments under Difficulties

This year has been marked by changes in staff. In June, Rev. A. B. Lovelace resigned as Superintendent to accept a call to Lennoxville United Church; on September 1st, the W.M.S. missionary left on furlough. Rev. J. Roberts Kovalevitch continues with his work in the Ukrainian congregation and students carried on at the Montreal City Mission until November 1st, when Miss Gladys Thornber was appointed by the Woman's Missionary Society.

The Church of All Nations is working under great difficulties because of the distances that people have to come, and because the community around the Church is almost entirely French-speaking.

Early in 1959 the Women's Club was reorganized under a new President, and recent news tells of a successful Bazaar in November when over $350.00 was realized to help the Church. The Japanese United Church still has church services and Sunday School in the Church of All Nations, but progress has been hampered because people must drive eight to twenty miles to the various activities. For the present the Kindergarten is being carried on in Ahuntsic United Church. The Sunday School has an enrolment of over 45 and is staffed by their own leaders.

The Women's Group is the backbone of Montreal City Mission, faithful in attendance at their meetings and usually at the Sunday evening services. Each Wednesday, summer and winter, they meet for hearty singing of the old hymns, for the study of the Bible and for prayer. Their theme song is "Breathe on me, breath of God." The average attendance is about 20. In April, this group had a sale of work and a tea, realizing a large sum for the Mission.

Because of the nature of the district, with its drinking, night-clubs, teen-age gangs and immorality, the work with youth is very difficult and discouraging. The facilities are inadequate, for the building is cut up into many small rooms on different levels and the Chapel is the only place available for larger gatherings.

Vacation Schools and Social Welfare Work

During the summer, three two-week Vacation Schools were conducted by the students working in the city. The one at the City Mission in August was bilingual with about 30 children attending. The interest was good and this is one of the few opportunities to work with the French children in the district.

Social Welfare Work took much of the time of the worker. Sorting the abundance of clothing and food which pours in from the local churches is a tremendous task, but in this the women of the Mission have been given willing assistance. No one could count the hours spent in preparing meals for transients, in distributing clothing to needy families and in preparing baskets of food to meet emergencies, and especially in the counselling of those who come in hours of need. The lonely, the discouraged, the frustrated, the newcomers in Canada who were having difficulty—all came not only for material help but to have their faith strengthened.

Macaulay Camp

Macaulay Camp had two parties for mothers and children from many city churches, directed by W.M.S. missionaries. In the first party, I had over 125 leaders, mothers and children for two weeks.

The theme, "Jesus' Way of Life" was carried through the worship services each day. In the group period for mothers, many gathered for Bible study on the Old Testament.

The children at Camp were led in a Vacation School program each morning by trained caravaners who made a real contribution to our camp.

Church Services held on Sunday morning were well attended and were much enjoyed. The children prepared the recreation hall and formed the choir on the first Sunday. The second Sunday was chosen as "Christmas in July", with the message given in verse and song by a picked group. The offering taken at both services was given for the support of orphan children in Korea, and amounted to a little over $20.00.

Throughout the whole camp period there were opportunities for informal chats with the mothers on personal problems. We hope that they returned home with a new outlook and their faith strengthened because of the Camp.

Problems and their Solutions

As there is a shifting population in the Montreal City area and many transients we never know quite who or how many to expect for Clubs and services of worship. But whoever comes, they usually come with a problem—physical or spiritual—to be met; how to get the rent paid; what to eat for the next two weeks while the husband is temporarily unemployed; how to settle a matrimonial difficulty; what to do when there is religious division in a home and one parent is not willing to have his children attend this—or any other—church. And in helping to meet these problems the worker may go upstairs to the food or clothing room or visit in the home, or quietly pray with the individual concerned.

We said that most who come have problems. Let me tell you of some who come radiantly to tell of problems solved. One lady phoned to thank us for our help and prayers in a family difficulty and to assure us that things had changed for the better. Another, a radiant Christian, formerly an alcoholic, came to me one night and said, "I haven't had a drop for ten years. Isn't that wonderful? Only God can do that." She had discovered that she can do all things "through Christ who strengtheneth. . . "

And one day Doreen couldn't contain the wonderful news she had heard that day. We were in the clothing room looking for a pair of mitts for her. We never did find the mitts but when she said, "Miss, do you want me to tell you something?" we knew that something special had happened and assured her we'd love to hear her news. "Miss," she said, "do you want to know what the real meaning of Christmas is?" and without waiting for my reply she rushed on excitedly, "The real meaning of Christmas is that Jesus came—it is His birthday."

Work at the Mission

On Wednesday night any number from 14 to 35 may attend the meeting for women. They love to sing and are always eager to learn new hymns. Also they give wholehearted attention to the Bible study —they are doing the Book of Genesis. Sometimes they ask a question, or make a comment showing such depth of understanding one realizes afresh that spiritual wisdom is for those who ask. Though many of them have faced poverty and known the pangs of hunger they are aware that in the world there are others who suffer far more. They made up three parcels of toys which were sent to a missionary in Japan and two which were sent to an Indian reservation in Ontario. Each year they donate at least $100.00 to the Mission work.

We are very grateful for a fine group of volunteers at the Mission. In the Sunday School we have four, three teachers and a pianist, who come faithfully each Sunday. Two of the teachers are young McGill students who find time for preparation in spite of the demands of study. During the week we have one volunteer who works three days a week and makes a fine contribution.

Montreal and Quebec City, Quebec

At the Ports of Entry

Once again we look back at a busy shipping season at the Port of Montreal. The Church, mindful of the stranger coming within our gates, has placed her workers—the Port Chaplain and W.M.S. missionary—at the ports of entry, where they are able to aid the newcomer, who often is a regular immigrant, arriving with his belongings from some small overpopulated European country; frequently, too, a refugee with hardly any belongings, coming from a country behind the Iron Curtain.

In the first nine months of 1959, 85,355 persons entered Canada as immigrants. Of these, 21,192 were Italian, 16,063 British, and 6,838 came from Holland. Despite the smaller numbers of new settlers arriving, we were kept steadily busy; large numbers of visitors from the British Isles, Germany, Holland and Poland kept entering Canada.

During the year 1959 your worker met 122 boats at the Port of Montreal, and only two at Quebec City Port, as nearly all ocean-going passenger ships disembark their passengers at Montreal Port.

The work at the railway stations is equally interesting and offers many opportunities for service. Boat trains from Halifax keep arriving all year round in Montreal, and families of new settlers wait here for train connections. This gives us an opportunity to assist them and acquaint them with the conveniences of the station. Your worker met 92 boat trains, most of them at Central Station. It is here we find an opportunity to offer the newcomers gifts of welcome, which are liberally supplied by church groups such as the C.G.I.T., W.M.S. and W.A., Mission Bands, Explorer Groups and Sunday School classes. Kits are a great favorite with the newcomers, as they contain such useful and attractive items for travellers.

During the Winter Months

During the winter months, when the ports on the St. Lawrence River are closed because it freezes over, your worker gives her time to the service of the All Slavic Congregation at the Church of All Nations, which consists of old-time settlers; and to the Yugoslav groups whose members are refugees who have entered Canada only recently.

The able minister of the groups is Rev. Nick Ilkich, who has only been a few years in Canada himself. Your worker is happy indeed to aid Mr. Ilkich in his difficult work. As refugees from camps in Austria and Italy, the people of his group arrived with very few belongings, hence they are really needy.

On New Year's Eve your worker and Mr. Ilkich were asked to go with the Travellers Aid Society to the Dorval Airport as interpreters to meet a plane with 20 Yugoslav refugee families, where one member of each family was ill with T.B. Among them were 7 Protestant families. We were glad to be able to welcome them and we will continue to keep in touch with them, introducing them to the Yugoslav groups at the church, and aid them to get established in their new homeland.

Your worker expresses her appreciation for having been able to use the Montreal Presbyterial Supply Room. Many sincere thanks go to Mrs. Horlock, the Supply Secretary, for her help, and to all the kind and interested friends for their valuable gifts of clothing, time and thought. Many sincere thanks go also to the ladies of the Woman's Union for their interest in the missionary work in the city year by year. Many of the newcomers benefit by their help in their difficult hours in a new land.

Four Months of Service

The Northern Frontenac district in which I served for four months is truly picturesque. In the autumn the three villages of Plevna, Ompah and Canonto were aglow with the beautiful autumn shades. As winter arrived the scene changed to a winter wonderland.

Two Lively Mission Bands

The interest in the two Mission Bands—one at Monteith and one at Matheson—has been keen indeed. The children love "the chocolate people" and Boloji is a great favorite. The W.A. at Matheson kindly invited the Mission Band to have a table at the Christmas bazaar to raise funds for their group. The mothers responded very generously with candy, cakes and doll clothes. We also had homemade toys and felt corsages; even some ladies of the district, who have no children attending, contributed, so our variety table brought in $20.50. There was a good attendance of mothers at our closing Christmas program. The money from my two piano pupils is put to their account, so the two groups together sent $78 to help to send a teacher to our African friends. Christmas Eve each home was invited to save their Christmas wrappings and ribbons, and are making a parcel of them to send to Miss Howse in Africa.

The weeks go slipping by and the Sundays come around with duty in the Holtyre Sunday School and the pulpit work, every other Sunday at Monteith and once a month, each, at Ramore and Shillington.

The Hungarian folk continue their classes in English and are making splendid progress. Somehow they learned of my birthday, and the mother in the home invited me over: "Would you have interest to come over for a while?" I was glad I was free to go. The little girl met me with a beautifully wrapped gift and when I opened it, there was a lovely musical powder box. I protested, saying, "You shouldn't have spent so much money on me." "O well, Miss Empey, we appreciate what you are doing for us. What you are doing can't be counted with money." So I accepted it with great delight.

At Monteith we have a weekly Bible study group. We first studied St. Matthew with the help of "The Interpreter's Bible" and now we are doing St. John from Wm. Barclay's two volumes on St. John.

We had special Thanksgiving and Christmas services in which the pupils participated. Promotion certificates have been given to several who have moved up from one class to the next. In the Intermediate group they are working diligently on memory work.

A Change for the Better

In order to teach the children that the papers must be paid for and that one cent in the offering will not do it, we asked them to subscribe to the papers, and they now really appreciate them. It was necessary to hold a bake sale in the community to raise money for the Sunday School.

On Thursday the superintendent enters the school and teaches—first, the junior room, and then the senior, but only the boys have their organized club, Sigma-C, directed by the minister. However, there is a very definite and gratifying change for the better among the children.

The total givings for the year amounted to $91.35. This includes $15.42 for the M. and M. Fund.

There were seven well-attended Vacation Schools conducted in the district this year—Matheson, Holtyre, Montieth, Carr, Currie Centre, Shillington and Ramore.

At Christmas time the W.A. and the W.M.S. held a joint service of worship, in which we had some glimpses of Christmas in different parts of Africa. I think the study of Africa throughout the Church has given a new appreciation of our African brethren. How much happier a world this will be when we learn that we are all "God's chillen."

Miss Elizabeth Cooper, a student of the United Church Training School, came to conduct four of the Vacation Schools. Then, this fall when it was impossible to procure a teacher for Carr School, though she is a nurse, she could not see all those Mennonite children without teaching and she volunteered to teach them. A permit was granted her and she is carrying on very successfully.

Why not "Church Rounds"?

One morning as the Hospital Visitor was making calls in one of the seven General Hospitals she visits weekly, a patient greeted her: "Good morning! You are on your 'rounds' again today?" "Yes," was the rather dubious reply. "Should a W.M.S. Hospital Visitor be making 'rounds'?" she thought to herself. "Well, why not?" There are 'Medical Rounds', 'Surgical Rounds', and 'Psychiatric Rounds'—Why not 'Church Rounds' by a Chaplain or his co-worker?"

In the course of each week's visiting, lists are checked at over fifty Nursing Stations by a Head Nurse or one of her assistants. The fullest possible co-operation is granted by the hospital staff, in this as well as in the preparation of lists of names of United Church patients, which makes authorized visiting possible.

Because of the vast number of patients listed as "United Church" in Toronto hospitals, to rephrase a famous statement:

"Never was so little done for so many!"

Hospital visiting is a "tricky business." Any mistake made by any one from the "Outside" (with a maximum of fanaticism and a minimum of discretion), may, but seldom does, react upon the whole group.

Patients express their appreciation verbally or by letter, but the visitor gains immeasurably more from her experience with her "friends." "Moments of Communication" do occur; and when this "Communication" has an upward reach it is a high moment in that day's work.

Auxiliary members and patients from "out-of-town" are often interested to know that they are supporting a part of the W.M.S. work that becomes of personal interest to them while they are in the hospital.

In this "Refugee Year," it has been a pleasure to visit several women from Camps in Europe, who are now well-cared for in Toronto hospitals.

Your Hospital Visitor would like to picture for you a group which meets daily for "Family Prayer" at nine o'clock in the sunroom on one of the floors of the Sanatorium building. Along the corridor you would see women in housecoats with Bibles, Prayer Books or Devotional Books under their arms, gathering in an ecumenical group (Anglican, Baptist, Lutheran, Presbyterian and United Church and other denominations), drawn together by a common need and the desire to meet it.

A List of Thank You's

The W.M.S. Hospital Visitor would like to express sincere appreciation to Dr. J. I. MacKay and to each one of our United Church Chaplains for their readiness at all times to help, advise and encourage. Chaplains of other denominations have also been most helpful, and advice from Medical personnel has been invaluable.

A Hospital Superintendent and President sent a copy of this letter to our Chaplain and Hospital Visitor at the end of this year—"The undersigned wish to acknowledge gratefully the assistance which you and those with whom you are associated have provided voluntarily for the welfare of our patients during the past year. We consider the voluntary support and goodwill of such individuals and groups to be among our most valued assets. Thank you indeed for your interest and help in our common endeavor."

Now in closing, may a heartfelt "Thank you" be said to Mrs. C. Maxwell Loveys; a warm "Welcome" to Miss Esther Highfield and sincere thanks to Mrs. W. J. Campion, Executive Secretary of the Committee on the Deaconess Order and Women Workers. Deep appreciation is constantly felt for the inspiration given by Dr. Winnifred Thomas and Mrs. Murray Brooks.

Community Workers,
Queen Street—Church of All Nations,
Toronto, Ontario

For another year your representatives in this down-town area have been privileged to witness to the truth of the Gospel, and to apply the Gospel to the needs of those who come into our midst. Scores come for assistance: the hungry, the unemployed, the homeless, the newcomers, the transient, the deserted and bewildered—all in need of help, and looking to the Church to receive it. No matter for what reason they come, we are glad to serve and show them that the Church has a concern for them.

The Groups Are Learning to Grow Together

Our various groups for all ages have continued from week to week, and the members are learning how to work, study, play and worship together.

The Baby Band is an ever-growing group; an average of thirty mothers with their children from five years and under, meeting each month. While the children are cared for and enjoy handwork and activities by themselves, the mothers participate in a program of worship, missionary education, handcraft and good fellowship. Through their gift boxes they contributed $35.00 to the work carried on throughout the world among women and boys and girls.

The Primary Mission Band has been an active, interesting group of girls and boys, eager for their stories, songs and related activities.

A small but enthusiastic group of Junior girls have shared in the Explorer program all year. Their explorations have been thoroughly enjoyed, especially when they learned many things about their North American neighbors in Mexico, and other parts of their own continent. A great night was the Affiliation Service with the Woman's Missionary Society and the C.G.I.T. when their Treasure Chest was presented to the Presbyterial Secretary.

The C.G.I.T. continues to "Serve Others," and the W.A. has depended on their help especially in serving at dinners, etc. Voluntary leaders carried on the programs for Tyros, Sigma-C, Cubs and Scouts and without this valuable assistance the church would certainly be the poorer.

The Women's Evening Group, about 25 young and enthusiastic members, have met twice a month all year. They have assisted in the Baby Band, contributed to the Sunday School picnic and to the children's Christmas party, purchased stacking chairs and tables for the Kindergarten, besides being helpful in the Nursery each Sunday morning. They enjoyed their missionary study at each meeting and made a generous donation to the W.M.S. The older women, through the Federation, have also been active all year, also making a fine gift for missionary work and contributing in time and donations to the work of the local church.

Sunday School Work

We held Sunday School at the Church of All Nations for the first four months of the year, but the attendance was so small due to so many families moving away that the few children who attended were encouraged to join the Queen Street Church School, and this they did and are quite content in their associations there. It was not a very happy day when we closed the Sunday School here, but we all knew the circumstances.

The Queen Street Sunday School met at the same hour as the church service, in the chapel, for the first eight months of the year, leaving to go to their own departments about half-time. In September it was changed to 9.45 a.m., and this resulted in a somewhat smaller attendance. All special occasions were celebrated in our School. Five from the Intermediate department became members of the Church following a Church Membership class. During the Easter season, a teacher in the Junior Department asked her pupils what they thought the Resurrection meant. After thinking about it a bit, a boy said, "I think it means God's love can never be killed." On Christian Family Day parents came with their children, and after the service met the teachers and enjoyed the fellowship. At Christmas, the Junior Department presented a pageant based on the Indian Carol, "'Twas in the Moon of Winter Time."

Other Activities

A successful Vacation School was held in the summer, and quite a number of boys and girls enjoyed camp at North Seugog, and mothers with small children at South Seugog. A Hi-C group and a Young Adult were active for the first six months of the year.

English language classes were carried on in both churches, many different nationalities attending. To this was added in the fall a French language class at the Queen Street Church.

We enjoy our contacts with the Senior Citizens at the Lavell Smith Home, both when they attend our service of worship on a Sunday morning, and also when we have our devotional service with them at the Home on a Wednesday evening.

Our Credit Union seeks to provide Christian assistance to goodly numbers of our folk by teaching them thrift, providing hospitalization, and in helping them get along by lending money at reasonable rates of interest.

A Year of Change

While 1958 was called by some the year of rehabilitation, 1959 might be called the year of change. Rev. J. Lavell Smith, who was Superintendent of Church of All Nations since 1942 and the Minister of Queen Street international congregation since 1950 when the two churches were amalgamated, left at the end of June to become the assistance minister at the Humbercrest United Church. Rev. Bruce Cunningham, who was assistant for half time, moved to the Val d'Or-Bourlamaque charge in Quebec. Rev. H. Ray Ashford and Rev. Joseph Blakey were welcomed to take charge of the work here.

Our report would not be complete without expressing our gratitude to the many who have helped so much—the "Friends of Queen Street—Church of All Nations"; church groups and individuals who gave such generous gifts throughout the year and at the Christmas season. And we would not forget our many W.M.S. friends and our Prayer Partners across the country.

Evidences of Growth Among the Young People

The year in Regent Park United Church has been a mixture of light and shade, but on the whole a satisfying experience. In the fall, the joint Intermediate Senior department of the Sunday School divided into two departments, and we have had a Hi-C group for the first time, with a very fine young married couple in charge. This group has been most enthusiastic, while the Intermediates are now as numerous as the two together were formerly, having an average attendance of about 32.

Also, a small but energetic Y.P.U. has been formed, and two of its members planned and helped carry out the most successful Rally Day the Sunday School has ever held here.

My Sunday work begins in the Junior department at 9.45, and continues in the Primary in the afternoon at 2 o'clock. On December 21st these two departments united to present a pageant of the Christmas story, which the children carried through very well, while the parents proved to be a very appreciative audience. On Christmas Eve the Hi-C group also presented a pageant, written by their own teacher.

A number of these teen-agers united with the Church last Easter; and one teacher, in an attempt to encourage church attendance, gave her class a questionnaire regarding their relationship with the church, one question being about attendance at the church services. The next morning I found a scrap of paper with the following answer: "The reason I don't go to church is because that one hour in Sunday School is efficient enough for me." A compliment to our Sunday School, or otherwise?

Work with Primary and Kindergarten

On Wednesday afternoons, children of 4 and 5 years, the Kindergarten group, and those of 6 to 8, the Primaries, meet in the two groups under the overall name of Children's Club. Mrs. Dorothy Brown, my co-worker, is in charge of the younger ones, and I of the older, each being assisted by a splendid staff of women and younger helpers.

The children greatly enjoyed the study of Dirk, the little Dutch boy who came with his family to make a home in our Canadian west. The highlight was, I believe, our imaginary trip back to Holland with Dirk when, arriving in a large ship (outlined in chalk on the floor), we were met by two real Dutch children in national costume, who welcomed and entertained us.

Dramatization has played a large part in our program for the past year, and tribute must be paid to Mrs. R. Grierson, for years a missionary in Korea, who has done much to stimulate and direct our dramatic activities.

Concern for others was expressed by a gift of $5.00 to Japanese Relief following Cyclone Vera, and $7.00 to the World Refugee Fund, besides $15.00 to the W.M.S. Presbyterial, and a gift by the Kindergarten group of $17.91 for Korean children.

During the last two weeks in July our Vacation School was held, with an enrolment of 138, and 27 leaders. Puppet-making was the correlated activity, and the puppets were used in the plays based on our study. Rhythm bands were a real feature throughout, and the singing was a delight.

Our closing was well-attended, and our offerings to help provide "Pictures for Children Everywhere" amounted to $12.00.

We are much indebted to our sister church, St. Enoch's United, which furnished eight very fine leaders including their minister.

Relief Work

At Hallowe'en, our girls and boys of eight years and over were invited to share in the UNICEF collection for needy children in many parts of the world. Twenty-nine of them brought in $32.00. A small certificate of appreciation hangs on the wall downstairs.

One eleven-year-old boy was so touched by the plight of the unfortunates that every Sunday since October he has brought a handful of pennies (usually 20 to 30) wrapped in several thicknesses of kleenex, "for those children". On being told that the fund was closed, he agreed that they should be added to the "Cyclone Vera" Fund, and later to the World Refugee Fund.

Many individuals, church groups, and other organizations took responsibility for families this year, so that the work was considerably lightened as compared with other years. Over $80.00 was contributed by our own church people for this project, and gifts of money also came from two other churches.

Work in an Inner City Church and Community

The work at WoodGreen Church and community is most varied and interesting, and I have found that loneliness, especially in a big city, is the one thing from which both old and young seem to suffer.

After a baptismal service, I visit the parents who live in the district, give them a little booklet "What Baptism should mean to Parents" and point out the ways in which they can be helped to keep the vows they have taken. If there are other children in the home, I try to relate them to the Church School, if they are not already attending, and point out that the parents can attend worship in the sanctuary while the babies are looked after in our well-equipped and staffed nursery.

We have a fine Young Adult group at WoodGreen, and when our Associate Minister said it was going along fine except that no one could play the hymns for their worship service, I volunteered.

New arrivals in Canada who live in the community are visited. These are from the British Isles, Italy, Estonia, Latvia, Czechoslovakia and Germany.

Our ministers conduct the funeral services for many who are not members of any church, and in my visiting in the homes of the bereaved, they realize that someone is concerned. Many begin to attend worship and sometimes make their decision to become members of Christ's Church.

Helping the Lonely Ones

The Mizpah W.M.S. Group have taken under their wing many who are unable to attend public worship, and transport them by car to a luncheon meeting each month. For many this is the only contact outside their room or home.

Miss Clapham, our Deaconess, started the Drop-in Club in the community, of which you have likely read elsewhere. I have visited in the homes or rooms of most of its members. Many of them now attend Sunday worship regularly, while a few of them have joined the Church. During the year I have helped with this group, and was in charge for a few weeks.

Hospital and Nursing Home visiting has been added to visiting in church and community, and when the need arises I get in touch with our deaconess or one of the ministers.

In all my visiting my desire is to help overcome the loneliness of these folk, in Christ's name, and let them know that His grace is sufficient for all our needs, and that if we will only turn to Him, we need never be alone.

ANNIE B. BISHOP

Community and Immigration Worker,

Newcomers to Canada

When we are told by the Immigration Department that 42,000 immigrants settled in Ontario during the first nine months of 1959, and that their estimate is that about one-half of this number find their way to Toronto, the continued need for an open door of service and welcome at our Immigration Centre is very obvious.

Many new arrivals have come to us: the young man who arrived with such high hopes, only to find that just a chance to earn a living was difficult to secure; the older man, alone, seeking a new start in life; the family arriving to join a father already here, yet with adjustments to make; the brand new family seeking work, shelter, furniture, bedding, dishes, etc.

In many instances we have served these people in conjunction with our national pastors.

"Where will we secure furniture, this family have only cartons?"

"Do you know where to find some bedding?"

"Have you any canned food or powdered milk on your shelves?"

These are some of the questions asked quite frequently by one of the workers, and if we cannot say an immediate "Yes" the next step is to approach the Women's groups in our churches and, without exception, the needs have always been met.

The past months have brought many of our former contacts back again. The numerous "lay-offs" in some big industrial plants have presented difficulties to many families. Having helped them when they arrived and kept some contact through the one or two years, we are grateful that they feel we are the kind of friends who will still stand by them.

There are some problem folk whom we still help—disappointing, frustrating, yes, but we remind ourselves that we are here essentially to help the person who finds it very difficult to fit into our Canadian life.

Christmas time brought the opportunity to serve more families than have ever been on our lists before. Churches, groups and friends made it possible to provide a real Christmas for every name on the list.

An Inspiration Conference

In April, 1959, the Community Friendship Secretaries and W.A. visitors from our three Toronto Presbyterials were called together at a Conference in St. George's United Church, Toronto. Our three national pastors, Rev. H. Rueger, Rev. G. A. Koponen, and Rev. L. Pokoly, presented in a very graphic way the service they are giving their people, and showed the co-operation which exists between them and the Centre. It was a good day. Through the worship service led so effectively by Mrs. H. F. Price, the contribution of our speakers, and discussion, we received inspiration and help to carry us forward in our attempt to give better service in the future.

Community Work

We have been strengthened during 1959 by the loyal support of our 22 volunteer visitors in six Old-Age Institutions and two Convalescent Hospitals in Metropolitan Toronto. They have been regular in their visitation, having made approximately 9,000 calls, and have brought friendship to these elderly and ill people in sharing their joys and sorrows, and performing many acts of kindness and of love. We pay tribute to them and express our appreciation of their splendid contribution.

During the year, we have held two Conferences with the volunteer visitors when everyone shared their experiences and thereby gained new insight into the art of good institutional visiting. We were reminded that we do not work alone but are members of a group dedicated to the task of helping our older folk feel that they are still important members of our Church and community.

The volunteer visitors in our two convalescent hospitals shared in the World Day of Prayer services as well as our participation in the service at one of our Homes. The monthly Bible Class at Belmont House has been continued with increasing interest. Assistance was given with Communion services at Lambert Lodge and we have spoken at 28 meetings of Auxiliaries and Federations during the year.

(MRS.) PEARL BUDGE

Community Worker,
Bathurst Street United Church,
Toronto, Ontario

My appointment as Community Worker at Bathurst Street United Church, Toronto, became effective at the middle of September, 1959, on transfer from the Immigration Centre, Toronto. My work is under the direction of the minister of the church, Rev. Glynn Firth.

This area of our city is a very thickly populated one and some of the housing conditions are very poor, with a great deal of overcrowding. Many nationalities live in this community and there are large numbers of people of all ages living in the area.

Working Within the Congregation

Bathurst Street Church is attempting in various ways to relate its services to the needs of the people who live in its vicinity. My special responsibility is visiting in the homes where one or more members of the family have had some contact with our church but who are not closely connected. I try, first of all, to establish a friendly relationship with the family, and endeavor to discover their needs, in terms of Christian education and social welfare, and their potential as leaders in the Sunday and mid-week groups of the Church. I work closely with the minister and leaders and through my contacts with these families I hope to be able to provide information which will be valuable in planning our program and services. I also visit sick and shut-in members of the congregation and find it a very rewarding part of my work.

I am happy to have had the privilege of helping to organize a Club for Senior Citizens. We meet once a week and have fine fellowship through worship, handwork, games, conversation and refreshments. It is a real joy to be associated with this group of friendly, interested, and enthusiastic people. Splendid leadership is being given in this group by church members.

Working within a congregation is a new field of service for me, and I hope that as time goes on and I gain experience, my contribution will become more valuable.

An Interesting Spot

Coming into a new piece of work in August has its disquieting moments; where to start, and what to start. The hot weather in Hamilton in August was not conducive to visiting, and September was really here before I got down to serious activity, apart from a Church Vacation School which I enjoyed helping with for two weeks, and in that way got to know the names of some of the children at least.

All People's is an interesting spot with people representing many different cultures. Kindliness and co-operation have marked the past five months, and already I have made many friends. All People's has a great tradition of faithful workers and I inherited that. As soon as the day schools started all the groups from Baby Band to Mothers' Club were called to meet and the response was encouraging. We have capable helpers in all groups; all but one leader comes from our own congregation.

Christmas at All People's has been just as busy as at any other place; our Baby Band party is just over. It was a very happy time for everyone, and the Gift Boxes were well filled indeed. The Sunday School concert and party tonight finishes the parties for another season.

The Sunday Services of Worship and the Church School provide times of inspiration and help for daily living as well as the through-the-week groups.

With the Groups

We are grateful to three C.G.I.T. girls who help with the Mission Band program in handcraft and games. As well as our stories about our African boy we worked on a mural for the new kindergarten room and made Christmas Greeting cards for the mothers. The Mission Band was also the guest of the Explorers at a party.

The Explorers are a very interesting group of Junior girls. For six weeks the new girls worked on the Expedition "What it means to be an Explorer", and at the end of the study were initiated at a special meeting to which the mothers were invited.

In this group also we have two senior girls of the C.G.I.T. who give excellent leadership. In December we all worked together on "Observing Christmas", and presented a short play at the Sunday School concert. The Senior and Junior choirs work faithfully all year and add much to the services of worship and to special occasions such as Thanksgiving, Rally Day, Anniversary Sunday, and on Christmas Sunday presented a beautiful Candle Light service, which was well attended. The Mothers' Club meets regularly and has done some very fine work on quilts under Mrs. Burbidge's instruction.

The Federation meets twice a month for a period of study, worship and work, and the Boys' Groups with their leaders meet regularly. I have so much enjoyed my fellowship with the Japanese minister and his congregation, as well as my association with the Chinese through their missionary, Miss Fee.

For several weeks our special interest centered around an every member canvass, the purpose of which was to give all our families and single adults an opportunity to share in the regular work and worship of the church, through church attendance and givings. The spirit of the canvassers and all who took part in the canvass was an inspiration and brought us all closer together, I feel, in the aims and objects of the work here.

RUTH M. LANIGAN

Community Worker,
St. Christopher's United Church,

A Challenging Field

St. Christopher's has continued to be both an interesting and challenging field for Christian service. A year ago our people were greatly disturbed by losing those families whose homes had been bought by the Steel Plant. The general feeling then was that as the Steel Plant expanded, more and more homes would be bought up, and who could tell where this would stop. It looks now as though we have passed the peak of discouragement and are going forward with confidence. In an area where the overwhelming majority of families are none-church-goers our people are steadily bearing witness to their Christian faith, and some are even daring to dream of a future when St. Christopher's might become a self-supporting congregation.

How to reach the people of the district who feel no need of the Church is a problem, but I think we are beginning to see that if our Christianity is vital enough it will also be contagious. And our people are feeling a real sense of responsibility not only to give their own support to the Church, but also to help the Church assume its responsibility for the unchurched of the district.

Your worker's responsibility here has been to give leadership to Baby Band, Mission Band, Kindergarten Department of the Sunday School, Explorers, Junior Choir, C.G.I.T., to attend and help with the women's meetings, play the organ for church services since we lost our organist, do whatever office work is necessary, and whatever visiting she can find time for.

The Year's Work

I was able to arrange for a Vacation School which attracted a number of children of the district who had not formerly had any contact with the church. The parents seemed most appreciative, and some of these children have since been attending Sunday School. In July I spent three weeks helping out at our Restall Camp.

Our C.G.I.T. Group with the help of two other C.G.I.T. groups of the inner city held a World Day of Prayer Service to which they invited their mothers and friends. While the attendance was not as large as it might have been, many of those who came would not have gotten out to any other Day of Prayer service, and probably the venture was worth while. The girls want to repeat it in 1960.

Getting around to visit the homes is not too easy without a car. Many families live quite a distance from the church, and bus service is slow. I have felt concerned over some of the older people who cannot walk very far and who might have gotten out for church and to other meetings if transportation had been provided. Some of them in former years depended on the W.M.S. worker to drive them back and forth. However, I notice that the church members who have cars are beginning to take responsibility for those who haven't, and surely it is better that St. Christopher's Church should take the responsibility for this than it should be left to the W.M.S. worker.

A Word to the Wise

I hope that our W.M.S. Auxiliaries, and all those interested in our All Peoples' Churches will come to realize that the people at St. Christopher's are not in need of second-hand clothing or of "white gifts" at Christmas time. Occasionally a case of need does arise, but these are not numerous, and help can be secured when necessary. Generally speaking the people of this district are glad and proud to be able to provide for their own families, and to contribute something to those less fortunate.

I have been very grateful to all those who wrote to say they were prayer partners, and to the good ladies of our assisting board who visit us periodically offering inspiration and Christian fellowship.

A Number of Churches

During the past year I have been more closely associated with the work at All People's United Church in this city than in other years. However, this does not exclude helping as much as possible where help may be needed in other churches.

At Emmanuel I have been able to give some assistance with the organization and development of a C.G.I.T. Group. A successful Vacation School was held at Bruce Hill in July as well as one at Maxwell on the Suburban charge and at All People's. I have also been associated with the W.A. groups at Grace, Bruce Hill, All People's and Bayview Churches, giving direction where possible, keeping in mind the future policy regarding women's groups within the church.

The little church at Bayview has had its most successful year financially. The small W.A. group, too, are to be highly commended for the very real contribution they have made to the life of the church. In the autumn the Bayview Explorer Group was organized under local leadership and a good year is anticipated.

We have been fortunate this year in that our Sunday Schools—All People's and Bayview—have been well staffed and that the work has gone forward satisfactorily. One teacher training course was given during the year.

The Mission Circle at All People's, in addition to other projects, directed the organization of a Baby Band which continues to grow in membership. Two successful parties for the children and their mothers were held during the year – one in June and a Christmas party in December. This year there has been an increased interest in missions throughout the church, particularly in women's groups. A missionary film, presented to the congregation once a month as a Sunday evening feature, has met with interest and approval.

One new group has been added to our mid-week program for teenagers. Early in the year a Hi-C group was organized, and has become one of the most effective groups in our church.

The building of the proposed International Bridge between Sault Canada and Sault Michigan will make it necessary for the congregation of All People's to vacate the present building and find a suitable site on which to relocate a new All People's Church. It has been a great source of satisfaction to us to see the enthusiasm with which the church, as a whole, has accepted the challenge which such a project presents. And we pray that as we go forward into the new year that God will bless the efforts put forth in His name and for the extension of His Kingdom.

During the week we have church service in Italian; Sunday School in English for children of quite different families; weekdays, the girls' club is attended by girls who live near the mission, but the boys' club has attracted children, many of them Negro, who live at a distance. Our Saturday afternoon Happy Club is for children of all ages, and then we have the English lessons attended by Italian and German immigrants, men and women from all over the city. It makes a rather confused picture!

All these activities except the church service are your missionary's responsibility. This year the Sunday School grew in numbers and interest and in regularity of attendance. Thirty children were enrolled, ranging in age from 4 to 12 years, and I find that encouraging, since two years ago the Sunday School consisted only of four and five-year-olds. Until mid-summer, the father of one of the small boys, taught the older pupils and was a great help.

The weekday kindergarten was discontinued in June, but we have a thriving Saturday afternoon Happy Club where children of all ages learn and play together. Older sisters help with handwork and games.

With the Girls and Boys

Girls' Club has only seven members at present.

Friday afternoon is Boys' day. Most of these lads live far from the mission but attend public school nearby. An average attendance of twenty gave me an interesting time this year, but by now they seem to be settling down to a discipline of story, handcraft and games, following the Tyro program as much as possible.

Daily Vacation Bible School was the highlight of summer activities. The minister taught the older boys and girls in the basement, while two mothers and some teenage girls helped me with the little folks in the hall. DVBS attracts a goodly number of children whom we do not see at other times, so we must try to put as much content into the programs as possible. We closed with the usual Parents' Night when the children exhibited their work and reviewed their study. The older children staged a Quiz program on their Bible study.

With the Adults

Two evenings and one afternoon a week are given to adult English lessons. Those who have persevered are making splendid progress. Thirty-five students were registered for the fall term. Fifteen W.M.S. women came regularly to teach. All text-books are supplied by the Federal Government. This November, the women students for the first time helped with a mission project—a spaghetti supper and sale of work, and we were very proud of them.

The minister, Rev. A. R. Gualtieri, conducts a church service in the Italian language every Sunday morning.

It is always a privilege and delight for your missionary to be part of meetings of Conference Branch, Presbyterial, Sectionals, as well as to visit local auxiliaries as time permits. This year I was also invited to the Alma College School for Leaders of Younger Groups, to help with a Bible study group and in the evening devotions.

A Sincere Thank You

Before closing we wish to thank the Board of Home Missions and the Dominion Board of the W.M.S. for the substantial extra grants which made possible needed repairs to the residence and the mission hall. The entire house was redecorated within, the upper floors tiled, the roof insulated, the walls in the mission basement were painted for the first time, and storage and toilet facilities installed. An Advisory Board of the W.M.S., with a representative from each auxiliary in the city, assists the missionary and keeps the needs of the work before the whole membership. From their Annual Presbyterial Tea at the Mission, and a Christmas gift from the societies of Essex County they, too, made a large grant toward the repairs to the mission hall and basement, and provided for all the expense of Christmas at the Mission. Thank you all.

COMMUNITY MISSIONS WEST

FOREWORD

We are very conscious of the individual person within the "whole," yet we must be equally conscious that the "whole" is not an individual person, but many, many persons. We are living in a time when persons are being born so quickly and persons are living so much longer that the "whole" is in danger of becoming mass bound and distorted. We witness this process going on in community after community in Canada. A city bulges out into the mountain sides—spreads over the plains—even encroaches into the midst of great lakes, which are reclaimed to make more room for more people. Schools and Universities cannot keep up with the growing population and poor housing has become a common social problem in all our urban centres. Isolated communities like Prince George, B.C., are filled with scores of transients, men and some families, without social and spiritual resources to cope with the situations.

Requests keep coming to us as a Society to finance and send out more and more women workers as Church Extension workers, Institutional workers and Rural Community workers.

While the report for 1959 for Community Missions West is a worthy one, it does not begin to keep up with the need, money-wise or person-wise.

We have opened two new pieces of work, namely, Church Extension in Calgary and to assist the Rev. Gwen Symington on the nine-point Evergreen Pastoral Charge in Edmonton Presbytery.

We were also able to place two women in Edmonton and one in Vancouver to serve as Church Extension workers.

The tremendous shortage of ordained ministers has affected the rural Church particularly. The trained woman worker can make a real contribution. Unfortunately, there are all too few available.

When ordained men were available we closed out the work in the Loon Lake area in the Battleford Presbytery and in Bienfait, Sask., thus freeing two of our missionaries to begin other work this summer.

Community Worker,
Ethelbert Area, Manitoba

A New Experience

I arrived in this Ethelbert area just six months ago. Manitoba was strange country to a Maritimer! I had to get used to the vast flat stretches, the long miles of straight roads, and the many houses so far removed from the main highways. Thanks to C.B.A. my means of travel is a 1959 Chev., and the first 10,000 miles travelled have been for the most part very pleasant indeed.

Soon after arriving and becoming somewhat settled on the third floor of the W.M.S. hospital here, I was invited to spend a week at Junior Camp at Clear Lake. Later the same month I attended a Y.P.U. week-end at Wellman Lake, the Dauphin Presbytery camp. Here, as theme speaker, I was to rediscover many of the problems facing high school and University students, and from our discussions of "The God We Worship", "The Jesus We Follow" and "The Faith We Live", many very pertinent questions arose.

At Garland and St. Lambert, church services are held twice a month. The three St. Lambert families meet in the homes during winter, and gather at the school house the rest of the year. For the Christmas service we gathered in the mud-walled home of the oldest couple, and the whole congregation was present. In addition three ladies from Pine River went with us—one to play the carols on the portable organ. It was an uplifting service!

One of the ways in which we hope to keep in touch with the children in these two areas is by delivering the current Sunday School publications. At present the Sunday School here at Ethelbert is small, and the attendance is irregular, mainly because there are few United Church children in this area now. The Ethelbert W.A. continues to be fairly active and several homes are using I.B.R.A. for daily devotions. Tentatively we are planning to hold a Church Vacation School for Ethelbert and Garland children, here at Ethelbert, in July. One will also be held in Pine River.

At Sifton and Pine River

Although "Sifton" is no part of the pastoral charge at Winnipegosis Ethelbert, we have been holding services and Sunday School there twice monthly since October. Before the summer student left I visited the homes with him and found people eager to carry on throughout the year. And so while Mr. South, our minister, has a service of worship with the adults we transport the ten to fifteen children to the C.N.R. Station for Sunday School! Several people have requested Church Membership classes, and we anticipate that at Easter many people who have been for years the "backbone" of this congregation, will become members of the Church.

The point on this charge where Christian Education seems to be flourishing best at present is in Pine River, 20 miles north of here. Much repair has been done on the church building recently, and installation of an oil furnace has provided a basement which suffices for group meetings and Sunday School classes.

On Sunday we have five classes, with an enrolment of twenty-seven, and our teaching staff is very efficient. The first in a series of teacher training sessions was already held, and we plan to make this a part of our program twice monthly.

I am sure you would have been moved, as our congregation was, if you could have worshipped with us during our C.G.I.T. Christmas Vesper Service. The whole service was done by six girls, three United Church, two Greek Orthodox and one Greek Catholic. They, too, were the choir for the service. Afterward a congregational carol "sing" and lunch were enjoyed.

Every Saturday at 3.00 p.m. the rafters of the church ring as our Mission Band gathers! There we have an average attendance of over twenty, who range in age from 4 to 12 years. In several cases it means a whole family attends! At present we are dividing into two groups for our Africa study and using both Primary and Junior materials.

The W.A. in this church is an active group indeed. While they still need help in program, they are keen and it is good to see so many younger women gradually assuming responsibilities.

Problems

A very real problem in this vast area is the one of mileage, and for a long time the people have accepted the barrier of miles. I was thrilled a few weeks after my arrival that all congregations met together for an outdoor service and picnic—and a chance to "meet the missionary". It was amazing how many people knew few of those in neighboring congregations 10 or 20 miles away.

In an area such as this, where the W.M.S. has sent a worker and the Home Mission Board assists in the financing of a minister, it is difficult to encourage contributing to missions. It takes a lot of patient explaining when someone says "We'll give to M. & M. when the church rug is paid for". Some local people, outside of the United Church, are of the opinion that an area to which the Church sends a worker is therefore an area of physical need. I hope and pray that in my work they will see that they are no longer regarded as people who need our "white gifts" and other forms of physical help, but rather as a community, like other communities, who have come through the depression and now are "on their own", and ready to share in the responsibilities placed upon all Christian people.

(MRS.) ELIZABETH CHIOCCHI

Community Worker,

My report is just the record of the happenings of an everyday life, with the usual pastoral care of a rural charge. With it comes the speaking and the visiting of your people, and helping where it is necessary. There are two C.G.I.T.'s and two Explorers, and two Mission Bands to look after, and when you have no leaders to call on, the leadership largely falls on your own shoulders.

Someone said to me the other day, "I think you are in the wrong business," for at that time I was taking people to the hospital in Winnipeg, a distance of 165 miles. These trips nearly always came at a busy time, but just the same away we would go. In one case I had to fix the back seat of the car as a bed, as the patient could not walk. When we got him to the hospital he was met by the orderly and taken in by wheel chair. Another case was a month-old baby whom the doctor fifty miles away said to get into Winnipeg as soon as possible, so the mother appealed to me and away we went. The baby is home again now and fine.

Much to be Thankful For

The World Day of Prayer was conducted at Gypsumville, also at the outlying district of St. Martin. I visited the St. Martin School each week, and received great co-operation from the principal and teachers. Last year I was able to help them with the singing at their Christmas concert; this year I conducted the school choir at Gypsumville at their concert held in the Community Hall here.

Explorers and Mission Band are held in the school every Friday, and the Gypsumville Explorers are held in Gypsumville. We have a very satisfying attendance of 53 at the Sunday School.

Our Kindergarten and Primary classes have been greatly helped by the kind generosity of the River Heights United Church's W.A. who donated to us 25 new stack chairs, also three low tables in good condition, which make it more comfortable for the little ones to sit and work.

We have taken pride in our church and have purchased a new rug for the church, with donations from some of the local men and help from the W.A. Also the C.G.I.T.'s with the Explorers donated the pulpit drape. A W.A. lady in Winnipeg donated two lovely offering plates, and our bazaar brought in enough money to purchase some hymn books, so we have much to be thankful for in the year that has just ended.

The Explorers, accompanied by myself, at the Christmas season made up some fruit baskets and took them to the shut-ins, and sang carols to them. In one of the homes the poor old lady cried. I suppose it reminded her of olden days. We also sent a large hamper of groceries to a family who were a few miles from the village.

Pleasures and Privileges

One of the great highlights of the year was the visit of our Executive Secretary, Miss Highfield, and with her Mrs. Brownell, the Conference Branch President from Winnipeg. Mr. and Mrs. Harris from the Indian School at Portage la Prairie also visited us.

I enjoy visiting the people, and they always give me a warm welcome. We had Rev. C. Earle Gordon, of River Heights United Church, and his wife here for a Sunday night service, also Rev. James Scott from Eriksdale.

I had the privilege of attending the United Church Training School this past summer and it was a highlight in my experience, only I had to spend two weeks of the time in the hospital. Also I had the pleasure of taking three of the Eriksdale services, and enjoyed the change.

GERALDINE G. DEARING

Missionary-at-large,
Superior Presbytery, Ontario

The year began with the annual congregational meetings, which were a little better attended than last year. On Easter Sunday three communicants were welcomed into full membership. A few months later, a young couple from Holland had their membership transferred from Toronto, and are a real asset to church and community. Quite a number of baptisms took place during the year, and Hymers W.A. purchased a lovely silver baptismal bowl for the church. They also bought a Communion bread plate, and a very active couple and their son, not members, made a beautiful hymn board rack. All of these were dedicated Easter Sunday. This fall, on World-Wide Communion Sunday a beautiful Communion service, a gift from his Roman Catholic family, was dedicated in memory of an adherent of the church. My landlord and his brother donated ten lovely new plywood pews for the South Gillies Church; the W.A. presented a Communion bread plate and the C.G.I.T. a lovely offering plate. With pledges and payments from the congregation they now have a fine second-hand Electric Hammond Spinnet Organ.

The Young People had a Busy Year

The Young People conducted the Good Friday Service in South Gillies Church, and the church looked lovely. The C.G.I.T. had painted Easter scenes on large sheets of paper and covered the windows with them; the old chimney at the front was hidden with a rich drape and a small cross. And the ten new pews! Quite a transformation for the little church that used to be the little old school house across the road.

In May the Young People collected used clothing, packed and shipped it to Toronto, paying for the $20 express charge with a Bake Sale. Even the boys invaded their mothers' kitchens to do the baking themselves! Another of their successful undertakings was a masquerade Hallowe'en Party to which they invited three groups from the City of Fort William. The South Gillies and Hymers C.G.I.T. each ended their year in June by combining for a Mother and Daughter Banquet. The theme was C.G.I.T. camping, and the very clever pipe-stem table decorations were a day's program at camp.

The C.G.I.T. girls are excellent Vacation school leaders. A girl from South Gillies helped me at the East Pearson School where, among other things, we had a fine rhythm band with home-made instruments. South Gillies and Hymers held a joint Vacation School, and the following week we had an exciting school at Cloud Bay.

Interesting Church Events

Before vacation time South Gillies and Hymers held a joint outdoor church service at a beautiful lake. The portable organ and a make-shift pulpit were set up on the pebbles of the beach with the congregation on the banks facing the waters. Everything was beautiful and conducive to church worship except the deer flies which insisted on biting the legs of yours truly. A picnic dinner followed. In September the South Gillies Church was host to the Superior Presbytery, which was held a week earlier than we expected. We discovered the new date only the night before and we had to get everything organized in a hurry. As we left the homes after the announcement the women were on their way to the barn to get their husbands to kill a chicken or two. They really rose to the occasion!

The organist at South Gillies was interested in forming a junior boys' choir, and called the boys together. But what they really wanted was judo, so their leader found a Finnish man who was willing to come out once a week just for the price of his gas. He taught exercises and tumbling, and soon boys and girls of all ages began coming. This rather perturbed the little boys as they wanted a group of their own. Finally they formed a Wolf Cub Pack sponsored by the local W.A. The boys would not miss a meeting for anything, though few show up for choir on Sundays.

Saying Farewell

Due to my leaving the field right after Christmas, and with the field becoming for the time a Home Mission Field, many changes had to be made. All decisions were made at specially called congregational meetings. Following the joint Hymer and South Gillies one, I was surprised to find myself guest of honor at a bridal shower and lovely lunch. I was the recipient of a beautiful silver tea and coffee service from the South Gillies congregation and four pieces of silver from the Hymers' congregation. Later I received a lovely McBrine train case from Cloud Bay and an oil painting from East Pearson, besides many other showers.

I left the South Gillies Pastoral Charge on December 22nd, after three and a half years work amongst the people of all ages; and I am happy with the response and co-operation and the increased Christian conviction and outlook during that time. I am confident that the Field is now in good hands under the leadership of two laymen.

On December 29 I was married in my home church in Mindemoya, Ontario, and am now settled in the Manse in Big River, Saskatchewan, happy to be sharing with my husband in the work of this very large mission field.

Is our Work Worthwhile?

Time for reports again and time to evaluate our year's work. Have the visits, the 'phone calls, the letters, the contacts made been worthwhile? Have they helped a little to comfort, to reassure, to win someone back into the fellowship of the Church? Those are some of the thoughts which came to mind as your missionary started her New Year's work.

Our Winnipeg General Hospital is still being enlarged, and the old wings are being rebuilt. The top floor of the Women's Pavilion is now being used for "Repair Work" and we have the privilege of visiting from 20 to 30 patients there each week. We visit in the other five general hospitals and the T.B. San. The three municipal hospitals, the Princess Elizabeth, King George, and King Edward, are now being used for long term patients, patients with broken hips and those requiring special therapy. This has meant moving many patients into nursing homes. So it has been hard to keep track of just where they, the patients, all are. On the other hand there is a feeling that our work is worthwhile as we are greeted by patients from nursing homes now hospitalized and a smile breaks over their faces when we appear, and they tell us how good it is to see us and how much our visits have meant to them.

I carry around "Upper Rooms" and know they are meeting a real need. "Oh my! I do love that little book." "Have you another of those little books you gave me last week? I have read this one from cover to cover." Those are among the remarks I hear. Some of the larger churches give me copies of their unsold "Upper Rooms" and I take them along. I also carry New Testaments to make the reading more worthwhile. "Our throats get so dry in the hospital"—"I just needed something like this" are the comments met with when I hand out Life Savers. A convalescing patient welcomes a few hasti-notes placed in an envelope large enough to hold her get-well and flower cards and decorated with a pretty cut-out from a birthday, get-well card. I always carry a few pens and stamps. Little things mean so much in hospital visiting—a little smile, a little prayer, a little encouragement.

Cause for Gratitude

Twice a year we hold Communion Services in the San. and "Hospice Tache". In talking with two of the patients after a San. service, they mentioned never having joined a Church. As a result our chaplain instructed them and they were received into the Fellowship of the Church at Christmas Communion.

Without the volunteer visitors—that band of devoted, faithful women who work so constantly and so ably in the San., "Hospice Tache", the hospitals and the nursing homes—your missionary would surely be at sea. A very sincere "Thank-you" goes out to them. I would also like to thank the rural auxiliaries for their boxes of Christmas gifts, the evening auxiliaries for their gifts of plastic ditty bags, soap, corsages, and all who sent afghans, shoulder and knee wraps. These were beautifully made, and added much to the comfort of the patients in nursing homes and the San., with the added comfortable feeling that somebody cared enough to "make one for me."

I am deeply grateful to the prayer partners praying for the volunteer visitors and for me. To care enough to spend much time in secret with the "One" who cares infinitely for each of these his children so He may prompt each word and each deed, and that all may be done to His Glory is the thought which accompanies your missionary this year.

"Come to Church"

It does not seem possible that this is my last year and that I go on furlough the 1st of August. I have loved the work here and the loyal, loyal women of the church. I only wish that I could interest more of the adults in the church. I remember the story my mother told me of a little country church in Ontario. The Sunday School superintendent in their church always said, "Don't say to your children 'go to church', say 'come to church'." That church today is full and has a large Sunday School as well. When some of the parents here complain that their children are running the streets and are not going to church, I remember how that same parent told me five or six years ago that she didn't have time to go to church herself but she would send her children.

