In Memoriam

*But some will think of One who said, "And I,
If I be lifted up will draw to Me
All men." And when these latter come to die,
With faces lifted to eternity
They shall go forth with calm, untroubled eyes,
Like children hastening to a glad surprise.*

HIGHLIGHTS OF HOME MISSION WORK

Prepared from

THE REPORT OF THE HOME MISSION EXECUTIVE SECRETARY AND THE REPORTS OF THE MISSIONARIES

The United Church of Canada into its twenty-five years of tapestry making has woven the lives of men and women of every country of the world, building a nation within an Empire, regardless of race and creed and making its Home Mission program mean the extension of the Christian message to those on our doorstep and everywhere within our national boundaries who have not heard or accepted the Gospel as a guide to living. The methods have not changed, for the Church through its ministry of preaching, teaching, healing and serving others aspires to attain its objective of a truly Christian nation.

Twenty-five years ago in the earlier days Home Missions in the United Church meant long tedious drives over mud roads to churches in isolated places; boarding schools in unorganized territory, and settlements in city slums; today, distances have disappeared through the use of cars, few places are isolated because of highways and radios; school sections have been organized and young people who once were cared for in our school homes require us now only to teach them Christian Education, while education and health services, in which the Church pioneered, are being accepted as State responsibilities.

The methods may be changing and the interest broadening to keep pace with the times but the motive and its purpose—to make Christian living the deepest-felt need of every individual—have not altered.

With the action of the Dominion Board making possible the travel of the Home Missions Secretary to fields where interpretation of policy and investigations of work are necessary, three trips were made during the year, one to Manitoba, one to Alberta, because of situations arising in our medical work, and one to British Columbia because of the general situation and more particularly to review an Indian field. The interest and insight of our Advisory women and their cooperation were always most helpful, even if we could not immediately reach satisfactory decisions.

We are always reluctant to release or close work which we initiated unless we see its continuance assured by the State or another organization and consequently it is necessary for us to view such situations with patience and prayer.

On the invitation of the Rural Committee of the Board of Home Missions, addresses were given at four rural conferences in November.

In January, a National Home Missions Congress sponsored by the Home Missions Council of North America was held in Columbus, Ohio. The central purpose of the Congress was to review and appraise the entire enterprise of Home Missions in the light of all significant present conditions and to chart a course to be followed in the years ahead.

Sunday School in the Home—By Mail and Air

Much time and thought were given to the policy of this project in 1949-50 and at present the new policy is in process of formation.

It was decided that we would not carry families or local groups on our mailing list from whom we had not heard by way of quiz or quarterly report for a period of over one year.

It was decided that direct mailing of supplies from the Publishing House to individual families would be undertaken as soon as practical and that steps would also be taken towards incorporating all quizzes and other supplementary materials into one booklet which might be authorized by the postal authorities to go out as a Sunday School publication together with the other materials sent from the Publishing House.

Due to the co-operation of many of the District Supervisors, by way of concentrated efforts in the matter of personal letters to families and local supervisors from whom there had long been no response, more groups and families are reporting now than were doing so a year ago.

Church Vacation Schools

The summer program is one of the most effective endeavors of the Church and when you read the stories of the first vacation schools in the United Church and make a comparison with the magnitude of the work today, you are not surprised that young people are catching their vision for service from the leadership in these schools.

The Society makes a substantial grant and cooperates with the Board of Christian Education in planning its expenditure; clearance is made through the Rehabilitation Committee and because of the housing areas yet untouched by the Church, much of the grant is to be spent in the large cities. This does not, however, exclude the outports in Newfoundland, remote areas in Saskatchewan and the mountain towns of British Columbia.

On the summer mission fields the "Handicraft Supplies for Vacation Schools" made the work easier for a number of young people. There were reported to us 57 Vacation Schools with an attendance of 2,339.

The Youth Caravan

The development of this phase of the work of the Board of Christian Education, commenced in 1949, must necessarily be slow. Personnel and funds are necessary and those who heard the young women of our United Church Training School describe the impact a team of young Christian people can make on a new housing area, were all ready to assist financially. This project means living in a church hall, cooking meals on the church stove, eating in the Sunday School room, where the program of work can be shared and discussed, is the secret of the success of surveying a Church area, conducting a vacation school and eventually seeing the Church organized.

Extension of Service

If one did not recognize the parallel progress that was made in more essential service in the same areas, one might view with alarm the number of pieces of work closed in twenty-five years.

We closed Boarding Schools and School Homes and we entered the rural field, many times placing women in the communities settled by the young people who were in our School Homes. The school sections were organized, schools built, government teachers secured, and our job became one of Christian Education: the first rural missionary was appointed to Newfoundland in the capacity of a Presbytery worker because of its geographical location.

For a second time we have strengthened our forces in Immigration. That large staff in the Department of Strangers in 1925 to 1930 disintegrated and with the exception of Miss Jeanie R. King, were either retired or entered other departments of our work. When the need arose again we were ready with staff which has represented the Church to thousands of new immigrants during the last three years.

During the war when construction was at its height, in order that homes might be erected for war workers, a vision of the need persuaded us to train a group of short-term workers and place them in strategic places. We worked cooperatively with the other Protestant denominations and our workers, far in excess of the other groups, made a magnificent contribution. In most of these housing areas today churches are established.

In dire need for workers among our Indians, in Schools and on Reserves, we again trained at the Portage la Prairie Indian School a group of fourteen women and placed them immediately as teachers and matrons, meeting a real emergency in this Department.

And perhaps our greatest achievement was the assistance we gave the Japanese when evacuation from British Columbia was necessary when they became enemy aliens.

In fifteen years we have always had more requests for the opening of new work than we have been able to meet; not because we have been short of funds but because we have not had sufficient women on our missionary staff. It has been our policy to maintain the work already operating, although in most cases we have found it necessary to cut our staff from two to one to continue in all the centres where community work has been opened.

This year is no exception. Since 1949 we are carrying a request for a worker in Yorkton, Saskatchewan. We have estimated for this work and we are ready to place a sympathetic, rural worker whenever we find her.

Alberta Conference Branch has requested a worker for Hanna in a part of the Presbyterial where the number of ministers has been reduced from ten to three.

Alberta Conference Branch also recommended the making of a survey in Redwater, a flourishing oil town that has grown to a population of 3,000 in one and one-half years.

Another area needing a woman worker was presented by the Superintendent of Missions in Newfoundland—Hamilton River Settlement (Happy Valley), Labrador. We have no one to answer this call.

Newfoundland, Montreal, Yorkton, Winnipeg and Hanna all need community workers at once.

A hospital visitor for Edmonton was appointed after Dominion Board last year. This work is proving fruitful and Miss Mac Laycock has a splendid committee giving her assistance and direction.

Very slowly but steadily the Japanese people have been returning to the coast of British Columbia and once the fishing rights were again permitted a number of the Japanese returned, hoping to become established and again rehabilitate themselves. The dozens grew to hundreds until in Vancouver a Japanese Club was organized and the names of our Japanese families moving to the Coast were being sent to our former missionaries. When the numbers grew to 500 and the British Columbia Conference Branch had a survey made by Miss de Wolfe, the Conference Branch and Board of Home Missions recommended the reopening of Japanese work at the Coast, on the understanding that the families be integrated into the United Churches nearest to their residence. A worker has been appointed, Miss Neta Sadler, and the work will commence September 1st.

In Montreal, Westminster Central Church has been placed under the direction of the Superintendent of St. Columba House and the Board of Home Missions has provided a student for the preaching services. The Woman's Missionary Society has been requested to place a woman in this area.

In Toronto, assistance has been requested in the area of Wesley Church where a woman is already employed, but more concentrated effort is needed because of the density of population and the great area needing attention.

This year we close two pieces of work. Sarnia, Ontario, opened when a war-time industry demanded the services of a worker, and Spryfield, Nova Scotia, was another centre where the influx of population during the war developed a residential section needing children's work and women's organizations. Both these areas are now in regular pastoral charges and Miss Elizabeth Forbes who served in Spryfield retires in September.

Personnel

This year we were able to fill some very important posts with new missionaries. Imagine four nurses available by July 1st! Miss Jean Yeoman of Edinburgh proceeded to Manning the night she graduated from the United Church Training School to take over the duties of Superintendent of the Battle River Hospital. Miss Mary Clark goes to Cold Lake to relieve a desperate situation. Miss Elsie Lee goes to Ethelbert and Miss Jessie Oliver as nurse to Ahousaht. Four community workers go west—Miss Helen Mack to Sudbury, Miss Hope Weber to Gypsumville, Manitoba, Miss Catherine McKeen to Newcastle, Alberta, and Miss Marion Thomson to Ahousaht as teacher. Miss Weber and Miss Mack are associate workers. Three women on furlough return to work: Miss Florence Bird to Japanese work, Toronto, Miss Ila Newton to Vilna and Miss Olive Brand to Saskatoon.

Seven of our senior missionaries retired since last Dominion Board. Two of them, Miss Ella Lediard and Miss Helen Hurd, were among those who volunteered for service in the ghost towns and relocation centres to work among the Japanese. While their major service was given in Japan, we pay tribute to them for their assistance in Canada.

Two nurses who served long and well will be missed from the ranks, Miss Caroline Field, who gave so many years to Alberta hospitals, and Miss Rose Bolton, whose long association with Pine River, will be remembered. Three community workers leave us—Miss Anna ImObersteg for so many years in immigration work and associated with the French Protestants; Miss Mabel Newsom, whose name will be perpetuated in Newsom Hall in Cape Breton and Miss Elizabeth Forbes, whose service in School Homes and Community work endeared her to many young people.

Our present staff, including the new missionaries, is 85. Two of these are in leave of absence; five go on furlough, two of whom retire in 1950, which makes an active staff in September, 1950, of 78. We are very definitely dependent on the 82 associate workers for the work being done. In this figure we include some of our nurses. This gives us a staff of 160.

BOARDING SCHOOLS AND SCHOOL HOMESMrs. R. G. COLLINS, *SecretaryBEGINNINGS

Boarding Schools and School Homes became a part of the educational venture of the Woman's Missionary Society probably in 1881 when "The Ladies' French Missionary Society" of Montreal united with the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, Canada, and in 1885 opened a School for the education and training of French girls in Montreal. In 1888 this work was extended when the W.M.S. shared with the General Board of Missions in the support of the French Methodist Institute. About the same time the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church (W.D.) opened small School Homes for the French children throughout Quebec, many of these children later becoming pupils at Pointe-aux-Trembles School, which was supported by the Presbyterian Church, and to which the W.M.S. gave scholarships.

When immigration was at its peak, there was created the necessity for educating the non-English-speaking children of the strangers coming into Canada to make their home. They must be taught our language and customs, and to become Christian Canadian citizens. In 1903 Rev. Dr. George and Mrs. Arthur were appointed by the Presbyterian Church to do mission work at Wakaw, Saskatchewan, in a district where within a distance of 20 miles there were 500 Ruthenian and 300 Hungarian families. They soon recognized the necessity for educational as well as medical and evangelistic work being done among these people. To this end Dr. and Mrs. Arthur opened a school in a modest way, even boarding four pupils who came from a distance in their own home, called the "Polygot Manse," because of the five languages spoken within its walls. This work soon received official recognition from the W.M.S. when they erected a proper school building for them. The educational work among the children of the non-English-speaking people of the West became an established fact. Many Boarding Schools and School Homes were opened to supply the need of the hour, and later were closed when no longer needed.

