WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY (UNITED CHURCH)

After church union in 1925, the activities of the Methodist, Presbyterian, and Congregational Woman's Missionary Societies were consolidated. In British Columbia, this meant that the work of the Methodist and Presbyterian Societies, as described above, continued uninterrupted. In 1962, the W.M.S. was merged with the Woman's Association to form United Church Women.

See also: Woman's Association, and United Church Women, in Part V of the Guide.