Each year our church allocation has increased and each year the loyal group who attend have been able to meet it, even with the Church Extension Fund added last year. We had the old coal furnace reconverted to gas this year. Part of our share has been paid and we hope to have the rest soon. What a difference it makes in the church! No more chilly rooms and drafty old halls!

Each year MacLean has had some project such as buying the organ, tiling the big basement floor or cleaning the walls. Was that last ever hard work but it was fun too! The next will have to be the painting of the inside of the building. Our Explorers are very proud to start the fund with their gift of two dollars.

Our Explorers and Mission Band are growing. I had an average of 24 in Mission Band and a total of 30, and about the same in Explorers starting last fall. Four Explorers have helped faithfully in Mission Band all the year, and in November three of my C.G.I.T. volunteered to help in Explorers. What a difference it makes in the groups besides being good training for the girls!

How the Mission Band loved to do that Litany of Thanks last year! This year they are all deep in African Drums. For a very small sum we bought 3 dozen containers from one of the mills and the children are bringing the rest. I wish that you could see them. The study on Africa is turning out to be one of the best we have ever had. In the C.G.I.T. they are makjng an African village 6 feet by 8. The Explorers are making the pottery out of asbestos and flour and the Mission Band will make drums and crocodiles and other things. If the sly old Hippo doesn't get in, it won't be their fault.

A Survey of the District

We did another survey of our changing community this spring with good results. There are many more Metis in our district than in former years. The city is gradually tearing down some of the worst building in the centre, next to our district and these people have to move over into another place. The place happens to be ours. It gives me a real thrill to see the children start to clean up and learn self-respect. One girl who comes didn't know that it was wrong to steal. At first I had to watch everything very closely but they are gradually learning.

Many of the landlords make more in rent in a year than they paid for the building in the first place. It made me shudder when I went into one terrible apartment block near the church. This building the city wants to buy but the landlord is making too much out of human misery to sell. The halls are filthy and unheated. The apartment doors either won't close at all or have a one or two inch opening at the bottom. The city cleans it out periodically but it is soon as bad as ever. There are about 70 children in that building alone and they run out in the streets in the winter only half clothed. I am sorry to say that for various reasons there are very few from that particular building that we can coax out.

Aspects of our Work

This year the Vacation School had more Beginners and Primary than other age groups. I know that some of the parents regard it as a Kindergarten and send their children to get them out from under their feet. But that is our opportunity and always we have new members after it. We had an average of 75 and a total of 110.

We had a representative from the Bible Society this winter and that night one of my Explorers asked for one of his mite boxes. I didn't think she would use it and gave her a Mission Band box instead. She brought it back the next day with $1.24 in it of her own money.

Our C.G.I.T. Vespers was one of the highlights of the year when the girls conducted the whole service themselves. Through the year they made a layette (not quite finished) and lovely foam rubber animals for the Christmas Cheer boxes.

The Scouts under the new student are increasing in number. When Mr. J. McKay took over he had five boys; now he has twenty and he is doing a wonderful work.

Each Christmas for the last five years we have had a Christmas day service and communion. When we started we were told no one would leave their home that day, but it is just about the nicest service in the whole year, and each year more people come.

This year our superintendent is leaving us and it just won't be the same without Dr. F. Douglas. However, we are getting a very fine man in the person of Rev. Chas. Forsythe, who is leaving a big city church to take up mission work because his heart is in it.

AILEEN GUNN

Community Worker,
Robertson Memorial House,
Winnipeg, Manitoba

1959 brought many changes to Robertson Memorial. In mid-January our superintendent and minister, Rev. G. M. Morrison, left to become assistant secretary of the Board of Home Missions, Toronto. In March we welcomed our new superintendent and family, Rev. Edgar and Mrs. File, Patricia and Andrew. Miss Decatur's retirement, after 38 years at Robertson Memorial also meant a big change, as she had her own very special place in the hearts of our people.

C.G.I.T. News

From January to June there were fewer girls than usual in C.G.I.T., due largely to the fact that the Y.W.C.A. organized a club for girls 12 to 14 years old which met Tuesday evenings in a school just five minutes walk from Robertson Memorial. Tuesday had been C.G.I.T. night at Robertson Memorial for many years, and when in the fall the Y.W.C.A. changed their night to Mondays, attendance at Robertson Memorial C.G.I.T. improved and we have four good groups.

In spite of having fewer members the average attendance was almost 100% and the girls made good use of their time. Some of the highlights were—the prayer service with Rev. G. M. Morrison as guest speaker; the mission study, attendance at the C.G.I.T. Rally in St. Andrew's River Heights Church; a Valentine Party; an Easter project during which the Intermediates decorated paper cups which the Seniors filled with delicious candy they had made. The cups were then packed in a beautifully decorated carton and delivered to the Children's Aid Receiving Centre as a gift for all the children.

Best of all, a week-end spent at camp where girls and leaders worshipped, played, helped about camp, went on hikes, had a wiener roast, cooked their own meals, etc. All groups took part in the sale of Hallowe'en candy; entertained St. Andrew's Elgin Ave., C.G.I.T. at a Hallowe'en party and shared in the annual Christmas Vesper services.

$15.00 was sent to the Winnipeg Presbyterial W.M.S., and $35.00 was given to the Institutional Missions Board.

Summer Activities

Robertson Memorial Vacation School was very well attended—127 Junior, Primary and Kindergarten children were enrolled with an average attendance of 99. They enjoyed their Bible study, worship stories and games, and had a very happy time at their picnic held in Kildonan Park. The Closing was specially well attended by both fathers and mothers.

During the latter part of August much of my time was spent doing city work in connection with the United Church Fresh Air Camps. It was my first experience taking this responsibility, and I found that Camp occupied all my waking thoughts and some of my sleeping ones too. In the end it proved rewarding as it was wonderful to see how different the Campers looked on their return—so well and happy.

Helping Those in Need

Since September it has been my special responsibility to assist those in need. There is always seasonal unemployment; there are always women separated from their husbands who find it a real struggle to get enough food and clothing for their families; there are Old Age Pensioners who cannot stretch their few dollars to meet their needs, especially in winter; there are mothers expecting new babies but with nothing extra to provide clothes for the expected newcomer. They turn to the Church for that extra assistance, and we are thankful when we can meet their need.

Thanks to the W.M.S. supply we always have quilts, layettes, mittens, scarves and good used clothing on hand. Other friends of Robertson Memorial also help by sending in used clothing; White gift offerings sent in at Christmas time enable us to have a Fund upon which we can draw in case of need for food—and at times even fuel. For this we are also truly grateful.

Visiting in the homes is always a very important part of the work. The first part of the year this was especially difficult as we were short-staffed and there were so many calls on our time. Since September we have been able to make a good many more calls and find it most rewarding, especially when we can see the calls begin to bear fruit in a greater understanding of the Christian faith, and in regular attendance at services of worship, Sunday School and mid-week groups.

DAISY R. RICKARD

Community Worker,
Stella Avenue United Church,
Winnipeg, Manitoba

The first six months at Stella have been a time of learning the local customs, meeting new people, learning new skills, and getting acquainted with my new job.

The summer period had been spent in locating things at Stella, visiting the families wishing to send children to camp, assisting at a ten-day camp for mothers and children, and assisting at two Vacation Schools. These activities proved to be very useful in meeting the people of our area and in helping me to become familiar with the area itself.

The Vacation School at Stella was very successful, both in the number attending and in the interest of the children in the materials used. There were 88 children registered and an average daily attendance of 54. The primary projects included a model of a sheepfold, clothes-pin shepherds, tents and sheep. The Juniors dressed pipe-cleaner dolls, made self-portraits and murals, and potato puppets.

Group Programs

The Primary Clubs have a membership of 54 and meet in two sessions; the six-year-olds on Monday and the seven and eights on Friday. Miss Ruby Lough is their leader.

The Explorers have a registration of 45 and an average attendance of 20. This fall the girls have done an exploration on "Being an Explorer," completed most of their Mission Study on Africa, and made gifts for their homes with an African design on them.

The C.G.I.T. has a registration of 15 and an average attendance of 8. The girls have been very active this fall, helping at the Annual Bazaar, doing a study of C.G.I.T. in preparation for initiation and prepared a Vesper Service for our congregation.

We have a new Hi-C group this fall.

We have only the Evening Service on Sunday, and have been having a Fireside Hour after each service, consisting of Hymn singing, a film or slides and refreshments. The average attendance for the service has been about 30, with most of these staying for the Fireside Hour.

Our Sunday School has an enrolment of 120 and meets in two sections each Sunday afternoon.

The Mothers' Club meets under the leadership of the minister's wife, and has an average attendance of 5, and their program consists of worship, needlework and refreshments.

A Glimpse into Church Work

We have a small congregation now, and the organization is very simple. But we hope the increase in numbers and interest which has been increasingly apparent this fall will continue. We are trying to beautify the chapel as much as possible in the hope of making people feel that Stella really is a church even if it does not look like one from the outside.

The majority of newcomers to our services are not from our immediate area, but are Indian people who have been attracted to us by the presence of Mr. Lynas, our minister, who served for two years on the Fisher River Reservation, and who is still keeping in contact with the Indian people through Miss Margaret Martin and through his interest in the Indian and Metis Friendship Centre. Many of these are young people, and they now form the backbone of our Hi-C.

The Indian Transit Depot, suggested by Mr. Lynas, has been approved by Presbytery, and the work he has done to prepare Sutherland Mission for this use will now be finished by the United Church.

My part in the activities here at Stella include teaching the intermediate Sunday School, leading the Explorers and C.G.I.T. groups, trying to start a girls' choir, and the necessary office work involved with the work here. We are hoping to start a Bible Study group in the near future which will bring together the adults of our church to study and learn and grow together in the Christian faith.

The Personnel Varies; the Pattern Remains Constant

In Sutherland district, the building of the Disraeli bridge during this year has meant the pulling down of many homes resulting in a great deal of moving. This has affected the personnel of our various groups and the discussion as to the future of the work of the Mission.

Actually we carried on the same activities as last year. In both Explorers and Mission Band we had worthwhile enjoyment studying "Here Comes Dirk." The Explorers loved making puppets and the primaries made a movie of the story. This study culminated in two events, one at the Mission where the older group put on a skit with their puppets and the primaries showed their movie. The other was the W.M.S. affiliation of our girls and those of St. Giles at their church.

The Ladies Club stayed about the same in numbers and work, putting on two successful teas and having fun and fellowship together. The Tyro boys club became a cub pack this fall under a volunteer leader, and much has been accomplished since then with the discipline greatly improved. The Mission Sunday School carried on with three departments, and we are glad the Junior department is definitely on the increase.

Supervising the Development of Children

At St. Giles I carried on the St. Giles-Sutherland kindergarten. Watching the development of the children in physical abilities, co-operation and response is most interesting and satisfying. One little graduate to the Public School kindergarten tells of the children who can't color yet and I feel that our kindergarten helps them in their experiences there in other ways too. We have enjoyed our various projects, having songs, stories, games, and hand-work in each. One example of this is our boat unit, in which we carried over from the project on various nationalities by starting with the kayak and canoe, going on to the row boat and sail boat up to the ocean liner.

Before the summer, I took both the Beginners and Primary departments of St. Giles Sunday School and helped when I could in the nursery. Since then I have helped with the Junior congregation, taking it on alternate Sundays. During the summer I led the kindergarten department at St.Giles-Sutherland Vacation School and helped in the Junior Department at Stella Mission. I was also party leader at Gimli Fresh Air Camp for a Mother's Party of about 100 people.

Up until June I worked with the Ladies Club at Stella Mission. We held a successful downtown tea, sewed a quilt and had fun at our closing with a drive through Assiniboine Park and the University grounds.

At Christmas we had the usual activities, hamper calling and filling for St. Giles and All Peoples, and the supervision of parties and closings.

Being secretary of the Fellowship of Professional Women of the United Church of Canada and president of the Institutional Workers Group along with these activities has kept me happy and looking forward to more of the same in 1960 where, with God's help, I hope I can do worthwhile work.

Missionary-at-Large,
Battleford Presbytery,
Loon Lake, Saskatchewan

Writing this report for 1959 will not be easy, for there are only two things that stand out in my mind—Building Plans and Mud. Of course, a few other things did come in between!

Building Plans

Our new Christian Education Building here at Loon Lake is our pride and joy. It is joined on to our church, making the whole structure now in an "L" shape. The new building is 20' x 28' and has a full basement. Already we are wondering how we ever got along without it. Our Sunday School, Mission Band, Explorers, C.G.I.T. and Junior Choir meet there every week, and other extra meetings are held besides. We have loans to pay back, but we are sure we can do it. With the building boom the United Church has across Canada, we just had to prove that we were part of it all, and have a building plan, too. However, by the time we had made a lightning canvass for pledges in March, started the basement in April, worked between rains during the summer and fall, and could see our December 1st dedication service approaching, we were all ready to say—never again. But, in ten years, our indebtedness will be paid, and then, who knows?—a new church may be next!

Our present church got a face-lifting too, and was made a bit bigger by removing an inside vestibule, and building a small porch on the outside. A dossal drape, wooden cross, and choir railing have been added, as well as new light fixtures to replace the bare bulbs. We received some help from our church groups in the east toward the velvet, and for some stack chairs. The chairs have been in use several special Sundays already, and are used for Sunday School each week. There are still many, many things to be done before we can say we have everything as we would like it, but each year will see a bit more done.

The manse now seems very quiet without all the youth groups and the pre-school Sunday School classes meeting here, but they had really outgrown the house. We didn't start Mission Band until the New Year, as the living room just couldn't hold the 18 children, unless they had sat quietly on the floor without moving, and what Mission Band child could do that?

Mud at Sandy Ridge

At our Easter services at Loon Lake, Sandy Ridge, and Peerless we had "speech choirs" which meant a great deal of practising in all three places, but was well worthwhile. Our Sandy Ridge service was held a week early as the roads started to break up, and even then we travelled the last mile or so in the back of a truck. Mud is what one thinks of when Sandy Ridge is mentioned. During the fall, until freeze-up, nothing but tractors were getting all the way along. Our church services last fall didn't start until freeze-up in early November. One of our problems on the ungravelled roads was the 18 inches of snow that fell October 4th before the ground was frozen. Over 70 per cent. of the grain in this area remained in the fields.

Summer brought two Vacation Schools—one in Loon Lake and one in Sandy Ridge, and there was more local leadership and responsibility this year in both schools, which relieved me a great deal. I also directed a camp for one week—85 girls aged 11 and 12. It was lots of fun.

In December we had three "special" services in a row; the Dedication Service, when we had as our guests, among others, Miss Ruth Scoular, former missionary here, and Rev. Frank Myers, Chairman of Presbytery. Then came the C.G.I.T. Vesper Service, and following that the annual Sunday School Christmas pageant. Certainly the young folk of our churches contribute a great deal to our worship services, especially at Christmas time. Our Senior Choir, on Christmas Sunday, and our Junior Choir on Christmas Eve, helped us in our worship and we all looked back over the year, thankful for God's goodness to us, and confident of His guidance in the year to come.

VIOLET M. STEWART

Missionary-at-Large,
Bienfait, Saskatchewan

Regular furlough arrived for me at the end of June, 1959, and when the time came to leave the work and the friends on the North Portal Charge, it was rather difficult to do so.

Thriving Groups

We had thriving C.G.I.T. Explorer and Mission Band work. The women's groups were all very active and responsive on the various points of the Field, and the awareness of financial responsibility for the Church's work had increased very greatly under the leadership of the minister, Rev. Harold MacKay. Sunday Schools are deeply interesting to the children, and give great satisfaction to them as well as to the leaders. Teachers are not easy to secure and train, but some of the C.G.I.T. girls as well as one or two of the ladies of the W.A. are faithful in their teaching work of the Sunday School.

It Was Not Easy To Say Farewell

Our studies and good times as well as picnics, etc., seemed to be enjoyed more as the time for leaving approached, and it was not easy to say farewell. In visiting, leading the groups, helping where I could in various ways, I became more and better acquainted with the folk on the charge, and I treasure the friendship of many of them. I don't think any place had lovelier children than the North Portal Charge, but no doubt I am prejudiced. One of the very big problems in church work on the Prairies, particularly in the small towns in industrial areas (ours is a coal-mining area), is the problem of leadership. Moreover, when the girls and boys leave school at the end of grade 12, they go out of the area for further training, and do not return to work, because of lack of opportunity. In this way leadership ranks are never completely filled.

On the 1st of August, Miss Myrtle MacGregor assumed responsibility for the W.M.S. work in the area.

MYRTLE MacGREGOR

Missionary-at-large,
Bienfait, Saskatchewan

A Warm Reception

I came here on a sizzling hot day in August and it has been warm ever since in my apartment.

To know the people and become acquainted with the work of the church, I asked innumerable questions, as that seemed the only way to gather information. I learned that Bienfait is made up of mostly miners and some oil and road workers in trailers parked anywhere. The mine is a closely packed unit of miners. Farther south is a community of old-timers at Roche Percee on the Souris River. Still farther south and even beyond the American border are marginal farm lands. And everywhere, the earth seems to be on fire—the sign of oil wells.

The task of supervising the Christian Education on the field was assigned to me. In all the groups under my special care, I have tried to build on the solid foundation laid by my predecessor, Miss Violet Stewart. It is a continuous struggle to extend the vision even in this country of such wide horizons.

December Activities

The many things on which I endeavour to keep an eye can be seen by the following activities that took place in December:

3rd—A talk with slides at Estevan W.M.S.

4th—A C.G.I.T. Rally at Alameda, 30 miles east of here, where Mabel Brandow of Trinidad spoke to the girls. I took 10 girls there and safely back in the '55 Chevvie.

5th—W.A. Tea here at which I took in the cash at the door.

7th—A speedy dinner with the Presbytery brethren and their wives at Estevan. They meet once a month. Unless it is close by, it is inconvenient for me as I have Mission Band after school and C.G.I.T. at night.

13th—C.G.I.T. Vesper service at the mines where I had to play the organ. None of us could manage to play "O Holy Night" so a record of Nelson Eddy's was used. It was an impressive service led by the girls. Then I hustled up to the one at Bienfait. It too was impressive because the girls demanded plenty of practice for it. The choir leader helped train them in the singing.

18th—Several concerts were on this night. As I superintend the Sunday School at Bienfait, I stayed with them, playing for the opening carols and for the Mission Band who sang the Whisper Song, and for a star drill done by the Junior girls.

21st—C.G.I.T. girls took fancy candles to the few patients in hospital and sang carols. Then they proceeded to about 15 places in town and sang carols to the old and shut-ins, and thoroughly enjoyed it. The older folks also appreciated it.

23rd—An Explorer party at the mines, and a small C.G.I.T. one.

24th—Attended service in the church at 7.30 p.m., and went down to the minister's place at North Portal where I stayed the night.

25th—Dinner with some of the folk there. It had blown steadily all night and all day so started for home before dark.

27th—Took the three services as the minister was away.

28th—Took off for Calgary for a holiday.

And so the work goes on, a little at a time, as I see it to be done.

ELSIE P. ROSENBERG

Zion, St. John's-St. James' United Churches,
Regina, Saskatchewan

From January to July

At the beginning of 1959 it became clear to me that my work at Zion was almost complete and that the time had come for me to move on to another area. The Sunday School and mid-week groups were progressing favourably and there was good leadership in all areas.

One of the highlights from January to June was our study group which met through Lent. Each Wednesday evening I met with the Sunday School teachers and together we studied the book of Mark. Another event which I can think back on with joy was our Mother and Daughter Banquet. On this occasion the C.G.I.T. re-affiliated with the W.M.S., one girl received her white lanyard, and twelve Explorer girls graduated to C.G.I.T.

At the end of July following my holidays I directed an Intermediate Girls' Camp at Lumsden Beach, and later in August I returned to help with a Junior Girls' Camp because of shortage of leaders.

Work at St. James'

I actually took over my new area of work the beginning of August and between camps I conducted the Sunday morning services at St. James'.

St. James' is a small congregation in the northwest section of Regina. A retired minister had been supplying the church but because of health could only take the services on Sunday, thus no mid-week groups were conducted or visiting done. When he felt it necessary to give it up at the end of June it was decided that St. James' would come under the ministry of St. John's and I, as a W.M.S. worker, would serve both churches.

St. James' Church is situated in an area that is rapidly changing. It was once a small village on its own but a few years ago was incorporated into the city. The section north and west of the church has recently been surveyed and building has begun. However, I do not believe the church will greatly benefit from this new building project for at least a year or two but in the meantime there is a good nucleus of active families carrying on the work.

Since starting my work there in August I have visited in most of the homes and in September I organized an Explorer and C.G.I.T. group. I also meet with the Sunday School teachers once a month and have been giving them a course on the Old Testament. Mr. Beckel, the minister of St. John's, conducts the Sunday morning worship service at 9.30 a.m. at which time we also have our Sunday School.

In December the Sunday School had a successful Christmas program with all the children taking part. A good number of parents came to see the program, and it was wonderful to hear the teachers exclaim, "Why, we have never had such a good turnout before!" The C.G.I.T. group has only eight members and when they decided they would like to have a Vesper Service I was doubtful whether such a small group should attempt such a large project, but they were determined and so we went ahead with it. I was very thankful we did as the church was nearly full (it holds about 60 people) and the girls conducted a very fine service.

Work at St. John's

My work at St. John's is quite different from that of St. James'. St. John's is now well established and so it is not necessary for me to lead any of the youth groups but rather I work with the leaders in helping them plan their programs. I also have been conducting Bible Study with the Sunday School teachers and am adviser to the Young People's Union.

In November I was able to organize a club for retired men and women of the congregation. They now call themselves the Friendship Club and meet every second Thursday afternoon for carpet bowling and other games. Several of our members are over eighty. My visiting in the St. John's area has mainly been to potential leaders and teachers and also to the aged and shut-ins.

I feel as though I have barely started with my new work but I am looking forward to another year's activity when I hope a great deal more will be accomplished.

M. JOYCE DICKIN

Part-time Extension Worker,
Saskatoon, Saskatchewan

Following Two Surveys

During January I completed the work on the two surveys—namely in the Mount Royal area (Howard Coad School) and Montgomery Place—and made a complete report to the Extension Committee of Saskatoon Presbytery. Arrangements were made for a church service at Montgomery Place where Sunday School had already been going on for a year. In the Howard Coad School I was instructed to set up and organize a Sunday School.

The survey had shown a possible 105 children in the area as prospects for a United Church Sunday School. As the area was continuing to grow, our enrolment was 110, but, as a number of these children were very young and the winter severe during February, the average attendance stayed between 75 and 80. It was encouraging indeed to have more people volunteer to teach than we actually needed!

The people indicated their desire for a church service, and in this I concurred because it is such a meaningless venture to set up a Sunday School apart from a regular worshipping community. The Extension Committee, however, did not feel it wise to undertake both the church service and the Sunday School. As a partial answer we had a Bible study class for adults and we were permitted to hold special services at Easter and on Family Day in connection with the Sunday School. These were well attended, the corridor in which we were meeting being comfortably crowded with about 75 adults. One of the highlights of these services was the Junior choir which one of the ladies trained very well under rather trying circumstances. The streets were muddy, and as her home was still unfinished the piano was in her baby's bedroom—nevertheless she had 16 children come in to practise once a week.

I hope that the Extension Committee will give them some direction and serious consideration to the request for a church service before the interest in that direction has waned.

Another Survey

In May the committee decided I should survey one section of the Avalon area which it did not think had been covered in the recent Churchill survey relevant to a building project in that area. The arrangement was that I was to be allowed to extend the twenty hours a week which I would normally be scheduled to do in May when my service under the W.M.S. would terminate, over May and June. This was at my request so that I could take advantage of any possible part-time secretarial work which might be available during May and June until I was appointed after ordination.

The survey was not too successful. The secretary of the Extension Committee had been able to outline the area only in a general manner so we agreed that I should discover the boundary of it through a sampling of likely portions of the district, which was partly an old-established section and partly new-housing. It never really got beyond the "sampling stage" because it appeared that the area had already been "over-surveyed." Of the 52 homes in which I called I discovered the following: 22 families had already been reached through the Churchill survey (these all were newly built houses); 28 families had recently been surveyed by a general survey (which I understood to be the combined efforts of several non-denominational groups); 26 were already connected with other United Churches in the city and 18 with other denominations in the area; 12 sent their children to United Church Sunday Schools but were not interested in attending themselves; 10 families were not interested at all; 8 were Roman Catholic; 6 Greek Catholic, 5 Greek Orthodox; 2 Jewish. When I discovered these facts and had also encountered a good deal of puzzlement among the people as to why another survey was being made, I felt that it would be unwise to continue the survey further. In the meantime I had continued to work on the weekends with the Sunday School at Howard Coad School until it disbanded for the summer in early June.

Embarking on a New Venture

Even furlough years must end, it seems. Mine was one of these "never-to-be-forgotten" years, enjoying study in Childhood Education at Columbia University, as well as the social and cultural life of New York City!

Nevertheless, it was with some anticipation that the new W.M.S. Chevrolet found its way north to the village of White Fox that first week in August. Here a small manse waited; and a garden recently weeded, a newly mown lawn, and a supply of food in the refrigerator testified to the fact that the missionary was expected.

Serving this area is a new venture for the Woman's Missionary Society. Until June it was served by an ordained minister, but now the only minister in the 96 miles between Nipawin and Prince Albert lives at Choiceland. This pastoral charge, with its 189 families and four preaching places is under his supervision, with some talk of attempting the "larger parish" idea in the future.

"Getting to Know You"

My five months here seems to have centred around the theme, "Getting to Know You." Three Church Vacation Schools in August helped me to become acquainted with the 90 children who attended, as well as their teachers, parents and friends. Invitations to the five woman's organizations and one A.O.T.S. group also helped, as well as home and hospital visitation and the Sunday work.

Falling heir to one C.G.I.T. and two Hi-C groups helped to get the group work started in the fall. These three and an Explorer group, along with two newly organized Mission Bands and one C.G.I.T. group, have a membership of about 93 compared with a Sunday Church School total of 178, pointing to a greater need for mid-week groups. I am convinced that the leadership is here, and the possibilities for the future most promising.

The time has gone quickly, but already I'm able to recall many highlights—the Presbytery service at which I was duly "installed"; the church supper to welcome me at Garrick; a work project on the church at White Fox; community carol singing sponsored by a Hi-C group; two C.G.I.T. Vesper services; a visit from Mrs. Essie Johnson; a Christmas party with Pine Torch Mission Band; as well as the joy of facing a new task and finding everywhere a spirit of friendliness and co-operation.

The look toward the future is challenging. The territory north of us has not yet been reached by our church, and one is always conscious of the vastness of it. The possibilities of summer work in some of the outlying areas seem promising, as well as the enthusiasm for youth groups.

EVELYN E. MATHEWS

Missionary-at-Large,
Yorkton Presbytery, Saskatchewan

Winter Frustrations and Encouragements

The calendar year of 1959 started with many frustrations. Two of the churches are situated on roads that are not used in winter, so the services are discontinued when winter closes the roads, and cannot be re-opened until after the spring thaws are over.

The other two churches continue services, although they sometimes send messages like: "Don't come, it's too cold," "the road is drifted in," or "the cars are all getting stuck in the mud." Phone service is negligible in some districts, thus increasing the difficulty of contact with the people.

When February came along it brought a thrill of encouragement. The Calder women knew nothing of the World Day of Prayer, but were willing to plan a service for their little village. It was difficult, because most of them had never before taken a spoken part in any service. They invited the Orthodox women to attend, and a number of them did come. So the World Day of Prayer came to Calder.

Ukrainian and Hungarian Congregations

The little Ukrainian congregation at Hamton that had such a surprising beginning has gone steadily ahead. For half a year services were held in the school; then, joy of joys, the church arrived. It was an unused building that was moved by truck into Hamton village. We were all so excited that we drove to meet it as it swayed along the prairie trail. It is complete with cross at front and rear, a regular Orthodox cross. All of the people of the village were delighted—Roman Catholics and all—at last to have a church in the village that can be seen across the prairie fields, a church with cross and bell. Then, what a busy time—scrubbing inside from ceiling to floor, painting the outside, installing lights and stove. An organ that had belonged to my parents was brought from Montreal, and we were all set for the Official Opening. Ministers representing Home Mission Board and Presbytery arrived in gowns and hoods, and after the service we felt that the new congregation was well and truly launched, with fourteen charter members.

About the same time the Otthon Hungarian congregation was celebrating the 50th Anniversary of the building of their little log church with its high pulpit perched up under the roof. But the weather was against us, and only fourteen managed to struggle in over the dreadful roads for the special service. The good W.M.S. car took one-third of the assembled company.

Special Events and Services

Summertime seems all too short for the many things that need to be crowded into it. Some of the prairie schools open again in August. There is a holiday month to be planned. Presbytery needed a director for Senior Girls' camp, and that used up a couple of weeks, but it turned out to be a most happy experience in spite of a frantic search for leaders. With all this there was time for only one Vacation School, and Hamton seemed the most needy place. Sixteen children gathered in the school during scorching hot days, and with two teen-age girls helping the missionary, they learned a great deal. We ended up with a wiener roast and picnic at one of the farms, and almost the whole congregation came.

Until now it had been necessary to call upon one of four supervising pastors whenever a Communion service was to be arranged in one of the churches. This difficulty was overcome when General Council gave your missionary the right to administer the Sacraments. Sometimes during the years an opportunity had come to assist the minister with a Communion service, but to hold a little baby in my arms and baptize her was a new and very wonderful experience. Because of this privilege we are able to have Communion services when we want and need them in all four churches, without calling on any of the busy ministers.

Christmas observances were most happy occasions in all the congregations. Though the early autumn had been so frustrating with mud, snow, and zero temperatures, December was very pleasant. Services were continued in Otthon and Halmok until the end of the year. A Christmas Family Night party was held in a home in each district, when our special pleasure was to have Mrs. Essie Johnson with us. In Calder and Hamton the Sunday School and adults united for a special service entitled The Characters of Christmas meet Christ.

A Busy and Rewarding Year

Bonnyville Pastoral Charge has had a good year. The Bonnyville congregation has steadily increased and there has been a 40 per cent. increase in both local and M. & M. givings. On the whole charge the increase in M. & M. has been 79 per cent. The manse debt of $400 was paid, our church basement insulated and finished and now is used for Sunday School and mid-week activities. New pews (which have been my dream ever since I arrived) give the sanctuary a "new look," so conducive to worshipping in "the beauty of holiness," and the W.A. purchased a lovely Cross for the Communion Table.

Our Every Person Visitation which took place on Sunday, November 22nd, has brought new faces into both our Bonnyville and Ardmore congregations, as well as increasing the weekly givings very considerably. Mr. Neil Campbell, of the Fund Raising Department of the Home Mission Board, spent one evening with us and a couple of dozen people gathered to hear his message. Those who listened were very eager to carry out the canvass according to his instructions. The response was beyond my highest anticipations. It was really thrilling to have some of the men return, who had been hesitant about going, and say, "Well, I really enjoyed that."

At Ardmore our weekly offerings doubled this year which means a marked increase in attendance and interest. Our Committee of Stewards is becoming more active and interested and we look forward to advancement in 1960.

In the Iron River Area

A year ago this past October I began services in the Iron River area. The church in this rural community was taken down about 14 years ago, and though they hoped to rebuild at that time, there was not enough interest to warrant it. We have used the school for service —a beautiful new modern twelve-room building with gymnasium built this past summer, but worship in any building other than a Church is never just the same. This summer we borrowed money and purchased a vacant home, and are in the process of renovating it into a little sanctuary. It is situated in a lovely grove of trees on the main road. We built on an addition ten by twelve which will serve as a Sunday School room, and as extra space on special occasions when our church is too small. One of the nurses from the hospital comes with me each Sunday afternoon and has a teaching class with the children during the sermon. Our congregation varies from 15 to 35; though it is small I feel it is very worthwhile. Some of these families are 30 miles from Bonnyville, and it was impossible for farmers to get their chores done, and travel that distance in a truck for an 11 o'clock service in Bonnyville. One young mother said to me the other Sunday, "It is so good having you come out for service. You know, I had my children baptized and then I felt guilty about not getting to church."

I have three services each Sunday and a seventy-mile drive, as well as assisting here in the S.S. at 9.45. The nurses at the hospital give leadership in Mission Band, C.G.I.T., Explorers, Junior Choir and Young Adults, and words cannot express my appreciation of their devotion to the work of the Kingdom of God in this area.

Various Kinds of Cheer

My work for the year 1959 was broken by my three months furlough, and immediately following that I spent five weeks as a patient in a hospital. During that time I was able to see hospital visiting from the patient's position.

In the hospitals in Calgary I find folk not only from the city but from the out-lying districts and some who have come long distances.

Some of these people have no friends in the city and they do appreciate calls from the Church Visitor. Often I can do things for them such as writing letters, phoning and shopping. One can always bring cheer to the lonely and courage to those who are facing an operation and to those who are suffering. I gave the "Upper Room" and other literature to those who have any interest and to those who might read it. I have made 4,935 visits during the year and have received many expressions of appreciation.

Before starting furlough I organized the W.M.S. groups to carry on the visiting. Each Auxiliary accepted responsibility for visiting during a particular week. The Auxiliaries also continue to take responsibility for visiting in the nursing homes. At Christmas time many things were done to bring comfort and cheer to the patients in these homes. Some had the C.G.I.T. sing carols while gifts and fruit and flowers were given.

Edmonton, Alberta

Hospital visiting during 1959 has continued to be a very great challenge. Instead of visiting twelve to fifteen patients in each ward at the Mental Institute, we now visit with all who wish to join us, which can be anywhere from fifty to seventy. Thus our visitors have increased from twenty to between sixty and seventy, with about fifteen visitors for each ward going twice a month. Mrs. Wm. Byers of Chalmers United Church W.A. will tell you her impressions as a new visitor.

Impressions of a New Visitor

"What a visitor sees in a trip through our Oliver Mental Hospital will be very enlightening to a great many people, who may have had the same frightening thoughts of these places and patients as I had, without any justification.

"When our Woman's Missionary Society hospital visitor for Edmonton, Miss A. Coultes, first asked the ladies of our Church if we would like to take on this valuable piece of hospital visiting, we were a bit fearful. To our surprise, we thoroughly enjoyed the work, especially when we stepped into an immaculate building with lots of light and a staff of well-trained nurses to greet you. Then on into a ward where there were about 35 or more ladies either standing, sitting or walking around. From the outward appearances they were just like ourselves, but all of them lonely and longing for companionship. This ward is the Chronic Ward, so naturally is more of a challenge for our ladies of Chalmers United Church.

"The first couple of visits were spent in getting acquainted. Now we are all like old friends of these lonely, forgotten ladies. Our ladies take out homemade dainties each time and the staff kindly make the tea, at which a social half-hour is thoroughly enjoyed by all, followed by a sing-song, led by our dear Miss A. Coultes, and then more visiting or chatting. After half a dozen visits, a definite change has been noted in the appearance of the ladies or patients and their interest in everything in general.

"So please, ladies, I sincerely urge any of you who may be bored and lonely to decide now to go out once to a Mental hospital with a group of church ladies, and I am convinced you will love this needy and worthwhile work."

A Privilege to Serve

The volunteers, with the assistance of their church groups, supply refreshments for each visit. They arranged Christmas parties, and secured gifts for each of 300 patients. They entertain the neglected ones in their homes, taking them on shopping tours and are always on the lookout to find places of employment for those who need real Christian understanding on their return to the community.

Mail is very important for neglected people, so Christmas cards, birthday cards and all special days are remembered by sending greetings. Now, the patients have started to entertain the visitors. They bake and prepare the food, lay the table with lace cloths, silver tea service, lovely china and an abundance of food. This is a new program in the Institute which we are privileged to share.

All the other visiting has remained much the same as reported last year, although the C.G.I.T.'s interest and feeling of responsibility was increased especially during the Christmas season; none of the homes were without entertainment and special favors from the girls. Wherever the hand of Christian love is extended, overwhelming gratitude is received.

I would thank all who participate in any way throughout the Church by prayers, gifts and encouragement for making this piece of Christian service the delight and joy it is to me and all we seek to serve.

Work with Mission Band and Explorer Groups

I have the leadership of two children's groups—Mission Band and Explorers. Mission Band has a total membership of nine, although attendance is somewhat irregular. In September we started using the Mission Packet materials. I endeavored to tell them the story of "Boloji and Old Hippo". To supplement the story, we cut out paper dolls to represent children of different countries, then dressed them in bright prints and silks patterned to resemble their own native dress. We then put the dolls in a friendship circle around a small globe of the world. Later on we drew a frieze on the life and activities of Boloji. We also did posters on Africa.

The Explorer group totals twelve girls, with an average attendance of nine. They are an enthusiastic and dependable group. We began the fall season by making Explorer booklets, with purpose, hymn, motto and prayer printed inside. United Church Calendars were sold by the Explorer group. A Hallowe'en party was organized by the girls, who did an excellent job of decorating the gym, decorating and setting a table, bringing and preparing food, and making gay costumes for themselves to wear.

A Christmas play was discussed and decided upon and casting done in late November. It was a three-act play depicting the Christmas story from a modern setting. It involved the whole Explorer group, plus some children from the Sunday School and Mission Band. It was presented at the Sunday School Concert and Children's White Gift Service.

In early December we tried a new thing. The kindergarten teacher and myself put on a tea for the mothers of our various children and youth groups, here at the Church. We invited a guest speaker for the evening and sent out invitations to the mothers of our C.G.I.T., Explorer, Hi-C and Mission Band. The tea went off well, and our speaker was very good. Her topic was the "Importance of the Spiritual in the Parent-child Relationship."

Family Welfare Work

My main area of responsibility here is family welfare. Since August I have interviewed approximately 140 families and individuals and made 103 visits in connection therewith. Our services to these people include extensive giving out of used clothing to children and mothers, some food hampers, and cash vouchers for groceries. Also from time to time we give out such things as mattresses, beds, quilts and blankets, baby carriages, cribs and dishes.

We work closely in conjunction with the City and Provincial Welfare in order not to duplicate services or encourage people to become over-dependent on outside help, and we also try to use other facilities for health and welfare in the city.

During August and September I visited with and interviewed workers in the City and Provincial Welfare Departments, John Howard Society, White Cross Centre, Family Welfare Bureau, and Council of Community Services, to help me determine what services these provide; to make a personal contact with their workers, and to try and establish a good relationship between church and community service organizations.

Part of my responsibility this year was compiling the Christmas hamper list, which constitutes a sizeable bit of work here at Bissell. We packed and delivered 167 hampers this year, with the help of white gifts and money from other city and country churches.

Many letters are handled coming from out of the city, requesting clothing to be shipped. 193 requests for clothing in the city were filled this year, together with 58 country requests.

The Men's Work Program

It would not be possible to give you an over-all picture of the work at the Mission without referring to the extensive men's work program. Mr. McLeod, our Superintending Minister, does a great deal of counselling, especially with alcoholics. Help in the form of bed and meal tickets is also given men. A men's worship service is held every Sunday afternoon and light refreshments served to them. Every Wednesday evening also one of the men's groups from our churches come and show films, etc., to the men, and serve a substantial lunch. Around 80 to 120 men attend these meetings each time. We, the staff, take turns being on duty, making coffee, etc., at these meetings. A Christmas dinner is served to around 110 men each year.

Working in Eleven Areas

This year has been a very interesting one for me as I have worked in eleven areas in greater Edmonton. I have made 7,110 calls, have contacted 1,392 United Church families, and found 1,126 people not at home. In a survey the "call backs" are left for the local church to complete. I find that the people in the new housing areas are always very happy to hear of the Church moving in. And they appreciate the interest shown them by a personal visit.

One W.A. group was formed, group 5 of Chalmers United Church, and a Vacation School, organized and held in August under the direction of Miss Rogers who assisted me in May, June and July.

I have been happy in this work seeing the completed survey handed to those interested in these people. Surveys vary with each area, e.g., for the Beverley United Church area 1,629 calls were made; 20 per cent. of these were United Church families. Alphabetical and street files were compiled and a book made, containing the address and religion of every home in the area. These were a great help to Rev. W. Briggs, who is reorganizing this area. The Buchanan United Church survey of 1,622 calls was completed with 297 United Church homes. A survey of 89 calls was carried out in the Lauderdale community, showing 8 United Church families and where they attend church.

Some people like to talk of their church life, some ask questions which I answer unless I think it is one that should be discussed with the minister in the area. I am often asked in for tea and always asked in to the United Church homes. Many of the other denominations are interested in the survey and what we have to offer in the area. I always find that people are proud to tell me of their Church affiliation.

I spent two weeks of vacation and study at Naramata Leadership Training School in British Columbia—a very rewarding experience.

A. BLANCHE GERHARD

Community Worker,
Newcastle, Alberta

In Newcastle the work goes on much the same. Attendance at church and adult groups has decreased, while youth groups and Sunday School show a slight increase. Many families have moved away and those moving in show little interest in the Church. However, when a strange child starts to school it is not long before an enthusiastic Explorer or Mission Band member is bringing the little newcomer to Sunday School and group.

Group Activities and Visits

This year the C.G.I.T. begged to have a Christmas play, so I sent for a number of plays, and they chose "The Christmas Play in Song." There is a good deal of talent among the young people here, so I thought they made a good choice. After a few practices I wondered if they would ever have the play ready, but the night of the concert they were really excellent. One becomes so impatient with giggly twelve and thirteen-year-olds when we should have a lot of faith in them, they so seldom "let you down." The girls bought candy and filled bags for the children and enjoyed it immensely. They also had a most beautiful vesper service the Sunday before Christmas.

The Explorer and Mission Band children, of course, could not be left out of Christmas activities, so they each had a short play. Both were excellent, but the Mission Band children captured the hearts of everyone.

All groups collected old nylon stockings to send to Korea, and the Explorers are dressing dolls. They are now looking forward to having Bible Vacation School next summer, and are already making plans, the C.G.I.T. to help and the younger children to attend.

My great regret is that I have so little time for pastoral work. With two groups five days a week, and all the preparation involved, I have only one day for visiting. This year, in nine months I made around 175 house calls, plus 20 hospital calls.

The house has been wonderfully improved with a new bathroom, floor coverings, an electric stove and hot water tank. I am most grateful to the W.M.S. for making the household tasks easier, and the house more comfortable.

During the past year I was happy to have Miss Beattie, Miss Cates, Miss McGregor and, of course, Mrs. Berry visit with me. One afternoon a busload of 39 women from the North Hill Church in Calgary came out for a visit. We were happy to welcome them to Newcastle Church.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank my Prayer Friends who sent hymn books to the church here, and to those who have been so kind in other ways.

F. MARION HODGINS

Missionary-Minded W.A.'s

This past year, under the leadership of our minister and an able young mother, the names of all the women members and adherents were divided into 3 groups to form 3 circles of the W.A. Each woman was notified when and where her group met, and invited to attend. While the plan did not work 100 per cent., the membership was more than doubled, and many more were brought into the working force of the church; many fine new friendships formed, and, of course, finances were increased also. Catering, once a month for A.O.T.S. suppers and for the weddings of folk of our own church is a project shared by the W.A. and the W.M.S. Also this year, just before the student left the Fishburn-Marr field, with the help of our minister and some members of the Pincher Creek W.A., a Federation was formed which is quite missionary-minded. And in December another circle of the Pincher Creek W.A. was formed in the Summerview and Brocket district, which also wants to study missions.

"Holding up the Prophet's Hands"

Taking the service at Waterton once a month has been a privilege. The group there is small, but very appreciative, and driving home on some moonlight nights the snow on the mountains has given us some wonderful pictures of the beauty of God's universe.

The W.A. at Mountain Mill still continues to meet and work. My diary records that there were only 4 of us present, but that the meeting was good. That same evening the Young People's had a valentine party in a home, planned by two older girls to give the younger ones a good time. Result, a very happy time was had by all, and I arrived home safely in spite of icy roads. Right here I would say how much I appreciate the G.B.A. car with suburbanite tires for safe driving in this foothill country. There is a long winding hill a mile long just before I get to the Mountain Mill Church.

Starting last January, for about 3 months, our minister and his wife, assisted by some session members, held open house one night a week for the people from the various session districts. These evenings were enjoyed by all who attended, and many new friends were made with folk I had not known before.

In April, a C.G.I.T. Rally was held in the Pincher Creek Church, for which I had the major responsibility of planning and all felt that this had been a very worth while event.

Bible Vacation Schools were again held in Mountain Mill and Tanner districts. One touching note came from a Tanner mother, an older woman, a widow, whose youngest son of 11 years had been drowned in the spring. She was invited to attend on the closing day, but instead sent a note of appreciation of the work, but feeling so keenly the loss of the son who had attended the B.V.S. last year, she could not bring herself to attend. Enclosed also was a generous donation.

In July we had a very pleasant visit from our new Canadian friends, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Seifert of Peace River, formerly of Manning, where Mr. Seifert had been our church organist for the two years I was there.

Daily Rounds and Common Tasks

One means of earning money and providing a community service which is needed in this area, is serving meals for the Pincher Creek Community Cattles Sales, held at Pincher Station in the fall. Our Cowley W.A. took on 3 of these, and I had the opportunity of helping some, and also learning a bit more of farm methods in this area.

Throughout the year an Explorer Group has been carried on in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Weekes of Cowley, for which Mrs Weekes and I shared the leadership. Two of this group went into C.G.I.T. in the fall.

Also, attendance at, and taking part sometimes in regional meetings, has taken some of my time. A co-operative Sunday School Institute at Ft. McLeod, when a team from different denominations from Calgary were leaders; a Sunday School Institute at Coleman; the School for Church Women at Calgary; a W.A. and W.M.S. Rally in Pincher Creek; a Presbytery W.A. at Taber; as well as Presbyterials and Conference have all been attended, often taking several others from the district in the W.M.S. car.

Visitation in the homes and in the hospital, and sermon preparation, are never-ending tasks, always with us, always challenging us. And so we go forward into the new year with a thankful heart for such good health and the privilege of sharing in so many ways in building the Kingdom.

Ordinary, but Good

Life and work for me in Vilna and Bellis has been fairly ordinary in 1959. There was no W.M.S. rally, no C.G.I.T. rally, no opening of new schools, no weddings, no girl went to Camp Council, no boy went to Boys' Parliament. Yet, in all it was a good year.

In the first place, church attendance and offerings at Vilna and Bellis were up a little over last year. It was thirty years ago in the summer that our Vilna church building was erected. We had Rev. Charles Armstrong, a former minister, and Mrs. Armstrong, a former Vilna teacher, as our guests for the anniversary.

Our Vilna Church School is smaller now, and in February the Greek Orthodox Church organized their own School. I have now 20 children in Vilna and 20 in Bellis.

C.G.I.T. in Vilna is a grand group of 16 girls. The two 17-year-old members are in Grade XII. Both have been to Camp Council and they are a great help. One is our president this year. She conducted the candle-lighting service. The other one is our treasurer and she plays the organ for church, C.G.I.T., etc. All the girls take responsibility quite well. For our next meeting three of them, without my help, are preparing a panel discussion on a portion of our African study book.

All Records Are High

One of the year's highlights for me was the organizing of a new C.G.I.T. groups in Bellis with 16 members. We hold our meetings in the school after closing. Eight of these girls are from rural areas, and since they are too late for the bus, I drive some 20 miles out of my way to take them home. We closed in June with a Mother and Daughter luncheon, program and games. The girls were happy about their first candle-lighting service.

Our Explorer group is larger this year, with 16 on the roll. At present we are having our African study book project and we are making panel pictures and an African village. Kindergarten is larger too, with 40 on the roll, meeting one afternoon a week. Each time two mothers help me.

Vacation School records were up too, with a roll of 70 at the two schools. As last year I made extra mileage to have some rural children attend at Bellis.

Shadow and Sunshine

In the autumn there was sorrow for two young couples; I conducted funeral services for the first child in each case. One baby was ten weeks old, the other only three weeks. Meanwhile there were glad occasions for three other families, when I had three baptismal services. One was in Bellis church and part of the Christmas service.

What a thrill I had one day recently when over the telephone I heard a voice say, "I made it". It was Doreen, great-granddaughter on her mother's side of Henry Bird Steinhauer, and on her father's side of Edward Erasmus, lay reader for Rev. John MacDougall. I had taken her for an interview and had helped her make out her application to become nurse-in-training in Lamont Hospital. "I made it" meant that she had passed her first milestone and was ready to receive her cap.

We were privileged to have Rev. H. T. Allen and Rev. R. C. Thompson visit in Vilna. Both addressed the high school students, one on the "Lord's Day" and the other on "Temperance". Our church shared with the Pentecostals to hear Mr. Allen and they shared with us the next evening when we had the World Day of Prayer service.

In the spring the W.M.S., C.G.I.T. and Explorer Groups and others shared in a Mexican evening with films and Mexican food, when the Explorer group proudly wore the Mexican aprons they had made.

Report for the First Quarter of 1959

This will be a short report as there has not been much change since the last report. As in most Sunday Schools attendance drops in the cold weather and there has also been a lot of sickness in our districts.

Sherwood and Glendale Sunday Schools are having special Easter services with a good speaker and special music. The teaching staff is holding steadier than it has for some time and I feel greatly encouraged by this.

I have been doing some survey work in the new homes, and to date I have quite a few United Church people. Time passes very quickly and we are already thinking of our Vacation Bible School for this year.

April to September

Glendale and Sherwood Extension Sunday Schools have each had a busy quarter. The districts are growing and each Sunday brings new faces. We had special services in both Sunday Schools for Easter and again on Mother's Day.

Missionary interest is kept up in each Sunday School. And now vacation time is near, a joint picnic of the two Sunday Schools is planned to be held in our Jasper Place Park.

Sherwood and Glendale Sunday Schools closed at the end of June, and in July each Sunday School held very successful Vacation Bible Schools. 150 pupils were taken care of in these schools and we had a very fine response from the parents. We opened Sunday School sessions again September 13th with a family service. Again a fine response came from the parents and there has been a good enrolment in each school.

The Extension Council had hoped to have a church service for these people by now, but with one thing or another (finance being one) this has not yet materialized. However, we have every intention of continuing our efforts.

I want to take this opportunity of expressing my great pleasure in meeting Miss Highfield. I was also fortunate in the past in having met Mrs. Loveys and Mrs. Berry. After I have had a chat with these ladies I feel encouraged to go out and work again.

October 1, 1959, to December 31, 1959

Glendale and Sherwood-Meadow Lark Sunday Schools are both in operation, with very good attendance. We had well-attended Christmas concerts in each Sunday School. Our programs were in the form of a filmstrip with the children telling the Christmas story and the children and parents singing the carols.

It has been the aim of the Sunday Schools this year to buy a good projector to put our hymns on the screen and do away with the hymn books. To date we have one projector between us and in the new year we will work toward another.

The first church service for this area will be January 3, 1960, at 11 a.m. in the Meadow Lark auditorium, Rev. Mr. Bainbridge taking the service. The southern part of this area still continues to grow and there are many United Church families moving in, so there should be a strong church established.

A Change of Place and Work

In September I came to Prince George to begin this new piece of work; new to me as I have never been in Church Extension work before, and that is what this really is, although I am three miles from the centre of the city on the outskirts.

My work is an area bordering the Nechako River, and in the many new settlements which have sprung up along a seven mile stretch of the John Hart Highway. New homes are going up everywhere, built by young couples who want to establish a home away from the city. Most of the fathers and many of the mothers work in Prince George, driving back and forth. The children attend the public schools on the highway, but the older ones go by bus to the Junior and Senior high schools in the city.

I am still making a survey, going from door to door to find out who is who and if they have any church affiliation, or any children to attend Sunday School. I was able to get permission from the local school board representative to use the six-room school on the highway for a Sunday School, although the policy of the school board division is not to let the schools be used for such. We have now an enrolment of over 40 children. I was so pleased to have six young mothers volunteer to teach, one of whom plays the violin for our worship. We had a program Christmas Sunday to which the parents were invited. I was rewarded by the fine response of the parents. This informal gathering served a two-fold purpose; giving the parents the opportunity to share with their children in worship, and to meet the teachers; for nearly everyone living in this area is a stranger to the next door neighbor. The six mothers who are teaching had not known one another before they started teaching, but after the first Sunday School teachers' meeting they said, "We were strangers to one another before we started in this, but tonight we were talking like old friends."

A C.G.I.T. has been started and because the group is small they can meet in the log cabin in which I am living. The happy group of ten Explorers meet in a home in one of the subdivisions. They are an enthusiastic group and have won their first star.

My work in this area is seriously curtailed by not having a church or hall in which to have groups meet during the week, or in which to have a service. I am afraid it will be some time before a building is available. Many building their own homes and working to bring in the necessities for the family are not too conscious of the spiritual needs.