Just at this time at Wahstao, in Alberta, the same venture was being undertaken by the W.M.S. of the Methodist Church, with two pioneer missionaries, who supervised the building of their home and school and valiantly began with one pupil. The work which was then called the "Galician Mission" grew amazingly, other Homes were opened, and justified amply the sacrificial efforts of the pioneers and their equally devoted successors.

This educational work was a timely service well begun and well continued, and although today pioneer conditions do not prevail, and the need is not so far reaching, yet there are still many districts where our Boarding School or School Home is a necessity and proves itself a very worthwhile project of the Woman's Missionary Society.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Over the years we have tried to give our young people in our School Homes some of the training they would need for the responsibilities of life. They have had opportunities to contribute their talents to the area of living in which they have found themselves and they have learned that education means employment and is the stepping-stone to good citizenship. Teamwork among the young people who live together is an accomplishment and an awakening of ideas as to possibilities of leadership among the population of the more needy areas.

During the year when I visited St. John's Hall, Quebec, it became a reality. For hundreds of miles English speaking young people travel to Quebec City for secondary education and live in this Church institution. Probably only one English family living in an industrial town would send a youth seven hundred miles for education. What a Church Home means! From this same institution and because the matron is a nurse, a number of girls have journeyed to Montreal to enter the nursing classes at the Royal Victoria and General Hospitals.

Namur Boarding School has had a good year. While the space is still limited, the boys and girls are more suitably accommodated and the children within a radius of 25 miles are in the Consolidated School. The Department of Education acknowledged their indebtedness to us through a grant of $1,000 per annum, thus releasing them from the obligation to build small schools in the areas where Protestant children live who come to the School Home.

Lachine opened with 21 children in attendance coming from broken homes and the street and the number soon increased to full capacity.

Our institutions must always meet government requirements, with the result that fire escapes, metal doors and fire-resistant paint were the orders for our Tenlon Homes. Both Homes have had a fine group of young people, and as many return after an absence of four or five years, the result of the time spent with them is appreciated. Six of their former pupils have gone out from the School Home as teachers and are making their influence felt in various parts of the Province.

Battleford had 23 girls, 14 of whom were new pupils.

Bonnyville had a change of teacher in September when Miss Grace King came to the United Church Training School and Miss Vera Simmermon, whom we discovered at a C.G.I.T. camp, took over the work. The attendance has been smaller at both the Boys' and Girls' Homes because new schools are opening in the newer areas and teachers are not quite so scarce.

"FROM OCEAN UNTO OCEAN"

The work of the year as the missionaries see it.

MONTREAL AND OTTAWA CONFERENCE BRANCH

LACHINE, QUE.

"Here at Lachine Children's Home we see the results of the unhappy marriages, broken homes and separated parents, and our hearts go out to these little ones who are suffering because of the sins of their parents," writes Miss Laura M. Trace.

"We have accommodation for 30 children and their ages range from five to eleven years. The study of French is begun in Grade III and we have children who speak the language quite fluently. Marcel, who is six, could not speak English when she came in September as she had lived with a French family. Two Ukrainian children who came with their mother from Germany last December have learned English and are doing very well in school. In addition to four children who were born in England we have children of Greek, Syrian and Italian extraction.

"We have received many donations during the year for which we are grateful."

NAMUR, QUE.

From Namur, Mrs. Abram Gouin writes, "We are rather proud of our lovely family this year of 26—16 girls and 10 boys, from 6 to 16 years old. I am pleased to say they co-operate very well with the rules of the school. Many take active parts in our Young People's Union and also in our daily devotions. The parents of three children, one of whom has been with us for five years, have recently accepted the Protestant faith and in a letter received from them they say how happy they are—'Just as if we were beginning a new life.' In the little town where these people live (70 miles away) there are several who are ready to listen to the preaching of the Gospel and are most anxious to have a minister visit them. We are thankful for this open door through the influence of our work.

"In December a Mission Band was organized with 44 members, divided into two groups, primary and junior. The children from Brookdale, ten miles away, are asking for a similar organization. Sunday Schools at Namur and Brookdale are both carrying on successfully, with 40 on the roll at Namur and 18 at Brookdale.

"Our W.A. was most grateful to be able to meet all its obligations towards the payment of our hall and also to help the church financially. Three Young People's groups from Montreal came out and gave us concerts which were appreciated.

"No less than 200 children attended our Christmas concert which had been prepared by our school teachers and was a real success. Even our church hall was too small to hold all the people who came. A most hearty vote of thanks goes to all those who are helping us and who are continually praying for the success of our work."

MANITOBA CONFERENCE BRANCH

TEULON, MAN.

"August 1st, 1949, found me arriving in Teulon to enter upon a new venture," writes Miss Kathleen M. Anderson. "By September 1st the family were all in—20 fine, bright, active High School girls; ten of them having been here last year and ten being quite new. One girl is here for her fourth year and another for her third.

"Our family is truly a 'family of nations'—two Polish, eight Ukrainian, one German, two Icelandic, one Canadian Indian from Norway House, and seven other Canadian girls, two of whom are sisters whose mother is Czechoslovakian. All differences of nationality and language are forgotten and the girls are a happy, jolly group.

"Two of the girls are scholarship students, one girl winning two scholarships last year. On the whole they made a very creditable standing in their grades and are keeping up to standard this year. Of the Grade XII class several are looking forward to teaching next year; others are planning to enter hospital for nurse's training.

"Sunday School and Church services are attended by all regularly. We have the occasional party in the Home, sometimes with the boys from the Boys' Home as guests, and there are the usual collegiate parties, which are entered into and enjoyed heartily.

"Household duties, aside from the cooking, are largely taken care of by the girls. You should drop in some day at noon; during the winter months the noon recess is only one hour—12 to 1 o'clock. Dinner is ready when the girls rush in; we are seated at the table by 12.15, finished eating by 12.30; dishes are washed, including pots and pans, and tables all re-laid for the next meal by 12.45 and the girls are ready and off and in their classrooms by one o'clock. No time lost at the noon hour! And so the days come and go."

From the Boys' Home across the road, Mrs. J. A. Carefoot reports 27 boys enrolled, 17 Ukrainians, all Greek Catholics, 3 German Roman Catholics, 2 Indians, United Church, 3 Polish Orthodox Catholic, 2 English United—all attend the Sunday School class taught by Mr. Fred Moore, a cousin of the late Rev. Albert Moore. They attend the evening service, usher and take up the collection. It was boys who scrubbed the church and filled the woodshed with wood and helped to lay carpet as part of their project toward the renovation of Teulon United Church.

"In March came the big T.B. drive, with its contests, and our orchestra stood higher than all others in Winnipeg Auditorium before an audience of 5,000 people. The evening was crowned when Mr. Esdale, Chairman of the T.B. Clinic, clasped beautiful gold watches on their wrists. This was a moment never to be forgotten. On their return they set about and organized a Junior orchestra which played at the graduation dance of Grade XII in the Town Hall at Teulon.

"In school our boys did well. Of late we get many lads who do not know English well, possibly because the desire for higher education is penetrating the more remote districts of our new Canadians. However, we carried off $275.00 scholarship funds, which is a big help this year. Our new orchestra has played at a number of public events and were responsible for raising $95.00 of the total $650.00 at the amateur concert in the Hunter Hospital Drive in Teulon. They go to Stony Mountain Contest in January.

"We had our Christmas dinner on December 10th, with R. W. Bend, Stonewall Collegiate Principal, now M.L.A. for Rockwood, as guest speaker.

"On the whole we are marching onward and upward and from reports of those who have listened to our orchestra on the air and from the school districts where our boys are teaching, one realizes that this Home is having an impact on the general life of this province to no uncertain degree. One young teacher when here at Thanksgiving said, 'I could quit sometimes if it were not that I dare not allow anyone to say that a Boys' Home boy is a quitter.' He cooks, washes, and housekeeps for himself, teaches French and also some displaced family's children. He is one mile from a neighbor, but said he, 'When it gets me down I take out my guitar and live again the times in Teulon Home with the gang. So I sing with a real gusto, knowing I am really not alone but only a lonely part of a great fellowship.' Pray for us that this Home may increasingly mean that 'fellowship' to them all and will never let them down."

SASKATCHEWAN CONFERENCE BRANCH

BATTLEFORD, SASK.

"We had eight girls graduate from the Home at the end of June, and while there were no medal winners, they all made creditable showings. Five of these girls are now in training for nurses and one in Normal School. This year we have a family of 18, a fine group of girls and all working hard." This is from the report of Mrs. Flora Nunn, who continues, "We have an Ethiopian girl with us this year taking her Grade X. She comes from a country point about 75 miles west of here and belongs to a large family. She is well liked in the Home, a very happy disposition, always willing to help, goes with the other girls to Sunday School and any of their social affairs.

"Our routine is much the same as in former years, prayers after breakfast, Scripture and prayers after supper every evening, all taking part, and half-hour devotions every Wednesday evening conducted in turn by the girls from the five dorms. This year we are taking an offering every week and will send it to help European churches and to the U.N.I.C.E.F. Nine girls sing in the choir, three of them are Anglicans, but all go to the United Church in the evenings, while the United Church girls attend Sunday School in the mornings also.

"Our first social function in this new term was entertaining the Y.P.U. at their organization meeting, when we had 46 young people. Then our annual Christmas dinner party on December 15th was a success with thirty sitting down to dinner, including the ministers and their wives, the Sunday School Superintendent and his wife, and the collegiate principal. Following dinner we had carols and then the tree, one of the little girls playing Santa.

"The appearance of the Home, especially the outside, has been much improved this year with a good paint job on the roof and all the woodwork, also partly new screening for the enclosed section of the verandah.

"Truly though we all feel that we have so much to be thankful for, and in our busy life we remember 'Our Father,' the Giver of every good and perfect gift."

ALBERTA CONFERENCE BRANCH

BONNYVILLE, ALTA.

There were twelve girls in residence at the Girls' School home at the beginning of the year, with one attending Bonnyville High School. Miss Edythe G. Stewart reports that all attended Church and Sunday School regularly, the younger ones joining the Explorer group under the direction of the minister, Rev. Muriel Revington. Miss Stewart continues, "The eight girls who were twelve years or over held weekly C.G.I.T. meetings with our High School girl as president. The study book was read and the C.G.I.T. slides along with the W.M.S. slides were shown at a Sunday evening service. In April the girls affiliated with the W.M.S. at an evening Church service, when Rev. John Morris, Field Secretary for Religious Education in Alberta, was the speaker. Eight girls in uniform took part in the service and presented the W.M.S. with a gift, through their president, Mrs. McTavish, who in turn gave the girls their affiliation badges. During the year $10.00 was sent to the M. and M. Fund and $10.00 given to the Church Building Fund. Before Easter Miss Revington conducted communicant's classes and four of the older girls joined the Church.

"June was a busy month with final examinations and then all the excitement of packing suitcases and saying good-bye as the girls left to go for their summer holidays. Every girl has passed her grade, some with honors and one girl had taken two grades and passed with honors.

"During the late summer and early fall I undertook to call on all the Protestant families in Bonnyville to collect for the British and Foreign Bible Society. I was pleasantly surprised at the response made by the people, many of whom had never heard of the Bible Society nor its work. But apart from the money collected it was an opportunity for me to invite the children to Sunday School and the mothers to church and to the W.M.S. I have gained some for the Sunday School, but it was difficult to get the women to promise to come to the W.M.S. Some of the young married women have formed themselves into a social group and have donated over $200.00 to the Church Building Fund.

"I have a class in religious education in the town school once a week for the Protestant children of grades five to eight. In the fall I had a class of 17 students who attended regularly. Many of them do not attend Church and are not much interested, but I feel this is a real challenge to the Church and an opportunity we must not neglect.