I also work in the Island Cache area, a settlement back of the saw and planer mills of Prince George. This is a low cost housing area where the people have been pretty much left to themselves. The Sunday School was welcomed there and now there is an enrolment of over fifty. Here again we were fortunate in having the use of two rooms in the school, and finding those who are willing to give of their time on Sunday to teach. I have just found a home which I can use for an Explorer Group.

Bright and Dark Spots

There is much to be done, much I would like to do, but the going is slow and often discouraging and bleak. But there are the bright spots; the little children in Sunday School with their bright faces; the deep questions of the Explorers as they seriously ask about God, "Where does He live?" "If I were living on the other side of the world, would He be there too?", and the young mothers who welcome a visit because they are lonely or because they have some problem which they want to discuss with a church worker, and which so often comes out over a cup of tea.

A committee was set up at Presbytery to guide me in my work. This has meant a lot to me, to have someone with whom I can talk freely and share the problems and needs. So often it is in discussing your problems with someone that you see them in their right perspective.

I appreciate, too, the women who, because I am their missionary for prayer, are upholding me with this power, and for the fellowship which is found in the missionary family.

MARGARET A. FULTON

Community Worker,
Columbia Street and Sanford Memorial Churches,
Vancouver, B.C.

More Work at Sanford Memorial Church

Across the country, the "Church in the inner city" has been the subject of intensive study during the last two years. During 1959, such a study was launched in Vancouver as a downtown survey and is still going on. Columbia St. is one of the churches in the area being studied.

In the meantime the responsibilities of the W.M.S. worker have been decreased at Columbia St. Church and increased at Sanford Memorial Church. From January to June I was superintendent of the Church School at Columbia St. and taught the junior girls. With the new term in September I was relieved of Church School duties at Columbia St. in order to avoid commuting between the two churches.

However, I am not doing less church school teaching because of the change. Rather, for lack of enough volunteers at Sanford Memorial, I teach four sessions each Sunday—beginning at 8.45 a.m. and carrying through until 2 o'clock.

The week-day Christian Education groups have decreased in numbers since my last report. For lack of numbers in the Mission Band at Columbia St. I combined that group with Explorers early in the year. Now I have a small Explorer group and an equally small C.G.I.T. group. At Sanford Memorial I now have Explorers only. A group of six girls made up C.G.I.T. during the 1958-9 term. But with a change in my schedule of working time at Sanford Memorial, C.G.I.T. had to be on the same night that Guides meet. Most of the group belonged to Guides and thus C.G.I.T. was eliminated. I have no assistant with Explorers in which sixteen are now enrolled. This group carried out two major Explorations in the first half of the year—Mission study and a church project. Mission Study culminated in affiliation with the W.M.S. The church project included raising enough money to pay for one of three new tables for the church school, and visiting a new United Church near us to see the differences in church buildings. During the fall term, Explorers linked community service with Christmas giving by making jelly for some elderly folk and by visiting as a group with a shut-in for carol singing.

Summer activities—Vacation School and Camps—are important in our work in these two churches. At Columbia St. Church some of our church school pupils had opportunity to attend a one week Vacation school sponsored by the Japanese Church, in which I assisted for four days. At Sanford Memorial we had seventeen children enrolled in a two-week school for primary and junior children. I have always given leadership at Camp Fircom, usually as director of the Junior Girls' party. In 1959 we had about sixty girls in the junior camp, four of whom were from Columbia St. and three from the Explorers at Sanford Memorial, and because of the shortage of leaders in 1959, I served as a cabin leader at the Intermediate girls' camp. This was actually as new experience for me, and I enjoyed very much the opportunities for Christian leadership with the group of eleven girls, fourteen and fifteen years old. We had the camp president in our group, but she spent half of the camp time as an invalid, having fallen from her upper bunk one night and sprained her ankle. As we were the farthest cabin from the dining hall, we devised a chariot for the invalid—the camp wheelbarrow. Guess who supplied the horse power! As president, this girl set a fine example for the camp in her good humor and Christian witness.

Adult Work

A highlight of the church year at Columbia St. was the tenth anniversary celebrations in November. At the Sunday service the guest preacher was Rev. Dr. George Turpin, who had been the first minister of the congregation. On Monday, November 30, an anniversary dinner was prepared and served for sixty people by the Ladies' Friendship Club (the W.A. of the Church). This was a big undertaking but was a great success.

As well as doing the work of a W.A. the Ladies' Friendship Club (with a membership of 13 and average attendance of 8 to 10) is affiliated with the W.M.S., and carries out the mission study program each year. Their givings to the W.M.S. ($53) were raised through offerings at W.M.S. meetings and at Thankofferings in spring and fall. Bible Study is also featured in our meetings, usually in the spring term.

The W.A. at Sanford Memorial Church have heavy responsibilities locally and are often involved in raising funds to meet their obligations. In their general meetings they do sometimes have programs with a mission study emphasis, and in some of their circle meetings they take mission study.

Last year they supplied the study materials for Explorers and C.G.I.T. and just recently have given the Explorers ten subscriptions to World Friends. The children are really thrilled with this magazine.

BELVA J. HOWATT

Community Worker,
First United Church,
Vancouver, B.C.

Family Welfare and Children's Work

Family Welfare work continued to be one of the major areas of responsibility for the W.M.S. worker in this institutional church in downtown Vancouver. As well as interviewing, giving material assistance and counselling to people who come to the church, this entails much follow-up work by telephone and visiting in the homes.

Christmas is a very busy season at First Church. Besides the usual activities of a church at this happy season, First Church undertakes a program of special help to the needy. 998 units of Christmas help were dispensed under the direction of the staff, assisted by volunteers.

Another major area of responsibility is children's work. Your worker has continued as superintendent of the Sunday School. The enrolment this year was 65, and average attendance 40. The matter of staffing the church school is becoming increasingly a matter of concern. A church of this type finds it almost impossible to provide sufficient leadership from its own membership.

Until summer vacation we had a small but enthusiastic C.G.I.T. group. Due to families moving from the district, we lost half our membership, and it is a matter of considerable regret that we have not been able to organize the group this fall. The Sunshine Club for younger girls continues to meet every Monday for a program of games, worship, sewing, cooking, etc.

Much of the summer work relates to Camp Fircom. In the summer of 1959, 312 people—boys and girls, senior citizens, and mothers with their young children—enjoyed a holiday at Fircom. Recruiting sufficient volunteer leadership for this extensive camp program is a very time-consuming task, and then there is the occasional participation in camp activity.

In our welfare and group work, we endeavor to co-operate with other agencies of the community in planning and in carrying out projects. Thus we can co-ordinate the work, avoid duplication of effort, and be of greater service to those whom we would help.

A Time of Transition

We are in a time of transition. The area immediately adjacent to the church is scheduled to be attacked first in the city's long-term slum clearance project. How badly this slum clearance is needed! Many low-income families are in very poor housing units and are paying exorbitant rents. The rebuilding of this area will influence the direction of the work at First Church during the next few years. Then, too, we are in need of a new building, the present one being very old and inadequate for the work.

Your worker is grateful for the many opportunities to speak to groups regarding the work being done at First Church, and for the gifts of cash, food, clothing, etc., which such groups send in support of the work.

(MRS.) BARBARA CAWKER WARREN

Church Extension Worker,

Referring to my report for 1958 I would like to comment first on the areas then served.

Bridgeview United, North Surrey: The student minister, Mr. Don MacCrae, was allowed to stay with the Bridgeview congregation for the full year and this has proved of great assistance to the church here. Until May of 1959 I helped with the C.G.I.T. group and in September Miss Penner took over ably with this and an Intermediate Sunday School class. My sole contact with Bridgeview since September has been through a teacher training class. This has been fairly well attended but generally by those teachers whose need for training is not so great as that of those who do not or cannot attend.

Glenayre, Port Moody: After slow progress Glenayre has built a portable church building with the assistance of the Metropolitan Council. In December they had their first church service in their new worship centre under the leadership of their student minister, Mr. Howard Johnstone. Just prior to Mr. Johnstone's appointment I visited some of the new families in an attempt to give him more complete records. My only other association has been personally with the Woman's Federation whose efforts to grow beyond community interests has been most heartening. After some hesitation they are now busy on their study of Africa, and their answer to requests for clothing, food, money and friendship from some of our coastal missions and close neighbors has helped them see themselves as part of the larger mission of the Church.

Royal Heights, North Delta: The small group of people in this area who care about church affiliation have used their energy and enthusiasm to finance and build with the Metropolitan Council two small buildings—a sanctuary and a Christian Education hall. Rev. Max Warne and I began a survey of their area and adjoining Delsom Heights at the end of 1958. By the end of 1959 the church people of these two areas working together feel they are advanced enough to ask Presbytery to recognize them as a pastoral charge—they wish to call their own ordained minister this spring. In the spring Mr. Frank Baldock, a student of Union College, was assigned to Royal Heights. Royal Heights has an active church school with programs for Sunday School (in two shifts) from nursery to intermediate, Explorer, C.G.I.T., Tyro. Their Woman's Federation is active and energetic and hopes to sponsor a Mission Band and Baby Band in the next year. My small part in this large venture was to find and assist leaders for Explorer and C.G.I.T. groups, lead the juniors in their two-week Vacation Bible School and help form the Federation.

The following are new areas for 1959:

Ellendale Heights, Lower Ellendale, Riverside: A survey of this area was started in the spring to determine how many United Church families would desire and support a church closer than the other two within two miles of them. The response was very favourable and Presbytery gave the Metropolitan Council permission to begin a building there. Before a complete survey of the area was completed I was transferred to three other areas. In October following my marriage and month's holiday the survey continued including Lower Ellendale and Riverside subdivisions. The completed survey showed that 45 per cent of United Church people were in favor of a building. A building for a Sunday School will be started early in 1960 and will be under the oversight of the nearest United Church minister.

Beaconsfield, Cedar Cottage, Robson Memorial, Vancouver: Early in June Miss Lydia McCullough (United Church Training School student assigned to Church Extension by the Board of Home Missions) arrived to assist me in surveys. Our results helped the Presbytery in determining possible union of two congregations or changes of location for established churches.

Newton: During two weeks Lydia and I visited half the homes of an assigned area in Newton. The purpose here was to ascertain the number of United Church families and possible need of a church building. After Lydia moved to Victoria to assist Victoria Presbytery in church extension I continued the visiting. Together we had found only 18 families, out of 885 calls, who wished a church in Newton.

St. Stephen's, Vancouver: This district of 1,060 homes was surveyed to note any changes in the results obtained by Miss Alice Philip a few years ago and to include some additional streets to allow Presbytery more information in choosing a future site for this church.

Other Duties: In addition to these surveys my work consisted in assisting Mr. Frank Baldock with two Vacation Bible Schools, one at Royal Heights, the other at Green Timbers, another point on his charge. September saw me on holiday (?) preparing for my wedding and decorating my new home.

General Summary: Your generosity in providing funds for a new car for my work is certainly appreciated. The Vauxhall performs well and is easy on the gas (30 miles per gallon) besides being so much more dependable and safe than the previous Austin.

Surveying continues to provide valuable training, an enjoyable contact with many, many people and Presbyteries, and a growing insight into the work and the people of the United Church. There is certainly variety in my job—visiting, recruiting and training leaders, sometimes teaching or leading children, and attending meetings in connection with the church life of many areas of Vancouver and districts.

HEDWIG D. H. BARTLING

Hospital Visitor,
Vancouver, B.C.

The Need for Full-Time Visitors

The past year has been one of change in the hospital visiting for Vancouver. With the establishment of a permanent Hospital Committee in Vancouver Presbytery, the direction of all hospital visiting for this area has been given to them. This excellent committee is made up of representatives from all the major men and women's organizations concerned with visiting on behalf of the Church. The Hospital Chaplain, Dr. Hamilton (a retired minister doing half time visiting), and your worker are the two professional workers who serve under them. Until the end of April this year my work was also half time, and so only the large hospitals were served by both Dr. Hamilton and myself. In May I was able again to visit the other hospitals and smaller institutions.

The hospital-bed space in Vancouver has increased so greatly that the services of a full-time chaplain and a full-time woman visitor are very much needed. The committee has made the establishment of an adequate chaplaincy service for Vancouver its first objective. During the year also the committee had a leaflet printed and into this comforting words and a message from the Church were put. These, as well as calling cards having the seal of the United Church on them, identify the visitor as an official representative of the Church and are being made available to all Church visitors going into Nursing and Rest Homes. Our new United Church Literature Depot in Vancouver is the distribution centre. The need for this material was great because our Church is the largest Protestant denomination in Canada and must accordingly bear the weight of the responsibility for visiting the sick and indigent Protestants.

A Valuable Experience

As Vancouver General Hospital is the centre for specialized treatments we have patients from every corner of British Columbia as well as Alberta. Besides this St. Paul's Hospital is the treatment centre for all Indian patients under the supervision of the Department of Indian Affairs. The Chaplain and your worker then visit not only the sick from Vancouver, but any and all of those who come from far and need the spiritual help and comfort of the Church.

During this last year a survey of all the Rest Homes and Private Hospitals or Nursing Homes was made. Mimeographed lists, having the names, addresses, phone numbers, rates and the name of the visiting church for each institution were made available to every minister in Vancouver. Vancouver churches have accepted responsibility for regular visitation of Homes in their area. The Committee will supervise this by means of quarterly reports. The professional workers will have responsibility for visitation in all the large hospitals.

With the help of this committee all hospital visitors will have the necessary guidance and support. I have found visiting the sick a soul-searching and valuable experience and feel that I have gained much more than I have given.

Number of Hospital Calls January-August, 1959—4,253.

INDIAN WORK

FOREWORD

The past year has continued to be one of sharing as far as our Indian work has been concerned. There is the sharing within a G.C.I.T. group, a Curling Bonspiel, a Church Worship Service, a Public School classroom, a hockey game and an evening in a friend's home. There is the sharing of Church, Government and community in an effort to break down barriers that have almost isolated our Indian Canadians to the detriment of all. The Woman's Missionary Society, in co-operation with the Board of Home Missions, has been privileged to participate in numerous Conferences of Principals of Indian Residential Schools and Government officials. There has been a coming together of Indians and non-Indians from all walks of life, in such a body as the Indian-Eskimo Association, or in some of our cities in the close co-operation of Churches, the Federal Government, social agencies and interested citizens. Last year many hours were spent in the preparation of Briefs to present to the Federal Government with respect to the rights and privileges of the Indian Canadian.

There has been a growing number of our Indian Canadians moving into our cities from the Reserves. The contrasts in the life in a very secular inner-city and on an Indian Reserve cannot be bridged overnight.

An interesting change in practice has been made in compliance with the request of the Board of Home Missions, transferring to that Board our Indian work where men lay supplies are employed, as and when the work becomes vacant. Rama Indian Reserve will be the first to be affected when Mr. Edward Ronayne, lay supply, leaves to attend Queen's University in preparation for the ministry this Fall. We shall transfer the Indian work in Rama to the Board of Home Missions as of July 1st, 1960.

A Growing Spirit of Fellowship

The work on the Rama Charge during the past year has continued to receive the blessing of God upon it. The mid-week prayer and Bible study meeting at the Rama Indian Church has continued to be a source of inspiration and blessing to all those attending, and has helped to make us feel that we are members of a team working together for the Kingdom of God. This spirit of fellowship has been helped by the readiness of the members to participate in definite Christian work together. Several times during the year we visited the Gravenhurst Sanatorium taking with us as many members as our car would hold. On two other occasions, at the invitation of families on other Reserves, we made up a team of about six or seven, and went and held a service in the homes of these people. One of the Reserves we visited was Shawanaga, and after we had held a meeting in the home of one of the Indian families, they opened their church for us, and we held a service there in which we all took part. These projects have all helped to bind us together in a close fellowship, and given us a sense of mission.

News of the Schools

At the Longford church a Sunday School teachers' group was started in the fall for the purpose of studying together the lesson for the following Sunday. This group has continued to meet regularly each week in the home of one of the members. All the Longford teachers have attended faithfully, and as many of the Rama teachers as could manage to come have attended also.

Each week, during the school year, I visit three public schools one of which is Indian, and with the aid of filmstrips give a half hour lesson on some Bible theme. These visits have been much appreciated by both teachers and pupils, and their interest in the lessons has been shown by their willingness to ask questions. In one school, for example, the teacher sometimes has a list of questions waiting for me to answer; these questions have arisen in the daily devotional exercises. In this way I reach a hundred children, most of whom have little or no Church connection.

The attendance at the Sunday Schools has remained steady throughout the year. The Rama children excelled themselves this year in that they contributed $47.78 to the M. and M. Fund, an increase of $30 over last year's effort.

Material and Spiritual Progress in the Church

The Rama congregation has shown great interest in their church by installing new lights and having the pews sandpapered and re-varnished. They raised $68 towards these expenses by means of a subscription list.

The W.A.'s of both churches continued to do good work during the year, the Longford church W.A. making $192 and the Rama W.A. making $438 by means of socials, quilting, and rummage sales. The latter out of what they made gave $80 to the M. and M. Fund and $150 for church improvement.

To express the year's work of a church in terms of dollars is a very easy matter as compared to assessing its spiritual progress, since so much remains concealed within the hearts of people and does not bear fruit until some later date. The following facts, however, will give some indication of the ways in which the Holy Spirit has been at work on the Rama Charge:

At Rama five persons were received into full church membership at Easter, one of whom was an adult.

The Longford Sunday School teachers feeling that they needed to make themselves more efficient, started a weekly study class.

The attendance at the Rama Indian church has been maintained, and the attendance at Longford church shows a small increase.

Thus encouraged, and with our hands in the hand of God, we step forward confidently into yet another year.

MANITOBA CONFERENCE BRANCH

(MRS.) WINNIFRED GALL

Community Worker,
Norway House, Manitoba

The beginning of 1959 brought the meeting of Norway House Presbytery here, followed by a Bible School attended by many people from northern charges. We were very happy to have with us Dr. McLeod, the president of the Manitoba Conference and Rev. E. E. M. Joblin of the Board of Home Missions.

The first boat arrived on June 4th, and carried our second-class mail, which had really collected! There were over one hundred and ninety bags. Just imagine looking through that to find a suit that you had ordered to wear at a wedding next day!

Some Rewarding Experiences

Many cold walks were taken during the winter by the missionary and myself to the Paupanekis' home. The little dwelling is always filled for the church classes, and the graciousness and sincerity of these good people are more than rewarding. In this year's United Church calendar, you will see a picture of Mrs. Paupanekis and her youngest son. Another rewarding experience was to direct four girl students in teaching Sunday School in the residential school.

In June there is quite an exodus from Norway House, and I, too, left to attend a summer course for Church workers at U.C.T.S. This was a very wonderful experience, and after the course was over, I was eager to get back and share my summer with the people who had become so much a part of my life. Their welcome gave me great joy.

The immediate concern on my return was the two weeks' Vacation School which was well attended with over one hundred on the roll.

In early fall two new C.G.I.T. groups were started; the one at Rossville with an attendance of 22 members has two local girls as leaders—Danalda Queskekapow and Iona Apetagon. Another group has been formed at Playgreen School under the expert leadership of Miss Service, who has also organized a Junior Choir. An Explorer group under my leadership has also been started at Playgreen School. The work here has been very rewarding due to the splendid co-operation of the teacher, Miss Erna Janzen. Rev. D. Richardson and I leave here to arrive there by 2 p.m. and continue with services until suppertime when Mr. Richardson leaves for service at the jail. After supper Miss Service joins me and we continue through the evening with our newly-formed groups.

A very promising Tyro group has been started at the church, and our women's groups are doing well with their meetings and their sales.

Our C.G.I.T. has rallied well under new leaders—Misses Wrixon, Stevens, Ullman and Dixon. Our Vesper Service, used first at Playgreen and then at James Evans Memorial Church was a top performance. The church was full and we had to put benches down the aisle. How extremely proud I was of the sixty girls who took part!

We have a Y.P.U. that meets every Friday evening, but with all our Christian education program we still are able to get in very few 4-H clubs.

Highlights

There were many highlights of the year, such as purchasing an electric organ for the church. Every one rallied to the occasion and it was surprising how quickly the money was raised. One of the church members came into my office after being out on the traplines and said, "I have always wanted to do something for my church and now I am able to help."

One very important highlight was the receiving of the bombardier which has been a great boon to our work. Where it used to take a week to ten days to carry sacrament to the aged, it can now be done in a day. The fifteen-mile walk to Paupanekis and back is now taken in a short time whereas it used to take four to five hours, and many nights the temperature was as low as 55° below.

The little chapel at Towers Island is almost complete, and is a wonderful dream come true, thanks to the untiring efforts and the amazing stamina of our missionary, Mr. Richardson.

MR. J. O. HARRIS

Principal, Indian Residential School,
Portage la Prairie, Manitoba

The Finest School in Canada

During the year much reconstruction and re-modelling has been done; Mr. Ross, our maintenance man, has transformed old rooms into bright and airy spots, and with a wonderful dedicated staff, and students responding to help, we are all very proud of the finest school in Canada.

We started the year 1959 with a monster Ice Carnival which attracted people from all around the district. A group of students from the W.M.S. Presbyterian School in Birtle came down with their hockey teams to participate, and the fancy skating club of Portage sent some of their skaters also.

Our school venture to help the public realize what has been done in our school was to have the now famous Open House. This we believe is history as far as this school is concerned. People from all over Manitoba and Saskatchewan came—white and Indian, to see the exhibits of the extra-curricular work that our students do here, and to see the displays of the Indian past, present and future. The C.B.C. sent their television cameras, Mrs. L. E. Brownell (President of the Manitoba Conference Branch), came with her ladies and returned the second day, and many people from all walks of life, a total of over 1,500 signed our guest book during the three days' Open House.

After the Open House we had to settle down with the students to study for the June examinations. All our students attended the city schools, and our integration program is working very, very well. After examinations it was time for the students to return to their homes, and hardly anyone wished to go. We screened those who desired to stay, and after carefully reviewing their home environment, we kept fifteen boys and girls, whom we put on the school payroll, and who worked, painted, canned, etc., during the holidays, and also enjoyed ten days at Delta Beach before school re-opened in the fall.

The Year's Activities and Rewards

The new term brought many old students back, and also a new group of twenty-five, some from Reserve day schools, some from the Brandon Residential School, who had reached their thirteenth birthday at which time they automatically come on to Portage. Our opening school dance, with a hired orchestra from town, overcame any shyness they may have felt in their new surroundings. Over four hundred white students came to join the festivities.

One of the happy occasions of the year was when the late Dr. George McMillan, Superintendent of the Board of Home Missions of the Manitoba Conference, invited our student choir to participate in the conference at Brandon in May. As a result of this visit we have been invited back next year, and have had many requests from churches to come and sing and take over the services. We have our own Sunday services in the evening, but staff and students, 120 of us, attend the morning service in the Portage United Church.

We have 33 girls attending C.G.I.T., an increase of 18 over last year.

The visit of Miss Highfield, and our Christmas concert came as the climax to a wonderful year. Our concert took the form of a pageant under the direction of Mrs. Enns from Portage. It was entitled "The Bells Ring Out," and had a cast of 30, with 20 in the mixed choir. The scenery and costuming were beautiful, and the pageant was attended by over 400 white and Indian people from the district.

Mrs. Harris and I were richly blessed this fall with a five-year-old Indian girl named Bernice, who is now living with us and being brought up with Barbara, Marilyn and Ruth.

One of the happiest events in our own personal lives was when the Chief and Councillors of the Sioux and Saulteaux tribes bestowed on us Indian names and made us members of their tribes. Mrs. Harris has the Indian name Winona (meaning first girl born); my name is Ta Ta Ta Ska (meaning White Buffalo). What more satisfaction can two people and their family ask for than a year like this?

Progress

With the appointment of a full-time minister in All People's United Church here, we now have a church which is the "right size" for Indian people coming into the city. So All People's with a minister who has had two years' experience on Fisher River Reservation, has been the church I have been attending since September, and the one which I endeavor to make known to the Indian people of our faith. We now have a Hi-C group composed mainly of Indian people, and a Bible study group (just recently started). Besides, a very fine Indian man has been elected to the Board of Managers and we have a young Indian chap teaching Sunday School.

This year saw, too, the opening of an Indian and Metis Friendship Centre, which is on a two year experimental basis, sponsored by the Welfare Council of Greater Winnipeg and financed by both the Provincial and Federal Governments and the Winnipeg Foundation. The Directors of this Centre are two very fine women, one with experience at a similar centre at Oakland, California, and the other an Indian lady from Fisher River, who is very active in our church.

There now are workers in the Anglican, Presbyterian and Roman Catholic Churches here, and with this great increase in the number of people ready to help our Indian friends, I can concentrate more on people belonging to our Church, and this is good. Once a month four of us Church workers meet with the staff of the Centre and we feel that this is a step forward.

Personal Contacts

Many happy hours have been spent in recreation with young people. In this work, "just being a friend" is very important, and to know that someone is concerned for you means a great deal. This has been proven many times in our contacts with the young people who may have grown up away from home, maybe in a residential school or perhaps spending anywhere from two to ten years in a T.B. Sanatorium.

Helping with showers for young people about to be married, and entertaining at home have also been mediums for showing genuine interest and friendship.

Then, too, life has had its sadder moments. There was the passing away of a little girl whom I had known from our school in Norway House. Isla was here in hospital for two weeks and died after a brain operation. Her parents, who live in Island Lake, were unable to have her body flown home for burial. But with the help of Rev. Ian Harvey (who had served in the north for six years) we were able to have a funeral service for Isla which her brother and sister who are at the residential school in Portage la Prairie could attend. It was a sad occasion as one remembered the parents in the north unable to support their family and having to send them away from home, one to Norway House and two to Portage, and now Isla would not be returning home again.

Then there was Hazel, a young woman who had spent six years in a T.B. San. and, on being released, worked so hard she found herself back there again. Just before Christmas when her two little girls (who are attending residential school) must have been looking forward to seeing her during their holidays, she too, passed away.

The Future

A new day is dawning for our Indian brethren in Manitoba. It is indeed a thrill to see young Indian people playing a part in the work of the Church and also finding a place in and making a contribution to society. It was gratifying to have a young chap from Norway House, who has studied in Arizona, here with us as we began work in the fall. On several occasions he preached at All People's. As we look to the future it is my prayer that more and more of the people with whom we work will ask themselves the question, "To whom can we go?" and will turn to Him and follow in the way of the Great Shepherd Chief.

"The Lord hath done great things for us whereof we are glad."

This year, as I look back over the eleven months of activity in this area, I cannot help but thank God for the changes that have taken place in the hearts and lives of some of the people since I have been here.

The Sunday School has had a good year with an average attendance of 65 students. It is held in the day school on Friday, thus all the students attending school attend Sunday School as well. The two school teachers have been a great help to me in the Sunday School; they each teach a class.

Last spring I started two Boys' Clubs, and they seem to enjoy the games, handcraft and devotional time we have for them. It was encouraging for me to see several of these boys make a profession of faith in Christ.

Last fall, we had a week of evangelistic meetings with an Indian evangelist, Mr. Tommy Francis, and we estimated that 80 per cent. of the people on the Reserve attended the services. A simple Gospel message was given in the Indian language (Cree), and a simple invitation given. Those who wanted to make a profession of faith in Christ were asked to remain behind for counselling. Altogether 52 made a profession of faith in Christ.

We began a mid-week Bible study for the new converts. A good number of people attend this service each week and we believe that the Bible study is a constant source of strength and inspiration to them.

We have had several Indians attend the Sunday morning worship services who have never attended church before. Although many claim to be Roman Catholics and Protestants, they are still pagans. Pray that many will turn from their paganism and come to know the giver of eternal life, Jesus Christ.

The Indians are looking forward to the time when a new church building will be constructed for them to worship in. Last March we started to take up an offering each Sunday morning, the money to go toward some of the furniture in the new church. I understand this was the first time in the history of the Mission that a weekly offering was taken in the services.

A Special Service of Dedication

On January 18th we held a special service of dedication when we dedicated a Baptismal Font in memory of Mrs. McKinlay. This was placed in the Church by members of the Southminster United Church in Calgary where we are members; also a new Pulpit Bible and some Hymn Books which were gifts from Southminster Sunday School. While it was a very cold day many friends came out from town, and the service closed with every one taking communion together. I was helped in the service by the Rev. Clinton Brittain from Kamsack.

Meetings and Projects throughout the Year

In March I was invited to speak at the Saskatchewan Conference Branch in Regina, where I again had the pleasure of meeting and speaking to Mrs. Loveys.

In April we held our annual tea, when many friends from town came out to support us; then in June we had our booth along with the Homemakers on Treaty Day. In August we had two Caravan girls come to run our Vacation School, but this year I had to help out as well as doing the cooking, for we had forty-five children.

During the spring and fall it was paint-up time. I got all the front and sides of the Manse trim painted (the walls do not need paint). We also decorated the dining-room and my bedroom for the first time, as we did not get them done when the Manse was built last fall. The Indians paid for the paint, and the A.O.T.S. group came out from town and put the first coat of paint on the church. As the weather turned bad, they could not get the second coat on, but I was able to do most of it, and hope to finish it in the spring.

We had a very good service on Good Friday, and then on Christmas Eve we had our special service, and concert when all the children got their gifts—some candy and an orange. This is all the Christmas that most of them have.

Mrs. Swenson and Mrs. Butler are still running our Brownies for us, and during December we took them in to sing at the Carol Festival held in town, where they did very well. I still have my Religious Education classes, with one Friday in the month for Mission Band.

Steps in the Right Direction

This year there are only 15 children going to the school in town, but I do have two girls taking Grade 9. One stays in the W.M.S. Assiniboia Girls' Residence, and the other in a private home in Moose Jaw. From all reports the girls like it very much. This, I feel, is a great step in the right direction, but we do have to be careful about whom we send out like this.

I still have two services every Sunday, and my daughter Pat has her class of little ones. As our teacher, Mrs. Ratcliffe, is not well just now, we had to cancel the other class, so the children just stay in church with me. During the year I baptized 20 babies and had four weddings. There were six funerals.

Our W.M.S. women were able to meet their allocation, and the church was able to meet the M. and M. allocation.

Through Miss Drake we were able to get work for one of our girls in Regina, and by all accounts she seems to be fitting in very well there.

Three Weddings

In the early summer, I was able to give a satisfactory amount of time to the File Hills end of the charge. In early June I had one of our very nice weddings in the school over there. The groom was one of our own boys, and the bride a very charming Roman Catholic girl. The children decorated the school room, and the wedding was held there. Their old teachers acted as witnesses, and the whole community shared in the event.

The second wedding, held here in Wanakapew, was also a mixed one, but the young lady intends to join our Church. The third wedding was interesting; a young lady from Ituna married one of our boys from the Reserve. They had both been working at Fort San, but he is now nursing in a Regina Old People's Home. Rev. Mr. Rouey, from Balcarres, the bride's pastor, married them, but he insisted that I take a part in the ceremony, so it was a joint affair.

Things sometimes occur that remind one of the continuity of the service the Church has performed on the Reserve. Some months ago a letter came to me from a one-time resident who had sent it to File Hills Residential School, not knowing the latter no longer operated. "My life", she wrote, "at File Hills began as an orphan foundling of three, at the old File Hills Colony Hospital near the United Church Mission. I was placed in the school in 1929 or '30, when the Matron was Miss Mildred Pugh and the Principal Mr. Frank Rhodes." She is now married and has two children.

Some of Our Activities

We had two Vacation Schools in 1959 put on by the Saskatchewan Conference Young People. During the two weeks we had a registration of 54.

Rev. D. G. McMurtry and his Melville congregation adopted a family here on the Reserve during the year. They were up just before Christmas with a parcel for them. We took the family to Melville in June for a Sunday evening service followed by a social hour.

The Lorlie W.M.S. Auxiliary observed the World Day of Prayer again last winter and invited our group to participate. Our W.M.S. Auxiliary has been very small this year owing to the constant moving of families, but they contributed $5 for the Mission Band and sent in their allocation of a little over $100 to Presbyterial. The charge here sent in $125 to M. and M. and added another $10 at Christmas. We also sent our $10 allocation in to Christian Education at Regina.

Three of our girls are at the Home in Assiniboia this year, and eight of our children are at Birtle again. There is no C.G.I.T. group this year, but we have a good Mission Band, and are contemplating a senior Bible study group in the school.

During the year I had two funerals, both quite young babies, three weddings, and Communion at Easter and on World Communion Sunday. There were 35 at the Easter service, and 22 in the fall. Six attended at a private home in which the sister could not attend service. We had 22 baptisms during the year.

As usual, special services were held on Good Friday and Christmas Eve, and special observance on the Sundays for Easter, Thanksgiving and Remembrance Day. Mrs. McIntyre had some 190 wrapped, addressed gifts on the two school Christmas trees, and at the Christmas Eve service she had some extra parcels made up, so that no one was neglected. It is an enriching experience to provide all the parcels from the W.M.S. groups throughout the province and some from Ontario, and the beautifully wrapped white gifts from the Sunday Schools, accompanied by their friendly letters.

Trials and Disappointments

Thank you for the many greetings and letters we received at Christmas. We especially appreciate hearing that you are interested in our work and that you remember us in your prayers. Many times this past year we have been conscious of prayers being offered in our behalf; and have been grateful. For this has been a year of many trials and disappointments.

Last spring over a hundred people left our village to go to the berry fields of Washington to pick fruit. Homes were split up for the summer months, the women and children going away to pick fruit, and the husbands remaining behind to fish. This left both husbands and wives open to temptation, and some went back to drinking and other dissipations. Many are still away from church, and we have seen more drinking and quarrelling among our people this fall and winter than we have ever seen. Last summer a new hotel opened in Tofino where many of our people shop, and this has been a great curse.

Our young people weigh heavily on our hearts, too. We have no facilities for sports for them during the winter months, and though we do club work, it is difficult to stir up interest. When we can't provide some means for them to wear off their energy they go to the dance. But some of our young people gather together for prayer and Bible reading. Mrs. Bennett has begun a sewing group for the teenagers which meets on Friday night.

Some Bright Spots

Our W.M.S. Auxiliary have done very well. As a missionary venture of their own they have "adopted" two orphan children in the West Indies. They do a lot of sewing and managed to raise their allocation of $120 by selling the things they have worked on at rummage sales.

We do continually give thanks to God for the transformed lives of those who have come to know Christ as their Saviour and have learned to live consistent Christian lives. Four of our men now preach in their own tongue to their people. Evangelistic teams have gone out to other villages to bring them the good news of salvation.

Church attendance which was poor this summer with so many away, picked up in the fall. Though usually the church isn't as full as it should be, on special occasions the church building is hopelessly small. At our Christmas program we crowded 180 into the church that will comfortably seat 60. On Christmas morning we had a worship service and communion; Christmas night we had an informal get together in our home to sing carols, and we had a precious time together.

Last summer I prepared a piece of ground and put in my own garden. How nice it was to have lots of fresh vegetables to eat in the fall! The garden proved a real challenge to the natives, for whom it was a completely new thing. Next year some of them will try a garden for themselves, I hope. The W.M.S. Auxiliary are talking of putting in a garden, tending it themselves, thus raising funds by selling the produce locally.

We are all in good health, and our twin girls, who were just a year old when we first came here, are growing up. They play with the Indian children and have adopted their mannerisms.

JOAN CALDWELL

Community Worker,
Skidegate Mission, B.C.

The year 1959 brought many opportunities for Christian service to us who live in the Queen Charlotte Islands. Our primary purpose is to reach hundreds of children within the four communities of Sand-spit, Skidegate, Queen Charlotte City, and Skidegate Mission. Through various groups we have worked to achieve this—Sunday School, midweek clubs, Vacation School and camp. The children's active interest has encouraged us. Within the groups many are learning the meaning of forgiveness, unselfishness, co-operation and service, and older children are developing as leaders.

Sandspit

"Hi! Is there Sunday School tomorrow?" This is a regular greeting from the small fry of Sandspit as I walk about the logging camp community or the airport settlement. Sandspit, which is really two communities, has a transient population, and few attend church regularly although special Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas services were well attended. But through home visitation we are continually seeking to interest parents in church activities, encourage shut-ins and lonely folk, and get in touch with new families.

This year we carried on with Explorers, Tyros, and C.G.I.T. The Sunday School has grown and a new Mission Band was organized in December.

1959 has been a difficult year for Sandspit. A prolonged strike transformed the logging community into a ghost town from July until September, but over 40 children attended Vacation Bible School in July and ten Sandspit children attended Church camp in August.

The Sandspit W.A. purchased woodburning equipment for the Tyros and Bibles for the Sunday School. Seven teenagers are Sunday School teachers and five adults assist with the groups. Miss Agnes Mathers, who for years has actively supported church activities, is Sunday School teacher and organist.

Skidegate and Queen Charlotte City

Ladies in the tiny community of Skidegate are dreaming of and saving money to build a church. These industrious ladies hold regular W.A. meetings and give active support to the local hospital and camp. Mrs. H. Baker and Mrs. J. Casey conduct a small Sunday School at Skidegate. The children attend midweek clubs in Skidegate Village 1½ miles distant. Mrs. Baker directed the Vacation School in July.

There is an abundance of good leadership in Queen Charlotte City this year. Mrs. G. Robb was Sunday School superintendent and C.G.I.T. leader, and an impressive Christmas pageant was presented under her direction. Her C.G.I.T. group will buy a filmstrip projector for the Sunday School. Mrs. D. Vannatto was Vacation School director in July and continues to lead Explorers.

Skidegate Mission

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Murdoch live and work in Skidegate Mission. The Sunday School, largest in this area, is carried on with Mrs. Murdoch and Miss Daly directing. There are two Mission Bands, a large Explorer Group, Tyros, and C.G.I.T. in the Village. Miss Viola Daly assists with Explorers. Whatever the activity—a hike, missionary study, party, a sale of church calendars, cleaning up or playing games —the Explorers carry it out with great enthusiasm! Two Mission Bands are learning about Boloji, the little African boy. Recently 16 C.G.I.T. girls conducted the entire prayer meeting at Spencer Memorial Church. Two C.G.I.T. groups combined for the annual Vesper Service at Skidegate Mission. Ten C.G.I.T. members were camp counsellors and Vacation School teachers, and three Village ladies also assisted with the large Vacation School.

Camp

Three church camps were held last summer at Deadtree. The Junior Girls' camp was much larger than last year and the C.G.I.T. experimented with a more informal camping program which proved quite successful, while Mr. Murdoch directed the combined boys' camp. The Camp Committee purchased a very fine camp site at Deadtree, nine miles north of Skidegate Mission.

I am happy to be associated with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Murdoch, who are loved and respected by the Island folk. While Mr. and Mrs. Murdoch were on holidays in October I lived at Skidegate Mission and assisted with the church services in three communities.

The Woman's Missionary Society kindly allowed me to attend Conference Branch in March and the Institute for Indian Workers in June. I am grateful to the W.M.S. groups in Canada who have "adopted" me. Their prayerful support has helped us greatly in carrying on this important work.

MEDICAL WORK

FOREWORD

There is no question that the service rendered to countless persons within our four W.M.S. hospitals is out of all proportion to the faithful, over-worked personnel who render the service. We need more nurses. We realize, too, that consideration must be given to providing more adequate Nurses' Residences. The new Burns Lake Hospital is expected to be ready for use this summer. We hope that the Nurses' Residence will be completed and in keeping with the hospital, providing adequate living quarters for the entire staff. Discussions regarding a Residence in Cold Lake were initiated last year, in the hope that a more adequate one might soon be provided for the staff in connection with our beautiful, well-equipped John Neil Hospital. Also, negotiations have begun with the Health Departments of the Provinces concerned, with a view to possible new hospitals to replace the Elizabeth M. Crowe Memorial Hospital in Eriksdale, Man. and the Katherine H. Prittie Hospital in Bonnyville, Alta.

Our medical work in Ethelbert, Man. has come to an end and transactions have been initiated to sell the old hospital building and doctor's residence.

Dr. Margaret Savage, one of our loyal and great women doctors serving in the John Neil Hospital, has asked us to find a dedicated young doctor who would go to Cold Lake to assist her and to eventually take over the large and growing practice in that community.

The year 1959 was for me divided into two parts, for I was transferred from Cold Lake to Eriksdale on the first of September.

A Busy Round of Duties

Arriving at Eriksdale, I was heartily welcomed by the acting matron, Miss Marion Ronalds, who mistook me for a volunteer worker from the Guild come to help feed children. She and June Rothwell were alone, doing 12-hour duty. Miss Jessie Weir had arrived the same day, and we both quickly became involved in the busy round of duties. At first I was impressed with the contrast between the Elizabeth M. Crowe and the new modern John Neil. But the friendly co-operation of my fellow workers was the same, and the same needs were to be met: a constant stream of patients needing care; a busy out-patient's clinic held two days a week, with attendance not confined to these days, but almost as busy after hours and on Sundays; the many little Indian children to be nursed back to health; the doctor's weekly visits to the Reserve; and the numbers of new babies arriving.

We also found a very busy Guild at work, raising money for the hospital and other projects in the community, mending, visiting, and offering their services in many ways. Early in October, they held a Hospital Shower, when many donations of vegetables, canned fruit, and other goods were received.

Problems and Highlights

Our greatest problem is the shortage of nursing staff. Since Marion Ronalds and June Rothwell left, and we have added Joan Walgate to the staff, we have only three Registered Nurses where we should have five. There is one married nurse in town who relieves two days a week, which we appreciate. Please do all you can to present to the girls and young women of the Church our need for missionary nurses, and the challenge and opportunity for service in this field.

One highlight of the autumn was the visit of Miss Highfield and Mrs. Brownell to our hospital, when many interesting topics were discussed, including some improvements to the present building, and our eventual need for a new one. Dr. Paulson and the local Hospital Board have been considering this need for some time, and we have now presented our request to the Manitoba Hospital Survey Board. In the meantime, the W.M.S. has agreed to provide for some improvements, such as a bathtub and shower for the patients, and sinks and cupboards in the nursery and service room. Otherwise, the cost of operating the hospital is now financed by the Manitoba Hospital Services Plan.

Carrying out the Master's Command

Since the end of my furlough in August I have been at the W.M.S. hospital at Eriksdale where I have been enjoying the work and the fellowship very much. This hospital serves such a wide area that one really feels the work is worthwhile.

In the hospital much of the work is maternity and children's work. I am sure that many of these little Indian children would have scant chance of survival if they did not have the hospital to come to as they are very susceptible to chest conditions.

Rose Marie came to the hospital in August with celiac disease, a disease in which she was unable to digest her food. She was only a month old and so ill that we wondered if she would recover. At first all she could have was bananas and we spent many hours trying to get a little food into her. Later on she was able to take a casec formula and when, after about four months, she was ready to go home we had a hard time keeping her satisfied.

Pat was another dear little fellow who came to us at different times suffering from a chest condition and sore mouth. One became very attached to these little Indian children.

The hospital here is stretching at the seams and the possibility of a new hospital has been discussed. With more facilities much more work could be done. As it is we do what we can to carry out the Master's command of bringing healing to all. We are grateful for the prayers and support of the members of the Woman's Missionary Society.

A Wonderful Experience

Last year I reported that I marvelled at the wonderful experiences of my first year in a Missionary Hospital. This year I have found even a greater challenge and thrill in my life and work here in Bonnyville.

Perhaps the greatest challenge was the six weeks during which I was Acting Matron, Miss Deakins being at a hospital convention and then on holidays. There was a small epidemic of diarrhea (mostly among children) at this time which meant that we were kept quite busy. One little girl we rushed into an Edmonton Hospital for more specialized treatment. She is now back home as healthy and happy as ever. One night a little (2 pounds) Chinese baby was admitted; she had been born at home. A nurse was with her 24 hours a day for several days but her body wasn't developed enough to live and so she passed from us on her fourth day. Because she required so much of our time and attention we had grown to love her dearly. And so life in a hospital, as elsewhere, has its sorrows along with its joys.

Last year I told you about the wonderful Christmas Season that we spent singing carols with the patients, decorating Christmas trees for all the wards. How different it was this year! We were so busy that a lot of the decorating had to be done on hours off. Christmas Eve we had an emergency appendectomy to add to the excitement of the day. However, this did not alter the spirit of Christmas that prevailed. The staff worked together to try and bring the message of Christmas to our patients as we sought to alleviate their pain and joyfully serve them.

Church Activities

Our Church activities this year seemed to be more rewarding than the previous year. In the pre-Lenten season we held a fellowship hour at the nurses' residence every Sunday evening. The group responded so well that they decided to continue during the summer months. This group still gathers every Sunday to have fellowship in study, song and discussion.

My Explorer Group was adjourned for the summer in May as that was when my holidays began. In the fall I found that I was leading the same girls, as the majority of them graduated into C.G.I.T. and that is the group that I lead this year. This was good because instead of starting all over again to get to know the girls and their needs we have continued to grow in love and understanding of one another.

We were able to start a Young Adult Group and a Mission Band in our church this fall. And so another year passed. God has given us a full measure of joys, sorrows, challenges and satisfaction in our work.

MARY E. DEAKINS

Superintendent,
Katherine H. Prittie Hospital,
Bonnyville, Alberta

The Busiest Year

The year 1959 has been the busiest of my six years at the Katherine H. Prittie Hospital. There were 718 admissions, 77 births, 805 X-rays taken, 176 operations performed, and 326 out-patients treated.

In September, we were pleased that one of our nurses, Miss Jo Kueman, went to the United Church Training School. Two of our nurses are graduates of the Naramata Leadership Training School. One of our ward aids came to our hospital because her C.G.I.T. leader had interested her in mission hospitals. We do appreciate all that is done to interest others in our missionary work.

Last spring we received a new anaesthetic machine which is most valuable with the increase in the number of operations. Dr. Roy had a post-graduate course in Surgery, and is a very good physician and surgeon.

In March identical twin girls were delivered by Caesarian section and were our pride and joy.

One of our most challenging and rewarding experiences was the service rendered to a man who had fallen on a rotary lumber saw, and who suffered severe abdominal injuries. Two doctors operated on him for four and one-half hours, while a third doctor gave the anaesthetic. The doctors and all members of the staff worked with tireless energy and splendid co-operation to save this man's life. Two local people gave blood immediately. The R.C.M.P. went up to the Cold Lake R.C.A.F. Hospital for more blood. Miss Willows, our W.M.S. worker, and the minister from one of the other churches, together with several members of the community were asked to give us their support in prayer. This was a wonderful experience of the working of the Holy Spirit in the lives of all concerned. The next day this man was taken by R.C.A.F. helicopter to the University Hospital, Edmonton, as he had to have blood tests which could not be done here.

Besides the regular hospital duties, some of the staff give considerable time to leadership and work in the church. This is a great privilege and challenge, but is also frustrating when one sees so much that could be done. We welcome and need dedicated nursing and domestic staff. On behalf of all our staff, may I take this opportunity to thank you for your interest, prayers and donations to our hospital, for we are all laborers together with Christ.

In a letter from Miss Deakins dated March 9, 1960, she states, "That man who was in the accident was here a couple of weeks ago. We were all so pleased with his recovery and the wonderful co-operation of everyone."

A Busy and Interesting Seven Months

I was transferred from Cold Lake to Eriksdale in September, 1959, but during the first seven months of the year life was busy and interesting as always in the beautiful new John Neil Hospital, where there was a continuous stream of patients, the sick and the injured entering its wide doors, to be returned to their sphere of life with renewed health and thankful hearts. There were some too, beloved old-time members of the community, who spent their last days within its sanctuary. And many new members of the future generation were ushered into the world there, too.

There were some exciting moments and anxious hours that will always stand out in my memory. One of these times was when a 17-year-old lad was brought in with a bullet wound in the upper abdomen, inflicted accidentally by a chum. It had lodged in the spinal column and caused internal hemorrhage. Thanks to the R.C.A.F. doctors with their skill, generosity and resources, as well as to the tireless efforts of our own doctors and nursing staff, the young man made a good recovery.

Within a day or two of that accident, another patient, this time an Indian man, was brought in with a knife wound about five inches long in almost the same region. Five of us stayed up all night in readiness for operating, while waiting for the necessary blood to come from the Air Base, before the operation could begin. When it finally arrived at 6 a.m. it was found that no vital organs were involved, and he made a speedy recovery.

A Sunrise and a Farewell

One picture that will often flash on the screen of my memory is a sunrise observed one morning when I was on night duty, taking the place of a staff member who was ill. When making rounds at 3 a.m. I happened to go into the Solarium, where the wide windows look out over the lake, which surrounds the hospital on three sides. The air was hushed except for a few clear bird calls, and this wide expanse of still water reflected a cloudless Northern sky, both a glory of color. I had seen beautiful sunrises and sunsets over the lake many times, but this was really an exception. One could feel the presence of God. After recovering my breath, I called the night ward aid, and together we stood and gazed until our work called us back to earth.

When the time came to leave Cold Lake, I prepared to go with a good deal of sadness because of parting with the many friends I had come to know, both associated with my work in the hospital and in the community at large and, indeed, throughout Alberta. I do want to pay tribute to them all, for it was these associations with such wonderful people that made my stay in Cold Lake a happy and memorable time. Two lovely farewell parties, complete with generous gifts were given me, one by the Women's Federation, the Women's Hospital Auxiliary and the Hospital Board, and the other by the Hospital Staff. One of the parting remarks was that everyone who drinks of Cold Lake water comes back for more, and I hope I shall sometime, if only for a visit.

Earth Touched with Beauty

I joined the staff of John Neil Hospital on September 21, 1959. Miss Kay Metheral had been acting superintendent since Miss Rogers moved to Eriksdale, Manitoba, in July. I came by car from Ontario and it was quite a new experience for me to "slide" in the Alberta mud.

Our hospital is new—lovely to work in and situated on a bank overlooking the beautiful Cold Lake proper. Sunrises and sunsets across the lake portray the majesty and power of Almighty God. The colors in the autumn leaves, and now the beauty of the hoar frost and winter splendor cause me often to recall the words of the hymn, "God, who touchest earth with beauty, make me lovely too."

You too would have marvelled, before the snow came, to see the lake frozen solid, smooth and clear as crystal. One could walk on it and gaze in wonder and admiration at the stillness of the rocks and sand and the sudden flash of fish beneath your feet.

The Laborers Are Few

Since my coming we have only three registered nurses who work rotating shifts. Much night duty and working most week-ends and holidays demand considerable from these girls. Without the help of nurses in the community and from the R.C.A.F. station we could not carry on. At least four other registered nurses free to work shifts could be used. We hope, in the future, to say we have accommodation for them. The present nurses' residence is now crowded with three certified nursing aids, lab technician, laundress, ward aid, two registered nurses and myself.

While facilities for surgery and X-ray seem ample at the moment, the doctors on occasion have to send one patient home so there will be a bed for someone sicker. During 1959 we admitted 1,269 patients compared with an all-time high record in 1958 of 1,088. In 1958, 192 babies were born and in 1959 there were 260 births. The paediatric department seldom has an empty bed. Donations of linen, layettes and hospital equipment have been put to good use. Operating costs of the new hospital are heavy and problematical as under the Alberta Government Hospital Plan our operating costs are based on 1957 expenditures—that year we were still in the old hospital and operating at minimum cost. Several new members, including Rev. Robert Reid, as chairman, were appointed to the hospital board late in 1959, and we count much on their assistance.

It has been a year of change, activity and tremendous challenge. During the course of a year there are very few families who are not connected with the hospital in some manner. The support and prayers of all are greatly appreciated and needed as we labor together in the Master's service of healing.

"The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament showeth His handiwork."

So often we pause for a moment to gaze at the beauty of Creation which surrounds us at the John Neil—the sunset rippling gold and pink waves across the lake—the autumn leaves decorating the shoreline—the bright moon shining through the trees laden with hoar frost. For those of us who enjoy skating, the lake has been irresistible since December when the water froze so smooth and clear that some folk even watched fish swimming under the ice while they skated.

There have been many changes in our staff. Our matron, Miss Leah Rogers, left us the last week of July for vacation, then moved to Eriksdale, Manitoba. We were sad to see her leave; even the weather was dreary as she set out for Manitoba. It was the third day of heavy rain and the deep, sticky mud matched the tales we hear of gumbo during a rain storm.

A Week-end to Remember

The new matron, Miss Marjorie Ludlow, arrived the latter part of September to find the hospital well stocked with patients. You can imagine the joy and excitement of the new matron's arrival on Friday evening. Saturday at noon the daughter of one of our very ill patients was married in the hospital sunroom. (Wish you could have seen the beautiful room overlooking the lake decorated with flowers and autumn leaves and the mother's bed draped with pretty W.M.S. quilts.)

Saturday afternoon Miss Highfield arrived in time for a quick tour around the hospital and a glimpse of the unfinished landscaping before dark. As we walked about the hospital we rejoiced together that it was so well equipped and attractive; we took pictures of the new stand-by plant to provide electricity in time of power failures; we talked over our problems and discussed needs. As Miss Highfield left us to go on to Bonnyville, it seemed scarcely possible that such a short time before we had known her and Miss Ludlow only by name. For weeks we had prayed earnestly that a matron might be found who would be able to fill our particular needs. Our prayers have been abundantly answered.

A Year of Change and Activity

This has been a year of change and activity. Miss Henrietta Campbell, the W.M.S. worker who has been heading up the work of the church in this area left us in July for her new appointment in Prince George. Although she had been here for only a few months, many felt that they were bidding farewell to a close friend and counsellor. The day of her departure, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Reid and little Debby arrived. For the first time in many years, Cold Lake now has a resident minister. Plans were soon underway for a new manse and quite a number of church members joined in the bustle of putting up a prefab house under the direction of an able carpenter. There is a well-beaten path to the manse for the Reid's soon made many friends and their energy and ability has been much appreciated in church and community activities.

The Christmas season brought its special joys and busyness—Christmas mail renewing friendships—wee patients ordering sandwiches and milk for Santa—the excitement of a little lad as he wakened to find parcels, and best of all a sleigh at the foot of his bed—the community carol festival—the family party at the church—a Christmas eve service in the hospital corridor beside a candle-lit crèche—the clear bright heavens which declare the glory of God and remind us of the First Christmas, on which God gave to earth His greatest Gift.

Trips East and West

It was my privilege to attend Alberta Conference Branch in Edmonton in March. The agenda was well organized and everyone very friendly. I enjoyed immensely hearing the missionary speakers and was overwhelmed with the concern and oneness of the W.M.S. family.

Holiday time is always eagerly anticipated and the fact that I went home was particularly joyous for my friends and family. My co-worker, Miss Caverhill, and I returned to Toronto to the graduation of the United Church Training School. We knew the graduates well from our one and only year at the school, and it was good to see them again. We renewed again our faith and commission in the mission of the Church and watched new workers start out for their appointments, remembering our joy and trepidation at that time. I also attended the Ordination Service in two Conferences and hoped that the Church might be able to send an ordained man to Cold Lake.

Church Work at Cold Lake

Upon my return I found that Cold Lake's desire was granted, and a new ordinand was sent from the East. Rev. R. O. Reid and family arrived in July and the work of the church has been well interpreted in this area. The church is growing in Cold Lake and its witness reaching out to many areas. Life within the walls of the John Neil Hospital keeps as busy as ever, and the new hospital is nearly always full. One major change took place within the staff, that of the change of matron. Miss Rogers went to Eriksdale as matron, and Miss Ludlow came to us with experience in our Home Mission Hospital at Bella Coola.

Once again I worked with and enjoyed my C.G.I.T. group. Their program is most ambitious and our Mother and Daughter Banquet a highlight of the spring. The Vesper Service was shared with the congregation, and the number out was overwhelming. Cold Lake has a Women's Federation group and I participated in their program when possible. I also enjoy the friendship of St. Paul's United Presbyterial W.M.S. as Corresponding Secretary, and learn of the work in this area. There are many ways to serve within the Church and many new areas present themselves in Cold Lake.

BRITISH COLUMBIA CONFERENCE BRANCH

ELSIE V. HUNT

Superintendent,
Burns Lake Hospital,
Burns Lake, B.C.

Last year everyone who entered our door asked: "When are we getting the new hospital?" This year the bulldozer started to work on August 31st and now everyone asks "When do you expect to move into the new hospital?" This answer is "About next August."

The number of patients and patient days was somewhat increased this year; it is always a mystery as to how this can be possible since the bed is usually spoken for before the patient leaves it. One morning we came on duty to find a patient on the Operating-Room table, one on the X-ray table and one on the Case-Room table, all waiting for beds!

Accident Cases

The majority of our accidents are in the lumbering industry, since that is the main occupation in this country. One man who was cook in a camp had both hands quite badly burned. During the first snowfall two cars met head-on while going around a sharp curve. The occupants of one car were visitors from the southern part of the province. We felt very badly when a lady in this car passed away here as a result of the accident.

A little four year old Indian boy "Jonas" was brought in by plane from the reservation at Fort Babine. One of the sleigh dogs had bitten him, taking a piece out of one cheek and he was in the hospital for many weeks. Jonas was in mischief practically all the time he was awake. The men's ward is next to the children's ward so he was in there frequently to torment the men, throwing toys when he thought he wasn't being watched, at the bandaged hands of the man who was burned. He put a plastic head of a doll upside down in the toilet-bowl, then flushed the toilet. Another time the nurses found a ball bat in the ward and eventually discovered that Jonas had slipped out the fire escape door and taken it from some children playing on the side street.

Mainly about Babies

A very ill Indian baby had to go to Vancouver for special treatment and was flown in an R.C.A.F. rescue plane since he had to be taken in an oxygen tent. The plane was so large it could not land at the usual seaplane dock on Burns Lake so the ambulance took the baby seven miles to Decker Lake where a boat carried him to the plane. Some weeks later he returned home to his parents.

In December twin boys were born in the hospital. While they were still with us a woman was brought in with triplets, all girls, born just before coming to hospital. They all went home in good health. We put the donations from the missionary folk to good use at this time by giving each baby a layette, a quilt to the mother of the triplets and some gifts for Christmas to take to the children at home. The mothers expressed their grateful thanks for these needed supplies.

The mother of the triplets was very ill when she came to the hospital and the nurses who were off duty freely offered to take turns doing special duty with her for the first twenty-four hours until she was out of danger. The Vancouver paper, the Province, kindly sent a plane with supplies and Christmas gifts for the whole family, arriving at their home the same time as the ambulance with the mother and three baby girls. The family, now increased from 13 to 16 children, was so delighted to have mother home and three new baby sisters that the plane, which must have looked quite unreal to them, took second place in their interest, at least for the first few minutes. One of the hospital nurses, who had only come to Canada from New Zealand in November, went with the mother and babies to see the country in that area. She said that when she first arrived she thought that possibly she should take two or three months off and help the mother. Then when she saw how well organized they were in their small log house she decided that she would just be another mouth to feed.

Memorial to Miss Clare Preston

The hospital, along with the community, greatly misses Miss Clara Preston, who passed away on December 4th in the hospital. She had made many friends here and was making calls on some of them on Gerow Island when she was taken suddenly ill. Friends brought her to the hospital at once but she only lived for three hours. Donations are being given to a fund to furnish a chapel in the new hospital in her memory.

ORIENTAL WORK

FOREWORD

Chinese

In city after city, and in many of our larger towns, newcomers are arriving from China. They do not know our language and our ways. Christianity is a strange religion to many of them. We are fortunate to have the services of several missionaries who used to serve in China. In Nanaimo, Victoria, Vancouver, Hamilton and Ottawa we have our workers. Requests came to us from Saskatoon, Calgary and Toronto for more workers. Recently two young Chinese women from Hong Kong came to our attention and we have placed one in Saskatoon and the other in Calgary, with Rev. and Mrs. Alfred Day.

To assist in the work we have authorized a special Literature grant for Chinese literature and to purchase reels for a tape-recorder, also a book, "Speak Cantonese."

The Chinese and Japanese Conferences, which meet in Vancouver alternate years, are proving to be of great value to our workers in so many ways. It is an opportunity to share problems and difficulties, to discover new ways and to have fellowship together.

Japanese

Our Japanese missionary who works in Steveston, Vancouver and the Fraser Valley reports that the congregation in Steveston is half Japanese and half Occidental. In fact, the whole community is half and half, which is a healthy situation.

Many of our Japanese people are scattered throughout the Okanagan Valley, where one of our missionaries moves among them, assisting in the organization of their Church groups and attempting, too, to come to know those outside the Church. These women are obviously held in respect by the people with whom they work. The Christ and His Church are brought closer to them because of their witness.

A Social Centre for Young Men

As I think back over my term of service with the Chinese Mission in Ottawa I think of 1958 as a year of spade work when foundations were being laid. In 1959, however, one began to see some results, which, while not spectacular, were at least gratifying. The change in the outward appearance of the Mission building itself was a tremendous boost not only to the worker but to the work as well, and the acquisition of an attractive reading room and office enhanced the value of the work.

It was a great joy to see so many of the young men of our community making the Mission their social centre, and when one realizes that this has meant the giving up of forms of recreation which were, to say the least, questionable, and certainly harmful, one is filled with gratitude. Since, however, we have no gymnasium in our building we found it expedient to direct these young men to the Young Men's Christian Association with the result that two basketball teams were registered there and the boys given opportunity to take part in other Y.M. activities. Unfortunately many young men were unable to participate in activities at the Y because of constantly changing working hours and after consultation with the Mission Board it was agreed to use a piece of property behind the building as a badminton and volley ball court. The expense of paving the court was met by Chinese friends both within and outside the Mission, while the equipment was a gift from the Young Adult Group of Chalmers United Church.

A Very Popular Place

During the year we saw our Sunday School expanding so rapidly it was difficult to find suitable places for classes; we saw church services much better attended and a fine spirit of fellowship developed. We saw ladies from our Canadian churches coming to join in fellowship with our Chinese ladies on Sunday afternoons and we saw as an accomplished fact a choir made up of enthusiastic young people who really love to sing and whose contribution added considerably to the interest and quality of the church services.

In July we held our Daily Vacation Bible School when 47 boys and girls registered. The Ottawa Vacation Schools have been receiving financial help from the Community Chest and this year our school was included. Materials recommended by the Council of Churches were used and enjoyed. Twenty-five dollars was contributed by the children to purchase pictures and books for refugee children in Hong Kong.

During April five of our young men went back to Hong Kong and three months later three of them returned bringing with them beautiful young brides. Our Mission has become a very popular place for weddings for many young ladies have come to Canada to be reunited with young men whom they had known while in China. One young man, who accompanied his friend to the airport when he went to meet his bride-to-be, said to me, "Miss Harris, I have never seen such a beautiful girl in all my life." These young ladies are coming to the Mission to study English and are already taking part in some of the Mission activities.

An event of vital importance to the future work of the Mission was the appointment of Miss Evelyn Ricker as my successor. Miss Ricker brings to the work a China background, a sympathetic understanding of the problems of our Chinese people and a love and respect for them which is so necessary if one is to get right down where they live. I shall always treasure what a lonely little woman in Ottawa said to me the first time I called on her. When I was leaving she pointed to the chair on which I had been sitting and said, "Please come and sit on this chair often."

Miss Ricker will lead a busy life for there is so much waiting to be done. There is need for more mid-week activities at the level of children and teen-agers, for we have the nuclei for a fine Mission Band, for Tyros, Explorers and other types of group work which would be the outreach of the Sunday School. Our women are now ready for more active participation in the life and work of the Mission. A Woman's Association would be invaluable not only to the furtherance of the work but to the enrichment of the members themselves.

A Pleasurable New Appointment

My appointment to work in the Ottawa Chinese Mission brought me much pleasure, for it meant that once again I would be working among people of the country which I had loved so much as an overseas missionary in China.

My first few weeks here were made very pleasant by Miss Winnifred Harris, whose work I was to take over. I learned that the Mission had been opened over thirty years ago, and maintained ever since by a group of individuals from various churches of this city. The Mission is not an organized church, but a centre where we try to meet some of the social, recreational and religious needs of the Chinese community.

My first work after arrival was in connection with our Vacation School, which was attended by 43 children. Even though some of our children had just arrived in this country and knew no English, all took part and all enjoyed themselves.

Classes in English and Explorer Groups

As soon as Vacation School was over, I took up the teaching of some English classes, and by September our "English School" was in full swing. The pupils are young men and women, for most part, but we have at least two grandmothers in our classes. They have all come to Canada recently and find themselves hampered by lack of English. Henry was a photographer in Hong Kong, and wanted to do photography here, but he must learn English first. Sylvia is a High School graduate who wants to be a nurse, but again language is the stumbling block. One class is made up of six or seven brides, newly arrived here, and anxious to fit into our Canadian way of life. Some of the young Chinese go to Night School, but this is impossible for most of the young men who work in restaurants, and not too convenient for the young married women.

Another week-day activity is the Explorer group organized in October. The girls are very enthusiastic about their meetings and are especially proud of their uniforms, purchased with the proceeds from their own table at the Mission Tea and Sale in December.

I find that the people of other churches in Ottawa are very much interested in this Mission. In December 150 women from 28 churches attended our Tea and Bake Sale. A number of times I have been invited to speak at church groups about the work here, and often I am asked what can be done to help.

The Sunday Services

Our Sunday School has an attendance of about 55. The superintendent and some of the teachers are from outside the Mission, other teachers are our own Chinese young people. The Sunday School Christmas concert was a highlight for the children, for many of them do not celebrate Christmas in their own homes.

The Sunday afternoon church services are encouraging. I know of no other church where such a large proportion of the congregation is young people, especially young men. Of course, there are the older men and women too who have been in the congregation for many years, and who give it their most loyal support.

The choir was organized just last spring by Miss Harris with the help of Mrs. Peter Mar as pianist and adviser. Mrs. Mar was the composer of two of the hymn tunes in "Hymns of Universal Praise", the hymn book used throughout China for many years, and used by Chinese congregations in Canada. Several of the choir members have never attended church regularly in their lives before. Hymns that are very familiar to us are new to them. In spite of this, no Sunday has passed without some special choir number, sometimes sung in English, sometimes in Chinese, sometimes a hymn in unison, at other times a more ambitious number sung in parts. The singing shows a lack of balance because the boys usually outnumber the girls, two to one, but some of the boys have fine voices, and are beginning to sing solos occasionally.

There is no organized young people's group that meets regularly in the Mission, but the choir could almost be considered one. A real sense of fellowship among its members is very much in evidence at their Sunday evening suppers. Informal discussion, serious and otherwise, usually takes place around the supper table. The subject one evening recently was existential philosophy! (These young people are nearly all university students or graduates.) It is about ten o'clock when this group leaves the Mission, after having come for a service at half past three.

Getting Acquainted

Becoming acquainted with people of Chinese origin in Hamilton and other centres in south-central Ontario has occupied much of my time since August 1st. During August and September some 80 of the more than 100 families living in Hamilton were visited; later I visited most of the remaining families as well as Chinese living in Brantford, Galt, Waterloo, Hespeler, Guelph, Oakville, St. Catharines, Grimsby, Cayuga, Mount Hope, Dundas and Burlington.

My inability to understand or speak any of the South China dialects is a great handicap in this work, but a knowledge of written Chinese has been an asset, and in 1960 I hope to learn some Cantonese or other South China dialect to enable me to work more effectively.

A great many of the Chinese women who have come to Canada in the past decade are still unfamiliar with the English language. In Hamilton eight women volunteers from four W.M.S. Auxiliaries are meeting weekly with individuals or small groups of Chinese women in homes or churches, and giving instruction in English, and friendship and concern in the name of Jesus Christ and His Church. Many Chinese children are attending a Sunday School, and some families have a church connection, be it Baptist, Salvation Army, Roman Catholic, Anglican or United Church. In December, a Christmas message was prepared in Chinese, mimeographed and forwarded to all Chinese-speaking families previously contacted.

In December also four university-educated Chinese met with me to consider how the needs of the young men might best be served. Answers received to a questionnaire since indicate interest in the study of English, in an English Bible class, in having a reading and games room, and in various kinds of physical recreation. The downtown Y.M.C.A. will welcome Chinese young men as members, and thereby allow them the use of gymnasium, swimming pool, ping pong tables, etc., in their afternoon free time. The former vestry in Wesley United Church, now Wesley Community Centre, has been granted for our use.

Church Activities

Rev. Mr. Lee comes regularly from Toronto to conduct a Chinese church service one Sunday evening each month in the chapel of Centenary United Church. In an adjoining room Miss Bessie French of All People's Church gives valued leadership to the fifteen or so Chinese children who come with their parents to Centenary.

The Chinese Woman's Association also meets once a month, and provides opportunity for fellowship within the group with a membership of some forty women. The Chinese Christmas party, directed by these women, was attended by a large assemblage of children and parents, who enjoyed an interesting program of worship, of films, and of gift distribution, with a fine lunch for all. Canadian-born Mrs. Pearl Gee is the very capable president.

Other Services

On various occasions I have been able to act as a "go-between" between social agencies and Chinese families in need of medical or other assistance. The W.M.S. car has made many trips to such places as the Cerebral Palsy Rehabilitation Centre that Chinese children might receive examinations and treatments. Chinese patients in the Mountain Sanatorium have been visited regularly and some greatly appreciate the Church's concern for them. Mrs. Yang, wife of Dr. George Yang, Sanatorium surgeon, helped in the serving of a Chinese meal to these people on Christmas Day, so many of whom miss their own delicious Chinese food when they are for months on hospital fare.

The sincere interest and help rendered by past and present staff members of the All People's Churches in Hamilton has been much appreciated by the Chinese, as well as the advice and assistance so generously given me by Rev. W. Burbidge and Mrs. Burbidge.

A New Work Begun

The Chinese population in Saskatoon is approximately 400, among them a fair number of newly arrived immigrants. At the request of the local Chinese community, the United Church decided to start a new work here, and I was assigned to undertake this task.

Before my arrival in Saskatoon in August, an advisory committee for this work was formed, consisting of the representatives of several local United Churches, representatives of the Woman's Missionary Society, leaders of the Chinese community and the superintendent and convener of Home Missions. During August and September, at the suggestion of this committee, a survey of the Chinese community was made in order to find out the needs here. Based on this survey, in October three adult classes and two children's classes were organized. Each of the adult classes meet once a week for a period of two hours. Books provided by the Government and the Bible stories are used as teaching materials.

The children's classes meet once a week for a period of one and a half hours. One class meets at the St. Thomas-Wesley United Church, the other one meets at the Westminster United Church. In these classes children learn basic English, and later the Bible stories will be taught also.

The total enrolment at the present time is 55 which comprises 20 adults and 35 children. Besides these classes, this service includes hospital visits and assistance in some Chinese friends' affairs.

In November a visit was paid to the neighboring towns—Watrous, Imperial and Young. The Chinese population there is small, but the needs are the same as in Saskatoon.

After Four Months

On December 19th a Christmas party, financed by the Chinese community, was given at the St. Thomas-Wesley United Church; 218 guests were present, and the performers in the two-hour program were mainly members of these classes. The audience entered into the spirit of the occasion with great enthusiasm and enjoyed this social event. This party is the climax to these few months' work, and is the biggest gathering the Chinese community have ever had.

The widespread interest of this service in the Chinese community is reflected in the contribution they made to it. It is decided that the Chinese community will assume the responsibility to finance part of the expenses of this service next year.

The work is new, the worker is new, but I believe this is the most satisfying experience one could ever have. The moral support and interest of the local people, the assistance of the advisory committee, and the support of the Chinese community—all these I deeply appreciate. Appreciation should also be expressed to St. Thomas-Wesley United Church, where most of my work is centred, for their generosity and co-operation; and to all voluntary workers who are helping in the classes.

BRITISH COLUMBIA CONFERENCE BRANCH

(MRS.) MABEL C. JOHANSEN

Community Worker,
Nanaimo and Up-Island, B.C.

Most of my time has been spent in Nanaimo, where I have been able to keep the evening services going. On three occasions Mr. Mo came from Victoria to preach a Chinese sermon, and in the spring

Rev. Chris. Jack continued his monthly visits and gave a short message. On three Sunday evenings we saw films presented by the Christian Business Men's Association of Nanaimo, which were very helpful. The special Easter and Mother's Day services were well attended, and the Christmas service took the form of living pictures portraying the Christmas story; a large gold frame was set up on the platform, and the children created the pictures.

The Woman's Association held eleven meetings during the year. At the "Chow Mein" tea in April, there was a display of rocks and jewellery of the Nanaimo Club and also a display of Chinese art objects. In November the members of the staff of the Malaspina Florists demonstrated the art of floral arrangement, as a result of which the women made table decorations which became the focal point of our Christmas decorations. A baby shower at one of the meetings brought many useful baby garments and accessories, which are being sent to our missionary in Hong Kong.

With the Girls and Boys

The Sunday School had a good year; two of the boys had perfect attendance and each was presented with a Bible. A special feature during the year was a Father and Son Banquet, held on Father's Day. It was the first such banquet to be held in the church and fathers and sons said it must now be an annual affair. Another enjoyable "first" in connection with the Sunday School was a family Hallowe'en party.

The Advent season was observed with the lighting of candles and the creche. A candle was lighted each Sunday and figures added to the creche until its completion on Christmas Sunday. December 13th was celebrated as White Gift Sunday and also as the birthday of Jesus, and the very beautiful and moving service made a deep impression on parents and children. The Christmas Tree concert as usual was a family affair.

A Mission Band of 10 girls was organized during the year, and at present they are working on a quilt. They enjoyed "Here Comes Dirk", and are now studying, "Boloji and Old Hippo." Two of the girls sang at a meeting of the St. Andrew's Auxiliary. Another recently organized group is the Tyros, who are all very sports-minded, so I am renewing my youth with them.

A Vacation School of two weeks was held in July with 35 children in attendance. There has also been the regular weekly English group on Tuesday afternoon; the attendance dropped towards the end of the year due to the arrival of new babies. So the English group diminishes but the Cradle Roll increases.

Not on the Regular Program

In April there was a big wedding which entailed several visits to the Court House; in June the brother of the first groom was married, and again I had to appear at the Court House as interpreter. Both brides were new arrivals from Hong Kong. Then there was a special trip to Victoria with a sick woman who could speak no English and who required an operation.

I attended two Conferences for Chinese workers—one in our church and the other in Vancouver. I was also guest speaker at several Thank Offering meetings and W.M.S. services.

The day after school started in September my telephone rang and another duty was thrust upon me. Kerry had run into difficulty because his English was inadequate and he was always getting into mischief. The Principal suggested that we take him into Kindergarten. This was impossible as he is 11. I taught him mornings and afternoons for a month, took him around with me and had him help with the handwork in the kindergarten. I finally persuaded the school to take him back and now there are no further complaints.

During the year I have made trips to Alberni and Duncan. My work has been greatly helped by the acquisition in June of a car and a driver's license.

The Kindergarten Story

The Kindergarten has progressed under the able leadership of Mrs. Bernie Traynor. During the first half of the year there were eight pupils; in June three graduated into Grade School. In September we had many requests from Canadian mothers in the neighbourhood to enroll their children, so we decided to make it a mixed group, and from September to the end of November there were twelve pupils. In December two little girls arrived from China; Mary is 9 and Lilly is 7, but they are attending Kindergarten until they acquire sufficient English to enter Grade School. The experiment of a mixed group has worked out excellently both for the Chinese children and the Canadian children. Among the Canadian children are several from foster homes. Little Chris. is one of quite a large family, now all separated and placed in foster homes because the mother has been confined to a mental hospital. Mavis is a lonely little girl whose mother is alcoholic, and the only bright spot in her little life is the kindergarten. Many mornings Mrs. Traynor has to dress her in order to get her there. She was away sick for a couple of weeks around Christmas and when she came back the other children made such a fuss over her and made it so apparent they were glad to see her that little Mavis, just 5 years of age, was so overcome with joy that she burst into tears.

C. MADELINE BOCK

Community Worker,
Okanagan Valley, B.C.

The most energetic and ambitious group in our church is the W.A. This year the chow mein dinner and bazaar was bigger and better than ever. More than 600 dinners were served.

Perhaps the most interesting (and the lengthiest) of our meetings each year is the one held early in January. It includes hymn practice, worship, Bible study, business, games, supper, then more games and even refreshments. For supper the main dish is the appetizing Japanese food called sukiyaki, cooked in an electric frying pan placed in the middle of each table. It takes about eight hours for this meeting, but it is part of the social life of the group in the winter when they are free from garden and orchard work.

At our December meeting the W.A. decided to affiliate with the Woman's Missionary Society. This was joyful news for Mrs. Kabayama and myself, for it is the goal towards which we have been working for over two years.

Enthusiastic Groups

Our Young Adult Group has grown in numbers and in enthusiasm. During the year we have made studies of prayer and worship, and have learned how to prepare worship services. Some of our activities, included a social evening in the new and beautiful Saint Paul's Church (when we were privileged to worship in the sanctuary), a film night for our congregation, practices for a choir for the Easter service, providing flowers for Mother's Day, and entertaining the mothers. One Sunday in March we drove down to Naramata to see the Christian Leadership Training School, and our members were greatly impressed with what they saw and heard.

Perhaps the happiest and most rewarding part of each week is the hour I spend on Sunday morning with my Teacher Training Class of three boys and three girls. We spend the full time in Bible study, more than half of it on the life of Jesus.

During my first summer in the work at Kelowna one thing that troubled me was to see many of our women working long hours in the gardens and orchards. I couldn't persuade them to let me help with the picking. This past summer I was ready with a plan. In addition to the regular Vacation School I could hold another for pre-school children at the time when the mother would be busiest. With the help of some intermediate girls I could keep the children busy and happy all morning so the mothers and older girls could work without interruption. We called it a kindergarten, and carried it on for two weeks. It worked well, and was greatly appreciated by the mothers. Besides, we enjoyed it immensely.

English classes are a very important part of my work because they have gained for me an entrance into the homes in a way that nothing else (except kindergarten) could have done.

In early spring these classes must give place to the work of gardens and orchards—but not without a real closing. The first one began with a banquet. The invited guests were Rev. and Mrs. Kabayama, the lady with whom I live, and the husbands not enrolled in the class. A program followed. It opened with the singing of "O Canada", and continued with readings by several students, and a spelling contest. Several simple plays followed, every student taking part in at least one. We had studied the Lord's Prayer in class, and a number of students memorized it. One wrote it on the blackboard with only one mistake. (I wonder how many people of any church congregation could do as well!)

A Very Happy Christmas

Saturday is chosen for our Christmas celebrations because most of the people are free that day. The service begins at two o'clock with a congregation second in size only to that of Easter Sunday. As there are many young people who do not understand a Japanese sermon, there is also a story or sermonette in English. After the service we have a program. The most humorous number this year was the play put on by the English class. The Japanese are born actors, and how they love a play! The only help they needed was with pronunciation and expression. The program closed with a Nativity Pageant which was the combined effort of Sunday School, Young People, and Young Adults.

Intermission follows the program, when we sit around in family groups for supper. In due time Santa arrives with a gift for each member of the Sunday School. Movies are shown next. There is always a special one for the children. The films for the grown-ups are usually of Japan, and are very beautiful.

It has been an inspiration to worship with the Japanese congregations at Vernon and at Summerland, and afterwards to join in fellowship around the supper table.

The Easter service at Vernon was most impressive when 27 Japanese of varying ages were baptized and welcomed into the church. Much of the credit for this goes to Rev. and Mrs. Kabayama, and Miss Helen Hurd (retired W.M.S. missionary) for their faithful service and untiring efforts.

My trips into the Kootenays twice a year to visit New Denver, Slocan, Passmore, and Grand Forks, are not only enjoyable but inspirational as well.

Many Wonderful Changes

The year 1959 has brought about many wonderful changes in the Japanese Vancouver Church work. At the beginning of the year the Issei congregation moved into Columbia Street United where the Isseis and the Niseis formed a family church. The family services once a month have wonderfully served to bring the Isseis and Niseis closer into a family union. We have been able to organize a bilingual Sunday School in March for the Vancouver Japanese children who have recently arrived from Japan and for those who do not attend any other church. A few of these Japanese Canadian children have since joined the Sunday Schools in their local churches. We were able to conduct a joint Vacation Bible School with Miss Fulton and the children of the Columbia Street morning congregation. We are also grateful to the First United Church in opening its doors for us to start an English class one night a week for the Kiha Niseis as many of them live in that area. In all of these new activities I have been happy to work closely with Rev. and Mrs. Mitsui. A young Japanese Christian student from Japan doing graduate studies in social work at the University of British Columbia has been helping us at Sunday School.

Work at Steveston, in Fraser Valley and Haney

The young people's group in Steveston which met every Saturday divided into two age groups in the fall—junior and senior. The program followed was recreation, outings and having speakers. Some of their projects were a talent show and a bazaar to raise funds for a week-end camp at Camp Fircom where Mr. Forsyth (a student minister from First Church) and Miss Mary Sahata (teacher) gave us their fine leadership. Another younger teenage group together with a few Kiha Niseis meet every other Friday night following a similar program to the one above.

The C.G.I.T., Explorers and Mission Band groups meet weekly and each has had a full program. For some of their projects they have contributed by collecting clothing for the Japan flood relief, stockings for Korea, collecting canned goods for the unemployed, making salt box cradles for port workers, making up towel kits, "checkpo" parcels and scrapbooks. The highlight of our mission study was the C.G.I.T. sponsored rally inviting all groups studying missions in the church to it and the new C.G.I.T. girls received the friendship badges from the local W.M.S. auxiliary.

The Baby Band children and mothers meet weekly. In June the mothers and children attended church together at a "rosebud service". Once a week I am with the five-year-olds in kindergarten and find it rewarding as I present the Bible stories to them.

During the summer Vacation Bible School 104 children in Steveston registered and spent ten happy days in worship, Bible study, recreation and handcrafts. This was accomplished only by the untiring help and leadership of mothers and C.G.I.T. girls.

We continue to serve the newcomers by teaching them English at our night school. At the cottage meetings for the Isseis under Dr. Runnall's sympathetic leadership, the Japanese are growing in faith and deepening spiritually.

In Fraser Valley, I continue to meet with the children every other Saturday in Haney and Surrey. Vacation Schools in each centre during the summer were appreciated. In Haney the children have started to go to the local Sunday School and the mothers also attend church occasionally. At Christmas for the first time we were able to combine our group with the local Mission Band children and mothers at a party. Rev. Mr. Fearne and Mrs. Welk (Mission Band leader of Haney United) are helping greatly to make the Japanese feel at home in the local church.

Patients in the different hospitals welcome visits. Calling on the Japanese in all these areas is a great privilege, and gives me the opportunity of realizing the problems of a minority people who have lived here and those who have recently arrived.

Church Services and Prayer Groups

The evening service at the Chinese Church is interesting if not a little confusing to the visitor. The hymns are sung at the same time in three languages—Cantonese, the language of most of the Chinese people here, Mandarin, used by a small group from north or west China, and English by the younger folk. The numbers on the hymn boards are in English and Chinese and the Bible is read in both languages. Three Sundays a month the sermon is preached in Chinese and the fourth is in English as are all the morning services.

Our minister leads a home prayer meeting each month. The missionary assists and helps to gather the people together. The little group of women who meet for special prayer for the spiritual life of the church and for the welfare of all its activities has indeed a very important function to perform. Prayer is offered for persons in special need and, before the Chinese Conference held in our church this year, each delegate was remembered in prayer.

There are many situations which are really heart-breaking in a community such as this. Many of the sons and daughters of the old men who have been here for so many years are over the age-limit for admission to Canada. They have never been allowed to bring them in and now they have lost all hope of ever being united with their families. Their little income makes it impossible to return to China. Still others have their loved ones in Red China and in many cases cannot even receive news of them. Some have brought out their wives and found that they could not adjust to the new way of living. Some of the Christians are doing a good piece of work visiting other new Canadian Chinese and helping them to become adjusted to this very strange land.

Women's Groups

There are about forty registered in the Women's English Classes, which meet twice a week. At the close of the language session a gospel message is shared. This is often the first contact which newcomers to Canada have with the church and its message.

The W.M.S. Auxiliary of Chinese Christian women was able to exceed its allocation this year and, in addition, to assist the younger groups within the church. One of the very happy events was the supper provided by the members for the C.G.I.T. Group and their mothers. The members are now busily engaged in the study of the needs of Africa. An evening meeting was held to which all church members and their friends were invited and the film "I'll Sing Not Cry" was shown.

The group of young mothers organized two years ago is flourishing. During the devotional talks, business and handwork projects, the little children are cared for by our kindergarten teacher, Mrs. Kenneth Maah. These young mothers contributed generously to the various booths of the Church Bazaar and assisted in the Tea Room. The highlight of the year was the Garden Tea held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Won Leung.

Another group of young mothers was formed early in 1959 in the south-east Vancouver and Burnaby areas. The meetings are held in the homes, and interest is expressed in Child Psychology, Religion in the Home and related subjects. These young mothers joined with the other group for their Christmas Party.

Younger Groups

The C.G.I.T. Graduate Group has not met regularly this year due largely to increased university responsibilities, teaching in the Sunday Church School and working in the Young People's Union but Christian fellowship has been held intact by occasional get-togethers.

The students of the Senior Department of the Church School have been sharing in a teacher-training program. Opportunities have been provided for observation in Kindergarten, Primary and Junior Departments with discussion following regarding methods, etc. They have completed their production of a set of 25 slides depicting events in the time of Moses. Records have been made from the tape-recording of the commentary which accompanies the slides. Pictures in costume were taken in various parts of the city, including such scenes as "Moses coming down the mountain with the commandments" and the "Baby Moses with his mother and sister." The boys printed the commandments on slabs of slate and from a boat snapped the picture of Pharaoh's daughter and her maidens and the baby Moses in the reeds by the shore of Lost Lagoon near the entrance to Stanley Park. The pictures of Pharaoh were taken in our own church building.

It was a real joy to see these eager teen-agers working so enthusiastically together on a fine project and an even greater satisfaction to have them all return in the fall to regular Church School Sessions and ask for more Bible Study.

Thirty boys and girls of the Junior-Intermediate Departments of the Vacation School spent happy days together during July in worship, study and handwork projects. Some of the teen-age boys of the senior department of the Church School accepted leadership for the first time.

Never Monotonous

My work here is always interesting and challenging and never monotonous. We have several graded English classes in our church for non-Canadian women, and I taught one of these until last fall.

Our week-day kindergarten continues to meet the needs of many Chinese families in the community and prepares the youngsters for public school. Since June the Mission Band has been led by Mrs. Andrew Ko, mother of one of the children. She is assisted by Miss Phyllis Moy, and the children can hardly wait for their Mission Band meetings to see what they are going to learn and do next. This is the only mid-week Christian Education group in our church which is led entirely by lay members of our congregation.

Working with juniors is never dull, and our junior girls' group of Explorers is no exception. Last year besides having studies on "Our North American Neighbors" and on "Our Bible", we did an Exploration on "Our Own Church", at which time the girls contributed their offerings to buy a doll for our church's new nursery. We spent three glorious Saturday afternoons in June "Exploring God's World" in Stanley Park, Queen Elizabeth Arborarium, and at the beach. Mrs. Kim Yew assisted me with this group until June.

The C.G.I.T. in our church are really striving to fulfill their purpose—to know God, and to serve others. They planned and led worship services in our own church in Christian Youth Week and in a Christmas Vesper Service. The girls have assisted the church by serving at church dinners, baby-sitting for our new minister and his wife, and helping at the church bazaar. They also collected used clothing for Hong Kong. One of the big events of the year was the Mother and Daughter Banquet in June, in which the C.G.I.T. re-affiliated with the W.M.S. and the Explorers affiliated with them for the first time.

During the year, the Young People of our church adopted the Commission system recommended for Y.P.U., and they are now carrying on almost entirely on their own. Four members attended the Y.P.U. Leadership Training Camp at Naramata last summer, and one of the group was elected Stewardship Convener of Presbytery last spring.

"Gems" from the Primary Department

A Vacation Bible School was held again last summer in our church. Mrs. Cheng and Mrs. Ko led the Kindergarten Department and I headed the Primary Department, with the assistance of a few other helpers. The kindergarteners studied about "God's Plan for Happy Homes" and the Primary children—"Learning More About God's World." In connection with this theme, several members of our church provided transportation so we could see some of "God's World" in Stanley Park. While visiting the animals in the Children's Zoo one child remarked, "Look, teacher, the sheep is smiling at me!" I could write a book about the many delightful and humorous experiences of leading a C.V.S. but let me share some of these "gems" with you. We had been encouraging the children to bring some objects to school which would remind us of God's beautiful world. One day, little Randy Lee, a visitor from Victoria, put up his hand and very soberly and apologetically said, "Please, teacher, I couldn't bring my crab because my family had him for supper last night." The children looked shocked and couldn't decide whether to laugh or remain serious until I replied, "Isn't it wonderful how God provides food for us too?" And then there was little Georgie Jung who insisted that I should take a dime to buy a cup of coffee. (His father had just opened a new Coffee Shop!)

To lead others to God through worship is always a special privilege and I have continued to find it so in our Sunday School's Primary Department.

HAZEL E. HEFFREN

Chinese Christian Community Centre,
Victoria, B.C.

Having gone on furlough the 1st of July, I find that it takes some remembering to bring back things to be reported for the first half of the year.

Helpful Young People

A new minister, Rev. P. S. Mo, came to our Chinese congregation in Victoria from Australia, and we all found ourselves busy trying to help him get settled and get his bearings in a new land. The young men of the Young People's Union were generous about giving their Saturdays to help him fix the apartment in the church building which serves as a manse.

These young men also used some of their Saturdays in the spring to take the junior-age Sunday School boys and girls on hikes. After going up a mountain just outside of Victoria, they still were all in fine form but I fell into bed and slept for twelve hours straight.

The high school young people wanted to do something to get some money for the fund for the improvement of the church sanctuary. A spring fun fair with bazaar table, popcorn and cold drinks table, and many kinds of games as well as a spooky fun-house was planned. To this, the older young people, added a chow mein tea, and the ladies of the W.M.S. a bazaar and souvenir table. The young brides, recently arrived from China, and studying English in the night school, came in the afternoons and sewed baby clothes for the sale, after which they took the patterns home for their own use.

Good Enrolments

Night school, held three nights a week, and taught by volunteers from other churches, mostly W.M.S. members, continued to keep up a good enrolment. I found myself with a regular class of women who had not been able to read and write in Chinese, much less in English, who the other teachers thought were not very serious about learning. Perhaps not much English was accomplished, but some good friendships were established.

Kindergarten enrolment increased with the spring time, and brought us a few more mothers interested in helping in various ways. Some drove cars to provide outings for the children, one of which was to a truck farm with animals. Our pupils were very much interested in the strawberries growing in the field. One of the mothers bought them a box from the large farm stand and passed one to each child. The oldest little boy surprised us all by saying, "No, Thank you, they aren't washed!" When we persuaded him that the people who picked them had just washed them when they put them into the boxes, he was well satisfied.

A Child's Sermon

Sunday School was handicapped the first part of the year by the resignation of the superintendent and teacher of the kindergarten class. After a few weeks, one of the mothers took the class on condition that I go each week and help her with the lesson.

Her little daughter, one morning in kindergarten, gave me the best sermon I had heard for a long time, and the message I shall leave with you all:

We had been making a Monday morning clean-up of broken beer bottles and debris which litter the church yard after the week-end influx of people who have no place to go, and nothing to do but drink and gamble. As this week-end had been unusually troublesome, I said to the children, "We can't just think those people are all bad and we are good. Look, we have a church for the Chinese people to help us to know how God wants us to live, but we have no church or mission down here to help these people. I think God would like us to do something about this, but I don't know what to do." Not for a long time will I forget little Lillian putting her hands together and closing her eyes, and saying, "Teacher, I know what us do. We pray God show us how make a church and help those people too."

Furlough Study

As my home is near Chicago, I asked to be able to study this year at the Federated Theological Faculties of the University of Chicago. This contact with many of the great minds of the Church is very stimulating but very humbling too. The thing that has made the greatest impression on me is the deep seriousness given to the study of the Bible, to every bit of it, not just scattered portions!

Another deep impression has been made by the course on Ethics in Society, and the way in which some churches are trying to make a direct attack on large social problems by working with the people in the areas involved.

EUNICE L. PETERS

Chinese Christian Community Centre,
Victoria, B.C.

1959 completed a furlough and launched me on the first stage of my last term of work before retirement.

The Mountains and the Prairies

The spring of 1959 saw us attending the second All-Canada Chinese Workers' Conference, held this time in Vancouver the end of April and the beginning of May. Between the conclusion of this Conference and the opening of Dominion Board, I had my first motor trip through the interior of B.C. as guest of an old N.B. school friend who lives in Vancouver. A thousand miles of incomparable beauty and grandeur was delightful, though my capacity for sheer joy seems to have been somewhat diminished since I spent my last two years in China under the Communists.

On the trip east to Dominion Board, as we left the foothills in Alberta I found myself settling back preparing to endure the prairies. The mountains and rushing waters of the far west have always excited and thrilled me, but I admit that I never really saw the prairies until this trip in May, 1959. As our train carried us farther and farther into the level land, I became conscious of the growing exhilaration of a travelling companion across the aisle. Finally, turning from her window and meeting my eyes, she gestured to my window and said, "Look! we are back on the prairies. You can see for miles!" My answer was, "But what is there to see?" With the enthusiasm of a teacher and the skill of a surgeon performing a delicate operation on blind eyes, she showed me her prairies. I saw every mineral tint and hue as the plough turned acres of sod. I saw "miles and miles" of the delicate green of young grain. I saw the colors change as the season advanced until again I saw "miles and miles" of the ripening grain. I saw "miles and miles" of purity with each new fall of winter snow. And when I saw her extensive sunrises and sunsets I realized that my N.B. sunrises and sunsets might have seemed circumscribed to her. I hope she reads this report, for that one-session course on "The Prairies of Canada" was, I think, one of the most valuable learning experiences of my furlough.

Dominion Board

All W.M.S. missionaries on furlough are invited to attend Dominion Board as guests of the Board, and as part of the rehabilitation program aimed at preparing us for our new term of work. And it does just that! There we meet old friends and make new ones. We find ourselves in love with the new missionaries. It gives us renewed courage, for we know that whatever changes the Church may be planning to make organization-wise, the work of the W.M.S.—God's work to which He has called women—will go on. The other delegates whom we meet there are women well worth knowing. At Annesley Hall between sessions it meant something to drop into one of the rooms and find a delegate on her knees in prayer, or to pause a moment meeting in the halls to exchange stimulating ideas.

At Dominion Board, too, our loyalty to the organization is revived. I realized afresh that Dominion Board Executive is the servant of every contributing Woman's Missionary Society across Canada. It has the responsibility of seeing the whole picture, and must make W.M.S. resources meet needs throughout Canada, as well as answering calls from other continents.

From Board I went to Sackville, N.B., and attended Maritime Conference. It was an enjoyable experience which put me in a mood for my visit in N.B. When I went on to Fredericton our Presbyterial President, a former classmate of mine, had no difficulty in arranging speaking engagements for my four or five free evenings. These talks I was happy to give.

Back in the Work

It has been a great joy to me to be back in the work of the Chinese United Church here in Victoria. Never before have I had such wonderful and dependable help in the teaching program. Mrs. Rundle, a friend of long-standing, saw when she came over in September that there was much more work than I could do. She quietly looked up an apartment here, went back to Vancouver and arranged affairs so that she might come to Victoria, and threw herself wholeheartedly into the work. She has done full time at the kindergarten, has taught at night school, and has tutored the overflow between whiles. Others help too, as in other years, and the fall term has flown by so quickly and pleasantly and busily.

The various church groups are in flourishing condition—the Sunday School, the Y.P.U., the Hi-C, Mother and Baby Band and Mission Band.

My appointment here is for one year, as we look forward to the return of the younger missionary who did such excellent work here last year. My next year's report will come from an as yet undetermined station, but as your prayers must follow me there, they must also be continued for the work here.

STUDENT WORK

KATHARINE B. HOCKIN

On assignment to the Student Christian Movement of Canada

Thoughts on the Canadian University

The Canadian University—have you thought of it at all? The factor of mushrooming numbers in many colleges makes for teachers that have only time to lecture while the receptive or passive student takes notes and writes the necessary exams. In some places the attitude is very casual to genuine scholarship. One wonders what contribution the university makes to character and value in living that may not be altogether measured by passing and failing; in other words, what sort of people come out of this process as the intellectual elite of Canada?

Our tradition treasures the idea of a university where thought is free and where young minds are open to discover and quest in the most adventurous areas of the intellect and of science. But this means an active encounter with both the most profound and the most rebellious of scholars, and being big enough to face the implications of a faith that affirms that God is Lord of this realm too; Lord, because He comprehends it all, not because He is the authoritative boss who writes the text book that we must simply memorize and sheeplike, obey. The obedience of the Christian in the academic demands of "loving God with our minds" is something that young Christians are ill-equipped to bring to the yeasty campuses of 1960.

A Frontier of Christian Witness

The Canadian university of today becomes a Frontier of Christian witness and affirmation for our day, and there are many resources now available for the job. Many denominations are strengthening their work by putting denominational chaplains and full-time workers on the campus. The Student Christian Movement itself has a fairly large staff which is trying to meet new challenges as they arise. There is an effort through the Canadian Council of Churches to co-ordinate all the plans and the resources of the working staff in an organization now known as the University Christian Movement. The S.C.M. is loyally within this framework but caught in the tension of being a "student movement" which is a grass roots one, owing to its policy and direction being formulated in the annual National Council where students hear reports and plan for the coming year.

At this time in the development of Canadian universities there is an urgent challenge to Christian forces to REALISTICALLY ASSESS THE NEEDS of the academic world and the task to be done, and then to set about the task with some effective deploying of the personnel available.

Formerly as a member of the staff of the United Church Training School, this missionary was part of the training program of the Church for its women workers and there was in the air all the time the concern for more students—more recruits for the work of the Church at home and overseas. The lack of recruits is certainly evident. But the present year's assignment to the S.C.M. as their special travelling visitor for this academic season has altered somewhat, in my mind at least, the judgment of the Student Movement as so greatly failing the Church. The problem is much greater.

The university in Canada today reflects in almost exaggerated fashion the secular, atheistic and agnostic influences and tendencies of the mid-twentieth century. This we probably all know. What has come with a fresh shock in the encounter of this reporter is the peripheral and shallow impact of young people who call themselves Christian, but whose Christian witness to the university is practically nil, and a multiplication of denominational chaplains, or even of S.C.M. secretaries, who are sent in to gather the Christians together in comfortable little huddles of cosy fellowship, will not really touch the problem in any salient fashion.

Problems of the S.C.M.

The Student Christian Movement will need continuing understanding and financial support from the churches if it is to touch the work which is expected of it. In one of the registration checks in a Canadian university this fall, someone commented on the type of co-operation between campus Christian groups. "The Anglican chaplain took off the Anglican cards, the United Church chaplain pocketed those of United Church students, and the Presbyterian representative those of his denomination. What was left for the S.C.M. were the cards of the rest including the atheists, advocates of free love, agnostics and a few other crack-pots." How in such a situation does the encounter of Christian intellectual and doubter come about?

So here is the Frontier, and this needs the warm understanding of church folk generally. What would you say of an S.C.M. secretary who starts out to preach in the open air on the campus in a noon hour break? This is being tried. Or of students who decide that they should go in the strength of their prayer fellowship to spend an evening visiting their fellow students? Or a group pledging themselves to honest religious study as a disciplined group over the period of the summer and through the year? Do you know of the work camps where students live and work together? And there are professors who give of their time and interest to discussing endlessly with students their responsibilities in the witness of the Christian in the religious life of their universities. We need to strengthen all these hands and hearts and heads with prayer and concern and funds, and perhaps people too, as in the case of the writer this current year.

FOREWORD

The recent tragic events in the Union of South Africa and the disturbed conditions in Northern Rhodesia form a sombre background for any report of this past year's work. As Christians, and as those concerned in the work of the Church in Africa, we cannot but feel deeply involved in this whole situation.

In the midst of this acute tension and at times violent disturbances, the Christian Church has to carry on its work of witness and service. Christians of any land cannot stand aloof from such events, and especially in Africa today, they are called upon to make plain to governments and peoples alike, the principles of freedom and the inherent worth and dignity of every individual person, of whatever race. "The winds of change are blowing in Africa today" as Prime Minister Harold MacMillan so plainly put it. These "winds of change" will have a profound effect on the Church in Africa and on our relationship to it.

ANGOLA

New regulations regarding the training of nurses have come into force in Angola recently. All nurses must now secure Government diplomas in order to work freely. This means they must take their basic training in a Government hospital. Because of this situation the three year nursing course at the Dondi hospital has been discontinued, and a committee is studying the possibility of a short course or courses for nurses who have the Government diploma.

A generous gift of $10,000 came to the hospital at Chissamba this year through our Society from Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Bridgman and family and friends as a memorial to their son Donald who was killed in the Second World War. To this was added an anonymous gift of $1,000 for the same purpose. A children's wing is being built with these gifts and this will mean more accommodation and greater efficiency in caring for children of the whole area. Dr. Betty Bridgman is at present one of the doctors at Chissamba.

Means School reports an attendance of 249 this year. The General Assembly has asked for some changes in the courses of this school, but again lack of staff is a difficulty.

The secondary school course at Currie Institute (Professional and Technical School) prepared a class of 17 for the examinations at the end of the second year of the Ciclo Preparatorio and all 17 were successful. The school had a registration of 63 this year in the first year and 24 in the second year which is a notable increase. A significant number of these are girls.

The need for more young men and women to secure an education is more and more apparent if the Church is to have adequate leadership, and if Christian young people are to take their place in society.

This means an increase in scholarship funds. The American Board and the Board of Overseas Missions are making grants for students to go to Lisbon for higher education. As soon as young women are prepared to do the same, we should be ready to assist with scholarship grants. The residence for African students in Lisbon to which we made a grant last year, was purchased, and is now in operation under the direction of Mrs. John T. Tucker. There have been over 20 students from Angola and Mozambique in residence this year. This institution is of great value to African students as a real home.

NORTHERN RHODESIA

The political situation in Northern Rhodesia has been disturbed throughout this past year. The Monckton Commission was appointed by the Government of the United Kingdom to study the question of the political structure of the Federation, and is at present in Northern Rhodesia hearing evidence. The African population of the territory has always been opposed to the Federation, and especially to any move towards dominion status. They desire their political freedom.

Women are beginning to take an active part in the meetings of the two Presbyteries and the Synod. Several women attended the Synod in 1959 as delegates from Presbyteries.

The Women's Training Course in Christian Home Making at Mindolo continued to make its very valuable contribution to the life of the Church during this past year. Mrs. Essie Johnson, the first director, was home on furlough for six months this year and during her absence Mrs. Henry Makulu, the assistant director, carried the full responsibility. Four courses of four months each have now been held with approximately 24 women in each. In between these courses, a one-month refresher course is held for graduates of the four-months' courses. The results of these courses are being felt throughout the Church. In an area of rapid social change such as the Copperbelt, the building of stable family life is essential for the development of community in general and the Church in particular. The Synod is asking that a few women from the northern area be admitted to this course, and that a similar training centre be set up in the northern area.

Mrs. Makulu is going to Geneva with her husband this year for a period of further training, and it is anticipated that when they return Mrs. Makulu will become the director. We have included in the 1961 Estimates an additional grant of £500 to provide salary for another much needed member of staff.

The Ecumenical Centre at Mindolo has also been going through a period of rapid development. The Literacy and Writing Centre was opened on July 1st, 1959, under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Sadler. Our Society made grants of $500 in 1959 and 1960 towards scholarships including travel, for courses at this Centre. Two from Angola participated in the first course, along with 18 others (16 Africans and four Europeans in all).

The Course of the Days at Benguela

A strong wind from the sea blowing the dust, a donkey braying and a goat calling her child, motorized bicycles heard from time to time, roses in bloom, bouganvillias and the colorful canopy of a flamboyant tree, children's voices, out for recess; dry and sunny, it is December in Benguela. My little screened-in porch commands a view of the distant foothills and of the long line of railway track, which runs by the house, just one hundred feet from the front gate.

What of the year soon drawing to a close? Common days like this one: (From diary, May 1)—"Two Bible classes, some exams typed, writing local letters, planning Sunday's sermon, evening class with Job on Book of Acts, because he works in the city by day but wants to take the Bible exam to go to Currie Institute in September, . . . at Young People's group at night."

Common days, punctuated by special events such as, the Week of Prayer, including the Women's World Day of Prayer, spent by my two girls and me in Baia Farta, the centre of a dozen busy fisheries, reached by bus from here: the one-day spiritual retreat held up the hill from Lobito on the Saturday before Palm Sunday, and attended by women from all the groups of the Coast Church, when we meditated together on the events of Holy Week; the Sunday get-together in Lobito of the four Young People's groups of the Coast Church when, after the morning service, some of us visited the local jail and held a service there; the week's course for catechists who teach school, given in Caluvango which was attended by sixteen very appreciative young men.

Church activities include a Monday evening Bible Study group, two women's groups weekly in the afternoon, Saturday night's Sunday School teachers' preparatory class, my Sunday School class for young people preparing for Church membership, and attendance at the Young People's Society, of which I was chosen counsellor. Each year in September the Young People celebrate the anniversary of their founding, and this year at that time presented two Bible plays. The preparation of a play, from the time of its translation into Portuguese or Umbundu to the time of its presentation, is a real project. The Young People use the Portuguese language in all their activities.