"From January to June I taught the C.G.I.T. girls in Sunday School, but in the fall when there were no older girls to have a C.G.I.T. I was asked to teach the junior girls, a class of eight at first, but it had grown to 14 by Christmas.

"Every year the children in the Homes look forward to the Christmas concert and dinner party. This year we had our usual dinner party with the boys and girls together and all the Duclos' staff at the Boys' Home, then came across the road to the Girls' Home where the Christmas tree held the gifts, which were distributed by Miss Field acting as Santa. The concert was held in the basement of the church when all the children of the Sunday School and the Duclos' School took part and were given a gift and a bag of candy.

"The following week Miss Cooper and I attended the short course in Religious Education put on by the Religious Education Council at Alberta College in Edmonton. Saturday night we attended the Watchnight Service at MacDougall Church and returned to Bonnyville Monday feeling refreshed and greatly benefited by the Christian fellowship and the inspiration and spiritual help received during the week."

From across the road at the Boys' Home, Miss Grace Trinder writes, "We began the year with 11 boys in residence, which number decreased to 10 as the term progressed because one of the boys became the proud possessor of a 'bike' and rode to school from his home.

"As we gather around the breakfast table a passage of Scripture is read, followed by a short prayer and then Grace is sung. After breakfast the boys do their chores and play until time for school. Their activities besides school include swimming and fishing at Moose Lake in season and skating at intervals during the winter.

"The boys enjoy the Explorers Group under Miss Revington's leadership. In the fall they held an Indian Pow-Wow on the church grounds at Duclos. All were in costume, and my helper and I were kept busy fashioning chieftain's headgear from crêpe paper and making costumes from potato sacks for eight small boys. But when they were finally assembled, complete with war paint, the effect was most satisfying to them and to the onlookers. They had fashioned bows and arrows and peace pipes for the occasion, but there was more war than peace most of the time. They formed a council ring around the bonfire, and stories, songs and a feast were the order of the night.

"On April 30 the Explorers held a sale of handwork and home cooking in the basement of the church in aid of the building fund. The Boys' Home was responsible for a table, and the boys made useful articles for the home with their coping saws which sold very well. They also sold cup cakes, gingerbread men, etc. Altogether the Explorers raised about $63.00 through this effort.

"The boys' birthdays are always observed with a dinner party. Since it was my mother's custom when I was small to invite the minister and the school teacher on these occasions, I follow out the same tradition with the boys. Of course, the highlight is the candlelit birthday cake. They receive a present or two and are 'as happy as kings.

"The time of day when the boys and I are most intimate is the story hour in the evening, when I read to them in the living room and follow this with their evening prayer. Before Christmas they enjoyed carol singing around our crèche which the boys had made the year before and which is very beautiful and realistic when the colored lights are turned on. The boys took part in the Christmas concert and presented two numbers which they had practised here at the Home. They enjoyed the Christmas dinner and afterwards the party at the Girls' Home with the tree and its presents.

"We had a fire in the Home on August 24th which, in spite of help from the town fire department (which did an effective piece of work in extinguishing the blaze) did considerable damage to the west wall of the building. We were thankful there were no boys in the Home at the time, as that would have created a more serious situation.

"I go to Bonnyville School each Tuesday afternoon to hold a class in religious instruction with Grades I to IV. There are approximately 27 in this class.

"The Sunday School is flourishing and there are 25 in my Primary Department. I also play the organ in church. A church choir formed by Dr. MacTavish when he was here has been difficult to maintain because of the scarcity of men who are interested."

COMMUNITY MISSIONS

I. COMMUNITY MISSIONS EAST

II. COMMUNITY MISSIONS WEST

BEGINNINGS

Community Missions has rightly been called an "adventure in understanding," for through this service the W.M.S. missionary seeks to become a unifying influence, interpreting to peoples of different races and creeds—the stranger, the lonely, the friendless, the hopeless—the meaning of Canadian life and of living active Christianity. Deaconesses paved the pioneer pathway in Community Missions and are still helping to build the highway on which stands the Church, with its call to All Peoples to come and worship and find a Christian fellowship.

Today Community Missions is an ongoing concern. Wherever there is need for Christian service, there is a fertile field for the Community worker. Preaching, teaching, social service, recreation, camp instruction, visitation, handicrafts are some of the varied responsibilities of the Community Worker as she goes about continually doing good, in 30 centres in Eastern Canada among 23 different nationalities, and in 23 centres in Western Canada among 29 different nationalities. In the Family of God all are one; there is the unity of Christian brotherhood; the aim of a Christian community.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Today an unprecedented volume of Church building, enlargement and improvement in equipment is under way across the country. The greatest amount is, naturally, in the cities where the need is tremendous. During the ten years when construction, population, growth and shifts, due to industrial development, created hundreds of communities without churches, this need increased much more quickly than the Church could meet it.

In our institutional churches, remodeling has provided for the seven-day-a-week church program, Worship, Christian Education, Fellowship and Recreation. Churches need room to be effective. A strong trend is for the Church to provide recreational facilities and become a training ground for youth instead of leaving it to non-Church agencies.

In Community Missions our staff of Christian workers kept an active program of religious education, recreation and club activities in operation and adapted their plans to meet any emergency which might develop.

Our rural workers in Newfoundland gave gallant summer service. The Woman's Missionary Society assisted in sending a leader to Newfoundland to organize camps, proving to be of immense value to the young women. The two camps receiving the most publicity were at Musgravetown and Hickman's Harbour. New Junior Groups were organized in various areas. When we learned of the many new roads, the time-consuming travel by taxis and the possibility of motor travel we added a car for Newfoundland in our Gifts to Building Advance for 1950.

Plans are under way for the purchase by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Community Service Centre in St. John's. This building, partly paid for by the St. John's Laymen's Association, was offered to the Society for the amount owing on it. At present the Laymen's Association is having all necessary work done to place the building in good repair before completing sale negotiations. Miss Stella Burry continues to direct the activities of the house and make a home away from home for many girls.

In the congregation at Sydney Pier one sees the colored and white women mingling in their Church activities, and one organization reported this year was a new Evening Auxiliary with 16 members.

In 1949 Canada received 379,000 immigrants of which 215,000 were English speaking and we well know that only as the New Canadian finds his place in the community can he be of use to himself or anyone else. Authorities say it takes three generations to assimilate a family in a new country; governments need established citizens to share in making the new settler contented, happy and prosperous in a strange atmosphere.

We are fortunate in our staff doing immigration in that Miss Aileen Ratz has sufficient German language to converse with many of the European people who come into Halifax, and Miss Louiza Mayova in Montreal can converse with all but the Hungarians. These women have represented our Church to the New Canadian, and as you read their reports you realize the early and late hours they spend serving needy folk.

Miss Gloriana Martineau has undertaken the French work in Montreal.

Montreal is such a cosmopolitan centre and when Miss Helen Lawson found herself in the new Italian Church she knew, there were various problems awaiting adjustment. Progress has been made and monthly an English service with guest speakers is held.

We accepted a young woman of the United Missionary Church, which is a branch of the Mennonite Brethren in Christ, to serve in the rural field of Ompah and Canonta. After the years of effective work carried on, we felt we must continue, and Miss Alexander has proven herself in the community. We have responsibility for three centres, in which good churches are built and where the few are faithful at services and the inspiration comes from Christian Education taught in the schools and the organization of younger groups.

Similarly in Maynooth we have a rural field staffed by two missionaries where services are held at seven centres and nursing care given in emergencies by one missionary.

The twenty-first Annual International Fair was held at the Church of All Nations in Toronto in 1949. As colorful and gay as ever, the groups displayed their handiwork, served national meals and entertained the audiences with their music.

In Windsor, Beginner's English is being taught in the Technical School to many of our New Canadians, and in order that our Church might have a share in the rehabilitation of these people, the Mothers' Club from All People's Mission served refreshments to them in the school cafeteria after the lessons.

This beginning interested other groups and successful evenings of music and tea have brought a real response. The analysis of this particular group is very interesting—a total of 555 pupils, 300 were Roman Catholic, 50 Orthodox, 50 Lutheran, 50 Jewish, and 70 were no stated denomination. Some of the young people are in the Mission Groups.

“FROM OCEAN UNTO OCEAN”

The work of the year as the missionaries see it.

NEWFOUNDLAND CONFERENCE BRANCH

BONAVISTA PRESBYTERY

In Newfoundland our W.M.S. missionaries have been keenly aware of the political and historical implications involved in this big step taken by Canada and her newest Province, and they are particularly interested in the reactions of their people to the changes brought about by this event. Miss Ruth Tillman, missionary-at-large in the Bonavista Presbytery, points to this when she says, “Confederation has already made a lot of difference to Newfoundland. Most of the population find satisfaction in being linked with the Dominion, for there is evidence of a higher standard of living for the ordinary working people. Old people are gaining a new self-respect by increased pensions, children are more warmly and attractively clothed as a result of children’s allowances. It has been an interesting experience.

“January stands out in my memory because of a five-night Leadership Training School, spread over a two-week period, in Bonavista, attended by approximately 45. A good percentage finished their assignments and earned credits toward their certificates of progress. At the close of the School we had a Sunday School Convention where we outlined the self-evaluation chart of the Three E Plan. One of the healthiest things I have seen happen in a long time occurred at the close of this convention, when some of the teen-agers who had been attending the Training School also flocked around their minister and said, ‘We want that kind of a Sunday School. Why can’t we have it?’ Their School had had poor teaching materials and loose organization. Fortunately the minister recognized and appreciated their problem and began working toward some solution. When the Sunday School students begin to demand better teaching material and methods, then I believe the process of Christian Education has really begun.

“Early in February at Little Catalina, I met three consecutive nights with about 25 young people when we began the study of ‘The Bible and the Christian Religion.’ There was an enthusiastic response, as they found this course helped them understand the Bible better. When I left, Rev. Mr. Davis, who is stationed at Catalina a few miles away, came over once a week and completed the course with them.

“It was in February also that I visited Port Blandford and found in the Sunday School there the lay minister’s wife and the school teacher trying to cope with about 50 boys and girls. Through a meeting in which the self-evaluation chart was introduced, we planned to visit several homes to try to recruit more help. By this method we managed to get five other people who were willing to teach and to help in the work. The following Sunday evening we had a Youth service, with the C.G.I.T. girls forming the choir and singing the C.G.I.T. hymn as an anthem.

"During the early part of March, Nancy Edwards and I had our first visit to St. John's to attend the Conference Christian Education meeting. Here tentative plans were made for summer camps and Vacation Schools. The St. John's W.M.S. Presbyterial followed, at which we spoke of our work, and I also had opportunity to speak to two other W.M.S. groups in city churches.

"Most of the month of April was spent at Musgravetown. While there I had the fun of helping Mrs. Wood and her Mission Band entertain their mothers to tea.

"Conference Branch meetings came in May. The rest of the month of May was spent visiting the fishing settlements of Greenspong, Safe Harbour, Port Nelson, Braggs Island, and Deer Island. In each of these places I heard the same story of the population being depleted by people moving into more sheltered places, which are more accessible to road or train. On this trip I had two sets of slides which were much appreciated—'West of the Gorges' and 'Surprise for Min Deh.'

"June was the month of Presbytery and Conference meetings and Camp preparations. It was at this Conference that three United Church Training School classmates—Jean Spiller, Nancy Edwards and myself—were designated as deaconesses. We had an opportunity to meet with the C.G.I.T. leader and talk about possibilities for camp. Miss Campbell's leadership is greatly missed.