Introducing Some Friends

I should like you to meet some of the friends who have crossed the pages of 1959. Carlota a faithful Church member, has learned to read recently but continues to come to Laubach reading classes, wanting to gain practice. Her husband, Alfredo, is a mason but doesn't bring home very much from his wages since his besetting sin is drink.

However, he too is interested in learning to read. Matilda does laundry for the Railway Company. Her illegitimate son, Mario, a bright boy, is in the "entrance class" preparing for admission to High School. Matilda too is learning to read. She had been a Roman Catholic until about a year ago. Her problem is that a man who works in a fishery, where he has a wife and child, has provided her with the house where she is living and comes to visit her from time to time, wanting to have her as his wife. Ana Abilio is a child of the Coast, her parents being among the earliest Christian settlers in Benguela. Friends' gifts have made it possible for her to go on to Means School in Dondi, where she is now in her second year. How proud of her, her family is! They were one and all at the station to welcome her when she arrived home for the long dry season holidays this year. While she was home she led the women's Laubach reading class and had school each afternoon for the children of her sanjala. "Sekulu" Londake is a man probably in his forties. He was sold into slavery by his family and had a sad childhood and youth. His sister, as a punishment for his having taken something from the fields, plunged his hands into boiling water leaving them scarred and the fingers shrunken. This year he consented to try to learn to read, but doesn't find it easy. However his memory for Bible is remarkable. Whether from the Old or New Testament he knows the stories by heart. "Sekulu" Kulei and "Maikulu" Chilombo are a dear little elderly couple who keep goats. Because of a prolonged illness of Chilombo's, Kulei became a little weary and Chilombo, resenting it, left him and went to her relatives. But after a week's absence a reconciliation was effected and she is now back home where each helps the other as before.

Benguela is very grateful that after two years without a pastor, we now have an experienced and dedicated minister lent to us by the Bailundo Church, Rev. Horacio Rodrigues Arao; and equally valuable in the service of the Church is his wife, Dona Julia. And so the house next door is full again with eleven in all—their two selves, seven children, a helper and a little cousin.

The small Portuguese congregation, which began having regular Sunday afternoon services here in the African Church a year ago, took the step in June of renting for that purpose a hall more centrally located in the city.

The Church of the Coast is constantly striving to work toward a certain unity. The participating congregations of the city area are: two in Lobito, the African and the Portuguese-speaking congregations, the Church in Catumbela, which town is between Lobito and Benguela, and the Benguela Church.

KATE M. RUTHERFORD Educational Missionary,
Bunjei, Angola

What a beautiful land Africa is, and how fortunate we are to be here! Africa is not the isolated continent it was thirty years ago when we first arrived. And as the years pass the sense of being cut off from the rest of the world fades with a gradual, or sometimes with a sudden, realization that this is home, that one is a part of this great continent, a part of the pulsing life of a great people.

Four guests from a Congregational Church in Garden City, New York, visited the Missions in October. Lillian Taylor's parents are with her now and she brought them to Bunjei in November. In December Mrs. Burgess visited here. It was only yesterday that we said good-bye to the Moderator of The United Church of Canada, and his brother. What an honour it was to have Dr. MacQueen with us. He gave us stimulating and vivid glimpses of the Church and of life in general in Canada.

Educational Problems

During the last year a change has come in the education of the children of the most advanced people. Two government schools have opened up 28 and 25 miles from here and 32 of our pupils have been accepted in them. A Christian woman is sent by the parents to each school to act as matron, and on Sundays sometimes the children are visited by a pastor, deacon or teacher and service is held. The children have done quite well in school, but the real fly in the ointment is that they have no Bible lessons, without which they are not eligible for entrance into the Means School or Currie Institute. The parents are having difficulty in trying to solve this very real problem.

The station school with 387 pupils takes a certain amount of administration and the monthly statistics including those of the four regional schools which have pupils registered with the government take endless time and patience. I teach the four senior classes Bible, two on Luke and two on The Acts of the Apostles. This along with the women's Sunday School class is usually the most satisfying work I do all week.

The government examinations were held in July as usual, and our pupils all passed the examinations. Of course our numbers are small. In Means School we have only four girls, and in Currie Institute only ten boys. In colleges of Liceu standing in Nova Lisboa, we have eight boys but only three of them have had the full course at Currie Institute. This is a result, of course, of the parents' great desire to have their children advance, at any cost, in the government schools.

Journey into the Dongo Country

In August we had a never-to-be-forgotten journey down into the Dongo country. Our whole missionary staff went, including the four children, and everybody else who could find a hand-hold on the truck or the bright red jeep. It was a trip of 160 miles, but we were in camp at Saminganjo in time to get settled before dark. The good folk there had built two lovely grass houses which accommodated us very nicely, and what a reception they gave us: When the bell rang for evening prayers the nicely built little adobe church was packed to overflowing and we were welcomed all over again.

My visits in the day school were most interesting. There were 30 pupils, 18 girls, 11 boys and one married woman with what the teacher had explained in a letter as "much desire to learn". We also visited the site of what will be the pastoral centre which they hope will have an adequate supply of water for irrigation purposes. It takes plenty of courage to leave the security of life near the Mission and start all over again. Those folk are our pioneer missionaries and they need the prayers and support of the parent church in Bunjei and of the churches across the seas. It was a thrilling experience to be with them for a few days.

Vocational Schools

When the Vocational School in Lutamo closed early in April and our seven girls came home, four of them went to teach women's schools in the villages, and two to teach two-month dry season vocational schools for girls in the centres. One of the two girls who had completed the two-year special course in Lutamo, taught here at the station a vocational class of 18 girls chosen from the older girls in the second class of the day school. Fidelina worked very hard and her enthusiasm carried the class through two months of intensive study and hard work so that all but five were ready to go to the second year of the special course.

In October we started a class here, four girls doing the first year of the special course, hoping to finish the next year in Lutamo, and nine in the Home Economics course, following their two months in a dry season school in the centres, where the chief emphasis is given to reading. Mr. Webb and his carpenters and masons remade, for the school, one of the old adobe houses here on the station. Consequently we have adequate accommodation for 14 girls, a teacher, and an older woman who comes in to sleep there.

Visits to the Villages

This year more villages were visited than last year, some being about 225 miles from here. I was accompanied by my friend and co-worker, Miss Emi Hama, and also by a young man, Mr. Timóteo Chingalule. The latter was trained in agriculture at Currie Institute and had experience in that line at our largest leprosy camp here. He has a very happy disposition and was taken into the hearts of the people everywhere.

One week we spent in a Ganguela village where the doors were made of reeds tied together; many houses had only one room, which served as kitchen, bedroom and living room. There were few tables or chairs. There were no seats in the school building but each person brought along a stool and placed it in line with the others. We were pleased with the interest shown by the people and their seeming responsiveness to new knowledge and suggestions.

Everywhere the people were very hospitable, loaning us what they considered one of the best houses and bringing us food. We lived in a tick-infested windowless house which had never been finished, and also in another house that had cement floors, tile roof, was nicely whitewashed, had a cupboard for dishes, large dining-table and chairs, glass windows, etc. These were the extremes and we were in all kinds in between. When the walls are well finished and pretty, one is stuck to know where to hang one's bags! Three things which are still not commonly found but I consider in the nature of necessity rather than luxury are: glass windows, cement or tile floors and ceilings.

A Choir Camp

In August we had the pleasure of attending a choir camp. We led discussions on Bible study, agriculture and finally finances in the mornings, and in the afternoons a discussion on "What it means to be a Christian" in our pleasures, as stewards and in our giving, in our homes, etc. They decided that a Christian should refrain from intoxicating drinks; and should avoid the dancing parties as husbands go but not their wives and there is always much immorality. The young people organized themselves into a group with a high purpose of helping each other to live up to the best they know. A clever, capable young medical dispenser, Senhor Enoque, was the chief leader. He has a fine home, well furnished, owns a motorcycle, etc. and paid for most of it out of his coffee of which he has many thousand plants. In the evenings we used transparencies and filmstrips showing the effect of good and bad nutrition and the cause of some diseases such as hookworm. A colored film showing pictures on the Life of Christ was much appreciated.

Practical Bible Study

The discussions in Bible study were very animated and practical. With the story of the Prodigal Son as a basis, the value and meaning of humble confession was contrasted with the common practice of trying to keep one's sin in the dark.

The topic, Christian courage and dedication, revealed how often one has courage to do anything different to what the crowd does whether it be in refusing an alcoholic drink, in adopting new methods of agriculture, in bringing to light some evil we know about or in changing an old custom like that of the women spending the night together in a crowded room with their babies in the home of a bereaved person.

The lesson on "Forgiveness" revealed that ill feelings are harboured commonly between man and wife as well as neighbours. The proverb "Ca pua Kiso, vutima haimo cili" meaning that on the surface it seems to be finished but it is in the heart, seems to be true in most cases. At one village on the last evening four people asked permission to publicly confess that they had been harboring ill feelings toward one another but that week they had gotten together and now had truly forgiven one another.

The lesson based on I Peter 3: 1-8 brought out the common feeling of the great superiority on the part of the man. Men often bring home a bit of meat or fish and say, "Cook my fish for me." It is they who usually eat the few eggs that are cooked, while the nursing mothers and small children go without. They demand obedience from their wives on the grounds of having spent so much for the bride-price, and the women take for granted that they must wait on the men, even their sons in their early teens. Many expressed a desire to work together and eat together and worship together from now on in their homes.

In one of the villages at the last session the folk organized a committee to enforce the control of animals so that all who wished might have vegetable gardens and fruit orchards near their houses without having them destroyed by goats or pigs. In another village they made plans right then to obtain soybean seed. The spring from which the folk drew water was arranged to avoid contamination in all the villages where they had made preparation by having stone and clean sand available.

The Dry Season Schools

As they approach a marriageable age, some of the parents, realizing the value to a married woman of the courses we offer, somehow find the means to send their daughters first to the dry season school of two or three months. There they study the Life of Jesus, reading, the rudiments of cooking, sewing and knitting.

I spent a week in each of our eleven dry season camps. At camp I was able to help the teacher and encourage her to demand the best of which each girl was capable. I got acquainted with the girls as I taught them and played with them, and as I occasionally joined them at woodgathering and carrying water. I rejoiced to see them beginning to lead worship services, songs and games. They were like budding flowers opening their petals of talent in the warmth and security of Christian fellowship.

Another round of camps was made in order to give exams. Out of a total enrolment of 283, only 103 passed. This may seem a poor percentage yet it gives us a higher enrolment than we have facilities for here at the Mission station. Some of the girls who failed will appear at camp next year and will then be adequately prepared for the work here.

The Domestic School at Camundongo

School opening in October brought us an enrolment of 107 girls. Three of last year's teachers are back and three of last year's graduates of Means School joined the staff.

Each girl made a hemstitched tablecloth and after she had learned the stitch she was left to continue the work while we called the girls in six at a time to cut the garments which they would make—a flannelette baby jacket in first year and a more complicated three-year-old size in one class of second year girls. The other classes will make dresses for eight-year-old girls. The problem is to make useful things cheaply enough that the girls can buy them. We like to have each girl take her own work home so she can display it with pride and also advertise the work of the school.

This year, freeing of a two-room house at the hostel has made it possible to use the practice cottage as it was intended. Ten girls and one teacher will spend a month in it, living as a family, then ten other girls and another teacher will do the same. This dry season we plan construction of another practice cottage and will then be able to give this valuable experience to all the girls.

Classes in nutrition play an important part in the program. We are also having formal agricultural lessons with practical work in preparing compost heaps, planting crops of soybeans and legumes. Unfortunately our fields are exhausted, as the lack of return from our seeding last year revealed. This year we are planting a legume crop and adding phosphate with the hope that next year the soil will again produce.

Care of children has been studied in theory only. Because our teachers are here only six months of the year and then go to centres for dry season work we did not undertake the care of an orphan. I think in the future the girls could practise infant care on the babies of the wives who are taking the course.

They do get plenty of practice in doing laundry, both of women's and men's garments. Anyone can have laundry done by sending it and the necessary soap to the school. If, for example, the teacher wants to give a lesson washing woollen garments, she sends out a request and the garments appear.

At School Bible classes and worship services are the means of deepening knowledge and spiritual experience. Our senior girls are giving leadership in the junior congregation. It should give the girls a better understanding of the devotional needs of younger children.

Two Graduates of 1959

Let me introduce you to Florinda Soares (Soo-ar-es) and Lucia Caiovo (Kie-o-vo) two graduates of March 1959. As there were no Means School graduates to go to Ringoma, our Luimba centre, we asked these two girls to go and share responsibilities. They were quite isolated, living among people of another tribe. From the very first day they made themselves one with the girls and the community at large. They led when their leadership was needed and followed when followers were needed. A leper patient for twelve years, who is now the leader of that centre, told me, "There is great sadness because our teachers are leaving. We have had teachers from our own tribe but never have we had any more kindly and helpful than these girls. My daughter is going to the Domestic School this year. I want her to be the kind of a leader that Florinda and Lucia are." We hope and pray that our school will help all the other girls to live as Christ-like as Florinda and Lucia did this dry season.

LILLIAN J. M. TAYLOR

Missionary Nurse,
Dondi, Angola

From Bunjei to Dondi

I began the year 1959 in Bunjei. However, because of the shortage of nurses here in our Angola Mission, it was decided at Annual Meeting that I should come to Dondi Hospital during the absence of Helen Stockton. Helen was to go on furlough June of 1959. As you all know, she became ill with tuberculosis in March and left in April to receive treatment at home. To date we have no one who can adequately take her place, so I was asked to come several months early.

April 13th I moved to Dondi to help once more in the work here. During my absence of almost three years I found many changes. The tuberculosis patients were now in their new hospital and camp. The children had been moved to the former crèche, thus giving thirty beds for the men's ward. The new class building for the nursing school had been completed and was now in use. I found too the number of students had been greatly increased. There were 45 when I arrived in April who were enrolled—in the three-year course, 38; and in the eighteen-month course, 7. A considerable number to look after considering how small our staff is.

A Variety of Complications

Dr. Hastings left in June and as it became evident we were not going to have even part-time help from a second doctor, we called an emergency meeting of the staff who are responsible for the nursing school and decided not to take a class in September of 1959. The fact that Mary MacDougall and I were both due mid-term furloughs in 1960 further complicated the picture, and Dondi Hospital with a total of 300 patients (counting the T.B. patients and the patients with leprosy and the crèche) is just too much for one doctor and one nurse to handle plus a teaching program.

Our work has been further complicated by a notice from the government that all nurses who practise must have a government diploma. This is a step in the right direction on the part of the government for a nurse here does more than a nurse at home; he diagnoses and treats and if he does not have proper training or a conscience he can do untold harm.

To get the diploma one must spend two years in a government course and be under 25 years of age. Our training program is not recognized so all our graduates of less than 25 years of age must try to get into one of these courses. For a while we were terribly concerned about our older graduates. However, last October a notice was published that exams would be given for three successive years beginning in 1960, and nurses with 4a class (about our grade eight) and five years' experience may apply to write.

Naturally all the older graduates are anxious to write the exam and wish time off to do some studying beforehand. It remains to be seen who will be here working this dry season, our busiest time of the year. Our present third year are finishing the end of June, three months earlier, so they may prepare the special documents they need to enter this government course. Our present second year will be going to Bailundo, half in July, half in August, to do Public Health with Dr. Gilchrist. So we shall have just eight students and perhaps half our graduate staff for several months.

A Call for Help

We badly need more workers here in Angola. Our missionary staff of doctors and nurses has been sadly depleted, particularly nurses. We lost three last year and only one more is coming this year. Equally serious is our shortage of pastors and teachers. We cannot hope to receive dedicated young men and women to serve as medical workers if we have not sufficient pastors and teachers to teach them and show them the Christian way of life. My earnest prayer is during this year when you have been studying Africa, some will feel the call to come out and help in the work of spreading the good news of the Christian way of life.

V. JEAN WALKER

Language Study,
Lisbon, Portugal

A Year of Enlightenment and Study

May 26, 1959, was a day that was to open many doors to a wholly satisfying life. This, of course, was the day when I was officially accepted by the W.M.S. as a medical missionary to represent The United Church of Canada, and with each passing day I have become more and more grateful to the W.M.S. and more impressed with the truly Christian organization they represent.

Before a new missionary may serve, it is essential that she be prepared to the greatest possible extent. My studies have, for the greater part, been aimed at preparation of language study; since Angola is a Portuguese colony it is essential to first learn Portuguese in order to obtain a visa to Angola and in order to communicate with the Portuguese people in the area.

My first preparation for language study was a gruelling and intensive month's course at the Toronto School of Linguistics. This was the most exasperating and confusing course I ever took, for I soon became bogged down with phonemes, phonetics, etc. I discovered that there were many sounds the English speech does not employ and my labial muscles rebelled at being called into use. However, in spite of the frustration of trying to produce sounds that would not produce, the month course was quite indispensable in language learning. The course also included lectures in customs and cultures, some anthropology, and tips on how to go about language study.

July offered a pleasant contrast, being spent at the Outgoing Missionary Conference held this year at Niagara Christian College, near Fort Erie. Amidst lovely, restful surroundings, we had time to catch our breath somewhat while participating in Bible study and learning of some of the problems on the Mission fields and of missionaries. One of the most outstanding things of the Conference was the deep feeling of family unity that permeated it. Although there were representatives of several denominations, the whole group was united with a deep bond of Christian fellowship which will link each one of us as we travel to different parts of the world.

It was decided that I should take an introductory three-months course in Portuguese at the Hartford Seminary Foundation in Hartford, Conn. The students came from all over the world and from all denominations for this is an ecumenical school. As well as lectures in Portuguese, there were lectures in African cultures, cultural anthropology and modern missionary problems. This was a most stimulating period of instruction and I was reluctant to leave.

It was an unexpected pleasure to have the opportunity of celebrating this last Christmas with my family, and after a busy three weeks I set off for Portugal on the "Augustus", arriving in Lisbon on the 18th of January.

Life in Lisbon

It was comforting to be met by Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Scott, directors of the Liga Evangelica Missionaria, and some of the other missionaries who are studying here. The Scotts are a grand couple from England although they claim Africa as their home, having done considerable missionary work there. Their responsibility is to look after the group of missionaries, whose Boards contribute to the centre, and who are bound for the Portuguese colonies in Africa. They are missionaries in this country for their services go over and above the call of duty as they become protectors, advisers and friends to all.

It is impossible to give a complete picture of Lisbon here for it would take a book to do it justice. Life here is a constant surprise for one never knows what to expect. There may be a herd of sheep being seen in a street, or donkeys carrying strange loads. Inevitable is the sight of a woman or an occasional man, carrying large baskets or heavy loads on their heads. The policemen, directing traffic, give the impression of being wind-up toys for their motions are so graceful and rhythmical.

"Today I Sailed On"

My present course of study here consists of an hour grammar lesson per day with a private teacher. Then there are some conversation lessons with another teacher, and many hours of private study.

The Scotts try to arrange for us to board with a Portuguese family; there is also opportunity in learning when trying to purchase something at the store or trying to make the conductor on a bus understand where we are going. I have already found the course at Hartford a great help, although it is quite different listening to a language spoken by a professor with excellent diction and familiar vocabulary than to a great variety of people who use many unfamiliar words and expressions. The going is very slow but, "Today I sailed on!"

NORTHERN RHODESIA

(MRS.) THELMA CONWAY CLEAR

Evangelistic Missionary,
Mufulira,
Northern Rhodesia

We have had a year of many changes in 1959. The missionary who was working with the African minister, Rev. Ron Phillips, and the evangelist, Rev. K. Chola, were both transferred. Mr. Phillips was replaced by the Rev. Garth Legge (a Canadian) who is very helpful but who must spend a great deal of his time in language study. Mr. Sinkamba, a retired evangelist, is filling in until the new evangelists graduate this May. So, it has meant that Rev. S. K. Makumba and myself are the only ones who have a long-term picture of the work and its progress over the past few years.

In the World of Women

In January we had a K.B.B.K. dedication service with Mrs. Essie Johnson and Mrs. Monica Makulu from Mindolo taking the service. The women look very nice in their blue and white uniforms. Also in January we encouraged many of the Sunday School teachers to take advantage of the teacher training course held every Friday evening from six to seven o'clock. We are studying the Gospel of John. There is no Sunday School curriculum as yet for the African Church, so I have to write ours as we go along.

In February we held the World Day of Prayer in the United Church, with members from the Anglican, Dutch Reformed, African Methodist Episcopal Churches taking part. Over 100 women attended, and I feel it was a time of rich fellowship and worship. A new venture was to have a small group of interested European women visit the African women during one of our K.B. meetings. They enjoyed the opportunity of meeting the women, and seeing how they conduct their meetings, but of course because of language differences there was not much mixing for informal conversation.

It is difficult to plan much this time of year, for the rains interrupt any activity. Time and time again meetings have to be cancelled, or if they are held only a few women turn up. Many times we have to sit and sings hymns for half an hour as the noise of the storm prevents us doing anything else.

In March the women were responsible for the Easter pageant. It was a valuable experience, and the women I am sure have benefitted by the time spent in studying and reviewing the Gospel stories.

In April we held a very successful one-day rally of all the women in the Mufulira district. We had 75 women; cooked our own noon meal; heard reports from the different groups, and in the afternoon Monica Makulu spoke on the work and life at the Mindolo Women's Homemaking Course.

Sunshine and Shadow

Then, of course, there was the exciting but very busy month of June—my wedding. Apart from my work in the African Church I have been able to do a certain amount of work with the Europeans also. I have been teaching Religious Knowledge in the Convent two half-hour periods a week, and also while Rev. T. Macfarlane was on holidays, have taken over his work at the high school. I help with the Sunday School teachers of St. John's Church; attend the Women's Fellowship meetings and am their representative on the Board of Stewards. I have also visited other churches outside Mufulira, meeting with Consistories and Sunday School teachers, speaking on "The Teaching Ministry of the Church".

I have long wanted to get a young girls' program going in our African Church, but to date have not been able to get leaders. The Mufulira Church is a very difficult church. There seems to be a lack of natural leadership and enthusiasm, and the same is true of the European church. There is an unhealthy deadness here that makes you wonder just what these people think being a Christian really means.

However, I feel it has been a good year, with many women encouraged to live a more dedicated life, and many helped through the Christian witness of the K.B. The Sunday School has grown in strength and abilities, and there have been many experiences for this missionary to help her in growth and understanding. In some ways it has been very difficult to carry on work with a husband to look after too, but I feel the experiences of marriage, and that fact known to the women, has greatly helped me in my work. There is something to be said for the married woman worker, but it takes a lot of strength and patience to be one!

HONG KONG AND TAIWAN

FOREWORD

The effort of the Hong Kong Council of the Church of Christ in China to make it possible for Hong Kong's children to fare better is channelled through two rooftop centres located in two resettlement areas, through these Community Centre buildings located in different resettlement estates, in a small beginning of providing mechanical training for boys, and through the ministry and service rendered to deprived children by individual church congregations.

A generous gift of $2,000 was received this year from a donor who wishes to remain anonymous. This was used to equip a special school where refugee children who complete the junior course given in the rooftop schools, can receive senior elementary education and be prepared to write the examinations for entrance to secondary schools.

For some time the Junk Bay Church Clinic where Miss Isabelle Miller works, has felt the need for a resident doctor. A doctor from Kowloon came out at certain specified times but this was found to be inadequate to meet the needs of the patients. An appeal was made to the Board of Overseas Missions and our Society for an annual grant of $1,200 each. This was approved and is now included in our Estimates. An English Baptist woman doctor, Dr. Ellen Clow, formerly from North China, agreed to come, since no Chinese doctor could be found who could accept the position. Dr. Clow has been there now for several months and it is a great relief to the Clinic to have a doctor there full-time.

The Pui Ying Middle School is now in their new building.

In August of 1959 the cornerstone was laid for the new four-storey, 12 class-room building of Hip Woh School on the property of the Morrison Memorial Centre.

The Morrison Memorial Centre was dedicated on April 9th. The headquarters offices of the Hong Kong Council of the Church of Christ in China are in this building as well as a Reference Library for Christian workers. The Churches of the Hong Kong Council have a very active program of evangelism. At the end of 1958 the membership was 12,645, of whom 908 were new Christians, baptized during that year.

The Council on Christian Literature for Overseas Chinese reports that the literature needs of the Chinese people have not been fully met, and this is the first of their urgent tasks for the future. The second is making their productions attractive and salable, and the third task is to persuade the Churches of their need for Christian literature. The fourth task is to develop sales outlets both in Hong Kong and abroad.

Our Society is related to the Presbyterian Church in Taiwan through the presence of two of our missionaries who are on the staff of the English Presbyterian Mission in South Taiwan. Miss Ruth MacLeod has been giving a good deal of her time to the development of women's work in the Church. Miss Gretta Gauld has been on furlough during this past year. She expects to be appointed to a Leprosy Clinic on her return which will be a new assignment in co-operative work for the Presbyterian Church.

ISABELLE E. MILLER

Missionary Nurse,
Hong Kong Refugee Camp

A Resident Doctor for the Clinic

We close the year with the wonderful news that the clinic will have a resident doctor in 1960. Dr. Ellen Clow, of Glasgow, Scotland, and a veteran of over thirty years experience with the English Baptist Mission, three terms of which were spent in China, is expected to arrive in Hong Kong in early January. Incidentally, all you hard-working United Church of Canada folk can take pride in the knowledge that your contributions have made Dr. Clow's appointment possible. She will live in the doctor's residence built with W.M.S. G.B.A. funds and her salary as for all medical missionaries will be provided jointly by the W.M.S. and the Board of Overseas Missions of the United Church.

Patients—The Church Clinic had 44,905 patient visits—an increase of 10,438 over the 1958 total. The spread of disease here, particularly tuberculosis, is facilitated by the substandard living conditions and inadequate diet. We have a moderate number of cases of malaria, dysenteries, etc., but on the whole the incidence of tropical diseases is surprisingly low.

Between May and September there was an unusually high incidence of typhoid throughout the colony and we had many cases in Rennie's Mill. Due to the shortage of beds in Hong Kong hospitals only a few of our patients could be admitted and the remainder had to be treated as out-patients. This meant a continuous stretcher parade to the clinic and the buying of thousands of dollars worth of expensive drugs.

As in previous years, the clinics and hospitals in Hong Kong have given us fine co-operation. The Nethersole Hospital deserves special mention for they continue to hospitalize our patients for the nominal fee of H.K. $2.00 per day and it is to them that we refer the majority of our serious cases. We are also grateful to the Marine Police and the Hon On Ferry Company, both of whom gave us invaluable assistance in transporting emergency cases to Hong Kong.

News of the Staff

The clinic has been fortunate to have the part-time services of four medical doctors during the past year. Dr. Peter Jenkins, Medical Superintendent of the Haven of Hope Sanatorium and the Church Clinic, sees patients in the general clinic one morning per week. Dr. Mary Ashton continued, as she has done for the past four years, to work in both general and T.B. clinics two days per week. Dr. John Burgess, a T.B. specialist who joined the Haven of Hope staff in September, assisted in the T.B. clinic twice weekly. The Hong Kong Medical Department provided a Chinese doctor in the general clinic for two hours twice weekly. This assistance and advice has been valuable; however the pressure of numbers was such that it was necessary for at least four-fifths of the patients to be seen by nurses. Small wonder that hearts are singing and hope is high in the knowledge that we will soon have our own full time doctor in the Church Clinic.

The nursing staff has been grateful for the voluntary services of Mrs. (Glen) Martha Schwerdt, Reg.N., who worked part time in the clinic during the year. There have been three additions to the Chinese staff. Marilyn Chao, who had pharmacy training in Peking, came on the staff in August; Hope Hung and Peter Sung are working out well as general assistants. In August I travelled by air to my home in Canada for a three month health leave and returned to Rennie's Mill feeling refreshed in both body and spirit. During my absence, actually the busiest time of the year, the clinic was capably managed by our wonderful head nurse, Mrs. Rose Tai.

Dreams Have Become Realities

The doctor's residence was completed at a cost of approximately H.K. $22,000. It is a two-storey brick building situated conveniently near to the General Clinic and we will use rooms on the first floor to house staff members. A dormitory-style residence to house twelve elderly T.B. patients was built at a cost of H.K. $6,500 with funds provided by Church World Service. A neat, brick building has replaced the tired, leaky wooden hut beside the General Clinic. It was built at a cost of H.K. $6,500 (W.M.S. G.B.A.) and provides us with an office, staff common room, laundry and quarters for domestic staff. Preparations to open the X-ray Department in the General Clinic building are almost complete and will greatly increase our service to the people of the whole Junk Bay area. Another promise has become a reality for the clinic for the China Light and Power Company finally succeeded in bringing a line over the mountains from Kowloon and dependable electricity is now available to the whole town of Rennie's Mill. After years of using oil lamps and candles we are really appreciating the miracle of light at the turn of a switch.

As in former years, the Evangelical and Reformed Church of America have given the largest grant towards the general running expenses of the clinic. Next in line have been The United Church of Canada, the Church of Scotland and Church World Service. The Missouri Lutheran Church gave a monthly grant towards the cost of drugs for T.B. patients. Church World Service provided us with generous quantities of multivitamins and relief food and clothing supplies as well as giving a special grant for flood relief. We have received many generous cash donations as well as parcels of used clothing and supplies from groups and individuals in America, England and Canada. I regret that space does not permit me to list all these contributions but would wish to assure you that your gifts were needed and appreciated.

Plans for the Future

Although the standard of living here is showing a steady upward trend, there are still far too many underprivileged people in our midst for us to become complacent. Plans are now well underway for the clinic to open a Feeding Centre where undernourished children and adults will receive daily supplementary feeding. Rennie's Mill has an ever-increasing population of particularly lovely youngsters and their numbers are supplemented by several hundred Hong Kong children who come to live here to attend school. These little ones are our hope for the future and I long to see their eager minds filled with love for God and Christian precepts and their abundant energy channelled into useful activity. This year the clinic held a special Christmas worship service for a few hundred of these children. Boys and girls from the Church schools contributed to the program and we hope to repeat it next year for we felt it was more meaningful for the children to have their own service. And so ended an eventful year in our little corner of the vineyard.

The Mandal gave considerable time at its annual meeting last fall to a discussion of policy for evangelistic work. The following decisions were made and efforts are being made to proceed along these lines: 1. To request Malwa Church Council to consider the policy of consolidating the work by having two or three point charges in place of the one point charge which is the present arrangement. 2. To lay stress on the use of voluntary lay workers. 3. To work for an increase in givings so that progressive and complete self-support can be achieved as soon as possible, as well as a share in the task of evangelism. 4. To place greater emphasis on the responsibility of pastor and congregation for more evangelistic work in their own areas.

The Literature Committee has been active throughout the year and has a vigorous publishing program.

An important event this last year was the All-India Christian Endeavour Convention which was held at Indore in October with about 250 delegates from many parts of India.

The new Sunday School Curriculum which was prepared as a result of the work of the India Sunday School Union over the past few years is now ready in English and the Hindi edition is to be available this year. Our Society shared in the cost of the production of this new curriculum through our grants to the World Council of Christian Education for the India Sunday School Curriculum project.

Vellore Christian Medical College is still struggling to complete the necessary buildings and equipment to meet rising standards in medical education. The Mandal has urged The United Church of Canada to respond to this need. Hence an additional grant of Rs. 2,480 (approx. $500) for maintenance was approved by the Executive in 1959 and 1960 and a similar amount has been included in the 1961 Estimates.

The Diamond Jubilee of the Vellore Hospital and the Golden Jubilee of the School of Nursing is being celebrated in July of this year.

When Dr. Helen Huston returns to India this summer she will go to Nepal to work under the United Mission to Nepal. With our consent she has been loaned to this work by the Mandal. This is an inter-church mission under the auspices of the National Christian Council of India. This is a new venture on our part and we are happy to have a share in this significant co-operative program.

We are happy to report that Miss Dorothy Pearson has been reappointed to India since she has now a clear health report from the Inter-Church Medical Board. In response to the urgent request from the Sri Padmavathi Women's College at Tirupati, South India to direct their Home Science Department, we have agreed to second her to that College for a period of five years. This is a new venture in co-operation with a non-Christian private College. We have been assured by the College authorities that she will have complete freedom as a Christian, and the National Christian Council and the local Christian church in Tirupati welcome this move.

Miss Renuka Mukerji, Principal of the Madras Women's Christian College reports that there were 362 students in attendance this year of whom 188 were in residence. 57% are Christians. The graduating class were highly successful in their examinations last year.

Ludhiana Christian Medical College has also had a difficult year financially. It is making every effort to meet the deadline for upgrading buildings, equipment, and staff in order to hold its permission to train students for the higher grade medical degree.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

C. JEAN BRIDGMAN

Educational Missionary,
Indore, India

Days of Infinite Variety

During the past year the apparent sameness in the general outline of much of the work which I have been doing has had little chance to become monotonous because of the infinite variety in the details as they develop from day to day.

January and February brought the usual round of events such as sports, picnics, farewell parties for the Matriculation Class and the annual graduation service. For the second day of our sports we had as our guest the new Inspectress of Schools for Indore District, Mrs. Chowhan, who graciously consented to distribute the prizes. It was good to know that despite the many and varied improvements which are being made in many government and private schools she was nevertheless impressed by the sense of discipline which she found in ours.

For my holidays I made my third trip to Kashmir. Highlights there included trips by shikara to the beautiful Mogul gardens, visits to handcraft factories, a bird-nesting trip, the fellowship teas held each week at the Anglican parsonage, trekking (mostly by pony) at the higher levels, fun and fellowship.

When schools opened in July we found ourselves involved in the intricacies of starting the new three year higher secondary course in Class IX. It replaces the old two year matriculation course and brings with it a somewhat different alignment of time and subjects. English remains one of the compulsory ones.

The major extra-curricular event at the school for the last six months of 1959 was the concert. Its success was due in no small part to the splendid effort and co-operation of the staff in training the children, selling tickets, preparing and arranging stage settings and costumes and taking charge of the tea stall. My own major responsibility was the English play. The leading part in this was taken by the daughter of the man who drives the audio-visual van. Most of the proceeds from the concert are being set aside to help with such things as books and fees for needy children.

Varied Responsibilities

In addition to teaching and other responsibilities at the Girls' School I have also, during the past year, been in charge of the little primary school in the Indore mill area known as Pardesipura. Here about 25 children meet five days a week to learn the rudiments of reading, writing and arithmetic, and to receive the Bible teaching which is part of the curriculum in all our schools under the Shiksha Ayog. I have not found time to visit them as often as I could wish, but their teacher, the mother of our Indore pastor, and wife of one of the Elders of the Indore congregation, has taught this little school for years, and little girls from her school often come to the Boarding School after they have finished Class II.

Since July I have also had occasion, as Secretary of the Shiksha Ayog (Educational Commission) of the Board of Christian Service, to visit some of our other schools and share in the responsibility of trying to help solve, through correspondence and committee meetings, some of the problems which arise from time to time in connection with our educational work.

It has been good to have time to supplement my "official" responsibilities with others of a more voluntary nature, such as acting as treasurer of the different groups of women from our local congregation that meet monthly in various parts of the city; helping in the planning and activity of the Indore congregation's Christmas Celebration Committee; and meeting Sunday by Sunday with a group of hostel girls who have committed themselves to walking more closely with our Lord Jesus.

G. LOUISE BEST

Educational Missionary,
Kharua, India

Prologue in the Hostel

"Is it true that when Miss Munns goes home she will not be coming back to India?" Ratan Kumari asked me one day as we sat chatting. "Why, yes, when Miss Munns goes home this time she will retire," I replied.

"When you go, will you be coming back again?" My answer to this was if the Mandal asked me to return, I would gladly do so. "Oh, then I'll write and tell them to be sure and ask you!"

Ratan Kumari (Jewel Princess) is one of our Hostel family who lives with us all the year. An older sister, Jatan, has graduated from our school and is attending the Ratlam school, but she comes "home" for holidays. Many others come home for Christmas. Moti, who is in the high school, was here. Maya, who is now married and living in Ratlam, came with her husband and two little boys for the Christmas service. Shakuntala and her husband, Robinson, came with their little girl for a few days after New Year's.

These girls were all in the Babies Home in Neemuch and came to live in our Hostel when they were six or seven years old. It was good to see them all, and better still to know that they feel they have in our Hostel here a home. Anu, Asha, and Suhagi are in schools too distant for them to come for Christmas but they will come for the summer holidays.

This long prologue means that I am back after an enjoyable and instructive furlough in Canada, and again in Kharua with the Girls' Hostel (or Boarding Home) my chief concern, but giving help wherever possible to the principal and teachers in the school.

Back at Work Again

It was indeed a heart-warming experience, when after the train journey from Bombay to Mehidpur Road, the muddy two-mile trip in the ox-cart and two more miles of bouncing over ruts and rocks in the jeep, we arrived in Kharua to find the staff and boys lining the road in front of the school to welcome me with garlands and flowers. The Hostel girls were waiting at the bungalow gate (we had got down from the jeep and walked the rest of the way home from the school) to sing songs of welcome, one of them a new song in English.

There were only two or three days in which to unpack before we had to be off to the annual meeting of the Missionary Committee after which I acted in the principal's place while he attended the Shiksha Ayog and Mandal meetings. Two of the boys who had come from the Children's Home in July, were having trouble adjusting to their new situation and there were other children, too, that needed special help, so after the principal returned he was able to provide me with a classroom for the special class.

Two of the younger teachers asked my help in their English classes, so that has been another interesting time. When I think of the backgrounds of these children, some of whom have illiterate parents, I marvel at the progress they make in English, which is so different from their mother tongue.

The Celebration of Christmas

Before we knew it, Christmas was here with its attendant shopping. One such shopping expedition coincided with a visit Prime Minister Nehru made to Ujjain. Two of our Indian women went with me and we joined the thousands who thronged the field where his one public address was given. Mr. Nehru is a very remarkable man, and his Hindi was clear and simple so that the simplest village woman could understand. It was thrilling to realize that I too, was understanding him without realizing that he was speaking in Hindi.

Because our Hostel family was smaller this Christmas, we had the girls come to the Christmas tree with the other people, instead of having their own on Christmas Eve. Then the afternoon before Christmas the girls and the boys as well came for a tea party and Christmas tree. The climax of the party was the arrival of the new evangelistic jeep. Because the new motor is green and the old Vauxhall was green, the children promptly called the new motor Nani Bai ka Kaka (the little motor's uncle).

Christmas day begins early with the carollers. The Christmas Day service was well attended and the church was a maze of color. There was a general spirit of peace and good will throughout the day, and with this same spirit we look forward to a new year of service.

The Christian Story of Savinia

Savinia was the cradle of Christianity in Banswara district. A man by the name of Thaura was first baptized there through the influence of the Irish Presbyterian Mission (our neighbor to the south). Through him, two other men of Savinia were baptized before our first evangelists, led by Rev. D. G. Cock came to Banswara in 1914. There was one other baptized man in another village, and with this nucleus of four Christians, the work of our Church commenced. Savinia has thus recorded the story: "Andrew first sought out his own brother Simon and brought him to Jesus." Thus, spreading from one relative to another Christianity has slowly emerged from darkness, and today there are 440 baptized Christians. Their church is in process of being built, and it is planned to have the opening during Jubilee celebrations, March 1-6, 1960. At one end of the church building, space was curtained off for a schoolroom with blackboards and simple school furniture. The teacher is one of Savinia's own girls, Premi Lalsingh, who also conducts the Sunday School. A grandson of Thaura is graduating from Indore Theological Seminary this spring, and we hope he will follow in his grandfather's footsteps.

Khaweriya is another congregation where school is held in the church building. The teacher is Mariam Shamji, daughter of the village Headman, and senior Elder and lay worker. Mariam was a classmate and friend of Premi Lalsingh in their Teacher's Training, and like her is carrying on the Sunday School as well.

In Khariya congregation Rev. Hurtingh Kala was ordained and inducted as pastor. He is a Banswara boy, and a graduate of Indore Theological Seminary. His wife is a graduate nurse from Banswara Nursing School, and under the supervision of Miss Marjorie Robson, Public Health Nurse. In an ell of the church building, she is carrying on a much appreciated health program and maternity service.

The school in Banswara has had a good year, with many children of government officials being admitted. We invited the mothers of these children to a tea, which was much enjoyed, especially as after tea, Dr. Jean Whittier showed some beautiful Kashmir slides and movies.

What is the Answer?

An article appeared recently in a Hindi newspaper by a non-Christian who has apparently been doing some research among the Bhil people. He says in part:

"The Bhils are spirit worshippers and believe in magic, but the missionaries have taught them that Jesus alone is everything for you. Now these Bhils have declared themselves followers of Jesus and have forgotten Rama-Krishna. They sing hymns and tell stories about Jesus and go to church to pray. Formerly the condition of these people was very bad; now they are beginning to fill government posts. The men now have only one wife instead of many. The wives do not observe purdah and go to church with their husbands. In the field of education, the missionaries have done their best work. A Christian school has been established in Banswara with about 200 pupils in attendance, which has higher standards than the government schools. Previously, the Bhils had no political rights; today at election time 75% of the people in Christian villages vote, while in other villages only 40% vote.

"In this area for the Bhils' economic and social uplift, the government has opened three large Blocks on which 15 lakhs of rupees are yearly being spent. Compared with this, the missionaries hardly spend two lakhs of rupees. Why is it, that though the government is spending money like water, these Block developments are not as successful as the Christian Bhil villages? Why have the Christians had such an influence on the Bhils that they are changing their religion?"

One of the village elders, on hearing this article remarked, "He asks a question but he does not answer it. Evidently he does not know that it is because of the power of Jesus that our lives have been changed; the government cannot give that to us."

A Year of Change

1959 will stand out in memory as a year of change: changes in the pattern of work, in personnel and in my own duties and responsibilities as well. With the departure of the Barretts on early furlough in August, a whole new realm of duties became temporarily mine. Management of the Boys' Hostel, supervision of the Dhar Leper Home and oversight of the men's evangelistic side of the work—all these became my responsibility for the remainder of the year.

To this was added from September, supervision of the Dhar school, owing to the enforced, early retirement of Miss Mary Martin, for many years W.M.S. evangelistic worker in Dhar and treasurer of the Mission. The sudden loss of these colleagues was deeply felt and their many contributions to the various aspects of the work of the Church greatly missed. One could not pretend to fill in for them adequately, but only to help bridge the gap until some more satisfactory arrangements for the work could be made. Some of these have taken effect from January 1, 1960; others, we hope, will be worked out in the not too distant future.

Owing to these increased responsibilities in Dhar itself, it has become more difficult for me to spend long periods, as formerly, touring in the district. Nevertheless the work has been greatly blessed, large crowds coming out to our evening meetings and many showing real interest in the message given; an interest which, we hope, will develop in the days to come, into commitment.

A Year of Rain

1959 will undoubtedly be remembered, also, for the rain that fell. An unusually heavy and long monsoon played havoc with the corn and jawar crops, bringing a very low yield in most of our district. Now, in mid-winter, rain has come again and hail, causing damage to the promising wheat and grain crops. The possibility of famine by next spring is definitely present, but we pray that this calamity will not come to pass.

Also this year, for the first time known, the ground floor of our W.M.S. house in Dhar was flooded during the latter part of the monsoon. As the floors are of stone, and furniture was raised before the water really came in, no great damage was done. But it was a never-to-be-forgotten sight.

Likewise, the recent spell of rain and hail, on tour was something to be remembered. As I write, we have just "survived" two days of it. Our tents were pitched in a plowed field of black cotton soil which rolled up with every step. No one could move anywhere with ease; no dry wood seemed anywhere to be found. Yet no word of discontent or complaint has been heard. Everyone has treated it as a lark, and a small hardship compared with the lot of the people among whom we work. This spirit has been a joy to see. As indeed, it has been a joy and a privilege during the entire year to be associated with the Christians of this part of India, when they too, are facing change.

By action of our Mandal in October, 1959, full responsibility for the work of evangelism in the district has been placed upon the Dhar local church. Thus it is the hope that more and more lay people will take part in and feel responsibility for the work of evangelism. We ask for your prayers that God will deepen in us all a sense of responsibility for carrying on this work and will grant grace and fortitude with which to meet the important changes of the coming year.

Some Colored Slides of 1959

As the year drew to its close the kodachrome film of 1959 was extracted from the camera of my experience, crowded with many scenes, some bright with hope, others gray with perplexity, some golden with joy, and others a dull shade of blue. The bright colors far outweigh the gray ones, however, and the whole film causes me to give thanks to God for bringing me to this place. Let me show you just a few of the 1959 slides.

The first one is of a class at the Union Theological Seminary, Indore. Four days a week I teach classes in New Testament as one of the three full time professors on the staff. I should like you to meet some of the young men studying to be pastors and ministers of the Church, and the wives of two of the students, for whom I have special responsibility.

Slide number two shows the Women's Fellowship group at Vahaspati Mills, one of the nine groups whose monthly meeting I try to attend. There are only seven Christian women living in the mill quarters, but there is usually a hundred percent attendance. You will notice all the small children. All but one of the women have families of small children and often we have more children than women at the meeting.

Now we come to a picture of the treasurer of the Missionary Committee at work finding out something of the intricacies of income tax and banking and monthly statements. How is your multiplication? Would you like to check this column changing dollars to rupees at the time the exchange was 4.96½ rupees for each dollar? Or maybe you would like to work out the amount to be deducted from income tax because of insurance premiums paid. Just multiply the insurance paid by the income tax due on the total income and divide by the total annual income. Memories of grades four and five?

The year would not be complete without a picture of the minister in the pulpit, though my appearances there are not nearly as frequent as they could be if there were more leisure for preparation and less necessity to say "no" to invitations that come. Meeting with small groups two Sundays a month keeps me in touch, however, with the oral proclamation of the Word.

From May Until November

One picture of Kashmir must be included for the vacation there in May and June brought renewed strength and energy, rich fellowship, great beauty and deep joy.

From the July section of the year I should like to show you a picture of the Golden Jubilee celebrations at the Seminary. The two days held much of interest and encouragement and the glance back over the past fifty years showed us much for which we give thanks to God.

Let us skip over the very rainy months and come to November. I would like you to see at least one slide of the General Assembly of the United Church of Northern India which I had the privilege of attending in Mainpuri, U.P. One of the high points was the voting on Church Union, when the Assembly voted for a wider union with six other denominations including Anglicans, Methodists and Baptists. The opening hour of the assembly each day was conducted by Dr. Moses of Nagpur and the hour of Bible study in the middle of the day was stimulating. We used as our basis of study Bible passages, notes and questions on "The Servant Lord and His Servant People."

This picture shows the Rev. Din Dayal, missionary of the United Church of Northern India in Kenya. He, Mrs. Din Dayal, and their two small sons are now on furlough after four years in Nairobi. We were most happy to have Mr. Din Dayal visit Indore and meet with various groups and show his colored slides of his work in Africa.

The Last Picture—A Golden Oriole

What shall I choose for my last picture? From among many I shall choose the golden oriole because it symbolizes the beauty of nature which has meant so much to me during the year. Its characteristic song reminds me of the beauty of the music which has delighted me. Its golden color speaks of joy and hope and victory. A glimpse of the oriole flashing through the air has brought indescribable pleasure, pleasure which has been deepened greatly by being shared with friends. Work, play, perplexities and problems, beauty, fellowship. What will the next film show?

Around the Campfires

On a cold winter's night (for we do have cold in the winter here) what could be more welcome than a campfire when one returns from the evangelistic meeting in the village cold and tired? Here and there are other little fires telling us that men are taking their turns watching the precious grain on the threshing floors.

In Koyal, where there is a good-sized Christian community, the men usually accompany us back and sitting around the fire they listen to news of the big world outside. Last January, just as we were rested and warmed and ready to go to our tents, two men came along with the news that several "blue cows" had been seen in a field nearby. This horse-like animal is a great enemy of the farmers as they travel in herds, eating the wheat, pulling up plants by the roots and trampling down the rest. The farmers are not willing to kill the "cows" themselves but will help anyone who is. The men decided they would go hunting them in the morning. So early the following day—even I went along—we set out to see if we could not get one of these "blue cows" which were eating away comfortably on the fresh young wheat. None of them were killed, but amid great excitement they were driven away from the field and over the hills.

In the "Village of Bitterness," the men came back with us to camp after the evening meeting to inquire what we were doing and why we came. Their questions were answered and then they stayed on to warm themselves by the fire. Not far away people were busy grinding sugar-cane and boiling down the syrup to make raw sugar, and the fragrant warm scent came drifting on the breeze across our camp. A refreshing cup of tea together was just what was wanted, but since these people were non-Christians the rules of caste prevented them from accepting either food or drink from us. However, a friendly footing was established which was manifested the next evening in a larger and more attentive audience at our meeting; and so the seed was sown.

Experience at Joen, Jharda and Indoke

At Joen we had a nice place for a camp, water nearby and plenty of firewood but no people! We learned that the reason the villagers kept us at a distance was that they thought we were "excise officers." Even when we denied this, they did not come closer. However, one man, braver than the rest, offered us a place in front of his house for our evening meeting. He had mats spread out for us when we arrived and had asked his neighbors to come. But only a few came the first night with not a woman amongst them, and none came to share our friendly little campfire.

The next night, however, we had a larger and very attentive group, with a few women. The size of the group grew from evening to evening as they realized we had not come to take anything from them but to share with them the good news of God's plan of salvation for the world. And the last night there was scarcely room for us to stand to speak to the crowds of men, women, boys and girls who came and listened and who later around the campfire invited us to return; invitations to tea also came from many.

At Jharda after the evening meeting the village Christians gathered, and to the accompaniment of harmonium, cymbals, and dholak (village drum) they sang and sang and sang. A fresh piece of wood on the fire, a steaming cup of tea and away they would go with more music.

At another camp at Indoke, a police officer who had been sent there to investigate a theft asked if he might spend the night beside our fire as he did not trust the people of this village and he knew he would be unharmed if he stayed in our camp. So he spread his bedding on the ground beside our fire and we went off to our tents to sleep. Were we protecting the police or was the officer protecting us?

A Full Program

But the year was not all spent touring in the villages. The maternity ward had its full quota of babies, and due to the departure on furlough of Mr. Storey and the lack of other personnel, the oversight of the men's work also fell into my hands. I was already in charge of the Girls' Hostel as Miss Best was on furlough.

When Mr. Connor went on furlough, I kept an eye on the fields which had been his care. I do not know much about fields but we have been able to grow some vegetables which have found a ready market here in the village where there is no regular vegetable market and where the people have been only too ready to get green vegetables and tomatoes.

Among the bright spots of the year have been my visits to a group of railway people who are cut off from all church services. It is not actually part of our area but they are so grateful for the help we are able to render that it has been pure joy to work with them.

And now my term of service in India comes to an end. It has been a privilege to work here and to meet and know the village people, sharing with them their joys and their sorrows and trying to lead them nearer to the One who came to redeem us all.

Storms and Snake-Bites

I turn over the leaves of my little diary, reliving as I do so some of the events of 1959. There was the storm which struck us in our camp at Khalghat in the early morning hours of January 19th and returned with wind and drenching rain on the afternoon of the same day. Again in imagination I brace myself against the front pole of the tent; again I see the flood of water sweeping toward us down the slight slope, water which left our tent floor a sea of mud. But days and weeks later when we saw the damage which the storm had done in other places—a mango orchard in which great trees had been laid low, a huge neem tree which had fallen in a village destroying three dwellings, houses whose roofs had been carried away by the wind, a papaya orchard with no sign of leaf or fruit and only long bare fingers left—we were grateful that we had suffered so little.

For the first time in my life I had occasion in February to use for snake-bite the medicine which is a regular part of my camp equipment. A young girl had been bitten by a snake. The reptile had been killed and, though I know little of snakes, I did know when I examined it that this one was not poisonous. There was, therefore, not the urgency which there would otherwise have been in giving the treatment. The girl had a sore foot for several days but suffered no other ill effects.

From Month to Month

One day's record reads: "Went to Dalki via Barur—motor road all the way!" (The exclamation mark is there because Dalki used to be extremely difficult to reach and I have gone by ox-cart over dreadful roads.) The next day's record reads: "Rasgaon and Dongargaon. Not at all satisfactory visits." And so the touring season went with ups and downs. All but one of the camps made from January to March were made south of the Narbada where Christians are very scattered and one may travel miles to visit one Christian or one Christian family. Sometimes such a visit is very rewarding; at other times one comes back with a feeling of futility and needs to remember the sower in the parable who, though much of the seed sown brought forth no fruit, still "went forth to sow."