"What an arduous task it was getting the preparations made for camp! Walking up and down the road trying to find billets for the campers, borrowing cooking utensils, trying without success to find a cook, all these and many more added up to the day's work. When I was not able to find a cook I thanked my lucky stars that I had had practical experience in cooking for a group of people at work camps. When Muriel Israel, representing the National C.G.I.T. Committee, whom the W.M.S. helped to send to us, and Nancy Edwards arrived, they were soon plunged into the work of preparation. The next ten days were the most strenuous I have ever experienced, because of physical handicaps, and of trying to cook as well as direct the camp and lead a Bible Study group. Yet it was one of the most satisfying, too. To see young people growing and developing in so many ways, this is the joy and inspiration which reward the person who has the privilege of helping girls and boys develop Christian character. We had 25 campers with a group of young teachers who formed a girls' work leadership group under the direction of Muriel Israel; many of her practical ideas have already been put into action. One teen-ager and three of the older girls are interested in Church work as a full-time vocation and have already been corresponding about the course at the United Church Training School.

"In August I had my first visit to Random Island in Trinity Bay. At Hickman's Harbour with the help of a couple of schoolteachers and the lay minister a ten-day Vacation School was held for some 45 children from the ages of 5 to 14 years. We divided into two groups and had a successful school, with more boys than girls in attendance, which is unusual. I was thankful for the gift of 12 fret saws from the Ruth Tillman Evening Auxiliary in Hamilton when I saw how many boys would have to be kept occupied during the hand-craft period. At the closing some of the children presented a play to point out the need for overseas relief, and through contributions by children and grown-ups we were able to send more than $12.00 to the 'For Children Everywhere' Fund.

"After holidays in September I concentrated on the Musgravetown charge, and was able to help get the Mission Band started again, a new C.G.I.T. group formed and the Sunday School reorganized into a two-department school—all this with assistance from the minister's wife, the doctor's wife and several other valiant workers.

"Christmas was spent in St. John's with Nancy Edwards, where we shared in the preparation and fun of Christmas with 30 girls and the staff of the United Church Orphanage. Christmas Monday, Nancy Edwards, Jean Spiller and I had the privilege of being responsible for the Newfoundland network C.B.C. devotional period. It seemed a fitting way to send greetings to our Newfoundland friends."

TWILLINGATE PRESBYTERY

"Confederation Day at Gander Airport! History being enacted before my eyes," writes Nancy Edwards, missionary-at-large for this Presbytery, but her greatest thrill came when the radio announced that a message had been received from the Canadian Council of Churches welcoming all the Christian Churches in Newfoundland into this larger fellowship. "What a tremendous statement," she says. "I thought of all the little churches on the small islands where I visit, the Sunday Schools, the groups of girls that had been N.G.I.T. and would now be C.G.I.T.—would they all realize that they were now part of this larger fellowship?"

"In the early part of the year I took the advantage of the close of navigation to work at Gander Airport. A C.G.I.T. Group was formed, led by the worker until she went out again on the field. The minister's wife has now taken over and enthusiasm is running high. A Mission Band and Explorer Group were also started. A few visits were made to the other points on the Gander charge and through these visits I was able to organize a new C.G.I.T. group and a women's group. There is still great need for a worker at Gander, but to do a good job she should be here full time.

"May was a red-letter month for me, for it meant the visit of Mrs. Self. Travelling was still difficult, but it seemed a pity not to share her with some of the folk in the country other than the larger centres. Finally with the help of a few families who came as paid passengers we hired a 'bug'—'rail car D' in railway terms, a bright orange truck that runs on rail wheels and on railway orders. Into this dignified looking vehicle climbed our President, looking as excited as a youngster going to a Sunday School picnic. Finally we reached the lumbering settlement of Glenwood on the Gander River. There in the little schoolhouse chapel our Dominion President spoke to a group of worshippers of several denominations.

"The next weeks were filled with Conference, Presbytery and Camps, a busy time. The last camp was at Lewisporte, where the people were a great help and made up to some degree for not having a permanent camp committee. Our camp site was on an island about a mile and a half east of Lewisporte. We pitched our tents on a gently sloping grassy spot on the southwest tip of the island. It was a beautiful spot with a lovely view of the sunset, but we had no sunsets! Yes, for seven out of the ten days it rained; the other days were showery. Nevertheless the campers proved themselves, and many new things were learned.

"Vacation schools next claimed our attention. I helped with the first inter-denominational school, a unique school, at which 150 children attended. Enthusiasm ran high and it was a joy to share in it.

"The Gander Bay Vacation School was full of interesting events. On Sunday morning Mrs. MacAskill, the minister's wife and I took the service, the youngsters formed the choir and sang a hymn as an anthem. There was much appreciation on the part of the parents. That night our host and hostess took us in the little outboard motor boat and accompanied by other little motor boats full of members of the morning congregation, we headed toward Main Point for the evening service. Again I took the service and showed slides afterwards. One man, not able to get into the church, brought his own chair from home and sat outside looking through the open door. This is one of those many point charges, and as there is not a lay reader there, they do not have service very often. One woman said, 'My, isn't it nice, to have the church open an extra Sunday?'

"In November I helped with a Sunday School Convention in the Bonavista Presbytery at Shoal Harbour. Toward the end of that month I began a trip north around Notre Dame Bay and New Bay—a new and rich experience. I met with the Sunday School, teaching them Christmas hymns, afterwards with the teachers, preached the sermon at night and showed the slides 'Growing With the Years.' During the week a C.G.I.T. and a Mission Band were formed.

"One evening I met with the Woman's Association. What an interested group! That night this keen group of women at Point Leamington decided to affiliate with the W.M.S., do the mission study and subscribe to The Missionary Monthly. One of the group agreed to be the agent for the Observer in the community as well as lead the Mission Band.

"My next experience was one which I am sure will be the envy of all. The minister and I were allowed to travel in government work trucks over a new road just being built to the next settlement. It had been arranged that a boat should meet us at Bobby's Cove to take us across, but we expected to have to walk with our luggage across the stretch of road about half a mile which had not been completed. When we got out of the truck the engineer, a fine Norwegian man from the interior of British Columbia, said, 'Climb on the bulldozer, if you like.' So there we perched, high in the air, one of us on each side of the driver. Over the bumps we lurched and rolled, pulling up rocks and trees that came in the way, lifting our huge metal elbows to edge our way across the road-to-be. The settlement we were headed for was 'Paradise' and I claim for myself the distinction of being the first W.M.S. missionary who travelled the road to Paradise on a bulldozer.

"Paradise is a tiny community. We were able to visit every home in a couple of hours. Fortunately one of the Vancouver Sunday Schools had sent me a bundle of Primary picture leaflets, and these were very welcome in home visiting. I wish I had more of this quality of material for all age groups. A Mission Band was formed and plans for the re-organization of the Sunday School were made. At night the colored slides 'Growing With the Years' were shown. It was the first time slides had been shown in this place and there was great interest.

"There are a number of old people and shut-ins in Cottrell's Cove so more emphasis was put on visiting. We managed again to visit every home. This lay minister is one who is very concerned about the physical needs of his people, and when we discovered one elderly, bed-ridden woman who was not getting her old age pension, he did all he could to hurry it along.

"The year ended as I helped the choir of the Lewisporte Church, first with a carol service and then with a C.G.I.T. Vesper Service.

ST. JOHN'S

From the United Church Community Centre, Miss Stella A. Burry says, "With many members of our Woman's Missionary Society family, your worker shares in the joy of belonging to Canada, as the tenth province. As one engaged primarily in Social Welfare Work, I could not but send up a prayer of thanksgiving on that great day, April 1st, for the blessing coming to Newfoundland through social securities, representing years of thought, effort and progress in Canada and another prayer, methinks, is not forgotten; that Newfoundland will give of her best in the new relationship.

"Throughout the year, our records show that working in conjunction with the four city churches and the suburban Mission, we served 210 families. Most of the needs were presented to our office, directly or indirectly and we had a very busy year studying the needs of our families and doing follow-up work through visitation.

"One incident comes to mind that illustrates the service of the Community Centre. Visiting a widow whose teen-age daughter was dying, I chatted with the mother in her bright, clean kitchen after my bedside visit. I felt led to give her a word of encouragement for her industry, patience in adversity, and interest in home-making. 'It was all through the Community Centre,' she said and I felt she spoke truly for I remembered as she spoke, of her need of friends and of work, and inspiration in the days when I first knew her. Another memory is of a young girl from our outports, who telephoned for an appointment. She didn't know, she said as she timidly came into the office, if we helped young people with personal problems, but she had to make a very important decision and needed our help. She had attended one of our open house nights some months ago and felt she could come here with her troubles. Twenty-five young women came seeking help of various kinds and when we consider the number of young women living under our roof during the year it is not difficult to imagine the nature and volume of counselling done in any one year.

"In the public wards of our hospitals and in other institutions women of the four churches and Young People's Organizations continue to give a very fine service where they are so welcomed and needed.

"Our Mothers' Club has been working to help with the financing of a camp for St. John's on the Pouch Cove Road, right on the bus line and about 13 miles from the city, where one of our laymen offered us a lovely rustic spot near a nice pond or a small 'lake' as it would be called on the mainland. Such a community camp would fill a great need for daily outings for church groups and more extensive camping.

"Our Young Women's Service Club held a sale in which were exhibited quite a few skills learned through contacts with students of the National Handicraft Association, who lived at the Hostel. They also organized and served a supper, which brought $140 toward the cost of a projector and camp projects.

"When we planned Vacation Schools some of our sympathetic friends thought a school in Bowring Park every afternoon for three weeks would be out of the question because of the difficulties involved, but we carried on with a fine measure of success.

"On wet days we carried out our handicraft projects in George Street Church, which was our meeting place every afternoon of our school. In all 277 children were enrolled in our 5 Vacation Schools, 4 in the St. John's city and suburban area and one at Western Bay. In connection with our camp, leadership was as usual hard to procure but experienced day school teachers offered themselves in the last stages of planning for the schools and did a fine piece of work. We had another good camp at Western Bay with three new areas represented. 31 members with the leaders and four day campers made a jolly company in the old house. Our camp follows the C.G.I.T. program and increased joy is found in the freedom with which our present day campers discuss the needs of their Church and community in the light of their Bible study.

"A reception for summer school students for which friends from the four churches take responsibility had become a tradition. Approximately 80 guests attended on a Sunday night and after a tour of the house the groups divided. While one group enjoyed lunch we presented to the others the needs of the Church for consecrated and qualified young women. Later we changed place and later on in the summer school session, we were given the opportunity of introducing the C.G.I.T. program to those young women going forth as leaders in communities around our coast.

"During the year we had 112 guests at our hostel, including a few transient women.

MARITIME CONFERENCE BRANCH

GLACE BAY, N.S.

In the Passchendaele and Caledonia districts Miss Mabel Newsom has been the much-beloved missionary for some years and has given unstintingly of time, energy, friendship and devotion to the people. It is small wonder then that she begins her report by regretting that her furlough has come so soon! She says,

"The date set for furlough in July came all too soon. During the ten years spent in these communities close associations were formed, and memories of numerous acts of kindness linger with me. It has been a privilege and a joy to work with such a responsive and cooperative group of people, whose loyal support made possible the building of our fine new community centre.

"Over 300 are now enrolled in this and our Sunday School at Tower Road with mid-week activities of Mission Band, Explorers, C.G.I.T., Tuxis, Scouts and Junior boys.

"There were four groups of C.G.I.T. with an enrolment of 38. Valentine evening the girls were At Home to their mothers and friends. A sale of handicraft helped with their funds. The older group enjoyed a social evening once a month with the Tuxis boys, when basketball, volleyball and table tennis were very popular.