Church Council meetings in Ujjain in early April, a happy holiday in Ranikhet, the reopening of school and hostel in July, and an unusually wet rainy season all have their places in the little diary. This year a fifth class has been opened in the school and another teacher, Kamla Mangilal, added to our staff. She is one of our own village girls who used to live in our hostel and attend school here. Then she went on to school in Indore and last year went to Normal School in Khandwa. She is the first of our girls to come back to serve here. This year, too, one of our girls who was attending high school in Indore has gone to college and she has the distinction of being the first of our girls to do that.

The number of girls in the hostel is gradually increasing and the end of the year finds us with 18 in residence. The hostel has another new resident in the form of a beautiful black and white cat who earns much more than her "board and keep" by destroying rats which last year were so numerous that they ran over the children while they slept and occasionally bit them. No rat is safe in Puff's neighborhood.

The cold weather found us again on tour, this time north of the Narbada. We camped in four places with varying degrees of satisfaction.

Our diary is a five-year one so, having reached the end of 1959 we turn back to the first to begin the record of 1960. Its tasks, its opportunities are all before us and if we were dependent on human strength and resources we might well quail at the immensity of the task, but we are not alone. We "can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth" us.

LILLIAS A. J. BROWN

Evangelistic Missionary,
Sitamau District, India

"You will come back, won't you?"

As this year's report is being prepared, Indian farmers of Madhya Pradesh are out on their threshing floors, threshing and winnowing the jawar crop. The winter season is a very busy time for these peasant people, and it is also the district evangelist's time for concentrated effort among them.

While on tour last winter in the Rising Piplia area of Sitamau district we had gone over twenty miles to visit one Christian family. Friends and neighbors had gathered around but it was not until the men had moved out into the courtyard, and the Bible woman and I had started to talk with the women, that they became really interested. One woman, who was most deeply moved by the story of Jesus, said, "Missahibji, are these things really for women? I want to hear more. You will come back, won't you?" How many times during the past year in Neemuch-Sitamau area have these words been repeated, but because my appointment here is only a temporary stop-gap until the return of Miss Mildred Cates, now again appointed to this area, "I know I shall not pass this way again." This realization has brought to me much conflict of spirit. Meanwhile, during the first part of 1960 I am to continue oversight of the women's evangelistic work at Sitamau along with responsibilities at Kharua.

A Rewarding Year at Sitamau

My year's stay in Sitamau proved to be one of the most rewarding in my life. A more willing group of workers than the little group at Sitamau would be hard to find. There is Pastor Pawar, a real pastor and personal worker. Irene Bai is the Bible woman, who in addition to her regular duties often works late with me in order to get the manuscripts of the Sunday School paper, "Rays of Light" ready for the press. Her husband, Ratnakar, is the driver for the Sitamau "Prachar Sevika's" (women evangelistic worker's) car. He is a man with a growing edge to his Christian experience. Lovable Dhulji, the catechist, soon to be retired, can express the message of God's love in the language of the people.

During the rains we worked out a program of regular weekly visits to Christians accessible to the main roads; later the rainy season program was revised so that a large number of village Christians could enjoy the regular ministry. But other demands upon the workers meant discontinuing this work early in December, nor can the New Year see a resumption of the ministry since the group must go out on tour to other areas just as needy.

When I returned in early December from my temporary stay in Kharua one of the many tasks that awaited me was the directing and producing of the school children's Christmas pageant. "Your attention on the leader, please." "Where should your eyes be?" Such admonitions, like a broken record, sounded through the choral practices. On account of the heavy rain we had started to practise only ten days before the program date. Little eyes, wide with excitement, roved hither and yon towards Mummie and Daddy in the audience or Mary and Joseph on the stage. Consequently the chorus leader sometimes forgot or skipped her lines, too. Then Deva Master missed his cue at one point and instead of a lovely scene of Mary and Joseph and the Babe the curtain opened on an empty stage. Hiralal Master only just in time removed the shepherds' campfire so that the wisemen would not trip over it.

The editorship of "Jyoti Kiran," which came my way when Miss Gladys Thornber went on leave of absence, has given a new avenue of service which is both interesting and challenging. This little Sunday School paper, the only one of its kind yet being produced in Hindi, finds circulation also in many parts of Northern India where Hindi is the predominant language.

On The Doorstep of Sitamau Compound

On the doorstep of Sitamau compound lies a great field—Sitamau city itself. In Canada Sitamau would be a large town, though its main street is just wide enough for our 1948 Chev to pass along to Pastor Pawar's house. Pastor Pawar, living in the heart of the city, carries on a quiet ministry in personal contacts with many non-Christians of all castes and classes. The location of our compound a mile and a half from the outskirts of the city does not make natural contacts with the people easy. The Bible woman and I were able to carry on only one consistent point of contact—a weekly evening meeting for women and girls which was attended by friends and neighbors of the Christian family at whose home we met. Valuable, though spasmodic contacts, with others, including members of the former royal family, have opened one's eyes to fields partly cultivated by the pastor and many predecessors. Pastor Pawar's vision of a Christian bookshop in the city is coming to realization. A small initial supply of books and tracts has been purchased and the session of the church has decided to be responsible for the running of a little shop at the pastor's house. The sowing and cultivation of this "field" for the Great Harvest must continue.

Back From Furlough

It was October 7, 1959, after a good furlough, when a group of us landed in Bombay along with one new missionary, Rev. Winnifred Bridges. We had had a very pleasant journey via England with calm seas nearly all the way. I felt quite at home again when on arriving in Bombay I heard someone speaking in the Hindi language calling, "Garum chay" (hot tea). Our welcome to Bombay was a sunny one although the rains continued until late this year.

My appointment to Ratlam district work was made during the meeting of the Mandal in October. I follow Miss Gladys Thornber who left for Canada in September. Thus it was that I arrived in my new home and field of service on October 31st. Getting settled and recuperating from a brief illness took two to three weeks after which I was able to get out on tour in the villages.

Touring the Villages

For three weeks we camped in three different places where we felt there were young men and women ready to learn more of the Christian faith which they professed. At every camp we lived in tents and visited the Christians in nearby villages each morning. We held a regular teaching program each night at camp when the Christian people would come to learn or review the Lord's Prayer, a short creed, and a few of the more important verses of scripture.

There were always several non-Christians who also gathered to listen and to learn. Our program included lots of singing with the violin or some Indian instrument accompanying, flannelgraph talks, telling of Bible stories through pictures, the showing of slides on temperance, health, the parables, the life of Christ and prayer.

The minds of many of our listeners have never been very active since the majority of them cannot read or write. One must be patient with their feeble efforts to learn a verse or tell a story by memory. We were encouraged when in one village out among the beautiful hills of Rajasthan about 15 or 20 men and women gathered regularly along with several other onlookers. At the end of the week in Panda many of the Christians and some of the non-Christians were able to say by memory several verses of scripture such as John 3:16, John 14:6, a short creed, the Lord's Prayer and some of them told Bible stories as well. Prizes were given of pictures brought from Canada mounted on colored cardboard. Christmas cards were given to all who had taken part and learned something.

What is Lacking?

Because of a lack of Indian pastors and teachers and also because a definite lack of zeal and ambition on the part of many of our present workers, the Christian people in our villages have not had regular teaching following up what is done in camp. The Indian Church leaders in this area need your constant prayers that they may truly see in Christ the Saviour of the world and of each individual and go out to be living witnesses to His life and power in their lives pointing others to the One who is the Life, the Truth and the Way.

(REV.) ELIZABETH W. MEWHORT

Evangelistic Missionary,
Ujjain, India

1959 in India has gone like a flash, for I spent eight happy, hard-working months of it in Canada. On September 1st I set sail for India again, and five weeks later, October 8th, I reached Ujjain. Work began almost the moment I arrived, so by the time Missionary Committee meetings started on October 14th, I felt I had been away six days and back a year and a half instead of vice versa. By October 19th I was free to visit the Ujjain Christians, and my women evangelists and I visited about 75 families in the two weeks at our disposal. We had hoped to visit all Ujjain Christians but found that after so long a time away, it was hard to make only short visits.

On Tour

On November 4th we set out on tour and after four successful camps returned to Ujjain, December 12th, for school Christmas festivities. This year the village roads were bad because of late rains but all our campers kept well and happy in spite of being thoroughly jeep-shaken. Although we would certainly never pray for bad roads, we did endure them with good humour and enthusiasm, thanking God that we were together again and called by Him to preach the crucified and risen Lord. Wherever we went we usually met the folk we were seeking and were welcomd by Christians and non-Christians alike. Needless to say, I was rebuked a few times for being away so long.

On November 11th, Dewas welcomed Nehruji and we campers were privileged to have a good front seat (on the ground) among the school children to see our Prime Minister and hear his splendid message. We had to sit up in the hot sun for an hour and a half to do so but anacin forestalled the expected fever.

December and Christmas Festivities

We were back in Ujjain in time to hear the Rev. Din Dayal, United Church of Northern India missionary to Africa, speak on December 15th. Since he is on furlough and I had just returned, we were kindred spirits and discussed many an important issue, including deputation work, at lunch, tea and dinner. We shared our conviction, mutual concern and vision: the conviction that redemption through Christ is God's gift to India and Africa, as to all other nations; the concern that people of these lands may know the one true God and Jesus Christ whom He has sent; the vision of opportunities for Christian missionary witness, of the challenge to one redeemed, and of the missionary calling of Christ's Church. The Rev. Din Dayal's message was of interest to adults and children alike and an inspiration to all.

From December 14th to 18th I shared in school festivities, hostel dinner, drama, Christmas tree and Nursery School party. When I was asked to explain the origin and development of the idea of Santa Claus that really taxed my ingenuity and delighted the pupils and their parents.

On Christmas Eve came the party for my fellow workers and their families, 31 of us in all. On Christmas Day, after "Christmas stockings" for my 15 children, six of us made a 116 mile round trip to Mehidpur, where my friends the Canaras live, and to Agar, a part of Ujjain district. We had two fine, worshipful Christmas services and joined the village people in refreshments and a congregational dinner.

We celebrated New Year's Eve by our first showing of my India movies. And then, almost before we knew it, 1959 had slipped from our grasp.

MEDICAL WORK

(DR.) M. JEAN WHITTIER

Missionary Doctor,
Banswara, India

Looking Backward and Forward

We have rejoiced at the return of Marjorie Robson, for now there is someone directly concerned with the health of our village people. We look back to our wayside clinics, and the village boxes for medicine, which was an attempt to help in time of need, but very inadequate as far as health teaching and preventing of disease was concerned.

We are looking forward to the 50th anniversary of the work in Banswara. It is being celebrated this year so as to have it before Emily Maxwell goes on furlough and to retire. This also causes backward looks to the small beginnings, and we see our medical work started in a little room of the house. Miss Maxwell was saying that the medicine boxes prepared by Dr. Oliver in the beginning are the same ones used on tour at the present time.

Just this Christmas our Tara Auntie, compounder, has retired, having worked here for almost 45 years, so she has seen the work growing from the beginning. She is one of Miss Campbell's "quartette." The other three have gone on to their reward, but they all helped to lay the solid foundation.

My report will start a year ago in October when I arrived from Canada. After attending the Committee of Missionaries I was "Hospital Supply" for three months: in Hat Piplia for a few days so the doctor could attend some meetings; in Dhar for two months so that doctor could have a needed operation, and in Ratlam when Dr. McClure was in Hong Kong. It is all very well to be a rolling stone for a while, filling in holes where a stone is needed, but it was wonderful to get back to Banswara again. It was good to get back to the little hospital car, the "Baby Bear" in which I have gone to so many villages.

There have been advances since I was here three years ago. Then there were two doctors. Now there are three doctors and a business manager who certainly relieves us of many a headache over accounts and balance sheets. We are looking forward to the opening of our new T.B. wards in the near future. It will give us room for ten more beds and I am getting six more baby cots. I am in hopes that this year we may have over 300 maternity cases!

Some Wonderful Experiences

In February I was appointed to represent Dalhousie University and our Canadian Mission Boards at the Silver Jubilee of the Indian Medical Council. It was really exciting being addressed by Mr. Nehru and meeting Mr. Karmarkar, the Health Minister, and Dr.

Patel, the president of the Council and many other very important doctors of India.

In April I was one of a group of ten appointed to examine the 800 papers of the 270 student nurses. They were all written in Hindi and it took us two weeks of hard work to get finished, but we did come on some very interesting howlers to relieve the strain.

In due course holidays came and I had a lovely time in the beautiful Vale of Kashmir with Catherine, Mary Martin and Hilda Johnson.

In November I was away again: first to help prepare the nurses' exam papers for the spring; from there to Mainpuri to the General Assembly of the United Church of Northern India, as an Elder from the Banswara Church sent by Church Council. From there I went to the Provincial Christian Council in Raipur. Both were spiritual feasts for me. On the way to Mainpuri I had one free day and was able to plan to have it at Agra, and went to see the Fort and the Taj Mahal by daylight, and took some pictures, went again in the evening to see it in its misty out-of-this-world beauty by moonlight.

Our Indian missionary to Africa was at the General Assembly with his family and he told us about his work in Kenya. Later he came here to Banswara on his deputation work. The whole Assembly was an inspiration to me but the highlight came when I was honoured in being one of the serving Elders at the great Communion Service.'

Banswara News

Our twelve-year-old Kamala, who has been in Bombay for over a year having operations on legs and ankles and treatments, got her calipers almost as a Christmas present and is now learning to walk for the first time in her life.

I want to tell you about a little woman having her first baby in the hospital. Just after he was born she was looking at the picture of Mary and Jesus on the wall and she said, "I wonder who she had. I have a doctor and nurses and everything I need. Did she have anybody? Did she have anything?" This woman was not a Christian.

Full to Overflowing!

Our eighty-bed hospital is full to overflowing. At present we have 90 patients and sometimes we have as many as 100; the overflow being accommodated on verandahs air-conditioned by nature, for it can sometimes be very cold at nights in India. The situation is improving because this year a long outstanding request for additional wards for T.B. patients was granted by the Home Board; the new buildings will be ready for use early in 1960. We expect the request for funds for equipment for the new wards will be granted immediately.

Dr. Jean Whittier has been with us all this year and we have reached an all-time high of baby cases delivered in hospital. Dr. Whittier has also worked very hard at her ante-natal clinic and we are thankful to be able to help Indian mothers in this small way. Dr. Naku, our Indian member of staff, sees the T.B. patients twice a week, so many one day and the rest the other day, in addition to regular rounds every day. At present we have 14 patients in our T.B. ward and the new beds will be occupied as soon as they are ready.

This year an X-ray survey was done by the Public Health Committee of the Masihi Sewa Mandal and Dr. Naku did his share in helping with this work. The entire Banswara district was divided into seven centres and the portable X-ray, technicians and doctors went out day by day and sometimes stayed more than one day until the work was completed. Dr. Naku also has his special eye clinics and many eye operations are done by his skilful hands. Dr. Walter Anderson, our Canadian doctor, keeps himself so busy he does not even take time out for his full annual holiday.

At the beginning of this year there was difficulty in obtaining T.B. drugs due to the new import restrictions and at times we were nearly out of them. However, we managed to get enough from here and there to tide us over and now the situation is much better and we are able to get some stocks ahead. Sales Tax is one of the headaches of the Business Manager and we have received certain exemptions; an accountant comes over from the city to help us time by time to get our forms correctly filled in and forwarded to the local sales tax authorities.

Preaching the Gospel

Miss Emily Maxwell allows her Bible woman, Miss Kamala Nathu, to come to the hospital every day. She plays the Hindi records on the gramophone, shows her pictures, tells the stories of Christ, and sells pamphlets and scripture portions. We are very grateful, and the patients, the majority of whom are non-Christians, listen attentively. Every Sunday the nurses have a special service at 12 noon and each class in turn conducts the meeting. It is wonderful to see these young students take time from their busy schedule to tell men and women about the gospel of Jesus Christ. Thank you for your thoughts and prayers for without them our work would be very feeble indeed.

Prelude at Indore

The three months since my return to India have sped by on rapid wings, very happy wings. Because of meetings to be held almost immediately in Indore I did not come directly to Banswara from Bombay but went to Indore instead. It was good to be plunged into nursing matters so soon and to see all my Canadian colleagues at the meeting of the Committee of Missionaries a day or two later.

At the close of those meetings I should have proceeded to Banswara. Instead I was persuaded to stay on in Indore for another week to help in the School for Graduate Nurses. The director, Miss MacMurchy, was away and Miss Scott had to attend Ayog and Mandal. I was able to do some teaching for both of them. What a stimulating experience that was! About 20 graduate nurses formed the class in Ward Administration, each one keen and eager to learn. Classes with them in Community Health were a real joy; other classes in Nursing Education were just as challenging to me as they were to them.

When that week was over it seemed wise to stay on for still another to continue my teaching. By that time my appointment to Banswara was confirmed and I knew this would be my new home and field of work. It was with a happy and grateful heart that I turned my face Banswara-wards, where a warm welcome awaited me.

Experiences and Entertainment at Banswara

Within two or three days I had been assigned classes with the student nurses. Our midwifery students (all graduate nurses) are required to have lectures in Public Health Nursing as well as practical experience in Community Health. They were to be my responsibility. In order to relieve Mrs. Naku, the nursing superintendent, of a little of her heavy burden, I agreed to teach psychology to the first year students. That may not be strictly in the Public Health field but it is certainly a challenge to my Hindi!

Since mid-November we have been making two trips a week to our Christian village centres. Each Wednesday and Saturday two mid-wives and I go to these villages to hold Child Health Centres. We weigh babies, give them Triple Antigen injections, advise the mothers just as it is done in Child Health Centres in Canada. There, however, the similarity ends. Our clinics are held in the shade of a mango or banyan tree; very often the mothers walk several miles to come to us, carrying their babies in baskets on their heads; sometimes the fathers come too, and not a thing we do escapes their sharp eyes.

One day as we waited for one or two dilatory mothers, a young man came along, leading a trained bear. He offered to let the bear perform for us for a modest fee and we agreed. The young man had quite a pattern and the bear performed well, delighting every member of the little crowd who had gathered round us. Not many Child Health Centres offer their clients such entertainment!

When we began these trips Miss Maxwell accompanied us, helping us greatly in many ways. Sometimes it is difficult to get the name of the baby's father. No good Bhil woman will utter the name of her husband and if no one is there to say it for her, then we who are new to this area do not learn who the child is. But Miss Maxwell knows. She knows every man and woman by name so our records are not impeded. After the health teaching was finished Miss Maxwell would lead in a short worship service, often using the flannelgraph to illustrate her talk.

An Ideal Match

It was a real joy to learn that one of our young pastors, now working in his own village of Khariya, had some months previously married a nurse, one of our own graduates. She is now on the public health staff and is doing very good work. One arm of the church has been partitioned off to make a dispensary for her. Just at present the roof is in the process of being finished. When that is done we can arrange the furnishings that are ready and Mrs. Hurting can move her medicines from the verandah of her little "model" home and go to work in more convenient surroundings. A lot of her work at first will necessarily be of a curative nature but we hope that as time goes by an increasingly greater emphasis will be placed on health teaching and prevention of disease. For many years now we have longed for our village pastors to marry graduate nurses. We have felt that would be an ideal match—as far as village work is concerned, at least! Now we have one such couple, a most enthusiastic one, and we have great dreams for the future.

Hospital Zone . . . Quietly, Please!

The scene is of black enamelled beds on grey stone floors with unseasonably cloudy skies outside and a generous supply of mud everywhere. This pseudo-monsoon has hit us off-season and is a trial to our souls, and to the bed sheets of ambulatory patients! There is music off-stage too. . . . some are sounds as old as India, as our farmer neighbor has employed a coolie to walk up and down his grain field, a perambulating scarecrow squalling "e-whoo-oo-oo, e-whoo-oo-oo" every tenth step or so. A young mother is engaged in a do-it-yourself-and-save-money project as she pounds the linseed to a powder to make the poultice for her baby. And, it being the morning of the day, patients' relatives are being called to "buy vegetables," or "buy milk," "buy bananas"—right up and down the verandahs go the vendors balancing large baskets of eatables on their heads and shrilling out their produce and prices. And only a little farther away modern India has a radio turned on full blast almost shouting down all other sounds.

By Hearsay Only

Any report of the first ten months of the year's work in our hospital must be founded on hearsay for I was far away in Canada. During the first part of the year, with a doctor officiating, work went on apace. When she resigned in May the difficulties began. Mr. Francis, lab. technician-compounder, and his wife, Soni bai, our head nurse, did marvellously well during the lean months. Miss Scott and Dr. Moses made occasional trips from Indore. Miss Stevenson while doing half-time work in Indore, supervised school and hostel and the women's evangelistic work in Hat Piplia and still found time somehow to do all the hospital accounts, supervise hospital buying and even referee the inevitable squabbles in an inadequately supervised nurses' residence. By October the situation warranted Mandal's decision to call me back from Dhar, where I had been for only a few days, and set me down in Hat Piplia once more.

Upon return I found that we had too few graduates and too, too many (nine) nurse-aides in all stages of training and experience. Such is our inter-hospital relationship that a few pleas for help relieved us of our surplus of nurse-aides and gave us another graduate nurse. Now we have a very nice staff. Early in October Dr. Rami (Lakshman) Singh returned to our hospital. She had been here for a period following her graduation from Ludhiana many years ago and it is grand to have her back.

Headline Material

There were not many outstanding events in 1959. We had two graduate nurse-aides pass their midwifery examinations with honors and, thus encouraged, have three more doing this extra course now. The X-ray, which was just a pile of boxes in the corner of my office when I left, is set up and working. It is an untold boon to the doctor and to the whole community. Would you consider a row of postholes sufficiently noteworthy to appear in an annual report? If you had chased chickens, goats, dogs, cows and assorted other animals off verandahs and out of yards for years you would likely consider it headline material! So far it is just a row of holes but, completed, it will vie with X-ray for historical importance. The cost, in the light of our miscroscopic budget, is fantastic, but the need is super-fantastic, so up it goes.

This report could be appropriately filed among "the short and simple annals of the poor" . . . simple, indeed, for no world shattering events occur in our quiet village; poor, too, since we live and work among those who walk the fields barefoot to protect their precious crops from winged and four-footed marauders . . . who grind linseed by hand on the hospital verandah . . . to whom the thirty cents for an injection is a major problem, if not a disaster.

A Year of Growth at the School of Nursing

At the close of 1958 Dr. Whittier gave us two wards for the school. These were fairly large and we were able to convert one into a much needed larger demonstration room. The other was made into a classroom. Our old demonstration room then became our library, and the little, old library became the office of the Assistant Director of Nursing Education. We are very grateful for the extra space and are not now nearly so crowded.

To look back over three years—we are proud to note these changes: three classrooms instead of one, a science room, a diet kitchen, two offices, a nice large demonstration room, and a library of which we are proud. True, we still need many, many more books and journals, but gradually all these things will come too. In the last three years we have gradually added over 300 books and over 80 bound journals to the almost-nil library. Most of these have been gifts, chiefly from UNICEF, CARE and from my own University hospital, Edmonton, Alumnae Association. We now have fans in the dining room through the kindness of friends, though as yet only in two classrooms.

Broadening our Vision

I have been busy this fall planning for the future. I am a member of the Mid-India Board Committee which is making plans for the collegiate programs for nurses. We are mainly concerned about making it possible for our present graduates to get a basic degree, but first we must have a basic program to present to the University. We are not sure yet where it will be, though Indore and Bilaspur are being mentioned by the committee. We cannot plan it in Indore until sanctioned by our Mandal here, and until we have the facilities.

This year our examinatioin results were satisfactory. We have two of our graduates helping on our staff.

July to September was a busy time, as usual, with the C.P.S.N., (Central Preliminary School of Nursing). This year we had 45 students. Miss Canara very kindly came from Mandleshwar for those three months to help out. We are very grateful to all those who have helped us with teaching—doctors, especially Dr. Moses, Mrs. James and Miss Scott, and Miss MacMurchy of the Graduate School. Mrs. William and I could not have done all the teaching, supervision and office work without their help and co-operation.

As usual our students and staff attended the Trained Nurses and Student Nurses Association Conference, and now we hope that our vision will grow and become a reality, with new visions ever ahead in 1960.

A Year of Departures

At the end of April we bade farewell to Miss Gruchy and wished her a long, happy and full retirement. Her presence is greatly missed by the long-stay patients, children and doctors alike and the staff has lost a wise counsellor. At the same time we were happy to welcome Mrs. Malti James as Nursing Superintendent in her place. It has been a heavy time for her but she is never daunted and always has a smile and lots of Canadian enthusiasm to bring to bear on the problems, as they arise.

In June we lost one of our senior staff, Miss Lois Samuel to the Post-Graduate School, Indore, for six months to complete her Sister-Tutor course and have just recently welcomed her back. In the month of May, Misses D. Lal and Hari Singh returned to us having completed a six month post-graduate course in Ward Administration, Miss Lal to work in the obstetrical unit and Miss Singh to continue in paediatrics.

At the end of July we wished au revoir and bon voyage to Miss Leela Canara when she left for her year's study in England. We miss her cheery personality and constant wit and look forward to her return later this year.

The Year's Achievements

Around the hospital last year, our greatest achievements have been in the area of the newborn nursery. Small triplets were born three months prematurely and only lived for a few hours. One was two pounds and the other two a little under. Then there was Usha. Usha was born two months prematurely and weighed two pounds four ounces. She did very well right from the start and was a lovely baby of eight pounds when she finally went home to her mother.

We have continued to help in providing practical experience for the students from the Post-Graduate School both on the ward and in the Well Baby Clinic. The clinic has grown enormously under the direction of Mrs. Williams. Between thirty and forty babies come each week for advice and powdered milk if they need it.

In August a refresher course was arranged for all the matrons of Madhya Pradesh by the sub-branch of the Trained Nurses Association of India and held in the Post-Graduate School for a week. Mrs. James attended as delegate and was also in charge of the program for the day assigned to "The Matron on the Ward". The matrons from two other hospitals in Indore and myself assisted with the program, the highlight being a skit entitled "The Matron of Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow". I am not sure which brought the most enjoyment—our depiction of the matron of yesterday, dressed becomingly in Miss Gruchy's graduation uniform or our vision of the matron of tomorrow with her television observation and tablet machines for every kind of diet in the kitchen. The entire week was a great success and the participants wished that it could have been a little longer. Mrs. James assisted the post-graduate students to reproduce it at the Nurses Conference in Bilaspur in November where they received first prize.

In October I took a staff nurse and two students to the Trained Nurses Association Conference in Bombay. In September, Miss Roberts, the World Health Organization advisor in nursing to Madhya Pradesh asked if I would be willing to assist in an all-India paediatric refresher course which is to be held in Indore for two months this year. The course is to start next month for two months and is to be attended by 22 graduate nurses. It is encouraging to see so much interest developing in this very special and much needed branch of medicine in this great land of India and I feel very privileged and happy that I am allowed to play some small part.

Seventy Village Visits

From the middle of January to the end of February we made, in Hat Piplia district, about 70 village visits, going out mornings and nights. One day we found a group of gypies camping on the other side of the town, selling herbal medicines and living in rag tents. We visited them and told them the story of Christ's life, using Hoffman's picture with our projector.

One night on our way to Chapda village five miles away we found a group encamped on the road on pilgrimage to a holy place some miles away. We met with the folks in Chapda first, then had a meeting with these pilgrims on our way back. Unfortunately the leader of the group was pestered with blister bugs as he sat too near the lamp and just at the most serious part of our message he made a great disturbance.

From February 4th to about the middle of March we ran an adult literacy school, beginning with three days for those who would be the teachers and then we taught about 20 or more young men. When they finished the first book we had a delightful gathering to which we invited the president of the municipality to present the diplomas. He came, even though rather anti-Christian. A reading room for young boys also ran along with the literacy classes.

At Indore and Other Places

My Indore work has been mainly with handcrafts for the patients, especially having one or two women on Christmas cards and the men on hooked rugs. I sold nearly 3,000 cards with envelopes which has brought in much money, particularly for the one patient who has three children and no means of support. For our dispensary waiting room in Indore we have re-employed a retired Bible woman who is delighted with the opportunities to sing and talk with the people as they wait to be called by the doctor.

In the school we had about 150 pupils and managed to get them all physically examined and letters sent to the parents of the many needing attention. Unfortunately most of the parents are illiterate—but what to do!

We had a dinner for the Hostel anniversary, using the American gift corn baked between leaves in a fire of cow-dung cake embers.

During the hot season I spent some time separating the school and hostel from the evangelistic files, which had been together for many years. I handed over school and hostel to Miss Panna in July, but she only stayed until the end of October when Miss Das took over the school and Miss Boyd the hostel. Miss Chandralila Premdas is just now taking over the Hat Piplia evangelistic work from me. I have never enjoyed so much handing over before! When Miss Boyd returned the end of October, I was very glad to hand over to her the nurses' and doctor's accounts, repairs, purchasing etc. Our new doctor came the beginning of October. She was here 23 years ago as a new graduate.

The Bible women's refresher course this year was held in Ratlam and I was able to get Miss Das to give leadership instead of me. She is very interested in the Sunday School too and gets people off as delegates to conferences. From the Sunday School conference they came back having won the Malwa area shield for Hat Piplia Sunday School. Recently a group of the Sunday School children went by car to a village where some of our Christian families live and they put on a drama of the Christmas story.

Christmas and Other Pleasant Things

This brings me to our Christmas program. We planned for the work of the White Gift Service, the Christmas tree, the New Year's Day sports, the December 31st congregational dinner, all under committees and they all did their work well. Then we asked the Women's Group, the Nurses' Auxiliary, the Sunday School and the men carol singers all to take charge of an evening's entertainment, which they did excellently, with singing, solos, dramas, games, bonfires, tea and candlelight service.

Let me close with a list of some of the nice little things of the year—the singing of the women early Easter Sunday morning followed by a sunrise drama; two frogs singing to me one rather lonely Sunday night, right inside the bungalow; the beautiful waving feather-like heads of the sugarcane in field after field as one travels about in village visiting; the flamboyant gul mohr trees, more enjoyed because I planted many here myself; decorations for Christmas and a real live Santa in shops in Bombay and the little two-year-old who bravely walked up alone for her gift off our church tree, then poked Daddy when his name was called.

A Visit to Presbyterian Neighbors

The year began in a most delightful way with a trip by motor visiting our Canadian Presbyterian neighbors in Barwani, Jobat, Mendha Amkhut. Hilda Johnson was with me. We went as far as Mandleshwar the first day spending the night with Dr. Sundar Gaikwad. The next morning we left for Maheshwar taking Dr. Gaikwad along with us.

The object of our visit was some excavation work carried on about a mile away across the river. We crossed the river on a scow and were soon at the excavation site. We were shown the site of the digging, a buried village, which seems to have been destroyed by fire at least three times during its existence. It was my first opportunity of seeing such work—this reconstructing of a former civilization from pathetic bits of broken pottery, flints, etc. They told us this place dated back to 1365 B.C. As we were on our way to visit friends, we left them with their hoary relics and hied ourselves on to Khalghat.

At Khalghat we crossed the Narbadda Bridge and went on with our friends of the C.P. Mission to Barwani. Here we saw the 156 foot statue of Mahavir carved out of a rocky hillside, making human beings look very inconsequential beside his colossal figure. There is a lake near Barwani, where among thousands of birds I saw a beautiful sheldrake for the first time. We saw 70 named varieties of birds on this trip. All too soon we were back in Indore and busily at work, Hilda in the seminary and I caught again in the hospital routine.

One very interesting feature of our family life here is the coming from time to time of people from other Missions to help in the Post-Graduate School. This year we had Miss Jean Darling of the Church of the Nazarene Mission, Basim, and later on in the year Miss Gaddy of the Women's Union Mission Hospital in Jhansi. Two classes graduated this year, 17 in the ward sister course in the spring and six in the sister tutor course and six in the public health course in the fall. Over 100 students have graduated from the school since its beginning. They are scattered all over north India, Nepal, Pakistan, Kashmir, Bengal, Bihar, etc., wherever there are Hindi-speaking areas.

Holidays, Conferences and Guests

The hot weather brought a most delightful holiday in Kashmir. On a trip to Wular Lake we passed an experimental farm of nearly 300 acres devoted to the production of pyrethrum. When we were there it was in full bloom—the fields were literally white unto the harvest.

The All India Christian Endeavour Conference met in Indore in October and we had a number of the delegates living here with us. One of the leaders was Gaston Singh from Trinidad, whose grandparents had gone there from India. As a young lad he had known Dr. Clifford Grant and had been greatly influenced by him.

In December the All India Medical Conference met here. There were some interesting papers and quite lively discussion. At the dinner, places were set for 1,500 guests. I sat beside a lady doctor from New York who is out in India for a year working on family planning schemes with Lady Rama Rao. This is a live question in India today with its rapidly increasing population.

In the Church we have been happy to have a visit from Rev. Din Dayal, home on furlough from Kenya. The Church of North India is working him hard as The United Church of Canada does us when we are home on furlough. They would like to have a second missionary to send out now to help Mr. and Mrs. Din Dayal in Nairobi where a fine new community centre has just been opened.

Among the guests we have had this year were two who could tell us personal stories about the Tweedsmuirs and O. Douglass. One had often visited Peebles, where the family lived at one time, and the other knew them in Ottawa. What superb storytellers the world has lost in their passing! Another echo from a different part of the world was hearing Dr. and Mrs. McClure tell of the day they spent with Gladys Aylward, "The Small Woman", in Formosa last winter. She was living with an adopted son and his family and very interested in the person who was impersonating her in "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness", which no doubt many of you have seen.

We have had our usual Christmas celebrations with an unusually lovely and well performed drama by the nurses. This is much appreciated by such of the patients as can come to see it and also their relatives, and in fact by all of us even if we happen to be behind the screen singing the carols that accompany it.

And so I come to the end of my report from this Inn of Healing.

LOUISE SCOTT

Public Health Nurse,

A Teaching Program

Early last year, 1959, I had the rich experience of assisting with examinations of candidates in the orientation courses in community health under the State government. All were graduate nurses, and had completed a four-months' course to equip them to serve in the rural areas. These courses in one of the State's larger centres, Gwalior, are directed by nurses from the World Health Organization for a limited time. It was most interesting to me in the interviews I had with these young Indian nurses, to discover that many were graduates from our Mission hospitals of our Malwa area.

Once again I have had the opportunity of assisting with the teaching program of the M.I.B.E. Graduate School for nurses. Formal classroom instruction, conferences, field trips all have a part in the contact which I have had with these young men and women who represent various parts of the country. In October last the present class commenced its Ward Administration program, 22 graduate nurses, some men and some women, comprise the group. They were, of course, here in December when the graduation of the advanced course candidates having completed their studies, took place. There were six public health nurses and six sister tutors in the class of 1959 who received their certificates. These young people are most fortunate to have the Secretary of the Women's Board of the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, Miss M. Whale, present them with their certificates. The speaker on this occasion was Dr. DeMello, an Indian doctor from the staff of the State Directorate of Health Services. Her address was most appealing to the members of the graduating class, as she challenged them to a wider service. In her report as Director of the Graduate School, Miss MacMurchy made special mention of how the school is expanding. Candidates from all over the northern and central parts of India are now coming in greater numbers, and are indeed welcome.

Luke 6: 38

One of the six public health nurses of this class is now on the staff of the public health team of our Malwa Church Council. The importance of this statement has greater significance than might at first appear. It has taken a great many years to come to this stage and we do rejoice for the "good measure" that is now "running over" into the health program of this area. Miss Fellows is the first public health nurse, Indian, to be part of the health program of Malwa Church Council.

Much of the work that we have been planning to do, or have been doing spasmodically, is now being done with greater regularity and satisfaction. Home visiting is now a regular part of our program in a specific area. School health supervision has been a bit more active locally and in some of our outside schools also. The response to the immunization program at the Child Health Clinic has been most encouraging. Recently on a visit to a village several of the village people asked if they could come to the clinic for such inoculations as have been explained; then they asked if we could come and have a clinic in their village.

The use of the projector for showing health filmstrips has been a bit more popular with us recently. We have made this a regular activity, and though at each showing numbers are not great, we have this teaching aid regularly and at frequent intervals, which we hope will have lasting effect.

The public health car has been very much in use for distant or nearby calls. Many of the calls we have made have been initiated by us, during this past year, with the emphasis on health teaching, and demonstrations. It was with satisfaction and pleasure that we welcomed Miss Marjorie Robson back from furlough into the field of public health nursing in the Banswara area.

Much remains to be done undoubtedly in the field of health and healing. My prayer is that we may be ready each moment to see the opportunity that comes to us and as we share in the task of bringing in the Kingdom of God, may we experience the fulfillment of the promise . . . good measure . . . running over . . . for all, to all.

BARBARA J. MAXWELL

Language Study,
Indore, India

After a year of language study, it is good to be back in the nursing profession. Nursing in India is quite different from nursing in Canada, but the patients need care, skilled nursing, and love just like patients the world over. In India the whole family comes to live at the hospital when one of its number is sick, and this gives an excellent opportunity to give them all health teaching. My language still has a long way to go before it will accomplish much in the way of health teaching, but each day I struggle and perhaps come a little closer to understanding and being understood.

Up among the Hills

After a winter in Allahabad I went to the hills to pursue my language study and to write my first year exams in September. I experienced my first monsoon rains and kept slim climbing up and down the mountain. With the Himalayas at our back door it was truly a glorious setting and brought to mind so frequently the words of the Psalm, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help." But again one could not help but wonder as we saw the coolies staggering up the hill under the terrific loads which they carry on their backs whether as they lift up their eyes to these mountains, are they for them only a back-breaking job? Certainly in our every dealing with these people we either proclaim the love we have for them in Christ, or else drive them further away from the proclamation of the gospel. Much of the time the hills were bathed in a mantle of mauve orchids! The rains were torrential but they had their compensation in the beauty which they brought forth.

Back at Work

Now it is good to be back to work. I am continuing my language study while doing part-time nursing and teaching public health to the nursing students. I am sure that they are teaching me more Hindi than I am teaching them public health but I am enjoying the teaching very much. Everyone speaks to me in Hindi which is a great asset, if at times a bit frustrating. Many of the patients speak Bhili so that will have to be next on the agenda after I become a little more fluent with Hindi. But the smile is a wonderful international language, if not the essential one.

It is amazing how after a year in India how much I feel at home as I stride down a station platform, shop in the bazaar, attend church or chat with the staff. Nursing is growing here in India and it is exciting to have a small part in its growth and to strengthen the witness of the Christian Church through the service of Christian nurses.

A Visit to the Children's Home

Unless it is rest hour, there is usually a great noise, but a jolly one from the children living in this Home. The garden playground is a joy all the year round except during heavy rains. Rajan, our youngest member, now two and a half, climbs on to one of the swings, where he sits like a Rajah teasing the others. He is allowed many privileges, because he is the PET. The boys enjoy the slides best of all; up and down they go, and what does it matter if they do wear out their pants? The two big dolls are a great delight to the older girls, who spend much time playing with them.

Christmas was a happy day with all the children dressed in pretty new clothes. As soon as morning service was over (and they thought this was too long) they came to the bungalow where all their toys were arranged around the tree—dolls, motor cars, fire engines, bunny-on-wheels and hosts of others. What a commotion, what fun, and what joy for those around to see the youngsters so happy!

A Variety of Schools

Seven of the older children attend the mission school which is next door to the Home. All except Manorma are doing fairly well in their class work, and they all feel very grown up because they can attend "the big school", as they call it. Fifteen of the younger ones attend the Kindergarten Nursery School which is held in the lovely classroom in the Home. Thirty non-resident pupils attend daily, but there is a cry from the wealthy Neemuch public to admit more. The admission limit at present is 45, so the Children's Home Committee is considering enlarging the school. The teacher, Miss Masih, is a lovable girl, and the children all adore her.

About half the children attend the Sunday School at the church. When Sunday School is over, we all walk to the garden across the field where the children play or sit in the round-about singing nursery songs. After the play hour we return to the bungalow for more play and food, and then home tired and happy.

Transfers and Admissions

In July the two oldest boys, Narayan and Peter, were transferred to Kharua Hostel, where they have adjusted very well into boarding life. During the year there were only two admissions—a boy and a girl, who, as soon as their father marries again, will return home to him, in a poor mill area of Indore. Two children returned home; in both cases their fathers had remarried, and the children will be able to help with the new babies. There were no adoptions this year, but many enquiries, chiefly for boys. We have only two boys for adoption just now, as the majority of the family are girls. Four of the family are definitely retarded and will remain the responsibility of the church.

The Children's Home staff consists of a matron, two orphan girls who act as ayahs, two daily ayahs, and the faithful old gardener, jack-of-all-trades, and dearly loved by the children.

It is a great joy to work with the children, and a great responsibility as well. Will you pray with me these words for the family:

"Grant us, then, pure hearts and patient,
That, in all we do and say . . .
Little feet our steps may follow
In a safe and narrow way."

—C. Burke

Though the year 1959 brought headline news for India due to political crises, floods and other disturbances, here we live a fairly sheltered life within the Church compound where stands our lovely Church school, Children's Home, Nurses' Home and hospital. This year the rains were very heavy so we had extra water in the wells. Neemuch lack of water supply has always been a big headache. Though an uncompleted water project allows people in some parts to draw free water, it means waiting one's turn sometimes for hours. But the Chambal Irrigation and Electric Plant is nearly complete and then there will be plenty of water and electricity for Neemuch. Many buildings are being erected in anticipation of the Chambal scheme, but we are thankful that the Municipal Committee has decided to keep a large open maidan plot in front of our hospital free for sports and other gatherings, so we shall always have an open space.

Hospital News

Our hospital work continues as usual, sometimes busy, at other times there is a break, especially at the Hindu festivals. Dr. Halla, our medical superintendent, is a very keen doctor, and our patients receive the benefit of his knowledge, and the latest drugs available through him.

The new laboratory is a great delight—spacious and well equipped. The new Universal operating table, a gift from the Independent Methodist Churches (England) in appreciation of Sister Bevan's thirty years of service in India, is on order from Bombay, but it will be two months before it arrives in Neemuch.

During the year there were many changes in the staff, as our missionary-trained nurses are quickly snapped up by the government which offers them very attractive salaries.

Mainly about Nurses

During the year the nurses have been active in Nurses' Auxiliary work. Every Sunday evening they come to the bungalow for a sing-song and though we have no musical instrument, the girls have good voices and it is a joy to listen to them. The Easter drama which they gave was a great success and taught many non-Christians something of the message of Easter. The money raised helped towards the expenses of sending one nurse to the Trained Nurses' Association Conference in Bombay, and two nurses to the Mid-India Nurses' Conference in Bilaspur. Twenty-five years ago I started these conferences in Itarsi with 16 nurses. This year, when there were special services for the 25th anniversary, almost 200 registered.

In January the Nurses Retreat was held at Neemuch Nurses' Home with 15 nurses and my own staff when time permitted. Miss Allexander and Miss Jacob, a fine Indian woman, were the directors. There were services, work classes and teaching lessons in the hospital with the patients. The last meeting, led by Miss Allexander, was a testimony meeting, at which many of the girls gave their personal witness.

During the rains Miss Thurber of Ratlam came to take special meeting with our nurses for a week, and these meetings meant a great deal to the girls and to me.

The second Sunday in February is Hospital Sunday when the service is conducted by the nurses and staff. The special collection taken by the nurses this year was sent to the Medical College in Ludhiana.

This year the nurses and staff went to Sukanda for their picnic. Dr. Halla was able to arrange the transport to this lovely spot, and it was a very happy day.

The nurses help always with the W.M.S. Sale and raise money by selling flowers (cut from my garden), and the Dip-Tub, which the children enjoy, and serving tea.

Again this year I was appointed along with Dr. Moses as the examiner for the midwives examinations. This meant travelling many, many miles sleeping in trains by night and working in hospitals by day, but it is a great help to see our colleges at work in their hospitals and to see how the standard of nursing is steadily rising. It is interesting to meet so many of the nurses in training. Neemuch is not a training school but I do train nurses' aides, who are much in demand in the smaller hospitals. The nurses' Christmas party on Christmas Eve was a time of much fun and laughter. After the dinner and games the girls sang hymns then the Christmas gifts were distributed.

A Most Rewarding Year

The regular teaching program, approved by the Nursing Board under which we operate, has been carried on most successfully. The students passed their government examinations with the exception of one. One male student led in the second year examinations. The third year students were in very good positions on the pass list.

In our hospital we have tried to make the nurse-patient relationship as complete as possible. So the new students find they are called to see procedures and treatments far beyond their experience, early in their nursing careers. From experience we have found that a well-informed nursing staff and student body set the stage for the utmost in patient co-operation. Whenever a procedure is changed or a new one introduced both staff and students are called to see the demonstration and hear the explanation. Then I am always most interested to see which one will be lucky enough to have a patient requiring such treatment, to see how much has been absorbed by the ones who have seen the demonstration. Amazingly enough, the new is always most appealing to both staff and students.

While I am still on the subject of the Training School, I am happy to say that there has been little or no illness among the students. We think this is the result of an adequate immunization program and the chest screening of every patient who is admitted to the hospital, plus the isolation of all doubtful cases.

As you know from our yearly reports the training of our staff nurses has improved steadily through the years. At present we have the Assistant Director of Education who is a graduate of the School of Graduate Studies at Indore, and another Sister Tutor who has just completed the course in December, as well as one trained Ward Sister and another staff nurse is now at the same School of Graduate Studies. As a result of all this post graduate training we have more and better nursing in our wards and vastly improved teaching in the classroom.

Not a Common Procedure

Our nurses, both staff and students belong to the usual nurses' organizations and attend their conferences. Previously we used to have teas and sales and other means of raising the funds for travel to these conventions, but lately we have been able to make attendance at them possible through the gifts of money which grateful patients leave for the students and staff. This is most interesting because it is not a common procedure in other hospitals where I have been in India. We do not permit individual gifts, but if a patient wishes to remember all of us we accept the gift for just such projects as I have mentioned. Three nurses attended the Trained Nurses' Association of India Conference at Bombay and six attended the Christian Medical Association Nurses' Auxiliary in Bilaspur. From the reports given at the meetings following these conferences we feel that they are most worthwhile and educational for both staff and students.

A Few Statistics

I do not usually go in for statistics but this year I will break the rule and send along a few in this report. In the X-ray Department we have done over 3,000 screenings in the hospital, and more than 650 films plus the number that have been done outside the hospital on the T.B. surveys. In the laboratory we have done between 11,000 and 12,000 tests. The operating theatre keeps busy with 765 operations during the year, of which over 280 were major surgery, and in addition to these we had over 300 minor operations in the out-patient department.

An interesting change in all our hospitals is that of the nurse's cap. We have almost completely given up the large white veil for the smaller type of cap.

A retreat for nurses was held in the Neemuch Hospital during the early part of the year. Several of our nurses attended and found in it excellent help for their short services with the patients. We hope that this will be a yearly gathering for our nurses in some station or other and that each year some new phase of teaching helps will be given to those attending the retreat.

Anniversary Plans

1959 marked the 50th anniversary of the School of Nursing and the 60th anniversary of the hospital work. We had intended a joint celebration in January but arrangements could not be made, mainly as neither the Prime Minister nor the President of India could be present. Now it is planned for July when the President will come. There are to be thanksgiving services, general meetings and entertainments as well as an exhibition which will probably run for two weeks. A Jubilee Fund has already been started by graduates of the Medical College and School of Nursing. The projects for the fund are an internes' residence at the hospital site and a permanent School of Nursing building to replace the present small temporary one.

Rapid growth continues at Vellore. The new out-patients' block consisting of basement and two stories is huge and seems already too small for the large number of patients attending. The maternity block is being considerably enlarged and the additions include two new nurseries. Unfortunately increase in the number of patients is not as much as we would like partly due to the fact that services of this kind are available at the government hospital absolutely free, a luxury we are not able to afford.

Interesting and Successful Projects

In 1957 the School undertook the integration of public health nursing in our basic certificate course. This was done as part of an experimental program set up by the Government of India and with financial assistance from it. At the last Council meeting it was agreed we might continue this program on a regular basis and admit three extra students each year. We hope this experimental program here and elsewhere in some twenty schools will result eventually in such preparation for all nurses in India.

Another project which gives us real satisfaction is the pediatric nursing project under assistance from T.C.M. We have had two American pediatric nursing specialists in the school—Miss Dorothy Johnson for one year and Miss Marie Anderson for two years. Both have done excellent work in training nursing staff—an improvement in ward situations and nursing care and in teaching students. In addition considerable equipment for the ward and books and teaching aids have been provided by T.C.M.* Two of our staff received fellowships for study in the U.S.A. One returned last February with a Master's degree in Pediatric nursing and the second returns in March with the same preparation. As pediatrics was probably our weakest area we are more than grateful for what has been accomplished.

*An American technical assistance plan similar to the Colombo Plan.

Students are a Joy

We have been very fortunate in having students who are full of life and interest. In all activities both within the school and outside, in social services, in S.C.M. activities and professionally, they have done well and made their mark. But the language difficulty becomes more apparent each year. We are giving more English classes, but we cannot improve understanding and use of English in a few months. However, our courses have to be in English, as does the work in the wards, due to the many different languages spoken by the people concerned. What the final solution will be is yet to be seen.

This year we have two students from Iran in the Sister Tutor course, one from Malaya in the degree program, and one a World Health Organization scholarship student from the Maldive Islands in the certificate program. We have several from Ceylon also and already we have agreed to admit another from the Maldives in the next class. So our influence spreads.

Reports concerning our graduates in various countries of this area and all over India are very satisfying. I was in Delhi in December for Indian Nursing Council and Trained Nurses Association of India Committees and heard of many promotions and new appointments of our graduates. Needless to say we often wish they were not so much in demand that we might keep a few more ourselves.

We would express our gratitude to the W.M.S. and the many officers and members who support us with money, work and prayers. To all who have written me in the past year my very special thanks for your good wishes and particularly your prayers.

JAPAN

FOREWORD

An event of special significance during this last year was the celebration of the centenary of the arrival of the first Protestant missionaries in Japan. This was held in early November in Tokyo. There were large and impressive services of remembrance and witness in which all the major denominations joined. In addition the United Church of Christ in Japan held certain services of its own. The Moderator of The United Church of Canada sent a message of greetings for the occasion by the hand of Dr. C. J. L. Bates who had been especially invited to share in the services and to visit Kwansai Gakuin University of which he had been president for many years. During these celebrations, Governor Azuma of Tokyo honored 500 special foreign guests at a reception. Among those so honored were members of overseas Japanese churches, retired missionaries, and representatives of co-operating agencies, churches, and mission boards.

In August over 150 blind Christians gathered in Tokyo to celebrate the centennial anniversary of evangelism to the blind. There are about 18,000 blind persons in Japan, about 2,000 of whom are Christians.

Anniversaries seemed to be the order of the day in Japan this year. Toyo Eiwa Girls' High School in Tokyo celebrated its 75th Anniversary during the first week of November 1959.

The report of the Education Association of Christian Schools in Japan states that there are a total of 212 Christian schools from primary to post-graduate institutions, with a total of 143,000 students. Surely these schools present a vital opportunity to touch the lives of boys and girls, young men and women with Christian influence, as well as to provide facilities for academic work of real worth.

Tokyo Woman's Christian College reports a graduating class of 492 in 1959. This brings the total number of alumnae up to over 7,000. The College is trying to restrict its student body to about 1,600 in order to have more intimate contact between faculty and students.

Disaster struck with great suddenness in Japan this year in two very severe typhoons which caused very heavy loss of life and widespread damage to property. The first one swept through Yamanashi Province and our school at Kofu was seriously damaged.

The second typhoon was centred in Nagoya although damage was done in the Tokyo area as well. The Committee on Overseas Relief of The United Church of Canada sent an immediate grant of $5,000 through the Division of Inter-Church Aid and Service to Refugees of the World Council of Churches. In addition our Society made a grant of $3,000 and the Board of Overseas Missions granted $5,000 through the Interboard Committee for Christian Work in Japan to assist in the relief work under the United Church of Christ in Japan, and to aid in rebuilding damaged churches. This second typhoon was the worst in Japan's history.

During Japan's Centennial Year

Another year has come to an end and with it the end of the first century of Protestant work in Japan. Many have been the ways in which this has been celebrated throughout the country. It has been encouraging to see the broadening of vision which has resulted in the acceptance of a wider field of responsibility on the part of many laymen in our church.

One day I was visiting a fishing village in the most northerly part of the district to which I am assigned. The minister in charge lives in another village and as he has a very large parish he cannot go every week. They have a large Sunday School which two of the laymen have been doing their best to keep going. The wife of one has been a leader in the village for a long time and is a very fine person. Among other things she was president of the Buddhist society and, although she was sympathetic to Christianity, she never felt the need to become a Christian. She saw the two men needed help with the Sunday School and decided to do what she could. That decision led to another for she saw that it was not right to have the family divided in their religion, so she has finally come to accept Christ as her Saviour too.