"The Women's Circle and the Men's Good Fellowship Club with an ever increasing membership kept active in providing ways and means to help carry on the work. A Get Together of these groups once a month made newcomers welcome and fostered a friendly community spirit. In March the Women's Group presented a play and at Easter the Explorers and Mission Band had a concert, both of which were very successful.

"One of the highlights was the congregational picnic held the first of July. The Good Fellowship Club took charge of all arrangements. Buses from the Tower Road School and the main hall conveyed over 400 to the picnic grounds. Here the men took charge of sports, canteen service, provided hot tea for all on the grounds and by their thoughtfulness made it a day to be remembered.

"One Sunday evening at the close of our regular song service a couple of young mothers tarried behind. Reference had been made to the approaching Communion Service, and they had questions to ask concerning the meaning of Church membership and the Sacrament. When we met during the week they were accompanied by several others, and at our Annual Communion Service on Mother's Sunday, five of these young married women with 12 young people from the Sunday School were received into the fellowship of the Church. At this special service we were honored by having with us Mrs. A. Roger Self, Dominion Board president, who was then visiting the Maritimes. Our large auditorium was filled that afternoon. There were a number of infant baptisms followed by the reception of new members. At the close of Mrs. Self's inspiring message 160 participated in the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper."

"Newsom Hall, Glace Bay," writes Miss Christine MacDougall, "is a community hall especially for Knox and Epworth United Churches, both of which are situated in centre town.

"The Sunday School has 205 children enrolled. I superintend the primary room and teach a class of senior boys who come downstairs when class time comes. I am finding the teachers co-operative and helpful. There is a rural Sunday School carried on in Tower Road Public schoolhouse, a condemned building which has been under reconstruction since October. Up on skids, approached by a precarious ramp, no fires going even on Christmas or New Year's Sundays, the children have become accustomed to holding a brief worship service and going home chilled but with a picture and a Sunday School paper to read. Some of the little six and eight year olds who come tell of getting up early Sunday morning, lighting a fire and getting their own breakfast and then coming to this cold cheerless Sunday School, sometimes even walking into Newsom Hall in the afternoon for School there.

"The 65 members of the Edith M. Burchell Mission Band are a most encouraging group. As they meet weekly they have long since finished the study book as well as other study books of former years. This week when I showed slides of different countries as a review of the whole autumn's study, they asked about the kind of food that Miss Jean Sommerville, their prayer partner, would likely be getting now in China. It was a wonderful meeting.

"The girls of the Explorer Group have done quite a bit on 'Growing With the Years.'

"The junior boys, like the girls, have a membership of 19, and while they had called themselves 'Cubs,' they were not following the Cub program, so we decided to experiment, and we are now one of the 'Tyro' Clubs, of the United Church's Board of Christian Education.

"The C.G.I.T., in three groups, and 32 members, seems to be largely comprised of 12 and 13 year olds. The older girls are now able to go to Knox or Epworth for C.G.I.T. and Y.P.U.

"The Women's Circle of 62 members has been a working group for eleven years and this year they raised $600 for the Building Fund for Newsom Hall. They are affiliated with the W.M.S., meet weekly and study the text book once a month. Besides the usual bazaars, exchange tables and such, they held a Marigan Supper and Milling Frölic which was new to me and extremely interesting. The singing as they milled was more like the Oriental way of working than anything I had ever seen in Canada."

From Warden Church, New Aberdeen, Miss Bessie French reports, "During the year successful C.G.I.T., Scout and Cub Rallies, Sunday School teachers' meetings, parties, picnics, plays, concerts, suppers, teas, banquets, closing of our Explorers' Mission study in June with a Chinese Festival and our C.G.I.T. study in December with a 25th anniversary birthday party with the W.M.S., and mothers of the girls as special guests. Many hours of time must go into the preparation for these groups and entertainments, which does not leave too much time for visiting, but the sick and shut-in folk have been remembered and the hospital calls made.

"At our Birthday Party the tables centred with birthday cakes complete with 25 candles, souvenir programs, church place cards, all in C.G.I.T. colors, posters and lighted church worship centre, all helped to create the desired atmosphere. The program consisted of national songs, a Danish folk dance, a story, told by one of the junior members, a pageant closing with a family worship service. A truly great occasion.

"Our Cubs and Scouts have both been very active during the year.

"The Cubs have won many badges for good work done and, as a special project made over 100 Yule Logs and sold them at Christmas time. They are a fine group of junior boys and much of the success of the Pack must go to the Assistant Cub leaders, who have given leadership second to none.

"Camp again was a time of real refreshment. The W.M.S. grounds at New Campbellton makes an ideal setting. We followed largely the Vacation School program, had fine leadership, good weather, good food, and lots of fun and fellowship.

"During the year a Leadership Training class was conducted, all members winning certificates, and each Sunday afternoon a Bible class for senior boys and girls is held with a membership of 18. They wrote the Bible tests sent out from the Church office and were successful. We feel this class is filling a big need in the church.

"Our Christmas entertainment with pageant, plays and carols was given to a crowded hall and well received, and our Sunday services were very worshipful and helpful."

HALIFAX, N.S.

Spryfield Area.—"One of the encouraging events of the year in our church and community was that for the first time the World Day of Prayer was observed. The meeting was a splendid one with the Anglican women joining in, and the women of both churches taking part. Another happy event was the coming to us of an ordained minister and his wife, which will mean much in the building up of our church," writes Miss Elizabeth B. Forbes.

"An advance step was taken when some members of the Affiliated W.A. led by their enthusiastic President decided they should go farther and organize a W.M.S. This was accomplished in March with a membership of 21. During the year also a second C.G.I.T. group was organized of girls who had graduated from the Explorers. The older group conducted a Sunday evening service in February and both groups had charge of the candle-lighting service at Christmas time.

"There is a splendid group of girl Explorers, a few coming in from Mission Band taking the place of those who had gone into C.G.I.T. They entertained their mothers one evening in March. The boy Explorer Group is not as large as the girls' group, but we are trying hard and hope that in 1950 we will be able to hold our own with the girls. Both groups were intensely interested in their study book, Dike Against the Sea, and were sorry to have it end.

"The Mission Band loved their study book, The Watch-Goat Boy. In their work period they made Chinese lanterns, bead necklaces, and little baskets. The baskets were taken home and given to mothers and daddies at Easter time.

"The Baby Band was organized and much interest taken in it. The mothers loved the 'Mother's Prayer' which was given to them when the babies received their certificates, gift box and prayer.

"Vacation School had an enrolment of 75 girls and boys and 10 teachers, all doing splendid work, each one helping to make it the success it was.

"The Sunday School has advanced in membership and we hope in that which is more important—the deepening of the spiritual life."

Brunswick Street United Church.—Problems of unemployment, poverty, indifference, meet the worker in this district, as in all others, yet Miss Aileen M. Ratz reports the groups small but enthusiastic, enjoying the study of the Church's growth and activities and deriving much benefit from it. But a new phase has entered into their work, and of this she says, "This year there was added to the work of Brunswick Street Church the Port work, and Miss Jean MacMillan, deaconess and I took over this additional duty in July. This consists of welcoming the immigrants and displaced persons coming from Europe to Canada, helping them to feel at home in this new land, carrying their luggage, finding their baggage, taking their wee ones to the Red Cross Nursery, handing out dolls, balls, mechanical toys, and picture books to the children and Gospels and magazines to the older ones, helping people to get on the right trains, phoning and wiring their relatives of their safe arrival, mailing hundreds of letters, etc. In between the time of arrival of boats, our task is to open scores of cartons of clothing and toys, sorting them, acknowledging the receiving of them to the donors, sending arrival slips to ministers, and to Community Friendship Secretaries for all incoming persons who remain in the Maritimes, visiting them if they are staying in the city, and helping them to become adjusted.

"From July until the end of the year we met 23 boats with approximately 20,000 people. It is an important and urgent work. You are giving these strangers their first impression of Canada and its people. There are many humorous incidents and just as many tragic ones. There is the story of the Italian woman travelling with six children under ten years of age, one a three-months-old baby, a trunk-like suitcase, and a huge pillowcase stuffed with clothing. She could not speak a word of English and fear was written large on her face. It was quite some time before anyone could be found who could speak Italian and whom she would trust. Then it was learned that she had expected her husband to meet her here. Halifax was Canada so why was he not here? It was later discovered that her husband had sent a wire saying he would meet her in Hamilton.

"One man had waited 28 years to be able to bring his mother to Canada, and was heart-broken to learn she had died on the boat when only a short distance out from Halifax. One English lad looked all around at the church booths in our Chaplain's and Social Service Room where we work, and when he saw free Gospels, free magazines, free everything, he exclaimed, "Why this is the land of generosity," and then he added, "You people are so much more Church-minded over here."

STELLARTON, N.S.

"Encouraging but not outstanding" is the way Miss Annie MacIvor would describe the work of 1949 at the United Mission. "There is a growing attitude of loyalty to the Mission and its organizations. The young people turn to it quite naturally for their fun and happy gatherings and the older ones come with their problems, so on the whole it is a useful centre in the community.

"Seven of our young people united with the Church by profession of faith at Easter and a number of babies were baptized during the year at the Sunday School period, these services being taken care of by the minister of Sharon-St. John United Church.

"The most encouraging feature of our work is the Sunday School, where the interest and attendance keep up and where three of our local girls help. At the closing of the C.G.I.T. the girls put on a program for their mothers and the mothers provided a delicious lunch afterwards.

"Vacation School closing marked the end of the summer session. This was followed by a picnic when we joined with the children of Sharon-St. John Sunday School, sponsored and arranged by the Men's Association of the church. The parents were invited and a delightful afternoon was spent at the shore. The mothers are a loyal band of women and I can always depend on them. They put on a Fall tea and sale and turned the proceeds in for the support of the Mission.

"Christmas for the children was generously provided for and happiness and cheer was brought into many a home."

SYDNEY, N.S.

United Mission:—"Last summer we were able to have the club room and church decorated and it is a great improvement," reports Miss Mary Thompson. "With a gift from the Mission Band in Oxford we bought that beautiful picture, the Head of Christ, by Sallman and it decorates the front of the church. We had a special re-opening service conducted by Rev. R. G. C. Cunningham. The regular Sunday evening services have been well attended, with an average of .65 since September. An arrangement has been made with the three churches in Sydney and they now take responsibility for the evening services.

"The Sunday School has been most encouraging. The problem of finding teachers in the fall was easily solved when four of our young people, who have really had their training at the Mission, offered to take classes. At our Teachers' meeting last week it was thrilling to realize that we have 8 teachers who are products of the Mission.

"One of our big problems was to find an organist for the Sunday School and church, and we were delighted when one of our colored girls who comes from a musical family, offered to do her best. She has been a wonderful asset to the work. One of our older teen-age boys went to camp as a leader last summer and when we opened Sunday School in the fall he took a class of junior boys and is doing a fine job. We have had an average of 105 pupils in our two schools during the last quarter, the best record we have had since I came to Sydney.

"Mission Band included the Explorers after Miss Howse left and we often had 50 in attendance, the C.G.I.T. girls have been helping out in the Band. The W.M.S. gave the Band a party in the Spring and also entertained the mothers and children of the Baby Band.

"Perhaps our greatest project was the organizing of a new Evening Auxiliary last March. It seemed a good thing to invite the women of the community, both colored and white, which we did, and closed the year with a membership of 20. All our giving was by monthly envelopes and Thank-offerings and we raised $82.00. There was one open meeting when Miss Elma Inman of Trinidad spoke, and there was keen interest and a fine spirit.

"The C.G.I.T. had a membership of 15 and a fine leader came to us from Trinity Church, who also taught the Intermediate group of C.G.I.T. girls in the Sunday School. We invited the C.G.I.T. from Trinity Church to meet with us for the World Day of Prayer and there were about 50 who enjoyed the service together.

"Only recently a Trail Ranger Group has been organized and two young men who teach in the Sunday School offered to give leadership."

MONTREAL, QUE.

Church of All Nations.—From her year's experience, Miss Donalda Jardine writes, "The year has yielded fruit in that ideas have grown into convictions, one being that the Church of All Nations is now a decentralized church. Of the 300 active families, nearly two-thirds of them have moved too far from this centre for children to participate in Sunday School and mid-week activities. The children's groups are therefore small.

"The young people organized during the fall and are slowly growing into a working unit.

"The Women's Club had a very good year working and playing together. The language barrier makes it difficult for an English leader to do more than scratch the surface with good will. To plan programs with meaning and value is very baffling when English is little understood through either the ear or eye.

"Two of the hot weeks of August were spent at Macaulay Camp, where a mothers' and children's camp was a new experience for the director and the established pattern was followed. It proved a real joy to old and young."

Italian Church of the Redeemer, and Japanese Work

Miss Helen Lawson writes concerning her appointment to the Italian Church that "This is my first experience in a national Church. (Even in the relocation centres in British Columbia, Sunday Schools were for the community.)

"If I have made any contribution, it is as liaison person, to help the young people and to encourage them in their transitional life between the old and the new."

Miss Lawson who is working also with the Japanese at the Church of All Nations says, "English classes are a joy to my teacher's heart. I feel there is a place for the hand of welcome to our suffering neighbors, to go out to brave souls. So far my classes have been interreligious but not international, as the "Y" is. Learning is faster in the mixed group and interest in people keeps the new student from self-centredness. Isolated mothers can be cheered by a visitor who has come to get acquainted over an English lesson.

"Week day groups are not functioning at the Italian Church for two reasons: lack of adequate heating facilities and distance from the Church. There is no Italian in-coming primary class. There never has been a Japanese Sunday School.

"The Nisei choir had a very happy Christmas. Two evenings were spent in carolling to groups that had not been visited in this way before—the Grace Dart Hospital and the Cremazie Home.

"There have been many individual contacts that reveal the never ending search for the good life; these cannot be recorded but they will always be the stimulant for the workers, who is a sower of seeds."

St. Columba House

"The year 1949 has been marked by steady progress. The first anniversary of the inauguration of a Church roll was held in May with the Chairman of the Board of Home Missions, as the speaker. In spite of pouring rain over one hundred people gathered for the evening service and twenty new members were received." Thus begins the joint report of Miss Ruth Churchill, Mrs. Ethel M. McBeath, and Miss Annie G. Mulley, who followed Miss Churchill in October. "The interest of officers and members has been outstanding. Attendance at Church and the giving by envelopes has increased by sixty per cent.

"A morning Sunday School was tried as an experiment but the drop in attendance was so great that all departments again meet at 3 p.m. However, a Nursery Class during the morning service has been continued.

"The work of Religious Education through mid-week activities has continued for all ages—Nursery School, Primary Club, Explorers and C.G.I.T. At the Easter Thankoffering meeting of the Primary Mission Band, two little girls came rushing in excitedly saying, 'We found a dollar and we are going to give it for the children of China.' Eagerly it was placed on the offering plate. Later an older child sowed seeds of uncertainty in the small minds saying, 'Maybe your mother (a widow) wouldn't want you to give it.' A phone call to her assured me that she was very happy to have her little girls so eager to help others.

"The older girls were divided into two groups—Intermediate and Senior C.G.I.T. On Easter Sunday the girls assisted by the Explorers presented a pageant.

"The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary has had an active year. The Sewing Circle held a Spring sale and a Fall bazaar to raise funds for local and missionary purposes. They sponsored two Baby Band parties.

"About sixty mothers and small children went to Macaulay Camp in July—the party being directed by Miss Churchill. In September the mothers of the first camp party were invited by the W.M.S. to a social evening in honor of Miss Gwen Suttie, who returns to Japan."

Out of her experience Miss Churchill stresses the fact that "the establishing of a Church roll in 1948 has given a core to the work around which all other activities centre. As an evangelical Church settlement, St. Columba House is bringing the gospel of Jesus Christ to the people of Point St. Charles and its power is seen in the lives of men and women as well as young people."

Department of the Stranger, Community Friendship

"Strange as it may seem, I still get such a thrill out of going down to meet a boat or train," write Miss Jeanie R. King from her years of experience in doing just this very type of work at Montreal. "I still can walk on air. One never knows what is going to happen and how much or how little one may be needed.

"The monetary restrictions for all make it often difficult and necessary to assist the newcomer in locating mail or wires or in cashing a draft or traveller's cheque. Nothing gives one such a helpless feeling as to be penniless, even at home, but in a strange country one feels entirely lost. Sometimes we escort people to the different banks. I recall taking two families to the bank with their drafts on Montreal and getting them cash enough to travel with and having the balance (in the thousands) transferred to their point of destination, with which they planned to buy land. They would have been quite lost without some local help. Their signature is often questioned and our presence seems to reassure the clerk.

"The crowds in the station after a heavy train arrives is like a mob—baggage, babies, bundles, young and old, male and female, all huddled together. We try to assist in the sorting of the hand baggage, loading the buses for the D.P. Hostel, or the 26 mile drive to St. Paul l'Ermite, giving train times to those waiting for connections and directing them to the various services in the station. It is fun and somehow they soon know you are trying to help them and they thank you and smile and their look of fear disappears as they realize that you are their friend.

"Last year I reported that we need a Church woman with European languages to go to St. Paul l'Ermite after a crowd came in, while they are waiting for placement and time is hanging heavy and anxiety and fear increase. In June along came Miss Mayova to do this very thing—among others. Her heart is big and she enters into their life, remembering her own experiences twenty years ago. She has a great capacity for friendship and the new life for many Europeans will be more bearable because of her.

Miss King, who has been the Counsellor for the Japanese Fellowship in Montreal for several years, continues with some report of that work. She says, "The Japanese United Church under the leadership of Mr. Komiyama is progressing nicely and the young people of the Fellowship attend the monthly English service, also all the special occasions. Their choir usually has charge of the music and they practise for this so faithfully. The processional with candles at Christmas time is very impressive and there is always a social time afterwards when good fellowship is enjoyed by all in a very friendly atmosphere. They are beginning to have quite a number of young married couples. Their problems are many, as Oriental parents and training are so different from the newly acquired Canadian ideas of freedom of choice, and establishment of separate homes. During the year I was guest at more than one Japanese wedding and appreciated the honor. The reception has always been at a Chinese restaurant, which I find very interesting and something we might ponder.

"Now that Miss Lawson is here I will not have to give so much time to the Fellowship, but by mutual consent I am their official friend, though in many cases it is a very personal relationship. My home will remain available for their executive and other meetings. What nice young people these folk of Oriental stock are! Canada is really a very wonderful place in which to live, with its Oriental, European and other backgrounds blending together."

Miss Louiza Mařova, recently appointed to immigration work with Miss King in Montreal, with special reference to the non-Anglo-Saxon immigrants, writes, "I wish I could adequately express my deep gratitude to the Woman's Missionary Society for calling me to a work so dear to my heart which presents not only an appeal and challenge but so many opportunities for service. In its more narrow aspect the work consists of meeting passenger boats and special boat trains in Montreal and of immigrant ships in Quebec City. Though contacts made there are only of a slight nature and consist in services rendered to people while they are landing or changing trains, yet they are appreciated by many and certainly by the Europeans as they arrive to make a new start in a strange land.

"The Labor Department Hostel at St. Paul l'Ermite is a re-distribution centre for I.R.O. passengers, and here your missionary is a regular visitor. After every transport the building teems with people of many nationalities, so eager to talk, so appreciative of a friendly word. So I listen to their sad stories of the past ten years spent under Nazi occupation—in the displaced persons' camps of Germany, Austria or Italy. Visiting so-called displaced persons when patients in hospital often assumes great importance. Some of them suffer from mental depression due to a sense of loneliness, other patients have visitors, they have none. Several times the nurses call the Church of All Nations asking for a visitor to befriend these lonely ones. The language question has been a barrier.

"I have found a happy fellowship within the Slavic congregation at the Church of All Nations. As much as my work permits I do visiting for that church and take part in the Woman's Club. In this way I get acquainted with many families who represent the New Canadians who came to Canada 20 to 40 years ago. Once they lived near the church, now many of them have moved distances away, some having to spend hours on street cars to attend the Sunday services.

"Once more many strangers are entering Canada to find a larger life. Many are as yet unhappy, haunted by sad and often gruesome memories. Christian friends in Canada must extend a helping hand to any who are struggling with a new language and new conditions."

French Work.—"That another year has opened happily and with promise is a matter of real joy and gratitude. To those who attended, and particularly to the Japanese boys who had kept on with their good work in Sunday School, the New Year's Rally in St. James United Church was a wonderful occasion for praising God." In this thankful and hopeful spirit, Miss Anna ImObersteg begins her report, and continues, "Among our church members there is a constant moving out to Ville Jacques Cartier, Laprairie, St. Leonard, and the outskirts of Rosemount. With a small fund set apart, they have embarked on building their own dwelling, glad for the family to be away from the city's crowded living quarters, its noise and turmoil.

"The 631 calls, spreading into ever-widening parts of Montreal, offered possibilities for a careful check-up of absentees. The chronically sick, the aged, sharing with them their joys and sorrows, received much attention.

"One of these calls stands out as a vivid experience, and indeed I shall always be thankful that I climbed the steep steps to say "Good Morning" to a poor man who had been most faithful in church attendance. Now his eyesight was almost gone, and his leg had become stiff and very sore. When he saw me, he cried out, 'It's more than rheumatism this time. I am fit for the hospital. I can stand the pain no longer.' Please get me out of here quick.' At once I grasped his hospital card and set out for an ambulance. I thank God and the kind doctor, who embodied the mind and prompt action of the good Samaritan when within a couple of hours the patient had been transported and was under proper care and supervision. Medical skill applied the drug to stay the intense pain of this much advanced blood poisoning. The same week he was with the Lord whom he had learned to love as his personal Saviour.

"The Afternoon Sewing Club has been brave in going forward despite some members' prolonged illnesses. It was surprising what even one keenly interested person was able to accomplish to increase the amount of work, and she was well over seventy. But her steady planning and persistent efforts made it possible for the Club to hold 32 meetings. By doing so, the women reached a turn-over of 30 quilts, besides all the repairs done on clothing sent in for use at camps, for school entrance in September and for winter wear. Is not such devotion and useful Christian service a fine credit to our affectionate regard for them?"

Miss Glorianna Martineau, who has been carrying on this work since September, gives part of her time as deaconess of St. Jean Church. "My most important contribution there consists in the leadership of a mothers' sewing meeting once a week. I have had from two to fourteen in attendance. I have found there a charity and a willingness to help one another in need which is very Christian. I have planned to teach a little home economics as we go along in our French meetings. The generosity of the ladies of Dominion Douglas Church has provided us with good material for sewing and my own experience in tailoring and patterns provided the other part of the equipment in this kind of education. Some of our sewing is intended for a French orphanage. We have also started a project in nutrition which will culminate in a full meal served in the church and planned in the meetings when studying the nutritional values of food, and economy."

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE BRANCH

NORTHERN BELLEVILLE, ONT.

With gratitude for the opportunity to serve, Miss Agatha Coultres and Miss Mabel Willows send us another encouraging report from their wide field at Maynooth.