Another man in that district succumbed to the temptation to steal money from his employer. He was sent to jail and while he was waiting trial some of the Christians felt called on to help him. They helped the family materially, then set about to try to get him released on probation. He was a good worker and his employer was willing to give him another chance. He was sent back to his old job with the minister as his probation officer. With the help of the Christian love which is being given him he is on the way to becoming once more a useful member of society.

After one of our Bible study periods for the mothers at Fukushima Kindergarten the talk turned to the training of children. One mother spoke up saying, "It is difficult for me to say this, but the other day my little boy was very quiet and a number of times went off by himself to pray. Finally I asked him what it was he was praying so earnestly about. 'I was praying that you and daddy would not quarrel so much. At kindergarten our teacher told us if we asked God to help us He will and I do so want you and daddy to stop quarreling'." The mother went on to say, "I know I'm quick tempered and my husband and I had been quarreling a lot, but I didn't realize till then what my temper was doing to my children. The Christian teaching given in the kindergarten is helping me too."

At Fukushima and Esashi

Next March is the end of the five years during which Fukushima receives a grant from pioneer evangelism funds. The small group of Christians here are gradually realizing their financial responsibilities and also the loss to the community if the minister and his family should have to leave because of lack of funds. The small group cannot raise a great deal but they have raised enough to make up the cut from the central fund this year.

This past year our new minister arrived at Esashi and is making an impact on the community. He wanted to start an English Bible class in the dormitory for high school students so went to the principal to get permission. To his surprise the principal asked him to have it in the school instead so more would be able to attend. I go out once a month to help. Some teachers as well as students attend. It is, of course, held after school hours and attendance is voluntary. The class has also proved an opening for private talks with the minister.

The first meeting planned on a large scale was December 20th. A hall was rented for the occasion. One hall was promised but one of the members of the Board of Governors found out it was for the church and vetoed the permission. The other hall was central though and satisfactory. All the seats were filled and many sat on the floor. One of the seekers had just bought a small reed organ which was lent for the evening. A loud-speaker was borrowed and for half an hour before the service carols were played and the service announced. Seven young people from Hakodate went out with me to provide music for the service. The young minister gave a short talk on the meaning of Christmas and then closed with a candle-lighting ceremony. The whole service was simply and reverently performed. We came away feeling it had been good for us to be there.

Contrasts

I continued on at Language School until the end of March, when my plans to be in Canada for my parents' fiftieth wedding anniversary in May were pushed ahead in order that I might be with my mother during her illness and imminent surgery. I was most grateful that I was able to stay in Canada until mother was seemingly well on the way to recovery.

While in Canada, the superficiality of much of life and the terrific emphasis on materialism shocked me. Young people in high school with so much freedom and money, but without a comparable sense of their responsibility for and to society came as a surprise to me too.

The essential, conscientious perseverance of young people in Japan seems in such complete contrast. Students in Japan are very aware of all the upheaval in the world and feel themselves a vital part of the change. The economic struggles are such that young people here cannot afford to be complacent. We covet the same sense of urgency for the young people in Canada.

The Only Missionary in Kami Suwa

On my return to Japan, when I was assigned to South Nagano Prefecture, having worked in Nagano city, Matsumoto, and north of Matsumoto, in many ways I felt as though I were returning home. There are no other missionaries in Kami Suwa, so housing was the first requirement. Through the good graces of one of the teachers in Yamanashi Eiwa we have found an ideal situation. My landlady is the widow of the doctor who built the private hospital next door, and now lives alone in the lower part of the house. I look forward very much to living in her Japanese home. My rooms will consist of the second floor, with a lovely southern exposure. There is a large room which will lend itself to meetings or entertaining some of the many students who are anxiously awaiting my move to Kami Suwa.

It is a real joy to me to be back in the country again. Kami Suwa is a small city of about 47,500 people nestled in the Japan Alps between Kofu and Matsumoto.

I work with two churches in Kami Suwa city. On Saturday night in the Willow Street Church, some 70 students gather for an hour of worship and an hour of Bible study. At the moment we are struggling with the Acts of the Apostles. They are an enthusiastic and energetic group as was well shown in their three-hour Christmas program. They shared the concern of those in distress after the devastating Nagoya typhoon as well as using their Christmas offering to relieve the suffering of the unemployed miners in Kyushu.

Special Joys at Chino

On Sunday morning I take the bus to Chino, the city next to Kami Suwa. Chino is more rural than Kami Suwa with its main source of income coming from rice and fruit trees, with a winter sideline of gelatin, made from the residue of boiled seaweed brought in from the the coast. This jelly-like substance is put in trays and set out in the fields to freeze during the night and thaw during the day for some 15 days. We are told that much of this gelatin is exported to Canada and the United States.

Chino Church has proved a special joy to me. This little wooden church, tucked behind a main street, is over 30 years old. The pastor who helped build it is still shepherding his flock. To walk in and see a whole congregation kneeling on cushions on a matted floor, cannot help but make one aware of a deep sense of reverence. Few churches now have "tatami" or matted floors but our minister felt that his people were "more at home" praying on "tatami".

During the war the minister, Mr. Jinguji, was imprisoned for his Christian stand against war and many of his parishioners were persecuted. While Mr. Jinguji was imprisoned, the church was used by the military to make tools. After the defeat the church was returned, but the minister's health had been broken by malnutrition though he hopes soon to be able to go back to his evangelistic work throughout the district. All the older church members have known persecution, and out of this has come a sense of Christian fellowship and a depth of faith which I have never seen elsewhere. They have given me a warm welcome and I feel it is a real privilege to be a part of their fellowship.

On Sunday evening I return to Kami Suwa and either speak at the Kami Suwa Church or go to Shimo Suwa, the next city after Kami Suwa. Shimo Suwa Church is another church were persecution during the war has produced a very strong faith in the older members. One lady was so happy to see me because it had been nearly forty years since she had seen a missionary. That missionary had led her to Christ and now she is so anxious that I go to her home just to talk with her . . . when I move!

Kami Suwa Church celebrated its fiftieth anniversary this fall, at the same time that Shimo Suwa Church celebrated its thirtieth anniversary. At the special worship service, a very elderly man was received through baptism into the fellowship of the church, and so the church continues to reach out to all ages as we launch into a new century of evangelism in Japan.

Outstanding Events

The year 1959 has seen me complete one year of work at Shoei Junior College, though not a complete school year, which begins in April and ends in March.

The first outstanding event in 1959 was the attendance of the entire student body (200) at the Women's World Day of Prayer service in this part of the city. For most non-Christian students, it was their first time in a Christian church or at any religious service except in our school chapel.

On Girls' Festival Day (March 3) our Shoei kindergarten had a special program to which groups from any "foreign" kindergartens in Kobe were invited. Children from Scandinavian, German, Canadian and Chinese kindergartens attended. The hymns used in the worship service at the beginning were printed in English and Japanese, and sent to the invited groups, so that they could practise them ahead of time. Following the worship service, a Shoei teacher explained the origin of the Dolls' Festival with suitable demonstration and games. Next, each invited group contributed a dance and a song from its own country, dressed in national costume. Finally, there was general activity for all. Towards the end, some TV operators came with their cameras, which we felt rather spoiled the spontaneity of the affair, so they will not be permitted another time.

At the end of April, a huge bazaar, called the 70th anniversary bazaar, was held, for which everyone ever connected with Shoei co-operated in a very active way. Result: the money objective was exceeded and the equivalent of $1,400 raised for our new building. The 70th anniversary celebrations came in mid-November. Some of the events were the dedication of the new classroom building, which we began to use in June; a field day; two large public meetings held in a church with dramatization of the school's history, and the honoring of members of the present staff who had served the school for 20 years or more; besides exhibits of various sorts.

At the beginning of the school year, we accepted a larger number of new students. With A and B classes in one division, it meant I had to teach the same lesson twice in Christian Education. I also began a course in Home and Parent Education. Since one makes up one's own courses, it meant a lot of preparation as well.

Four Religious Retreats

In 1959 we held four religious retreats of several days' duration—two with each class—in February, April, July and October. At these, we eleven teachers plus an invited speaker, lived, worshipped, played and had discussions together with the students, and in a friendly, informal atmosphere, learned some of the students' problems, and how to help them in their daily living. The one held in February was for the graduating class, and we travelled to a place three hours' train ride south from Kobe, and on the Pacific Ocean. In this village lived the man who was to be our guest speaker. A protégé of Dr. Kagawa twenty-five years ago, Masuzaki San went to this remote, entirely non-Christian village to begin Christian social work. At first he met with violent opposition, especially since he sometimes visited with the Eta's (lowest social class in Japan) in the next town. Finally after living in one room and doing jobs which no one wanted to do, he was accepted by the villagers. Gradually a day nursery, women's clubs, etc., were established. He taught the women how to use the seashells to make marketable articles for extra income. An artist of no mean ability, he also sold his paintings. Crippled physically because of various blows received from village persecution, and from his own father who had disinherited him, his spiritual vitality was impressive. Two weeks later he attended the graduating exercises of this class of students and gave the message. Some of our younger teachers still talk of this man's effect on their lives.

The Realization of a Dream

This autumn my strong hope of being able to help in a country church has been realized. I have been asked to teach an English Bible class at a town one hour's train ride from Kobe. I go on Sunday mornings, and after the Bible class stay for the morning service. My pupils are high school and university students anxious to learn English but there is only one with any Christian background. The young and alert pastor and his wife have only been there a year; before that there was no regular pastor. Already some of the Bible class are remaining for the morning service. May we have your special prayers for the work of this church in all its aspects, and for any contribution that I can make?

Life is like a Roller Coaster

A missionary writing in the Japan Christian Quarterly a few years ago said that life sometimes seems like a roller coaster. She added that she was never sure which was the most interesting, the ups and downs or the level places between. The year 1959 reminded me of that article. In Kofu, 1959 will be remembered as the year Miss Greenbank retired and will also be referred to as the year of the typhoons.

On the broader scene, representatives from all parts of Japan met in Tokyo in November to celebrate the Centennial of Protestant Christianity in Japan. This was the crowning event of five years of preparation at every level of the organization of the church. Much has already been written about this inspiring event. For me, one of the impressive things about it was the feeling of the oneness of the church throughout the world. Greetings were presented from many countries including Germany, Finland, France, Holland, England, Canada, United States, Hawaii and Indonesia. This was not an international gathering, yet one got the feeling of the universal nature of the church.

Miss Greenbank left Kofu early in March after more than 30 years of service in the Yamanashi Eiwa Girls' High School, about 20 of these years as principal of the school. During the weeks preceding her departure there were many occasions when those who had known her expressed in various ways their appreciation and gratitude for what she had done. The graduates of the school have published a book containing many of these messages as well as messages given by Miss Greenbank on different occasions. I should like to quote one sentence written by a friend of many years. "I hope that each one of us will take up the still brightly burning torch of life which she has been so bravely holding up, and will carry it to make the lives around us brighter and happier." To have inspired that sense of responsibility in others is one proof of real leadership.

March came with the ups and downs of entrance examinations, graduation and all that goes with the end of a school year. There was a large number of applicants for the entrance examinations last year and we began the new school year in April with fine classes.

In April we began a plan for Bible study and fellowship among the teachers. The members of the staff were divided into groups of seven or eight, and meet once a month for a study period of two hours. I feel that it has been very helpful, not only for the Bible study but for the opportunity of getting to know each other and for the fellowship which it has made possible.

Then Came the Typhoon

The typhoon, which struck Yamanashi Prefecture in August, was really a surprise attack. We had been warned the day before that there was a typhoon approaching Japan but no one thought of it coming here. Kofu is surrounded by mountains which protect it from typhoons—or so we thought. The wind and rain were terrific; trees were uprooted or broken off, roofs were carried away, windows broken and telephone poles blown over. A second one came a month later. It lasted longer but the velocity of the wind was not so great and there was less damage from it.

It is interesting that often opportunities may be discovered even in the midst of destruction and suffering. In a town not far from here a young minister has been working for nearly a year trying to strengthen the faith of a small group of Christians and reach out to others in the town. He was finding it very difficult to get acquainted with the people outside the Christian group. Then came the typhoon. The minister organized a work camp to help those whose homes had been damaged or destroyed. Working together to meet a need, a fellowship was established which has broken down the barrier and prepared the way for the message of the gospel.

At the Christmas service in the church to which I belong, a man 81 years old and his son were baptized. The influence which was greatest in bringing these men to this decision was that of the son's wife who was an earnest Christian before she was married about twelve years ago. Often we are concerned that the graduates of our school marry men who are not Christian. But we rejoice that there are those who through their faith and patience are able to point the way to the members of the families into which they go as brides.

Association with "Fifth" Year Girls

I'm what is called an educational missionary and my actual assignment is teaching English eighteen hours a week. It happens that my compulsory teaching is in the "first" and "sixth" years. So I'm going to write my report this time on my associations with the "fifth" year girls, whom I have never taught officially, partly to show you how a person can be busy even with a light teaching load, but mainly because these associations have been so enjoyable.

The "fifth" year is the equivalent of grade 11, and since pupils must be fully six years old before they start school and failures are rare, the girls have their seventeenth birthday during the school year,

April to March. It seems traditional that they make the most of this year since as soon as they enter their last year they must begin to worry about what's going to happen to them after graduation.

A month or so before the new school year began, the mother of Sachiko, one of the very best students, asked me if I would give her daughter special lessons in conversation. So we started a special class with about twelve girls, added six or eight more, and now have two groups who meet weekly. After a lesson on "invitations" when they had been suggesting picnics and movies on Sunday and I had kept insisting that "on Sunday you go to church", I said to Sachiko: "I'd like to invite you to attend my Bible class on Sunday morning." Sure enough, next Sunday, she and another member of the group who also lives near the church, were at the class. When her mother asked her why she hadn't stayed for the worship service too, she said, "I only went to please Miss Langland." But now they often stay for church, and sometimes come just to church.

A few girls, not good enough to join the superior students' group, wanted special help, so they sacrificed most of their noon hour once a week, and I've got acquainted with about 20 more in this way.

Trips and Outings

Early in May I went on a one-day outing with the year as a whole (three classes, about 160 girls). We went by bus to "the tunnel", then climbed a non-formidable mountain, from which there was a wonderful view of Fujisan.

In late July, at the close of the first term, there were two three-day camps for interested students, one at the seaside and one in the mountains, which was the one I attended. The fifth year usually take their trip during the spring vacation, just before they start their final year, but even by that time they have a lot on their minds, so they decided to try the fall. The main thing they missed by going in October was the cherry blossoms. The students save a definite amount every month, and railways and hotels give special rates so it really isn't an extravagance.

Each year the three class teachers, a couple of extras, a photographer, a nurse, and a travel bureau representative accompany the girls. I was delighted to have the opportunity to go as one of the "extras", and it was a really rewarding experience to travel with the students. It seemed as if one of our main functions was to fill space in photographs, but we had a few responsibilities, like leading worship one evening each, making rounds to see that lights were out on time (and finding innocent-faced youngsters who, unless you turned back the quilts and found them still in their uniforms, you'd never guess had jumped into bed when they heard the teachers coming down the hall), checking to make sure no belongings had been left behind.

Again I was surprised to see how the girls took responsibility. A group consisted of eight to ten girls, and each had a "captain" who got instructions from and made reports to the teacher in charge. At railway stations the captain would check to make sure that the whole group was there. At hotels she would direct her group to the assigned room, find out what time they were to go to the bath (there's nothing like a Japanese bath!), represent the group if they wanted a special privilege or thought the schedule should be changed for any reason. When we came back we felt almost as if we never wanted to go again —because surely no subsequent trip could be as enjoyable.

Other Activities

In November I was again associated with the fifth year, when we had a two-day school-wide retreat. Each day they had worship and a lecture in the auditorium (juniors and seniors separately) and twice a day they met in small groups to discuss such problems as women's place in society, friendship, suicide, baptism, instinct versus Christian principles.

I also meet a few of these girls in the various Bible classes I have around the city. There's sometimes a bit of a problem because they usually know more both of English and of Bible than the students from government schools, but it makes me feel more "secure" to have some of our own there.

Our last activity in 1959 was a Christmas party for Sachiko's group. They came to our house in the evening, spent a couple of hours making used cards into calendars to be taken to hospitals, saw slides of the spring outing and fall trip, sang carols, had lunch (of course) and then most of them went home while four, who lived some distance away, stayed overnight and next morning had their first western-style breakfast, less nourishing, no doubt, than their own, which isn't complete without a bowl of bean-paste soup.

I'll be teaching these girls during their final year and it's wonderful to have had a chance to get acquainted with them and to have seen them in so many different activities. And next year when someone says: "Hosakasan got into the Women's Christian College," or "Kobayashi-san's going to work in the Chuo Bank," or "Fujiharasan was baptized on Easter Sunday," it will really mean something to me.

A Mixture of Things

1959 was a rather mixed year. It was full, at first, of the sadness of thinking that in the summer I would be leaving Japan as my three years as a J'3 were up. I was starting to pack things and people were beginning to give me farewell gifts when it was decided that I should stay for another year. I was sorry to hear that they could not find another girl to take advantage of this wonderful chance, but I was also happy to be able to spend another year with my students and friends. I decided then to spend the summer in a Japanese language school. That was a very interesting experience. I found that I not only gained a little knowledge of Japanese but I also gained a better understanding of what my students were going through in their study of a foreign language.

During the summer and fall Japan had two very bad typhoons. One hit Yamanashi, the prefecture of which Kofu is the capital, and the damage to our property and the school was quite extensive.

It was a nice feeling to get back to the school in the fall, especially as I had expected to be a university student instead of a teacher. One thing that was very interesting was sharing my limited knowledge of Japan with the new J'3 in Tokyo. It made me feel rather wise to find someone who knew less about Japan than I did. We did some travelling and went on bike hikes, etc.; with some of my Japanese friends.

One other very interesting thing I did was to see that Japanese movie entitled "The Birth of Japan". It was enlightening to see the similarities between our Bible story and their legend; for instance, both include the rainbow as a symbol of God's promise to man.

A Variety of Classes

My classes, both in and out of school, were very varied as usual. In school I teach girls from the ages of 14-17. Outside of school I teach practically all ages from 14 up.

I have two Bible classes. One is made up of junior and senior high school students. It is, of course, an English class and I must admit that most of the students are more interested in English than in Bible. However, I was very pleased when one boy refused a holiday and chose a day of translation of the lesson with my Japanese helper, saying, "I like Bible." In the group there are only three baptized Christians and the rest know practically nothing about the Bible or Christianity. It pleases me when they ask questions in either English (to me) or Japanese (to my helper) that show that they are really thinking.

My other Bible class is a completely different type of class. It is made up of men most of whom are old enough to be my father. Though very few of them are baptized, they know a great deal about Christianity as they have attended Bible classes for many years in most cases. Their questions are often far beyond my knowledge, experience and understanding. Their ideas and discussions teach me a great deal, with the result that I often feel more like the student than the leader.

My other groups include a conversation class for a group of engineering students, an English club in one of the public high schools in the city and a couple of extra classes for some of the students from that high school. It also includes an English club in our own high school, and a class with some of the graduates from our school. There is also a class of junior high boys, one of whom said one day, "I would rather learn English than eat." I am helping a couple of students who will be trying university entrance exams in the spring.

So, as you can see, a J'3 or J'4, as I am now, leads a varied and interesting life.

M. FERN SCRUTON

Educational Missionary,
Shizuoka, Japan

A Very Full Program

It is just a little over a year since I came to Shizuoka as a member of the staff of Shizuoka Girls' High School. It has been a busy but a happy year.

Five days a week I have a full teaching program in the high school where I teach English conversation in every year from the first to the sixth. Our school has many activities in all of which the missionary participates in some way. There are music contests and English speech contests, Sports Day and Culture Day programs, thanksgiving services and Christmas festivities, service projects, graduation teas and parties, and many other events. We attend numerous committees and teachers' meetings. We coach students in English for university entrance exams. We missionaries are also in charge of morning chapel service once a week. This is the only time I ever have to speak before an audience of 1,100 people. I find it takes much thoughtful and prayerful preparation to do this well in Japanese. There were also retreats during the past year in which I carried some responsibility.

In March 175 girls will graduate from Shizuoka Eiwa. Of these nearly 50 hope to enter college or university. More than 60 have found employment in stores, banks and offices. The remainder will go to sewing or cooking school, study flower arrangement and tea ceremony or help their mothers in their homes in preparation for marriage.

For some years our school has had two missionary teachers who give full time to the school, as well as one part-time teacher, but in July, when Audrey Wellwood returned to Canada after her three-year term of service, no one was sent in her place. That meant that Marguerite Cosens and I have tried to carry her hours of teaching as well as our own; however, from April, Merrill Brown, a first term missionary, has been appointed here and we are eagerly awaiting her arrival.

The Value of the Parables

Two evenings a week I teach classes in English conversation and Bible in Shizuoka Church for junior and senior high school students from the city high schools. Very few of these students have ever read the Bible before. We have been trying the parables of Jesus which are easy to understand, using a text prepared by one of the I.B.C. missionaries. The students remember them easily and grasp the one central truth quickly. The parables are a good first step in introducing Christian teaching to those who have not yet any conception of our Christian God, or of what Christianity really means.

Most of these students come at first through an interest in English, but they listen thoughtfully when I conclude each lesson in Japanese. Almost all have bought their own Bibles and some of them are reading them at home; three or four are borrowing Christian books; a few are attending church; others come occasionally to special meetings. I believe that some day some of these young people will be ready to commit themselves to Christ.

Young Japanese Mothers

I have a monthly Bible class for mothers in two Christian kindergartens in this area. I enjoy them very much as it takes me into the field of Child Education in which I worked for many years. Attendance varies from three or four to twenty in each group. Japanese mothers are very busy people and are not always free to leave their homes. A few are Christians. Some went to Sunday School when they were little girls and have come back seeking more. Others are eager to know about the teaching they are hearing for the first time when the children come home and report what goes on in kindergarten.

Our lovely little church built last year continues to be a centre of worship for an increasing number of people. Several were baptized during the year and there were nine more adult baptisms on Christmas Sunday including four of our Eiwa students.

During the past year Shizuoka has twice been brushed by the edges of a typhoon but neither time was any serious damage done. Our school and the churches have contributed generously this fall to the areas which suffered so severely.

A Braille Hymn Book

The doorbell rang. It was the postman with a parcel addressed to me. Hastily I opened it. What was my joy to find the braille hymn book about which I had just recently inquired of one of my friends in Tokyo! It is for a blind woman, Saito San, who attends our church almost every Sunday with her 7-year-old daughter. Quite often they sit beside me and it is touching to see the devotion and patience with which this young child guides her mother and, although she squirms quite a bit, she behaves in church better than many children whose mothers can see and handle them normally.

I discovered that Mrs. Saito has only a small part of the New Testament in braille. She said that she is content with having one of the gospels and Acts, but she would like so much to have a hymn book so that she could sing with her little girl. Right away I got in touch with her friend, one of the elders of our church, and she came for the hymn book and took it to her. A card received from her expressed her gratitude and told of her joy as she can now teach her little girl and they can sing together the well-known hymns we all love to sing.

A Visit to our Little Church

How I wish all of you could drop in and worship with us! Though the membership is only about 130, about half of them are young people.

The members still adhere to the old custom of men sitting on the right and women on the left but the young people are gradually breaking away from this formality. Two points for which they are to be commended, I think, are the large part that women take in church matters and even in worship services, and the keenness with which everyone studies his Bible, carrying it always to every church affair for all include worship in their program. In our church women take the lead in everything but the financial part and the conducting of worship. 3 of the 6 elders are women, 1 or 2 women take up the offering and say the offertory prayer, and women always serve the communion. The women's monthly meetings and their weekly prayer fellowship and Bible study groups in their homes are well-attended.

A Very Busy Year

This year, especially since the summer, has been very busy because our J-3 completed her term and returned home leaving only two of us. My work has increased by one English and Bible Class and seven hours a week of teaching English conversation in our Eiwa girls' school plus some radio work in English, besides language study, a monthly ministers' meeting, two short worship services a month in Japanese, preparation for three of my Bible classes which are mostly in Japanese, special requests for help in English and speaking engagements.

My new English and Bible class, begun in November, is in the city of Fuji at the foot of majestic Mt. Fuji, an hour's ride by train from Shizuoka. As I go twice a month on Sunday afternoons, a free day for a great many Japanese, I have a good opportunity to observe family life on the train. It is heartening to see the love and consideration that parents show their children but I would also like to see it reciprocated especially by the boys. My class of between 15 and 20 junior high school girls is proving to be most interesting since I am introducing these first year students not only to foreign English pronunciation but to Bible study and its wonderful message and even more wonderful Messenger.

The highlight of the year was the Centennial Celebration of Protestant Christianity in Japan. Special evangelistic meetings, street preaching and home visitation were climaxed by a week-long conference the first week in November. It was attended by about 3,000 Japanese and missionaries and about 500 overseas delegates. Its theme "You shall be My witnesses unto the ends of the earth" has a forward look and a stirring challenge as we face a new year and a new century.

A. MAY McLACHLAN

Evangelistic Missionary,
Yoshida Machi, Japan

On my return from furlough, for the first three months I commuted from Shizuoka to Yoshida Machi, but in October I moved into my permanent residence, a sunny little Japanese house. It had been repaired and made as comfortable as possible by the owners, a village carpenter and his wife and family who live beside me. They take a great interest in my program and are very kind to my guests when I am absent. I had hoped that this family would come to the little meetings held in my home but so far they haven't.

As a matter of fact, only the five or six women who had attended meetings we held here before I went on furlough have continued to come. My neighbors are friendly folk but they definitely avoid any reference to religious things when they are chatting with me. I have had to be silent about the things that matter most and seek other ways to serve them and the community.

Opportunities for Service

The most evident way that I could be of service was to help their children with their English studies. Country boys are at a disadvantage when they have to compete with city-educated boys in the highly competitive entrance examinations into universities. But good jobs are open only to university graduates. Graduates of Middle and High schools have to face a life of insecurity and a low standard of living. So to help these boys and girls I started English conversation classes for them and for their teachers. Both parents and teachers seem to appreciate the little help I can give. At Christmas time when we held a Christmas service and party for teenagers in the church in Haibara, to our great surprise fifty-four boys and girls attended.

Another opportunity for service came in the busy rice-planting season. We found three families that were particularly in need of help. With the help of two of our neighbors and a young Christian from the church we took care in my home of six little tots, two of them fourteen-month-old twins. This made it possible for these three mothers to get their rice-planting done.

We also found that there are a considerable number of mentally deficient children in our community, due in part to in-breeding caused by centuries of inter-marriage. No class of unfortunates have been more neglected and sinned against than these children and their mothers. Recently throughout Japan a movement has been started to provide institutions where such children will receive treatment and care.

Two women who attend the service held in my house persuaded three such mothers to come to afternoon tea and bring their children with them. While the women looked after the children and I served tea the three mothers, who met for the first time, shared experiences and unburdened their hearts to each other. One of them has a boy of ten who is blind and a little girl of six who is blind, dumb and mentally deficient. The little girl was carried on her back. Yet this mother was the one who seemed to catch a vision that afternoon of those who carry such heavy burdens having fellowship together and helping each other. They resolved to meet again in my home and invite two or three more women and their children.

God's Plan was the Better One

When I came in March I had many plans for making contacts with young people and high hopes of interesting them. Middle-aged women, such as the three or four who had attended our meetings, are so bound by old, deeply rooted religious customs and ways of thinking that it is very difficult for them to change. My hope was in the young people but no amount of planning brought results. Then just at the end of the year I got a glimpse of another Plan, not mine but His. In November one of the women who had attended our meetings asked for baptism. She is the wife of the dentist, her family one of the oldest in the town. She herself is loved and respected by everyone. Her clear humble and joyous witness has set folks talking. Her friends and neighbors are showing interest for the first time and are responding to her invitation to come and see. Thirty of her friends and neighbors attended the Christmas service and celebration which we held in her home. It is with new hope and glad expectation that I start the new year.

"Yuke Kirisuto To Tomo Ni!"

The high point of the centennial celebration of the beginning of the Protestant Christian work in Japan came in the first week of November with the great meetings held in the Tokyo Metropolitan Gymnasium (seating capacity 10,000) and other places. Outstanding for me was the evening meeting devoted to Overseas Evangelism, held in Yodobashi Church, where one of the strongly emphasized points was that, while during the first century the Church in Japan had been a receiving Church, as we begin the second century the time has come for the Church here to become a giving, sending church.

While the Church during the year has looked to the past, not with satisfaction but with gratitude, the stronger emphasis has been on the future, the beginning of a new century and a call to greater dedication and effort. It has been thrilling to share in the life of the Church here and to have a continuing part, as co-operating missionary, in the life of one congregation, that of the Torii Zaka Church. Each Sunday through the year our church bulletin has borne the watchword of the anniversary year: "Yuke Kirisuto to tomo ni!"—"Forward with Christ!", and the church has truly tried to follow these words in its work and worship.

A memorable experience in the life of Torii Zaka Church came during Holy Week. It was decided to have a complete reading of the New Testament in the church and members signed up beforehand for half-hour periods of reading. The reading began on Holy Thursday at 10 o'clock in the morning and continued through that day and night and until 5 o'clock on Good Friday afternoon. People were urged to come into the church whenever they could during the reading for periods of meditation and prayer. On Good Friday evening there was a Communion Service in the church.

Important Events at Toyo Eiwa School

The year 1959 was also an important year in the life of our Toyo Eiwa School, as it brought the celebration of the 75th anniversary of the founding of the school. The whole student body, from Kindergarten to Junior College, gathered on the playing-field at the high school for a special ceremony on November 2nd. An early Mission report says "the school was opened in October, 1884, with two pupils." Now there are nearly 1,800 in all departments.

This year witnessed the completion and dedication of the new Junior College building and auditorium. The students are proud of their beautiful new building which has replaced two old, temporary wooden buildings after nearly seven years of use. During the year also work was begun on a new wing for the primary school—a building which will complete the original plan by providing a chapel and a cafeteria.

It was a happy thing for the school that a new camp house could be completed and ready for use before the summer at Oiwake, near Karuizawa, in the mountains north of Tokyo. Two retreats for high school students were held during August at the Camp, which was in use most of the summer by classes and groups from the various departments of the School.

At Christmas time the free-will offering of the high school girls amounted to nearly 112,000 Yen (over $300). About one-fifth of this amount was sent to help in the Kyushu mining area, where there has been such desperate need.

Christmas Sunday is a time that people like to choose for baptism, and a number of our students were baptized on that day. Among those received into Torii Zaka Church was one of our Senior High School students who was baptized together with her mother and father.

Comings and Goings and Current Events

Tokyo is a place of much coming and going. In the summer we said farewell to two of our J-3's—Audrey Wellwood, who had been in the Shizuoka School, and Janet Arklie, who had been in Tokyo. The third J-3, June Robertson, stayed over to become a J-4 and to continue her work in the Kofu School where she was much needed. We were disappointed not to have the three new J-3's we had hoped for, but we were happy to welcome one, in the person of Rena Beacom, and also to have a new missionary recruit, Daphne Rogers. Dulcie Cook, Gwen Suttie, Marjorie Tunbridge, and Enid Horning all left on furlough during the year, and Katherine Greenbank left us for retirement. While this report was being prepared we received word of the death of our beloved Margaret Elizabeth Armstrong, at the age of 83, in Toyama, where she had lived for many years and had continued her work in the church and in Aoba Kindergarten which she had founded.

A report of 1959 would seem incomplete without some reference to two happenings about which the whole world heard. One was, of course, the marriage of Crown Prince Akihito to Michiko Shoda on April 10th. Vivid memories remain of the perfect spring day, of the long wait as one of the spectators for the coming of the procession, and of the sight of the happy prince and his beautiful princess. Then, in September, came the disastrous Ise Bay typhoon, bringing so much loss and destruction. In a sense, these two events typify common life with all its joy and sorrow.

VIOLET A. M. SAUNDERS

Educational Missionary,
Tokyo, Japan

We start this second century of the work of the Protestant Church in Japan, knowing the needs of the country and that our own quality of living is the only thing that can meet those needs.

First, there is to be a meeting early in February for leaders of the Kyodan (United Church of Christ in Japan) to think about what the Church should do to ready itself for its great task and opportunity.

Where Two or Three are Gathered Together

Just over two years ago a young graduate of senior high school came from her home in Hokkaido to enter the College of Pharmacy, which one can see across the roofs of the city from Sangenjaya Church where the Rev. Mr. Oku is pastor. This girl found a boarding house in the neighborhood and started her course. Very soon her curiosity was aroused by the fact that the couple with whom she was living went out regularly on Sunday mornings, together. She discovered that they were members of a church in the community and accepted their invitation to accompany them the next Sunday and that was the beginning of something new for her. A year later she was baptized and has become a confessing Christian. She found two others in the college who were Christian and together they decided to form a Bible class. The first notices were torn down from the bulletin board but that has not discouraged the 10 to 26 who wish to attend, nor Mr. Oku who has undertaken to teach them in this extra-curricular activity.

This young woman is now in her second year in Pharmacy. She has a clear and beautiful voice and contributes greatly to the church choir. She also attends the English Bible class which I teach at that church once a month in which we are studying the character of Jesus as shown in His personal interviews.

Working with Mr. Oku

Mr. Oku was the chaplain of Toyo Eiwa for the ten years immediately following the war so some of the students have become members of his congregation. One of these is a young woman who is now married and has three children all of whom have been baptized; her husband has not yet become a Christian. He works with his father who is the owner of three factories. In one of these factories where they make lace there are 50 employees, mostly high school graduates, but the moral life of these workers is such that the owner and his family are deeply concerned.

The young wife suggested that her minister be asked to begin a class for the study of Christianity. Deep in her heart she hopes that her husband and father-in-law will find the faith she discovered when a student in the Christian school, for they are both present at this monthly class along with the workers.

I have been particularly happy to be working with Mr. Oku for he came back just last year from a year's study at the United Theological College in Montreal. Since his return his church has been enlarged and good work is being done in all departments. Just last Sunday afternoon representatives from three city areas came together in the church to share ideas regarding teaching techniques and curriculum planning for the Church School.

Many invitations have come to Mr. Oku from schools and churches in and outside of Tokyo to show his slides of Palestine and of Canada and the United States. The children of our primary school listened spellbound to the story of his visit to the land where Jesus had lived.

This busy minister is on the editorial board of the Christian Weekly; a member of the committee of the Kyodan preparing for the meeting in which the leaders will consider the Church's next step at this the beginning of its second century; and he is also a member of a group of citizens who care for people who have just been released from prison. When he told me that he also teaches Bible six hours each week in a private school, of which a Japanese graduate of the University of British Columbia is president, he smiled and assured me that he just could not refuse.

Doors Open Unexpectedly

This year I moved on into the junior high with my sixth graders when they finished primary school. It has been a rewarding experience and has brought with it new challenges in my teaching and has pointed the way towards a new kind of care for the pupils.

Last January another door opened unexpectedly. I had occasion to visit one of the Tokyo's many hospitals seeking a bit of medical aid. A series of treatments followed which have made me a regular visitor at that hospital for the year. Soon there was a request that I teach English to doctors and nurses who were heads of departments and who might go abroad in the future. One such doctor was at the World Congress on Child Health held in Montreal last summer. The head of the eye clinic had just come back from a tour of six months in Europe and America which included the International Congress of Ophthalmologists, and it was he who made this request.

Educational Missionary,

Conversations, Contests and Plays

Beginning with the new school year which starts in the spring, I was assigned to Toyo Eiwa Girls' High School for one year. This school was founded 75 years ago and now has about 1,000 girls in the junior and senior high school departments. My main task is to teach English conversation. We have discussed such topics as the type of man I want to marry, how to bring up children, superstitions, what makes me happy, and should doctors tell patients the truth.

The fall was an exceptionally busy time for extra-curricular English activities. Innumerable inter-school, district, and national English oratorical contests are held during the autumn months and students from various grades volunteer to take part. They write their own speeches which are corrected by a teacher, and then they are helped with pronunciation and delivery.

The English Drama Club put on a 45 minute play. This year it was presented on two days during the school's 75th Anniversary celebrations. The girls themselves took almost complete responsibility for the staging, acting, costumes, make-up and music.

The English Conversation Club meets weekly throughout the year. Students from Toyo Eiwa Junior College help the students in the junior high divisions. Some of the other teachers and I took turns attending the older girls' meetings to talk or play English language games.

During the 75th Anniversary celebrations the Conversation Club was in charge of a Canada exhibit. They had books, pictures, posters, post cards and handicrafts on display while Canadian folk songs and "O Canada" played in the background.

A Thoughtful Bible Class Group

The Bible class group which I have been working with for the past several years had its third annual summer retreat. The theme this year was "Christian Vocation", and the chief study book was Carl Michalson's "Faith for Personal Crises" which has been translated into Japanese. The main nucleus of the group are in their final year of university, which meant that during the summer and fall they were writing examinations for employment. Although the group was small, about a dozen, with only the senior members present, they all participated in discussion, and the topic was especially meaningful. However, everyone was concerned for the future of the group and for the leadership of future retreats.

Most of the graduating members have their jobs decided. Several will enter banks and trading companies. One of the boys will be employed by an electric company upon graduation but the company will sponsor another couple of years of post-graduate study. One of the most brilliant boys failed in the extremely difficult civil service examinations of the Department of Foreign Affairs so he will try again next year rather than accept other employment.

There has been much interest and activity in this group concerning the revision of the peace treaty. Several of the boys live in the Tokyo University Y.M.C.A. dormitory, and that group, as a whole, has published in one of the leading Christian monthlies an article stating that they are opposed to the revision of the treaty because as Christians they must try to guard the peace, which they feel is being threatened by the revision.

A big problem facing Christian students is how to appropriately and effectively express their convictions. One of the boys, feeling very strongly that it was wrong not to express his feeling of opposition, took part in one of the National Student Association sponsored demonstrations, but said he was troubled all the time he was taking part because he could not feel that the disruption of traffic and the rowdiness were really justified. A few weeks later a Christian Peace Association sponsored a "quiet demonstration". Several thousand Christians paraded in an orderly way down streets in the heart of Tokyo, singing hymns and carrying banners decrying the revision. Most of the Bible class boys took part in that demonstration.

The Women's Association of the church held an open meeting for all interested church members, at which members of the Young People's Association were invited to give their opinions on present problems, in particular, the revision of the treaty and the reactions of student groups. The meeting must have seemed worthwhile for it was unanimously agreed to hold another, which they did.

My part in all of this is very small, that of an onlooker. The study of the group for most of the year has been based on the United Church study book, "The Means of Grace". Through reading of the text, the Bible, and discussion and prayer we search for God's Word and then try to relate it to our daily lives.

First Impressions

It is almost four months since I arrived in Japan, yet even in such a short time there have been many memories gathered which will never be forgotten. There was the thrill of our first sight of Japan as we sailed into Yokohama on a very rainy afternoon. It was more than evident that we had come to a land where fishing is of great importance and the sight of what seemed like a limitless number of small fishing craft surely confirmed this. Then there was the warm welcome from Japanese and missionaries which meant so much.

Since then many things have impressed me, like the way babies are carried on their mother's backs. But if any one word were to describe what I have felt about Japan that one word is contrast. There is the contrast of east and west which is most evident here in Tokyo.

There is the contrast of things old and new and also of things large and small. Tokyo is the largest city in the world therefore there are many large and beautiful buildings but there are also many small shops, and narrow roads! These are but a few of many things which could be mentioned but perhaps this will give a little idea of my feelings.

Learning the Japanese Language

My main responsibility is to learn as much of the Japanese language as I can. The language school is an independent school and as such has students from many walks of life. Most of those enrolled are missionaries but there are also business folk, those who would like to study in a Japanese university, those who are with various embassies and many others. Our teachers are all Japanese and are highly trained. Many of them are graduates of some of Japan's finest universities. There are about 100 regular students as well as many who study part-time, but the classes are kept small with no more than six studying together which means that everyone gets individual help. It will be some time before I shall be able to carry on much of a conversation in Japanese; meanwhile, it is good to have understanding friends who are always ready to help when language problems arise.

On Sundays my routine is changed as I gather up Bible, hymn book and records for a Bible study group. Slippers are included in my bundle too because at our church shoes are removed at the door. The members of the Bible study group are students of various schools, colleges and universities here in Tokyo. There are about 20 in the group, girls and boys, and most of them are not Christian. Many Japanese young people are fond of and know a great deal about good music so I am using musical recordings in the group. At the present time we are listening to Bach's "St. Matthew Passion"! We listen to the music and then talk about the verses contained in the music. As well as being a real privilege this work is challenging and it makes one realize in a hurry that we can do nothing without Him.

Meeting the Missionaries

What a year of travel this has been! Actually, I find that I am thinking of it as a year of trips—big and small. There was the trip to the Outgoing Missionaries Conference first. I appreciated the time I had to meet "real missionaries"—both the new ones, and the experienced ones of whom we could and did ask all sorts of questions. I was shown there, more graphically than by any books I had ever read, the world-wide dream of the church and its concrete realizations. Missions became real to me in that conference—and in becoming real they were enlarging and broadening my understanding of my world. We were told how missionaries must fit into the actual situation—not only religious but also political and social—in the countries to which we are going. I found a genuine concern among the new missionaries for the widest needs and interests of their future fields. It was stimulating to be among young religious leaders who are facing up to the difficult but new and exhilarating facts of life in the twentieth century.

Trips to New Experiences

In a way you might call my first walk to school a trip. At least it was a new adventure, for I had never taught anything more formal than Vacation School before. What was I going to do? How could I begin? I had heard that my students might all look the same at first. How could I learn their names?

I observed a little at first but soon was on my own. Clutching my books I walked into my first room. Forty-five girls stood up as I took my place. "Good morning, Miss Beacom. How are you?" There was a bit of difficulty over the unfamiliar name, and so some bustle, but then I found myself returning the greeting and they sat down. Forty-five pairs of eyes looked up at me expectant and curious, and as I looked back the faces did not all look the same. They were real girls and it looked as if they would all have real personalities, even though they all wore the same uniform. I was looking forward to knowing them too, as I began to teach.

A few days afterwards the junior high school girls in third year (Grade 9) and some of their teachers, went on an "ensoku" (picnic) and I was invited to go along. This trip was to last a day, so early in the morning Merrill Brown deposited me at the station. Long lines of school children covered most of the space in the station, and here and there little knots of teachers were discussing the next steps or helping their charges with last minute difficulties. But it was easy to find our group. We just looked for the gold stripes and garnet scarves on their navy blue middies. Merrill left me in the care of one of the young English teachers who, being very interested in Canada, was glad to take the extra responsibility, even of such a "green" foreigner as I. The girls, too, welcomed me and in the train some invited me to sit and talk with them. Imagine, talking English on a picnic! Compare it with French at home and you will see why I was surprised.

After the train, we boarded a bus to see Hakone. Vile-smelling sulphur springs were in sharp contrast to the view of green mountains and the imperious head of Mount Fuji reigning over the tumbled white clouds at his base. We ate in a grassy meadow near a deep blue lake fringed with feathery autumn grass. I was given a taste of so many treats, Japanese and foreign, that I can truthfully say I was "more than full". How kind everyone was to me and what a lot I was learning about "international friendship"! On the way home, we sang songs from all over the world and agreed that we had had a wonderful time.

Other trips have shown me different phases of Japan. Thus I have seen Hiroshima, and come home with something to think about. Again, one night when I was talking with a college student whom I have been tutoring in English, he offered to take me to see the Diet Buildings (Houses of Parliament). So I saw the Lower House's assembly room, glanced into a few committee rooms, and met a member of the Diet, who talked with us about the Security Treaty about which there has been so much controversy. I hope that my student, who is not a Christian, saw that Christians in other countries can be interested in the world in all its aspects. I believe that it is in ways like this that J-3's can make a contribution here.

A Model Village

The year 1959 at our Tomisato Rural Evangelistic Centre has brought us encouragement in both hoped-for ways and unlooked-for ways. The hoped-for ways are in terms of the spiritual growth of our church members, and the coming of some promising young "seekers". The unlooked-for ways have been in terms of recognition by secular and government groups, both directly and indirectly, of our work—most particularly our health education projects.

For several years now our pastor, Mr. Naito, has sought the co-operation of the mayor and the Welfare Department of our Township; first, because it is necessary to have official backing to encourage the people to attend meetings or take part in surveys. And second, because he is wise enough to see that if these officials are educated to meet the needs of the people, the whole Township will benefit in terms of better health, both mental and physical.

In the fall the national Department of Health and Welfare chose "model villages" (or townships) from each prefecture. Our Tomisato Mura was one of two chosen from Chiba Prefecture. Under the sponsorship of our clinic, this township has had health surveys (including free X-ray and physical examination) for the past four summers, a "Nutrition Day" each winter, and five years ago a Mental Health Survey (the report of which was published this year and came to the attention of the Department of Health and Welfare); to say nothing of our regular weekly health service to this section of the township, and our program of education for Family Planning. Our day nursery, too, is frequently held up as a standard for the prefecture.

The mayor readily concedes that his township has received this recognition thanks to our leadership in the activities I have mentioned. As a result he has asked Mr. Naito to be an advisor on the Tomisato Health and Welfare Council, and to act as counsellor in cases of family problems. A Family Life School, designed to improve family relationships as well as health and sanitation is being planned. Needless to say we are pleased, not because of the honor which this recognition brings us, but because it serves to bring the church to the attention of the people as a religious body which is concerned not only with their spiritual welfare but with their physical and social welfare as well.

Our Pastor on Television

One other event of significance, not only for this church but for the church in Japan as a whole, came in November when Mr. Naito and his work were on television for a full half hour one evening on a series on "The Diary of a Husband and Wife", something unusual in an out-of-the-way part of the country. It was a very good presentation of a rural pastor's work, cleverly combining movies taken here on the spot, with a "live" telecast of Mr. Naito and his wife and 9-year-old daughter; of Rev. and Mrs. Franklin who had been one of Mr. Naito's professors at Seminary and had helped to start this Centre; and also of the deputy mayor of Tomisato Mura. The telecast covered the work of the day nursery, the clinic, a "cottage meeting" (for those who live too far to come to church or are not yet ready to come), Mr. Naito making calls on his motor bike, and consulting with officials at the Yakuba (township office). One young Christian who saw the telecast wrote me, "I would like to make a Christian home some day like this evening's telecast."

Spiritual Growth within the Church

The Kyodan has been putting special emphasis this Centennial year on greater lay participation. Mr. Naito has been patiently educating his members, and especially the Board of Stewards, towards this end. When the time was ripe, in early December, a retreat was held with a special speaker, and eight of our members (a large percentage for a membership of 34) dedicated themselves to devoting their efforts to assisting the pastor through Volunteer Evangelism. We thank God, too, for other evidences of spiritual growth in our church, such as the weekly prayer meeting started voluntarily by one group.

Our regular clinic work continues in spite of the inadequacies of a foreign missionary nurse trying to take the place of a Japanese nurse. Our next venture at the Centre is planning for a much needed building which will serve as a special nursery for under-three-year olds and as a staff residence for four.

My other activities, since my co-worker, Enid Horning, went on furlough in the summer, have been meeting eight times a month with three English Bible classes, and attending various meetings, conferences and retreats. It has been a full and good year, highlighted from the point of personal satisfaction by a weekly Bible class I had with a group of six to ten farm women from January to March. Using filmstrips, pictures and stories, I tried to make the life of Jesus live for them, and several said they understood a little better.

KOREA

FOREWORD

This past year was marked by further development in our co-operation with the two Divisions of the Methodist Board of Missions in the U.S.A. in the erection of the new hospital at Wonju. The building was completed in the early fall and was formally opened on November 7th. This new hospital accommodates 50 patients and fills an urgent need in that city. Dr. Florence Murray is the medical superintendent at present, and Miss Ruth Saunders has been the nursing superintendent for this past year.

There has been a further development in the Christian Broadcasting Station HLKY. The main station is in Seoul and has a strength of 10,000 watts. Broadcasting hours have been increased from 31½ to 65 hours per week. Programmes include newscasts, music, dramas, entertainment, education, cultural programmes, and the preaching of the Gospel. Two relay stations have been opened during this year, HLKT at Taegu and HLKP at Pusan. Four million persons, all potential listeners, live in these cities. There have been effective results from this broadcasting programme. The evidence is convincing of a wide-spread listening audience and of numbers who are led to accept the Christian faith because of what they have heard. These are often people who could not be reached in any other way because they would not come to a church service or public Christian meeting. Those who write of their desire to know more about the Christian faith are put in touch with a church near to them.

The National Christian Council Radio Committee are planning for five new relay stations, one of which is planned for the Iri area.

Ewha Woman's University continues to grow in number of students and in its physical plant. There are now about 7,800 students.

Each year under the personal direction of Dr. Helen Kim, the president, an evangelistic campaign is held at the University. In 1959 about 900 students and faculty members accepted the Christian faith and were baptized.

Ewha has also a programme of spring and summer holiday work in which a large proportion of the students and faculty participate. Groups work in the suburbs of Seoul and in other areas in service projects and in what we might call preaching missions. Several hundred have become Christian as a result. The service projects include rural community work and educational programmes.

Important Meetings

The year began for me in Seoul. One highlight of its first month was a meeting held at the W.M.S. residence when four Moderators of the Presbyteries in which we work, met with Ed. Baker, Marion Pope and me. The four ministers, with one accord, expressed their desire for the Mission to build and maintain a hospital, a school and a higher Bible School in this Ho Nam district which embraces all four Presbyteries. When it was made known that this was not likely to be accomplished they asked us to continue with the visitation of churches, teaching in the Bible Institutes and Bible Schools and to carry on the Public Health program already started. Accordingly, I taught hygiene in two Bible Institutes and Miss Kong taught the same subject in a third. These were held in January when some 125 to 150 young and old men and women gathered to study for a month in order to be of more help to their own churches.

The bi-monthly meeting of women of all denominations has been continued in our home in preparation for the World Day of Prayer and on February 13th some 150 women representing nine of the 15 denominations in Iri city, gathered to take part in the program with their sisters all over the world.

Travelling Around

From the middle of February, together with the Moderator, I made plans for a visitation of the 44 churches in Kunsan Presbytery. The weather was not too favorable, but in spite of mud, snow, rain and bumpy roads we managed to get to all the churches by the middle of March.

I travelled many miles to attend the four Presbytery meetings in April. Also, by request I attended a called meeting of Mokpo Presbytery in the fall. Most of the month of May was taken up with the meetings of the All Korea W.M.S. annual meeting, the General Assembly meeting and the gathering of the United Work Committee.

The mobile clinic, granted by G.B.A. funds, arrived in Seoul early in May and following the attendance at the above mentioned meetings I rode down to Iri in it. A few weeks later the new Rover arrived. I cannot adequately express my thanks for the Rover, for travelling around the country has been so much more comfortable in it than it was in the jeep. It took five months to get the two vehicles registered and by this time Marion Pope and our Korean nurse, Miss Kong, had gone to Seoul and being alone, I was not able to begin working with the mobile unit. I hope to start before too long.

In late November and early December I made a tour of Kim Jae Presbytery. The Moderator and his wife, who is the Presbyterial secretary, accompanied me. Kim Jae is our smallest and weakest Presbytery with 14 churches and eight ministers. The Presbytery and the W.M.S. are supporting workers but the salaries are much too small.

Iri Station News

One outcome of the work with mothers and children has been that we have discovered many people suffering from T.B. We now have over 50 patients receiving treatment. The patient first comes to the house for reference to Dr. Pak, a Severance graduate, who does the examinations for me and has an X-ray taken. If the diagnosis is confirmed, chemotherapy is begun. This is made possible by the free drugs which I receive from Church World Service through Dr. E. B. Struthers. Some days the mission residence resembles the out-patient department of a busy hospital.

All through the year I have been receiving parcels from churches, W.M.S. groups and other friends in Canada, but the decision to ask our friends to send relief clothing to the "depots" instead of direct to us means that I shall miss this valuable connection with friends.

I was happy to welcome Willa Kernen back from furlough in September. Iri station was augmented by the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Findlay and four daughters and a little later by the arrival of Sue Argo who became the bride of Ed. Baker in October, in the Hankook Seminary Chapel in the presence of all members of the mission and many friends.

I must not forget to mention the big mid-season event which was my flight to Canada. I took five mixed-blood children to the U.S.A. for adoption in June, thus getting the opportunity of visiting my sisters and their families for two weeks as well as attending the wedding of a niece.

At Christmas time, thanks to the many parcels I had received from Canada I had the pleasure of distributing clothing and food to several orphanages and families, thus making this blessed season happier for them.

A. MARION POPE

Missionary Nurse,
Iri, Korea

"I am not concerned that a man does not know of me; I am concerned that I do not know of him" (CONFUCIUS).

Thus unknown and unknowing, Miss Kong, whose home is Seoul, and I whose "native place" is even more strange, began in February of last year an adventure in Rural Health Education with a rural people equally unknown and unknowing among their fellow nationals.

We were moved to do what we could to help prevent the many maternal and infant deaths due to toxaemia of pregnancy. We thought to develop upon a foundation already well laid, that of a health education program with emphasis on Mother and Child Care established in six villages about the city of Iri by Miss Ada Sandell. At the request of eight other churches, we expand our schedule to visit each of 14 centres once a month for a half day each. At first, we wondered that there should be but two or three pregnant women in a village, until we discovered that the church women had not thought to invite any but church members. But as our six-month adventure grew, the church members often seem to lose interest, and the non-Christian women attended with greater enthusiasm. The prenatal clinic was followed by brief worship, then Miss Kong gave a health talk, usually spiced with some visual aids or demonstrations which we planned together, on subjects like infant feeding and nutrition; Family Planning; transmission, prevention and nursing care in infectious diseases and general sanitation and hygiene. Then the well-baby clinic followed.

We could write a statistical report of all who attended, the numbers of examinations, the treatments given, the care of patients with tuberculosis, and it might impress some. We could write stories of lives saved; and they would impress more. We could relate the tragedies of those who died needlessly because they could not accept our advice, and you would weep with us. Nevertheless, rejoice also with us that through these experiences we were given to be known a little, and to know a little more clearly.

A New Adventure

Last autumn I was set on another adventure, one still so new that it is barely begun. But it holds much in store for opportunities to learn more about young people in Korea today, their thoughts and hopes, their interests and difficulties. I have been assigned to work at Fellowship Hall or Sinukwan in Seoul, which is a student and community centre, to do Christian Education and Public Health Nursing. I have yet to find a nurse interested in joining me in starting a public health service to the community who also is acceptable to the denominationalism of the church in which we work here. Until I find her, the present staff of Sinukwan and I together weekly are being made more aware of needs within the field of Christian Education and especially of group work and leadership training in which we might share.

The present program of Sinukwan includes kindergarten, literacy classes and student clubs. We see possibilities for the Student Department of the Assembly of the Church to use the centre for leadership training courses, program planning for children's and youth's mid-week groups, for Church School curriculum planning, for leaders' conferences, student and youth group meetings.

We also hope to be of Christian service to the community by means of the kindergarten for children of low-income families, the literacy classes, and the public health program which may take on a few of several possible aspects. We look forward with eager anticipation to this, another new experience.

WILLA A. KERNEN

Evangelistic Missionary,
Iri, Korea

This is one of those "half-and-half" reports that come up every five years. The first part of the year was spent at home on furlough, where I was most fortunate to be able to study at St. Andrew's College while living at home with my family. The second part has seen my second term in Korea well under way.

Furlough Activities

It was an enriching and rewarding experience to be engrossed in student life again, with an opportunity to soak up new ideas, particularly in the field of New Testament. What a joy it was to be back in my old familiar place in the church choir, and also to be able to join the Saskatoon Oratorio Society. Good music is pretty much a minus quantity in rural Korea, and therefore as much a need for me during furlough as anything could be.

There were a number of highlights during furlough, beginning the fall of 1958 with the Conference for Missionaries on Furlough held at Five Oaks, followed closely by General Council in Ottawa, where I was privileged to be the Korea representative. Dominion Board in the spring of 1959 was a real thrill, made even greater by having mother make the trip with me. Her status was "visitor", but her welcome and treatment by members was "special guest". We both have precious memories of the whole experience.

Another highlight was Saskatchewan Camp Council shortly before leaving to return to Korea. It was one of the greatest opportunities of my furlough year where vital contact over an extended length of time with eager and earnest C.G.I.T.ers was possible.

Return Adventures

August was less than half gone when I left for the West Coast, along with Marion Current, who was on her way to Korea for the first time. September was almost over before I arrived back in Iri. Probably only once in a life-time does your ship take quite such a round-about way from Japan to Korea and thus we had a wonderful opportunity to see the Orient. We were even able to attend service in a Presbyterian Church in Formosa, where, although we could not understand a word, the truth of a one-ness in Christ was brought home to us.

Before leaving for furlough I was asked by the ministers in this Presbytery to study the poetry of the Old Testament (Job to Song of Solomon) with a view to teaching it at Bible Schools. A very fine reading course was worked out for me at St. Andrew's. Since my return my Korean helper, Mrs. Kim, and I have spent every possible minute preparing a course for teaching. Job is now complete, even to mimeographed notes so that we can cover the work in the allotted time. I hope now to be able to keep ahead, and also find time to do some other work.

It was fun to have a share in the preparation of a Christmas pageant. It was a very simple one put on by the students of a night school, few of whom have had much contact with the church previously, and not many opportunities of any kind. The music left much to be desired, but I think it was a worthwhile effort, and I dare to hope that some of the young folk may have received a better understanding of Christmas through it.

The year ended with a New Year's Eve party which has almost become a tradition with Miss Sandell and me. The local ministers—and missionaries—came to our home for an evening of games, followed by refreshments, and ending with a Watch Night Service, this time in the form of a candlelighting worship, a pleasant and meaningful ending to the old year and the beginning of the new.

(MRS.) ELDA DANIELS STRUTHERS

Ewha Woman's University,
Seoul, Korea

From the windows of the stone Y.M.C.A. house in which Dr. Struthers and I are living now we can see a variety of buildings ranging from the five-storey concrete apartment block opposite the Mission Compound to the meanest "hakobang". With so much growth all about us, the figure of a tree seems the best symbol—a tree at the curb which has thrust its way through a crack in the pavement.

"In a way it symbolizes the city—
Life under difficulties,
Growth against odds,
Sap rise in the midst of concrete,
And the steady reaching for the sun."
(E. B. WHITE)

Life under Difficulties

The first difficulty in Korea is that of overpopulation and crowding everywhere. There is widespread unemployment, with resultant poverty leading to undernourishment, in the wake of which comes disease. Tuberculosis is the greatest curse; in Seoul alone there are over 50,000 cases. Because of the few Sanatorium beds many welfare agencies threw up their hands, but Korea Church World Service began a pilot control program based on clinics connected with Mission or other hospitals and a home visitation program. To date a total of 10,667 patients have been treated in clinics in Seoul, and 20,063 home visits made to 5,928 homes.

School fees are high in Korea. An educational tax is also levied, making the parents' load almost intolerable. In the face of these many difficulties, one wonders how even bare survival is possible, let alone how "the abundant life" can be achieved. And yet, somehow, life goes on.

Growth against Odds

Try to imagine the odds against which a young Protestant Christian Church has to grow in a society that is 95% non-Christian. In the realm of superstition, people given modern scientific medicine still trust the old herb medicines, and frequently take both, with disastrous results; even in educated families the mudang or fortune-teller is usually consulted as to the propitious date for a wedding; and the several hundreds of mudangs in Seoul earn much more than the highest paid ministers.

Another serious difficulty against which any organization struggles in Korea is the divisiveness of a people whose loyalty, according to the Confucian ethic, is based on the family, clan and geographic area of more feudal days. The ethic of a non-Christian society is different to that of the Christian ethic, and the definition of such concepts as honesty varies with the situation and the pressures to which the individual is subjected by his family or local group. The odds are certainly against any easy or quick solution but there is no alternative course if Christianity is to live at all, let alone grow in this culture.

Sap Rise in the Midst of Concrete

The concrete with which I am most familiar is that of the Great Auditorium at Ewha Woman's University. As yet only the front is faced with stone, the rest of the building, outside and in, being rough concrete. At times I find myself almost crushed by the sheer weight of numbers (over 6,000 students), of crowded classrooms and crowded schedules; almost buried under piles of essays and exam papers.

However, like sap rising in the tree in the midst of the pavement of our theme, there is the inspiration that comes from working with youth. There is the inspiration of regular worship, the hearty hymn-singing of 3,000 blended voices and the beauty of the organ as it dies down to a whisper at the last amen. Decisions are being made for Christ and new Christians are being born before our eyes during the annual evangelistic meetings—the numbers swelling as sap rises until this year 781 Ewha students and faculty members were baptized in that concrete auditorium.

With the sponsorship of the Christian Teachers' Association of the Methodist Church the Mission spread out to ten other schools of which four had no church affiliation. A total of 8,339 decision of rededication cards were signed and 2,111 people baptized, swelling the grand total to 10,547. One of the best features of the mission was the inclusion of four lay persons on the team that came with Dr. Denman and Dr. Potts, the woman doctor being especially helpful in answering questions related to the home and family. Again I was privileged to have a part in the impressive baptism service.

The Steady Reaching for the Sun

Sometimes growth takes place in the spectacular way just described, but more often in the slow, steady way of a plant reaching for the sun. I am thankful for the opportunity through regular classes in English Bible to help the students discover little by little the words and works of our Master, and appreciate the radiance of that life that is the Sun of the Soul.

It is encouraging to see the steady maturing of the students term by term as we try together to sum up the basic tenets of the Christian faith, and to understand what worship is and how to lead it, what the Bible is and how we can teach it.

My work for students carries me beyond our own Pear Flower School to student work under the Assembly of our church in Korea. One phase of this work is the Caravan Program which was again carried out enthusiastically this past summer. Here I see a steady increase in the responsibility taken for the program by the students themselves. There is an organization of ex-Caravaners now which gives financial support and guidance to the new teams which volunteer each year and is a real boost to morale. Of course there are times of frustration and discouragement; but looking at the picture as a whole we thank God for the steady growth and our hearts are warmed by the symbol of the tree. If it is of God's planting "by the rivers of water," it will yield its fruit in due season. "Its leaf also shall not wither and whatsoever it doeth shall prosper." (Psalm 1)

(MRS.) ALICE IRWIN

Fellowship Hall,
Seoul, Korea

Work with Kindergarteners and Adults

Fellowship Hall was my chief concern for the first half of 1959. Since the program there is still in its initial stages, there is endless opportunity for expansion.

The little kindergarten of 30 children blossomed into a morning and afternoon group with twice that number enrolled when the new school term opened in April. A mothers' group, meeting monthly, was organized as well, and mothers now have an opportunity, not only to discover what their children are doing, but also how they can improve their homes in such matters as hygiene, baby care and religious education.

Our efforts to begin an adult literacy group met with unexpected results. While no adult women chose to come to our class, 30 girls between the ages of ten and fourteen begged us to open a beginner's class in our night school. Consequently, last spring a new class, meeting two hours a night five times a week began to learn Korean by the Laubach method. Theoretically, primary education is free and compulsory in Korea, but monthly fees for any number of things, including school uniforms and pins, put education out of the reach of some, while the need to supplement the family income keeps others out of school in the daytime. Boys, of course, are given preference in the Oriental family, so if any child misses out on the good things in life it is the girl in the family. The regularity with which these girls attend school attests to the value they place on what they are receiving.

A Teen-Age Program

The teen-age program has been more difficult to assess. Lack of leaders and of program materials have proved a great handicap. Further, teen-agers are anxious to try mixed groups but almost invariably these have proven unsuccessful. Since co-education starts only at the college level, teen-age boys and girls have little or no opportunity to learn to know one another and begin to appreciate the contribution each can make to the other. The Korean Church is asking that an experienced youth leader be found in Canada to help with this important aspect of church work.

Once a month was Movie Night at Fellowship Hall. With the use of the Mission 16 mm. projector, movies on health, education and Christianity were shown. Usually some three or four hundred people of the community crowded into the small yard of the Hall to watch these films being projected on the outside wall.

A Changing Scene

The program of Fellowship Hall has great possibilities for expansion which would take more time and thought than a missionary's wife with small children can afford. Consequently with the arrival of little Inda Mary, our second daughter, in August, it became necessary to leave Fellowship Hall. Miss Marion Pope has graciously taken over directorship there and is giving fine leadership.

The remaining months of the year have been spent in taking care of our little family and preparing for my third and final Korean language examination. This latter occupation I find fascinating but rather unsatisfying. Seemingly the more you learn the less you know; at least the more you realize how much more there is to know.

Our family now looks forward to our furlough in 1960, and an opportunity to renew acquaintances and meet new friends we have made through correspondence. We have spent a very happy five years in Korea and I am sure that when the time comes to return we shall be glad to do so.

MARION E. M. CURRENT

Language Study,
Seoul, Korea

Prelude to Korea

Of necessity this report must begin with language study for this has been my main task throughout the year. From January until on in May I continued the course in the Korean language at Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut, which I had begun the previous year. While there I had the privilege of living with one of our teachers, a Korean, and her family.

Back in Canada I attended the annual meeting of Dominion Board, and from there I went to my home in Timmins, Ont., where I visited with my family and friends for the last time before leaving for Korea. I was moved by the promise of my home church of their prayers and support as they expressed their desire to share in every possible way in the wider outreach of the church.

From Saskatoon until we reached Korea, I had the pleasure of travelling with Willa Kernen who was returning for her second term. Leaving San Francisco on a freighter, the Iberville, we began what turned out to be a grand tour of the Orient, stopping in Japan, Okinawa, Taiwan and Hong Kong. In Taiwan we shared in the Sunday afternoon service of a lovely church. Afterwards we were introduced to the congregation, and since we could not speak their language, we sang as our greeting "In Christ there is no east or west", hoping that the music would convey our message . . . the Church is one in Christ. In Hong Kong, Miss Annie Thexton told us of the tremendous refugee problem there and of the co-operation of the churches to meet it. And so I arrived in Korea feeling grateful for these experiences which have given me a larger perspective with which to view my new home.

Some Highlights of Life in Korea

It was a real privilege to be able to attend both the dedication and opening ceremonies of the new Wonju Union Christian Hospital, a project shared by the American Methodist Church, The United Church of Canada, and the two Korean Churches with which the two Missions are associated.

Going down to Iri from Seoul, I was surprised by the flatness of the farming countryside, compared to the mountains around Seoul. While there, one morning I sat with a dozen Bible School students while Willa Kernen guided their thinking on the book of Job for one hour and instructed on hymns in the next—in Korean too. With Ada Sandell I had the pleasure of attending a young friend's second birthday party, a rather special one in this country.

Naturally, since after my formal language study my work will be physiotherapy, I was very interested to see the department that Thelma Maw has established at Severance Hospital. Sent out by the Methodist Board, and the only fully trained therapist, she has done an amazing job in spite of many difficulties. To give you an idea of the work, in July, 2,488 treatments were given, the greater percentage of them for children, victims of poliomyelitis. Lately I have been spending my Saturday mornings at the Children's Hospital set up by Church World Service where post-polio and cerebral palsy patients are treated.

Living with Dr. Ian Robb and his family on the Severance Hospital grounds, I have been impressed by the Christian influence that surrounds the student nurses who are in training here. Every morning at 7 a.m. they meet for worship in their quonset-hut chapel. At Christmas time the students under the direction of an American nurse, prepared a pageant, and in English, too, to present the Christmas story to family and friends. Also on the concert program was the Korean version of part of Dickens' "Christmas Carol", acted out with much enthusiasm.

My first Christmas Day in Korea began with the sound of the nurses' carolling outside our door at 4.30 a.m. After a breakfast of a special kind of Korean soup, a large group of the students, three American servicemen, and some of us westerners connected with the hospital, started out for a tent village of about a thousand people. Even at 6 a.m. the people were up, and I was ashamed, on that cold morning, to be shivering in my warm clothing when I saw the thinness of theirs. The notes of "Joy to the world" sounded through the bright morning air, the Christmas story was told briefly by one of the nurses, and then the bundles of clothing brought were turned over for distribution.

And so I have begun the exciting adventure of getting to know people who speak a different language and have a different culture, but are people just the same. And I give thanks for the support of the people in the churches of The United Church of Canada; it is to be hoped that they too feel they have gained from their part in the wider outreach of the Church.

(DR.) FLORENCE J. MURRAY

Missionary Doctor,
Wonju, Korea

The first highlight of the year was the arrival of Miss Ruth Saunders to live with me in the new house in the new station of Wonju and help get ready for the opening of the new hospital. Four churches formed groups of volunteers to sew and they made sheets, pillowcases, gowns, etc., a beginning of volunteer work that has not been a feature of Korean community life.

Our Leprosy Patients

Most patients in Kyung Wonchun where our leprosy patients live are making satisfactory progress. One family with three healthy children, the parents well again, have gone back to earn their living in the country. One man who had not been able to walk for many months, now walks about by himself. Elder Kim, who had some medical training, has been sent on trips throughout the province to seek out cases of leprosy in their homes, and we now have 130 such under treatment.

With the help of the U.N. forces, the Methodist Mission, and gifts from others, a dispensary and a church were built in the village. The patients theinselves with their crippled hands did most of the work, and opening day was a great occasion. About two-thirds of the patients are Christian and at a recent Communion service 12 were baptized and joined the church.

Many do not know that there is now an effective treatment for leprosy and do not come for treatment until deformity or mutilation occurs. The same ignorance makes it difficult to rehabilitate arrested cases, as the community still fears and loathes them. One cured patient attempted to earn his living outside but his fellow workmen refused to touch a tool that he had handled and he lost his job. His eyebrows were gone and to them he was still a dangerous source of infection. Discouraged, he came to us to become a dependant again.

The Good Neighbor Home for the children of parents with leprosy was opened in the summer and 17 little ones are growing up healthy with the prospect of living a normal life. This is quite a contrast to those who grow up among the patients, as most of them develop the disease before they reach maturity. A young mother in the leprosy village recently had twin boys. Unfortunately no one there realized she was in a serious condition and they did not let us know. By the time someone came for us it was too late to save her. The babies are in the hospital and will have to be taken to the Home soon. The father is getting well and is not scarred or crippled, so he has hopes of earning his living outside again and having his little sons with him.

Relief Work and Chest Clinic

Miss Haisook Kim, social service worker, has been a great help in relief work. She made nearly 200 visits to homes, gave out food to 12 families, and over 900 pieces of clothing, as well as $262.00 in Korean currency, and free tickets to the clinic to 39 sick who could not pay the registration fee.

The chest clinic with assistance from Church World Service was started last April in the mobile unit borrowed from Severance Hospital. More than a thousand patients have attended of whom about 700 are on regular treatment. The leprosy clinic and chest clinic for tuberculosis patients are my special responsibility. One day there were 72 patients in the chest clinic, far too many for one person to care for adequately. The program is educational as well as therapeutic. In such a busy clinic there is not much time for direct evangelistic work but this is not lost sight of, and words are spoken and tracts given out that will surely bear some fruit.

The Biggest Event of the Year

The biggest event of 1959 was, of course, the opening, after seventeen years without a mission hospital, of the new Wonju Union Christian Hospital on November 7th. This fine new building is a joint project of The United Church of Canada Mission and the Methodist Mission of the United States. There is a good staff and good work is being done. Patients come from all over the province and further to the Christian hospital which is the most modern and best equipped. The clinics have been so busy that within a few weeks of the opening two additional doctors had to be engaged. There are 60 beds including cribs and bassinettes and we have had as many as 55 in-patients although this is the coldest time of year when people like their own hot floors better than hospital beds.

Dr. Donald Mattson is the Methodist representative on the staff. Unfortunately the Methodists have at present no nurse for this hospital. As Miss Saunders goes on furlough in the spring of 1960 this is a great problem.

My retirement comes in 1961 and early in the year. We are happy to know that Dr. Hugh Rose will reach here this year and be getting ready to represent our Mission when I retire.

An Intimate Blending

A few Christians began meeting for worship last July in a rented room over a hardware shop where the noise from below sometimes interfered with the worship. Rev. Eung-sup Sim, sent by the General Assembly to be hospital chaplain and to start a church, is serving in the double capacity. In a few weeks neither the Sunday School nor the congregation could be accommodated in the room. A larger room was rented in a quieter place except that it is near the railroad and trains often compete with the pastor for the ears of the people. Sixty people are now meeting and a still larger room must be found or built.

Wonju is the headquarters of the Korean Army and many soldiers attend the churches. It is good to know that lads from farms and mountain villages are hearing the Gospel from their Christian chaplains and in the local churches.

The Methodist Church has sent Miss Pang, a capable and earnest graduate of their theological seminary, to be the other hospital evangelist, and she and Mr. Sim are doing good work among the patients.

So continues the work begun by our Master—teaching, preaching, and healing. Nowhere else are these more intimately blended than in the hospitals. As our Mission again takes up this work, after a lapse of 17 years, may the blessing of God be upon all who care for the sick and all who come for help and healing.

RUTH SAUNDERS

Missionary Nurse,
Wonju, Korea

A Unique Position

Once again I have had the privilege of being on the ground floor in starting a new station and new work, this being my fourth move in four and a half years. How many missionaries can say, "I have been on every station the Mission has, and two of them new, in my first term"?

Filling in the Time

After a short time of settling in with my housemate, Dr. Florence Murray, we began to make plans for opening the hospital. The building was still in the early stages of construction, but we knew that in time we would need someone to help the graduate nurses, so we laid out a course for nurses' aids.

This sort of preparation is boring without using one's hands, so we turned to helping Dr. Murray with work she had begun in a leper colony of 200 people some miles out of Wonju. At first we helped in the clinic three mornings a week, then we branched out into a kind of physiotherapy program for two more mornings. Miss Chin taught them needlework and knitting. Many of these people had lost all use of their hands, so it was a new and thrilling experience for them to see something grow that they themselves had made. It was also encouraging for them to have Miss Chin come into their group. The average Korean person shuns such a village and such people. To see this neatly dressed modern young woman handle the same needles as they, was as much a factor as anything in changing their outlook on life.

When the weather got warmer we started a linguistics course for them. We included the Korean script. What joy it was to see their faces light up when they could read and write their names. This, too, was a therapeutic program.

Training Recruits for the Ministry of Healing

In February we got the use of the Methodist Youth Centre, and gave a two months' course in home nursing to twenty Methodist Church girls and married women. We started a second group in April representing every denomination including Roman Catholic. At this time we also took in six young men for training. From the two groups we selected the twenty most promising girls and gave them the four months nurses' aids course. We gave them lectures on the various subjects as recommended in Canada, and included a few more. As well as lectures they had eight hours a week of practice.

One interesting thing about the group is that every one is a high school graduate. This is a far cry from the beginning of nursing 35 years ago that Dr. Murray tells about. Then they had a hard time to get a girl with even one or two years of schooling. In fact, our nurses' aids have more grade schooling than some of our graduate nurses, because up to the present time it has been possible for a girl to get into a nursing school with only middle school qualifications. This situation will improve in the future.

In November was the grand opening of the hospital and since then we have been very busy. I would like to thank all those who have given time and money for our work here in Wonju. We appreciate the opportunity of having such fine new facilities with which to carry out a ministry of healing in this needy province. Thank you for your prayers and we trust that you will continue to remember us.

The Stronger the Calf

Farmers tell us that the stronger the calf, the harder he is to wean. This is quite true with people too. Relief work in Korea is facing this same problem. The biggest calves are those who have received a huge chunk of the relief during the post-war years. Many of them do not need the relief now, but the habit of receiving is so well ingrained that it is just impossible to stop.

On the other hand there is a great need for relief still, but the category of people is different from the post-war needy group. Korea has its annual share of calamities . . . floods, fire, typhoons, drought, and these strike people in geographical areas, not just destitute areas. The challenge to your staff in Korea is to deal with the biggest calves, in spite of the noise they make, and see that the smaller ones who make no noise receive the share they need to grow and develop.

The Korean government has yet made no attempt to begin a Social Welfare Department to deal with the normal individual needs at a family level. Now that we are in the tenth year since the Korean war, the need for this kind of service is so great, that Korean Church World Service has had to initiate an individual service in the community.

The soup kitchen kind of assistance with food, will continue in 1960 the same size as it was in 1959, that is serving 80,000 meals daily from 130 centres throughout Korea. People who think that the only proper food is rice, will not come for a meal of corn meal mush unless they are really hungry. Along with this service has had to go one for clothing distribution. K.C.W.S. now has two clothing rooms where individual needy may come and be fitted with the clothing they require. Just recently four well-dressed men asked for jackets, and the only displays of their need were large badges which identified them as members of the Korean Boxers' Association. The bigger calves in Korean society are not easy to deal with and your staff need your prayers to meet them and deal with their true needs in the future.

The Distaff Side

The widows over 55 years of age in the nylon stocking room are happy women indeed. They are working, they have a job, and they are no threat to anyone in the employment market. The women who were younger than this group and who graduated from the weaving school, one, two or three years ago are now working each day in the weaving workshop, and are receiving no relief whatever. Their earned wages pay for their needs. The pay may not be very high yet, but as their handwork finds a market their wages will increase.

This is probably the last year that K.C.W.S. will be running knitting schools for widows. There are many such schools throughout the country now, and should a widow need this training it can be obtained from one of the secular-training centres. Day nurseries also are gradually being closed down by K.C.W.S. as they are no longer a relief need. The day nurseries will continue to serve the community, and the community will finance them.

The institution for wandering girls will continue as a K.C.W.S. project for the time being. The girls coming to us now are on the whole much younger than a few years ago. They are brought by the policewomen at the station and often are runaways from country homes. More than half of our girls decide to return home, and we have been able to give them a safe place to stay until they reach that decision. However there is a growing need to do more active work in reclaiming the girls who have been prostitutes for longer periods of time. This is a much slower and more costly process, but that is the shape our welfare projects will take in the future.

On the whole K.C.W.S. is beginning to look forward to the end of such an extensive program as they have had in Korea in the past and where foreign aid is concerned the eastern and the western ideas must meet and make some kind of an adjustment.

Canada Has No Door Open

1959 emigration from Korea was a fairly active area. The U.S. adoption plan for orphans from Korea came to a climax in June, and then in the autumn the law was extended and it was much slowed up. There was a slow emigration to the U.S. of Koreans and Chinese from Korea. They were people in special categories, or students. We are hoping that World Refugee Year will have many more doors open for such refugees as wish to leave Korea. Canada has had no doors open whatever, but we hope that 1960 will make a change in this condition. Many Chinese refugees would like to go to Brazil and we are busy working on their papers from this end. So far we have not found a Brazil consulate who will accept applications for visas from this country, but we are not discouraged for the future.

Committee Work

As well as being on Executive of the Korea Association of Voluntary Agencies as vice-chairman, there has been committee work in Social Welfare Committee, Community Development Committee, Co-operatives, Public Relations Committee Chairman, Constitution Committee, and the Committee on Standards.

The Child Placement Service Advisory Committee has been very close to the problem of emigration of mixed blood children. There are many agencies in Korea now who are ready to grab every fair-haired child as soon as the mother decides to release him for adoption abroad. We have to be ready to act in the best interests of the children involved and not become agents of parents abroad who would "give anything" for an orphan child from Korea. These children of course all have mothers here. If the child were taken from her she might continue living as a parasite in the community.

I sometimes envy for Korean children the thought and energy that the mixed blood children have received. Our Child Welfare Committee, of which I am vice-chairman, has now finished writing a Child Welfare law, which has been read in committee at National Assembly. We are all hoping that the Korean Government will see fit to pass this law, and bring the children of Korea, of any racial origin into the category of beings that have legal protection, and the rights to grow up in a health happy environment.

L. ROMONA UNDERWOOD

Language Study and Mission
Secretary-Treasurer,
Seoul, Korea

It hardly seems possible that a year has passed since I was appointed to serve as a missionary in full standing. It has been a busy and a thrilling year—as all my three and a half years in Korea have been. My apportionment of work has been that of language study and treasurer-corresponding secretary for the W.M.S. in Korea. However, other activities also add interest to life.

Language Student and Treasurer

The second level of a six level course at Yonsei University has been completed and the task still seems unsurmountable. Attending Korean church each Sunday keeps one humble, for only once did I grasp the gist of the sermon. One day at school we were given the Korean word which we were told meant "embrace" and asked to make a sentence using it. The students who preceded me talked about their children. I tried to say, "Sometimes my father embraced my mother before going to the office," and the class understood my sentence, but the teacher did not. In the end, much to our amusement we found that the word really meant to "pick up and carry".

As we deal in Canadian dollars, U.S. dollars and hwan and the exchange rates between each vary daily, there is a certain amount of excitement in this inflationary economy together with the resultant problems. It is hard to convince many of the Korean ministers that as treasurer you do not have access to unlimited funds to be disposed of as you personally desire, and that they must work through their own committees of General Assembly.

Among the duties of the treasurer last year was the completion of the transaction for the sale of a jeep. It differs a little from that of selling a car in Canada. Among other things we had to take four pictures of the car—a front view, a side view, a rear view and one showing the top of the car; we also had to obtain police release.

Other Activities

As previously I had been teaching at the Yonsei Nursing and Medical Schools and the Han Kuk Theological Seminary, throughout 1959 students continued to come to see me to obtain financial assistance, to discuss their problems and to practise their English. I shared in the joy of a student who had thought she was an orphan and who spent Christmas with her father whom she had not seen for 13 years. He had advertised many times for his family who preceded him to South Korea, but not until December, 1959, did he succeed in locating his children. Thus he could be present at this daughter's graduation from the Yonsei School of Nursing in March, 1960.

For three weeks last summer I had the privilege of being one of two "hostesses" at the Taechun Beach Lodge where missionaries of all denominations from all over Korea go for relaxation.

For a while last spring I thought we were going to have to build a storehouse in order to store the Christmas cards; but they were packed into a corner under the eaves of the attic and in December sent out to the many Sunday Schools and churches requesting them. Though the Mission has asked that all used clothing be sent through the depots, the parcels received during 1959 were distributed to those in need and gratefully received by them.

As Seoul is the "Toronto" of Korea and nearly all meetings are held in this city, our fellow-missionaries visit us from time to time. We regretfully bid farewell to Miss Runnalls, who had completed her three years of service in Korea. Welcoming of new missionaries and missionaries returning from furlough is also one of the privileges of living in Seoul.

During the year, I have become more aware of the problems of the missionary trying to present Christ in a culture other than his own particularly as we believe that our Christian faith must carry over into the realms of business, home and community.

TRINIDAD

FOREWORD

Presbytery was faced with a new situation this past year with the appointment of Rev. Mary McInally by our Society. This was the first time that an ordained woman missionary had been appointed and as yet there are no Trinidadian women who have reached this status. After due consideration Presbytery accepted Miss McInally as an ordained member of that body in the same relationship as the ordained men missionaries. The only difference was that for her work she still was under the direction of the Committee for Women's Work. However, there was consultation between this Committee and the Presbytery and with full agreement of both bodies she has been appointed to Siparia to teach in the High School part time and also do some evangelistic work in that district.

The need for Canadian teachers on the staffs of the various High Schools has become more acute since it is growing more difficult to secure properly qualified Trinidadian teachers in sufficient number, which is partly due to a recent change in the policies of the Department of Education. Miss McInally's appointment to Siparia is the first time a W.M.S. missionary has been appointed to a school other than the two Girls' High Schools, Naparima and St. Augustine. Since all the other schools are co-educational there may be a call for Canadian women teachers at all these other schools in future.

The Committee for Women's Work has reported that the Naparima Girls' High School has 854 students (712 in the High School, 59 in the Prep. School and 83 in the Kindergarten), St. Augustine Girls' High School has 405, and Archibald Institute 33. This means that all the institutions are filled to capacity and beyond.

In September 1959, the first Sunday School Curriculum Conference for the Caribbean was held in Jamaica under the auspices of the World Council of Christian Education. Grants were made by mission boards concerned in this area, including our Society. That Conference agreed to set up a Continuation Committee to prepare a new Sunday School curriculum. Rev. David Mitchell of British Guiana was appointed editor, and grants were requested of all the mission boards over a three year period. Our share of the necessary annual budget is $500.

The Great in Little Things

Of the many little things which have made up 1959, which shall I choose for this report? There have been the little W.M.S. groups meeting regularly in the little places of the Couva area. The membership of each group is small, but together they filled a big bus to go to the Annual Conference. The givings of each group are small too, but when the long list of little givings is added up, the total is quite a sizeable sum. And these little gifts are used for a variety of purposes: to keep a girl in school in India; to support a girl in dormitory at High School in Trinidad; to help the Iere Home and the Archibald Institute to train Trinidad girls; to give scholarship help to the Trinidad church's future leaders studying abroad; to provide Bible Women to visit the homes, and to bring Christmas cheer to some of the homes they visit.

World Day of Prayer Services were held regionally; they were held in little churches, but the little churches were full.

Then there are the little Sunday Schools which I visit—26 of them in the area. The pupils are mostly little children but we are glad that 1959 has seen the beginnings of a Christian Education Curriculum for our Caribbean children.

I visit Day Schools too—little visits, on behalf of our Christian Education Committee, to 13 schools. There is nothing small about the numbers of children in our schools, so crowded, so inadequately equipped; and yet the teachers are carrying out a great variety of interesting projects with these boys and girls, the future men and women of Trinidad.

Important Little Jobs

Once a term we hold Christian Education Conferences with the Day School teachers, and the planning and steering each term of two of these regional conferences was another of my 1959 small jobs.

Because we have been very short of ministers I have frequently led Sunday services in little churches, and have attended services led by lay preachers. I remember the earnest young man who led one evening service; he is a postman on week-days. When dedicating the offering, he asked God's blessing on the gifts, on the hands that gave, and on the hands that had nothing to give. Nothing to give! Many of our Christian folk must feel that way, for in Trinidad there is a great contrast between those who have much and those who have very little.

One week in August I spent catering for the Christian Education Leadership Training Course. More than a hundred people living together! It was only a week, but it took much longer to prepare for it. I enjoyed it all, except the tired feet!

Little programs for worship services, little song books for Explorer Rallies, little plays for C.C.I.T. groups, little pageants for Christmas concerts—it all adds up to a lot of mimeographing. On Literature Sunday, small orders for books and pamphlets—and for months afterwards, small bills to collect.

Early in the year we had a number of visitors from Canada. When the "Observer Tour" came in March, my sister was among the visitors—I liked that. Throughout 1959 the "Bungalow" at Archibald Institute has been my home. In March when we said good-bye to Miss Rouse our W.M.S. family was reduced to three. In August Miss Inman left on furlough, but Miss Jean Stewart soon came to join Miss Vanderburgh and me.

A look at the map, and you say Trinidad is a small island; but drive with me back and forth and round-about along the roads of just one part of that small island, and the sum total of the mileage registered is not one of the little things of 1959.

After a Year's Absence

During the first part of the year, I was home on furlough and I have many memories of the kindness of friends while I was in Canada. I have also, because of those kindnesses, been able to bring back equipment which is most useful to me now.

It was good to get back to a regular piece of work again, and I am thankful that I have again been placed in Princes Town. I enjoy working with the younger children and, although many phases of the work are now different because of the changing times, yet it is still good to be able to give children who are without opportunities for development a chance to grow into the kind of girls God intended them to be. There are some disappointments, of course, but many delights.

Improvements at the Home

My first job in the Home was to supervise extensive repairs due to the ravages of woodlice during the year I was away. This building was erected many years ago and is due to be rebuilt soon. The Board of Iere Home for Girls has already started a fund to meet this emergency.

It was also my privilege to spend the $1,000 given by the wives of the Junior Chamber of Commerce—the Jaycee Women's group in Port of Spain—as a gift to the Home. It has gone into the purchase of a new electric boiling table and electric oven for the kitchen of Iere Home. The kitchen, blackened by smoke, had to be repainted and new pots and pans had to be purchased for use on the electric stove. So now the food preparation is done with a great deal more comfort—no smoke in the eyes of those preparing the food and no smokey taste in the food.

The concrete drains were getting badly broken up and so we have spent time and materials in cementing around the back of the Home where it was always muddy and wet in the rainy season. While I was away the Board decreed that coffee should be planted on our land here; that has now been done and we have an extra gardener to care for and look after the garden, cocoa and coffee.

By giving you all these details of work done, you will wonder how much time is spent on religious training. It has its place too, and we found time to memorize catechism and Bible passages so that certificates could be presented to the girls leaving this year. We had a good concert, Christmas party and closing service with Rev. W. Dindial as our guest speaker. We were appalled to find that seven of our big girls were due to leave us this year. Usually we have a smaller group leaving. However, we pray that God will bless them as they go on to high schools and to the Archibald Institute.

A Many-Colored Crazy Quilt

In my grandmother's chest were many brightly-patterned quilts; some with definite designs, such as "The Log Cabin" or "The Necktie"; but others made of gay or drab pieces of many shapes and sizes in a haphazard style known as the "Crazy Quilt" pattern. As we look back over the happenings of 1959, we are reminded of this latter type, for our days, some happy, some sombre, appear like the "Crazy Quilt" with no definite pattern to govern their arrangement. Yet, in the end, we hope the result may be as pleasing as Grandmother's old quilt!

Some of the brightest "patches" came from our work at the St. Augustine Girls' High School. Here the highlight of the year is always "Graduation Day". It is always a thrill to see our youthful graduates, in their pretty white dresses, as they march in stately processional into the crowded auditorium, where they later take the pledge to maintain the ideals of their alma mater.

Another highlight came the final week of our last term, when we held our first "Festival of Sports". The program was planned by Velaria Williams and Anna Mahase, two staff members.

During this week our Drama Club, directed by Undine Guiseppi, presented "The Rivals" and "The Spinsters of Lusha" to a large and appreciative audience.

One of the darker bits of our patch-work came on Entrance Examination Day, when 550 candidates wrote their papers, but we could accept only about 65 students. We are still waiting for Government support for our building expansion, which is greatly needed. A Building Committee has been appointed and plans are underway for a campaign to raise funds.

Mainly Bright Colors

This year, for the first time, our school entered The Junior Arts Festival in the drama, verse, speaking, choral-reading and painting sections. Our one large T.G.I.T. group divided into Juniors and Seniors, so now with the Dormitory group, we have three active and enthusiastic groups. The Merry-Makers were winners in the regional drama competition, and they presented the same play "For such a time" on Radio Sunday School. The Dormitory group, with Phyllis Mootoo as leader, also prepared and taped a program for radio presentation. Each of these groups donated $25.00 toward the Building Fund of the school.

An interesting feature was introduced at school this year with the sale of Christian Literature to the students under the direction of my sister, Marion Wagar, assisted by T.G.I.T. girls of two groups, who divided the proceeds.

This year I was again appointed as Secretary-Treasurer of the Radio Committee of the church and during Rev. R. Neehall's absence was responsible for the Radio Sunday School program each week. With our new school tape recorder, we enjoyed recording programs prepared by various groups, Naparima Girls' High School group, Iere Home girls and my choral-speaking group.

Duller notes are introduced in the pattern of the year, with so many government and financial statements to prepare—but these are in the capable hands of my sister.

One of the happiest events of our year is our annual Christmas party. Invitations are taken by our workmen to the needy children of our district and each year the number of guests keeps mounting! This year we were satisfied that we were well prepared with over 400 gifts—some donated by friends in Peterborough and Kingston, Canada, some by our students and the rest we provide and wrap. The big day was December 16th, and at 12.30 the guests began to arrive! By 2.30 the crowd was huge! We played out-door games for the first hour, then the girls assembled first for their program and the tree. Each received a gift, a bag of candy and a Christmas card (used). When the girls were seated we counted 394! We realized that more gifts were urgently needed, so Marion rushed to the nearest shop for more toys while our T.G.I.T. girls, who were helping us, prepared wrapping paper. When the count was complete of girls and boys, mothers and babies, we had nearly 800! The boys came in for their program last of all.

It was a big job, but what fun we had! It was worth all the trouble to look down into the sea of shining faces.

"Next year", said the children, "we'll have a thousand here!"

MARGARET H. VANDERBURGH

Short Term Teacher,
Archibald Institute,
St. Augustine, Trinidad

The Importance of Archibald Institute

There is great need in Trinidad for a school such as ours. It offers protection and security to the girls, over and above what they may gain in knowledge, and, in many cases, two more years of girlhood. A number of our students come to us from the Iere Home, where they have had care and good Christian training for several years. If they come to us at fourteen they will graduate at sixteen, and that is young to face the problems of earning a living, especially for those without a real home to which to return.

One girl in our Senior class expressed the wish that she would never have to leave school. She became a baptized Christian before leaving the Iere Home, although her family is Hindu. She shows her earnestness in the way in which she participates in worship services. One more year of security, then what?

We don't advertise the school because we don't need to do so, the parents do that for us. We are still filing applications, although the ones for 1960 were considered in November. The grounds around our Institute are spacious and so a vision for the future might include an added wing to the dormitory building, so that "no" wouldn't need to be the answer to so many. Working and worshipping together teaches them about co-operation and tolerance, two very essential qualities for living at peace with each other.

By chance I learned that the family of a girl listed as Christian was Hindu. When I spoke to her concerning the matter she said, "My family is Hindu, but I believe Jesus Christ to be my Saviour. My grandparents won't let me be baptized. Did I do wrong?" I assured her that believing in Jesus was the first and most important step in the acceptance of Christianity. She is eager to learn more about it, and we hope and pray that some day she will be able to profess her witness for Christ without fear of family displeasure.

Another student, who is one of this year's graduates, has had two years in music, but has no piano at home. A third year with us would be appreciated. Her father brought a friend, who also has a daughter, for an interview. During our conversation the other man said, "I have thought about sending my daughter away to school but didn't know which school to choose until I saw the work which my friend's daughter brought home. It is beautiful! I'd like nothing better than to have my daughter be able to do the same. I'd be so proud if she could."

I wish space permitted me to tell you about my Sunday mornings at the Orange Grove Sunday School, and that week last August when we held a Vacation School for the older girls. They came to us at the Archibald Institute every afternoon for a week. They were sorry when their "outside" adventures came to an end. They wanted more, which made us feel that the little we had done was truly appreciated.

S. CHRISTINE MacDOUGALL

Evangelistic Missionary,
San Fernando, Trinidad

Evangelistic Work

My first task is the care of nearly a score of small Woman's Missionary Societies scattered over the south of the Island. These must be visited more or less regularly as, in most cases, there is no Bible woman near enough to help. A course of lessons for devotions, with suggested hymns and prayers is prepared annually. The "Special" for 1959-60 is to provide a fund to pay expenses of a scholarship girl at the Atlantic Christian Training Centre in Nova Scotia. The big day of the Woman's Missionary Society year, the annual Conference was held at Princes Town, and was a little later than usual to enable those of the "Observer Tour" who wished to attend to do so.

Teaching a class in the Theological College (now known as St. Andrew's College) and attending as a member of the College Board, gives me an opportunity to know in a particular way the young men studying for the ministry. This class together with the Senior Sunday School class in Susamachar Church and the Bible Class in Corinth Church kept me busy preparing for teaching Scripture.

The Home and Family Council as well as the Executive of the W.C.T.U. necessitated long trips to Port of Spain, which I was not always able to make. The beautiful Home Dedication service prepared by Rev. J. A. Ramjit, our new minister at Susamachar Church, was used in many homes. I conducted one in a home where father, mother and all the children took part and then we all signed the certificate to be displayed in the home. On another occasion the service was used when the family moved into a new house when many friends were present.

I was able to attend the "Constitution of a New Congregation" at Point Fortin where Rev. and Mrs. R. T. Jordison are doing such good work. My former W.M.S. group at Guapo is now part of the work of this new congregation and is assisted by Mrs. Jordison. I was able to attend their Christmas meeting together with Mrs. Jamadar.

Over the Equator to Sao Paulo

At the January meeting of Presbytery, I was accepted as the second official delegate to the World Council of Reformed Churches, holding the Presbyterian Order. The Church in Trinidad undertook Rev. C. F. Beharry's expenses but I would look after my own. The W.M.S. of Trinidad had some time before appointed me delegate to the Women's Department. It was decided to hold the Council in Sao Paulo, so on the night of July 25th a little after midnight I left by Varig Airways to go over the equator.

An unforgettable experience it was to get to know people literally from all parts of the world. The studies were on "The Servant Lord and His Servant People" and it was discussed by some of the great theologians of our day.

The welcome and hospitality of the Brazilian people can only be felt, not described. Everything was provided for our comfort and well-being. The Canadian delegation were entertained to a luncheon at the home of the Canadian ambassador; as I was a friend of a friend of his sister-in-law, I had a special invitation. I hope most of our ambassadors in foreign countries are of this young man's kind.

On August 6th from Sao Paulo, that great city with hotels and apartment houses in all stages of growth, we went (most of us) by bus to Rio de Janeiro to join in the celebration of the centenary of the Presbyterian Church in Brazil. The slogan seen all about was "One year of thanks for one hundred years of blessing." We were taken sight-seeing around that beautiful city, entertained at a Brazilian dinner, a variety concert as well as a play depicting the early work of the pioneers from U.S.A.

Two other delegates and I visited the settlement house where a great work is being carried on for people of all ages living on the dock site nearby. Rio at night, as we flew out on August 12th, was a memorable sight but it was good to see Piarco in the early dawn, with Miss Wagar up early, out to meet me. The Brazil trip requires more eloquence and more room than I have to give it but suffice it to say, it was worth any sacrifice.

Filling in the Spaces

The year ended with the usual spate of bazaars and Christmas parties and a very pleasant afternoon spent at the Jamadar's island in the Godineau River with about 50 to 75 people present.

World Day of Prayer services, knitting classes, the Easter Fellowship, Home Prayer meetings and book-keeping filled any empty spaces during the year.

K. JOY VICKERY

Educational Missionary,
Naparima Girls' High School,
San Fernando, Trinidad

A Year of Widened Horizons

Except for three overnight visits, one with Mary McInally to the Monastery, one to Princes Town just before Bernice Sinanan left for Canada and Mabel Brandow and Mary Naimool went to Jamaica, and one to the Archibald Institute which had been graciously lent for the first Y.W.C.A. Convention in Trinidad, I was continuously on the grounds of the Naparima Girls' High School throughout 1959.

Nevertheless, it was a year of widened horizons. The return of both my house-mate, Christine MacDougall and our Moderator, Rev. Cyril Beharry, from the World Council of Reformed Churches holding the Presbyterian Order, made our great neighbor to the south a reality.

After the Quadrennial meeting of the Council of the World Y.W.C.A., held in Cuernavaca, Mexico, in September, Trinidad's two delegates, Sybil Rawle and Ivy Welke, returned to share with us the fellowship of that great gathering. Mrs. R. Standen of Toronto and a member of the World Executive Committee stopped off in Trinidad and spent a day with us in San Fernando. Her gracious manner and her deep interest in us gave our association a wonderful lift.

During the year old friends found it convenient to stop off in Trinidad. Mrs. Wellwood of Edmonton Y days, Catherine Broad of Leader's Council in Alberta and Hadyn Stewart's sister of Vancouver all revived dreams of bygone days; and new missionaries, Jean Stewart of China, Rev. Mary McInally and the Purdy family brought us fresh word of the loving concern of our Christian brethren in Canada. Merle Ramjit, a program secretary in the Y in Winnipeg, was home visiting her parents at the Susamachar Manse and it was stimulating to learn how her work takes her into the homes in the new suburbs. Mary Naimool returned from the Caribbean Christian Education Curriculum Conference which was held in Jamaica, and she continues to be a centre of the new life stirring within the church.

Affairs at our High School

Though I didn't move from the hill myself, many groups met here. The Women's Fellowship of all the Protestant women in full-time church work in the south, held a retreat in February at the kindergarten. The Blue Triangle Club of young adults at the Y.W.C.A. held two evenings of Easter plays at the Naparima Girls' High School in Holy week.

The island-wide T.G.I.T. Conference was held at our high school during one week-end in June, when the dormitory girls were hostesses to many out-of-town delegates. "Follow the Gleam" was chosen as the theme that the love of Jesus might shine into some of the dark and frightening paths of young womanhood. Our busy principal, Margaret Scrimgeour, gave Saturday morning to direct the Bible study and discussion period.

The Observer Tour came to La Pique for a cool drink and several visitors were shown over the grounds by girls of the Sarah Morton Dormitory.

The graduation ball, held in our own auditorium, was a dignified and happy function.

In January I took over the supervision of the residence life on our hill and as a result had to resign from certain other obligations; being president of the San Fernando Y, directing a Leader's Camp in Tobago, superintending the Tarouba Sunday School and holding office on the Child Welfare Executive.

My path was a simple one. The common days were busy with such things as dentist's appointments, music practice-time, a seating plan for evening study, an attempt to settle quarrels, a chat with some of the teachers in training. The high days meant accompanying the girls in their white dresses to the World Day of Prayer or watching them march past on Commonwealth Youth Sunday, or praying with them as they shared their litany at the Susamachar Rally of Sunday Schools and, too, listening to a broadcast by the Sarah Morton Dormitory of a little play called "Follow the Gleam" by Ruth Sayre Bitter. The hundreds of day girls have crying needs which need to be met, yet a dormitory of only fifty girls if it is filled with the love of Christ is a mighty influence in these turbulent times.

A. JEAN L. STEWART

Evangelistic Missionary,
Tunapuna-Guaico, Trinidad

In the fall of 1958 I did a great deal of deputation work in different parts of Ontario. The New Year saw me heading south to the United States for study refreshments in halls of learning. First I took the short course offered missionaries at Cornell, Ithaca, N.Y. Then back I went to my beloved Hartford, Conn., where I stayed until the end of term. I did not study for credit and for the first time in my life attended classes without writing exams or term papers. I was free to browse in the library, absorb all there was on Latin America and the West Indies, and to take lecture material just for "it's own dear sake alone". The return to Toronto was by way of Boston and the Maritimes and I was in Toronto for the end of May and the all-important and always-interesting Board meeting.

The appointment of Trinidad for my next term of service had been made in the spring and my thoughts were very much in that direction through the summer, as I prepared in material things, as I had been preparing my mind and heart through the winter and spring. The transition from Canada to Trinidad was made by boat and afforded some quiet days before being launched into the new "busyness" of life in these parts.

Types of Work at Tunapuna and Guaico

I was asked to take the place of two workers who went to Canada for a year, in their two fields—Tunapuna and Guaico. It is difficult in a few words to give an idea of the types of work in these fields, but here is a try. The Presbyterian Church, within which we work here, teaches Religious Education half an hour a day in its schools. When I visit these schools, I carry a portable organ and help them learn new hymns and songs. In all these places there are women's groups, and I take part in their meetings both in the homes and in the churches. As there is a shortage of ministers, my Sundays are well filled with church services. I am also involved in many committees, including the Church Development Committee, and the Home and Family Committee.

Every second Tuesday there is a class held on our gallery for the Bible women of this area. This has been given to me to look after. There are seven women who attend, faithful, loyal and devoted. We meet for prayer and study through the morning hours and we go through the day with visits and meetings.

Visits and Meetings and Prayers

Picture a very dilapidated home beside the road, sitting in the blazing tropical sun, with palm and cocoanut trees here and there. A cow chews her cud not far off and a grey weather-beaten donkey is tethered near. We park the car at the side of the road, and my hand organ and basket are taken into the house. In the basket go my lunch and thermos, hymn books, Bible and needs for a meeting, along with Sunday School papers and pretty greeting cards sent to us in parcels (keep sending them, folks) to be given away. We enter and pass through the central room into the bedroom. There we find about ten women, dressed in clean cotton gowns, some with the Indian head veil tastefully draped on shoulder and head.

Now it can be seen why we meet here, for on the large bed is a very ancient lady, so small she is like a child, and so old and frail that she can't be moved. She loves to have the meeting in her room. The minutes are read, devotions conducted, hymns sung, the Word read and a talk by the missionary is given. We emerge into the hot sun, pack the things into the car and weave our way back along the twisty road through jungle and forest, with an occasional vista of the sea, while the afternoon grows weary with waiting for us to get home and changes into dusk as we gain the highway and travel into the sunset.

One day I was visiting in the T.B. Sanatorium near here. I found a very lovely young Presbyterian woman, who will be in the San. for a while. A little slip of brown-skinned, black-haired beauty, mother of two children, she told me that she comes from a Christian family and her husband is also of the faith, though not his whole family. One day, after our prayer together, she told me that it is getting quite the thing of an evening, when she is reading her Bible before sleep, for several others to come near and they talk with her, asking questions. She told me how she answered some of them and my heart was warmed to her.

So often I have been very conscious of the prayers of several of our own Bible women as we meet in the homes and groups of the people. Very seldom do they fail to pray for "our dear missionary's family, her dear ones far away". I expand this to include the people of our church family, across our wide country, and wish you to know how you are upheld in prayer by those unknown to you and yet in whose hearts there is room to remember the loved ones of their missionary.

In Canada the terms, "Community Worker", "Christian Education Worker" or "Missionary-at-large" are applied to the missionaries whose work includes Christian Education in the church, school, mission institution, new housing area and sometimes pastoral work in a large rural area; Christian education and social work in a city church, among New Canadians, with Canadian Indians on the Reserves, in educational institutions, or in cities and among Oriental Canadians. This includes all departments of work except Medical Work, although Christian education is certainly carried on in this department.