"As each year has its ups and downs, this one is no exception. But we know that something has happened on the field that is deeper and fuller, as if Christ has been consolidating His position in our midst. We are assured that our people are more ready than they have ever been to respond to the work of the Church and to give themselves to it. Services have been well attended throughout the year, and the pre-Easter mid-week services were a revelation of faithfulness which was not so evident before—these meetings being as equally well attended as the Sunday services. The same can be said of the Preaching Mission which was held for a week at the Thanksgiving season, and also through the readiness of three church groups (instead of one reported last year), to meet for mid-week Bible study. In more ways than we can express in words, we feel that the Spirit of God is moving over the souls of people here in a new power. One of the evidences of this was the decision of one of our young men to enter the ministry. He goes to a charge the first of February to serve as a layman, accepting a salary of little more than half of what he has been receiving.

"It seems as if we are always building, so this year it was a twenty-foot porch across the front of the parsonage, which completes our house. There was no furniture for this new room, and no money with which to buy any, so one of your workers put her skill at crafts into the larger craftsmanship of making furniture at the lowest cost. But where does one find lumber these days without paying for it? The slab piles, of course, and the expanse of hills covered with fir. The first day was spent visiting mill-owners and obtaining their permission to scale their slab piles for cedar. They were very accommodating, even if a bit perplexed to know why two missionaries needed to be gathering cedar slabs. When informed of our need, they lent their aid and sent us away with our car loaded to the capacity of the springs. Then to the woods for a few young cedars, and off to work in the backyard of some good friends. First there was the peeling and planing until each piece was smooth and white. Then after two days of vigorous work, tables, stools and benches were complete, except for shellac and varnish, for the beginner's new Sunday School room—our front porch. So with a layout for a few nails and some glue, the use of our friends' tools and the needed brawn, the porch was furnished. The building of it was not so reasonable, and the first effort to meet the cost of $300.00 was by a group of willing workers who presented three short plays which netted $115. They are now planning another entertainment.

NORTHERN FRONTENAC, ONT.

"The record of the year's work at Ompah, Canonto and Plevna is on the one hand heartening and on the other deeply challenging," writes Miss Ho E. Newton. "One of the highlights of the year was in May when a special service was held in the Canonto Church on a memorable Wednesday evening. Rev. H. Herlikey of Arden conducted the service, baptized 16 children and two adults and received into Church membership a young woman and her husband, the latter a former Roman Catholic. Not long after this Canonto Church was again crowded with reverent people at the funeral service for our oldest member. It was an impressive service; God seemed to be speaking to us all through the life of this devoted woman.

"Financially we in North Frontenac did fairly well, especially in Ompah. The small W.A. group of 10 members sent $150 to the W.M.S. and increased their givings to the M. and M. by $25.00.

"Besides this, great things have been done for the local church, a new roof, and fresh paint inside and out. The W.A. women made a pulpit drape and a communion table scarf. The Young People donated an offering plate. The furniture has been varnished, and one of the members is going to build cement steps at the entrance.

"For our first service in the newly decorated church we had Rev. J. I. MacKay, Superintendent of Missions, as our preacher. He conducted communion services in the three places, baptismal services in Plevna and Canonto and a reception service at Ompah, baptizing three and receiving three into Church membership.

"During the year I had weekly Christian Education classes in five schools, two of which belonged to a student minister's field, and he took them over when he arrived. In the other schools I used one period a month for Mission Band work, which made three well attended and interesting Bands. In the summer we had Daily Vacation Bible School in each of the three points.

"Reed work was a specialty with us this year. Each W.A. woman wove herself a basket, and we made and varnished 20 trays and baskets for the bazaar. Weaving was our main hand work at Vacation Schools, too—old and young seemed to enjoy doing it. We made reed offering baskets for Plevna and Canonto churches and for Mission Bands.

"Two homes burned to the ground and we were glad to have clothing and quilts for each family, and to find in our bales something useful and welcome for the 20 new babies in our community."

Miss Muriel Alexander continues the report from North Frontenac, since it was her privilege to serve there during the four last months of the year. "One phase of the work which appeals to me is the visiting from house to house. While the weather was favorable we drove miles over these narrow winding roads, calling at every home, regardless of Church connection. We always received a welcome and in most homes were privileged to offer prayer and many times received an invitation to return. In this part of the work we seem to get nearer to the hearts of the people.

"The Religious Education classes are interesting. We are covering a course on 'Learning how to use our Bibles' and have specialized on the Gospel of John, using the flannelgraph lessons. This avenue of services reaches more than 80 children. The attendance at our Church services varies, my smallest congregation was three and the largest 52, our Sunday Christmas service, when we held a simple service with message and carols to remind us again of the wondrous story."

TORONTO CONFERENCE BRANCH

KIRKLAND LAKE, ONT.

Miss Evelyn E. Mathews reports encouragement in her varied work, and says, "During 1949 Teck Township charge was enlarged by the addition of West End Church which had formerly been on the Swastika charge. At the same time Mr. W. J. Stewart, a lay supply, was sent in by the Home Mission Board so that your missionary has now been relieved of all preaching services, and much of the visiting.

"Interest has been increasing steadily in the King Kirkland congregation since the building of the church three years ago. Sunday School flourishes with a good staff of local teachers. Instead of a summer picnic, a party was held at Hallowe'en when a record crowd enjoyed a well-planned program of games and stunts. The Christmas concert became a real community affair with the Roman Catholic school principal, the Sunday School, and the Young People's Union all assisting with the program.

"Vacation School meant 'happy time' for two weeks in July. Almost all of the children in the small community gathered at the church during the long light evenings where singing and games were mingled with stories, handcraft and worship. A closing picnic found us settled on a slope where one could hardly find space to sit down among the blueberry bushes.

"Our 'Peppy Pals' C.G.I.T. Group had a successful year. On the World Day of Prayer we gathered in the quietness of our own small group, and with the hemispheres on our World Friendship triptych lighted only by candles, we prayed in company with the Christian women of the world. When camp time drew near everyone got interested, the girls held a bake sale, and enough money was raised to help eight girls to go to camp. One quarter of the Senior Camp at Lorrain was made up of King Kirkland girls. The girls are a great strength and help to the work of the church.

"The Explorer Group has grown to include 16 members, girls and boys who eagerly participate in the weekly meetings, the Christmas Vesper Service, the hikes, and sometimes as church choir.

"The W.A. continues to be the group that shoulders the burdens, and though the membership is small, it reaches out to neighbors and friends in times of extra need.

"The work at West End Church is quite encouraging. The Sunday School has increased greatly, and a flourishing Explorer group carries on in the mid-week. In the few months that we have served this congregation in its lovely little church we have become quite enthusiastic about future work in this area of Kirkland Lake. It seems that on the whole there are more encouraging features than otherwise, and we continue working in the Master's name, assured of His blessing and sustaining power."

MUSKOKA, ONT.

Beginning new work in Muskoka, Miss Judy E. Moore writes, "The Muskoka United parish is made up of 19 small areas scattered over a surface of 500 square miles. Of these 14 are all-the-year-round appointments and five are summer appointments. The parish is served by three workers—Rev. Florence Hunter, the Superintendent and Pastor, a layman who concentrates on Boys' work, and your W.M.S. worker who this year concentrated on organizing Girls' and Children's work, teaching Religious Education in the schools and sharing in the Sunday duties. During the year 8 new Explorer groups began to function, making a total of 30 under supervision. Most of these new groups met at noon or after school following the Religious Education period while I was at the school. The new W.M.S. car has opened the way for Girls' work which seemed almost impossible because of distances. Now with the car, on three evenings a week I can leave Huntsville, drive to Dorset, 26 miles, or Raymond, 16 miles, or Portage, 15 miles, or Aspdin, 10 miles, and pick up the girls on the way. Now five C.G.I.T. groups are functioning—the pride of your W.M.S. worker—all in their trim middies.

"During the week Religious Education in the scattered one-room schools is a real joy and we are learning so much together. The Sunday work consists of three and sometimes four preaching appointments. There is a great deal of driving to be done, but the countryside is beautiful in all seasons, except perhaps winter with its snowbanks and storms and ice!

"With the help of the Boys' worker 13 daily Vacation Bible Schools were held through the parish and we are already thinking of them again for this year. We also ran a summer camp for junior girls. The work is progressing and gradually becoming consolidated as the project parish, with its 524 families and a total of 2,036 persons."

PORCUPINE CAMP, ONT.

"The Porcupine Camp area," writes Miss Marjorie W. Gregg, "includes the towns of Timmins and Schumacher, as well as South Porcupine—locally known as 'South End'—and the original Porcupine at the other end of the lake. The area has about 38,000 inhabitants, representing many national backgrounds.

"As your missionary-at-large in camp, my chief concern is to help in the creation of closer fellowship between New Canadians and old, especially among those New Canadians with whom the five United Churches within the camp area and their ministers, have already had contacts. Methods employed include visiting homes and hospitals, distributing literature, lending books, helping with problems of a personal nature, inviting them to Church services and attending these myself often accompanied by a newcomer, introducing the New and old Canadians to each other, participating in special projects from time to time in the churches and co-operating with the leaders in other denominations. On my visiting list are families from over twenty nationalities, to many of whom I distribute literature in English and several other languages, among them the United Church periodicals in Ukrainian, Finnish and Hungarian, and I have asked for five periodicals each month in French and Italian for needed distribution.

"In an effort to add a missionary flavor to a W.M.S. Supply Tea in one church, as well as to provide something that New Canadians would appreciate, I gathered an exhibit of articles from many lands. They were around two books, to which they were connected by narrow ribbons, to illustrate 'The World in Canada', and 'Canada in the World.' From Rev. J. I. MacKay's book the ribbons went to exhibits from lands from which immigrants have come to Canada, and from Growing With the Years, which was opened at the map of the world, the ribbons extended from the respective overseas mission lands to articles from those countries. Beautiful filigree hair ornaments used by a Chinese bride were lent by the wife of the Finnish Lutheran minister, who had spent many years in Honan, China.

"This same Finnish missionary was also very shy about her English, but because of her great love for China, consented to address W.M.S., W.A., C.G.I.T., and Mother's Club meetings in two of our churches. She also led in the prayer for China at the Timmins meeting on the World Day of Prayer. She could hardly be blamed for insisting that I should address the Finnish Lutherans in the Timmins church on a Sunday evening when she had charge of the program. An attempt to give an introduction to my remarks in the Finnish language was very much appreciated by the audience.

"Three projects carried on in co-operation with other denominations in which your missionary participated were the observance of the World Day of Prayer in March, Church Vacation Schools in July and an Anti-Cocktail Lounge Campaign in November and December. I attended the preliminary meetings to plan for the World Day of Prayer observance in South End, where the Anglicans were in charge, and in Timmins at the Salvation Army Citadel, and I took a small part in the Timmins meeting. Again as last year, I attended meetings of the Finnish Lutheran Sewing Circles in both towns, to help the women to learn the melodies and go over the words of the hymns beforehand. In Timmins I was accompanied by Mrs. Majury of the Salvation Army who led the singing with the aid of her autoharp. The Finnish pastor and his wife sang a duet in Chinese and we had a delightful evening. A number of Finnish women attended the meeting on the Day of Prayer.

"On December 14th Timmins voters declared their opposition to the introduction of Cocktail Lounges and the serving of liquor with meals in hotel dining-rooms by approximately 8 in 10. These results were in considerable measure due to the intensive campaign organized by co-operating committees in Timmins and Tisdale Townships and led respectively by their 'Managers', Rev. W. M. Mustard and Rev. R. J. Scott. The campaign was featured by radio and newspaper publicity, the showing of educational films by a representative of the Ontario Temperance Federation and the distribution of literature.

TORONTO, ONT.

Church of All Nations.—Back in familiar work again at the Church of All Nations, Miss Mamie Gollan writes of returning in July from "a very refreshing and most valuable furlough year. The warm sunny days in that month were spent in preparation for and carrying on Vacation School co-operatively with St. George's Anglican Church and St. Andrew's Presbyterian. On Sundays during July and August the Sunday School was held in the morning and was exceptionally well attended, especially by the Japanese boys and girls. Our children in 1949, besides their regular offerings, assisted in such worthy projects as Canadian Church Relief Abroad, Save the Children Fund, the Sandon School for boys in China, and many others.

"The International Fair, held for four days in November, brought many busy weeks ahead of it. It was a big undertaking and each national group participating put tremendous effort and planning into the success of it. Reports came to us that it was better than ever, and certainly financially was very rewarding. All of our people are so happy at that time and have such good wholesome fellowship working together throughout that week. We have heard the wish expressed that the whole United Church of Canada could see the demonstration of Christian friendliness displayed at that time. The International Sewing Group, 15 nationalities in its membership, were more than delighted with the results of their faithful attendance and work. At the weekly meetings they had such happy times in singsongs and discussions. When the time came for going home one woman would always choose a closing hymn, and if all were not able to sing it in English, it was generally one that everyone could sing in some language that they knew. As the time came nearer and nearer for the Fair to be held they had the joy of seeing such salable articles as towels, tray cloths, table centres, etc., piling up in their work box.

"The daily duties of visiting the people in their homes and of handing them out their letters and papers through our unofficial Post Office are greatly enjoyed. These folk whom we serve need our friendship and our counsel. The community around us is a sordid one and little children, youth, and older men and women of a great many national backgrounds and traditions find a place to play, a place to study, a place to worship and a place to rest within our walls here. Every day of the week, from the hours of four o'clock until eleven, the rooms of our building are used by some group. It might be the Japanese choir, or a leathercraft international group, or the Latvian folk dancers. In our gymnasium there might be a basketball game in progress, or our junior boys having fun playing floor hockey. Whatever the activity, the Church of All Nations in this area is greatly appreciated."

Continuing the report from this fascinating piece of work, Miss Olive C. Brand, who took Miss Gollan's place during her furlough, says, "Superintending the Primary Sunday School, though still quite a new experience for me, has been a real joy, and I was so glad to see definite development in a sense of reverence in worship among the children. One little outing I remember with pleasure, was when a small group of five were asked to visit a large Baby Band party in a Leaside church and to contribute an item of program. They sang 'Tell me the stories of Jesus' by way of introduction, then did a flannelgraph story of Jesus all by themselves. The mothers in the audience were entranced by these winsome children (3 Japanese, 1 Ukrainian and one part Negro), and I myself felt quite a 'motherly' pride in them. One lady remarked, 'It was amazing to hear that tiny Japanese girl read the Bible passage as she did. An adult couldn't have done it better.' I am so glad that her family is a fine Christian one, belonging to our Japanese congregation. We have a number of children from Buddhist families of the district."

"The girl Explorer group, though small, was a lively one and very socially minded. While they followed, I think, a well rounded program, the project which they enjoyed most was to entertain the Primary Club (which also met on Tuesday afternoons) in the pleasant 'Green Room' on every possible occasion—Christmas, St. Valentine's, Easter, Hallowe'en.

"The C.G.I.T. program functioned steadily and with considerable zest all year. W.M.S. re-affiliation night and Girls' and Boys' Week were the highlights of the year, though it is also worthy of note that we sent two girls to C.G.I.T. camp, the girls themselves paying half and the C.G.I.T. the other half.

"Girls' and Boys' Week gave the two groups a chance to plan and work in partnership, which resulted in two week-night affairs and considerable participation in the Sunday evening service. In the latter, their main item was a quiz on girls' and boys' programs, a bit of dramatization in which the girls questioned the boys and the boys questioned the girls.

"Vacation School in early July and camp in late July made up the summer program. This year my party consisted of mothers and small children not only from our own church but also from different sections of the city. We had lovely weather and an unusually splendid type of women. I never before had a group quite so appreciative of spiritual things or so responsive to a worship service. One woman wrote me later that she never would have thought it possible that she could feel so renewed spiritually in those few days, adding that with the best of upbringing, one could grow very careless in spiritual matters. It was all very heartening to me for I feel that camp is accomplishing much more in that way than in adding two or three pounds to under-nourished bodies, important though that may be."

"When the young people evaluated our year's program this winter, their major comment was, 'We lack members.' This is true of the clubs for which I am responsible," reports Miss Elizabeth MacVicar. "The senior Sunday School class of teen-aged girls of which I was so proud last spring has dwindled to two. Our C.G.I.T. is even smaller than ever this year. Primary Club has a small but regular membership.

"However, although our groups are small, the members are some of the finest young people that I have ever met. Our Y.P.U. plans active programs. Most encouraging to me is the fact that these young people are learning to assume responsibility within the group, to preside before the group, and most of all their ideas are progressing and their faith seems to be broadening and deepening.

"Highlights in our C.G.I.T. activities were: the district convention, affiliation service and preparation for our sale of work at the International Fair. Proceeds from the sale will help a few girls go to camp again this year.

"I have been free to do some visiting. I think that visiting is almost the most valuable part of my work and very good experience for me personally. Especially in working with teen-agers one can often get to know them better in their own homes than in the group. Some girls who have dropped out of groups still appreciate a visit and one is able to at least maintain contact with them."

Community Friendship Work, Toronto.—Miss Susie Smyth reports, "By December, 1949, Canada has received 72,000 persons from camps in Europe. These include 28,000 Poles, 15,000 Balts (Estonians, Latvians, and Lithuanians), 12,000 Ukrainians, 5,500 Russians, 4,000 Yugo-Slavs and smaller numbers of Hungarians, Czechs, Romanians and other nationalities.

"Already three groups of women upon completion of the year in domestic work have been guests of honor respectively of the Y.W.C.A., the Catholic Women's League and the Jewish Women's Council, when certificates issued by the Labor Minister have been presented to them. On each occasion the newcomers entertained with music and dancing of their native land.

"During the year a committee of Inter-Church Protestant women have met along with a Y.W.C.A. representative to discuss plans whereby the needs of newcomers might be met. The Y.W.C.A. has furnished lists of those girls who have completed their contracts and are being transferred to Toronto. Orthodox, Lutheran, Presbyterian, Hungarian and Evangelical names are passed on to their Church representatives. The close co-operation of the Baptist worker, Miss Evans, has been a very helpful experience.

"One Sunday in June, Bloor Street United Church was filled with Baltic people, meeting to commemorate June 13, 1941, when almost 60,000 people were taken from the Baltic States to Siberia.

"On day L—, the possessor of a high soprano voice, sang the Estonian hymn 'Prayer' in the First Lutheran Church—a real song of Thanksgiving. She and her music teacher along with 80 others fled to Sweden in a twenty-foot boat to escape deportation to Siberia. In a slightly larger boat with only a converted car motor they had braved the North Atlantic for nineteen days before reaching Halifax. Today in Toronto, Canada, she continues to study with that teacher as she works by day in a home and attends a business school at night.

"Two young Latvian women having completed their year's contract, found employment and fortunately a very nice one-room apartment. From that one room they are extending hospitality to later arrivals and several times have invited me to meet recent newcomers in their home. Their appreciation of a Prom concert added greatly to my enjoyment. For A—— a happy day arrived with the coming to Canada of her mother. How the daughter had saved to furnish a small room for them! This story is being repeated many times today.

"The termination of the year's contract so eagerly anticipated marks the beginning of unknown difficulties for many. At last 'free' they seek employment, using their European profession or skill, and they seek a room. More and more the services of social service agencies will be sought. May our churches, our Church people be alert in heralding the time when "The stranger shall be as one among you."

Hospital Visitor.—"A general survey of hospital visiting may be depicted as a floating parish with the minister flitting about evidently in search of someone. Especially is this ever-changing and transient feature characteristic of large sections of general hospitals. Yet the longer I am privileged to share in the ministry to the sick and infirm, the more I discern the quality of continuity and permanence in it. Patients for the most part appreciate having a call from a representative of their Church and often the initial greeting unconsciously develops into a heart-to-heart talk, and almost always nothing is appreciated so much as a brief prayer." With this introduction, Rev. Olivia C. Lindsay brings us into the realm of hospital visitation as she finds it in Toronto. "While the major part of my time is spent in calling on individual patients," she says, "whenever possible I visit in little groups. Quite frequently there are two or three on my list in close proximity, and without disturbing the other patients, we can visit together and have corporate prayer. In two of the smaller hospitals I hold regular monthly Sunday morning services, and whether the patients appear in the sitting-room on foot, in wheel-chairs or on their beds, they have the proud satisfaction of being 'in church.' The weekday services in the homes for the aged take the form of a fellowship meeting, after which I make a round of calls on the more feeble residents. It is in the services of Holy Communion, which I conduct quarterly in five hospitals, that the climax of Christian fellowship is reached. The arranging of the Communion services requires fullest co-operation with the hospital authorities and much planning and direction with the nurses ahead of time, but always they are so willing to arrange that patients whose names are given them are ready at the appointed time. As all professing Christians are made welcome, sometimes I serve as many as 20 in a large ward, while again the communicants are grouped in twos and threes or cared for individually. A service may vary from four or five minutes with individuals, to ten or fifteen with a group.

"Besides having the privilege of serving over 1,000 communicants last year, I had the honor of co-operating with Dr. Geo. Pidgeon and Dr. J. P. Jones when one afternoon last May they dispensed Communion to 45 patients in Queen Elizabeth Hospital and brought a great blessing to us all. So many of the patients had listened to Dr. Pidgeon's sermons over the radio or had read his articles, that they were delighted to meet him in person. In most of the 9,700 calls I made I was glad to be able to distribute some pieces of literature, Scripture portions, The Upper Room, or some of our United Church periodicals. To many maternity patients I had the pleasure of introducing the valuable quarterly 'Our Children.'

Oak United Church.—Miss Mary G. Blair writes, "As I started work at Oak United Church in Moss Park area at the peak of summer's heat, I was thankful to know that arrangements had been made for 36 mothers, girls and boys to attend camp. Some of these children entertained their friends when they returned by rehearsing the camp program in their homes.

"During July a number of Oak United children were taken from Oak Church each morning to Vacation School at St. Enoch's United Church.

"Over 260 introductory calls were made by the W.M.S. deaconess during July and August in the homes of Church members and adherents, and in the homes of Church School children. A few families were discovered who had recently come to Toronto from Europe, the British Isles and Newfoundland.

"The Intermediate Department of the Church School had an enrolment of 40 during the last quarter of the year.

"The Canadian Girls In Training group attended a Fall rally. In their mid-week program they are learning co-operation in group activities.

"The Primary Club with a membership of 25, plus many visitors, has contributed to the European Children's Fund and has made scrapbooks for the Children's Hospital at Thistletown.

"Several shut-ins and some families were given Christmas cheer by the W.A. and other organizations and members of the Church. Some of our people have moved into apartments and houses in the new housing area of the district. Others have moved farther away as older houses are being removed and new ones erected."

Woodgreen United Church.—"The Woodgreen Community Centre has done much, since its opening, to meet the recreational needs of this densely populated industrial district," writes Miss Jessie MacLeod, "but the spiritual needs are still as great and in this area the Church continues to witness.

"The Religious Education program includes a mid-week Explorer group for girls. Two students from the United Church Training School and myself have been trying various methods to secure their interest and attendance, sometimes succeeding, sometimes failing, but the membership continues to grow and the meetings are improving.

"A Sunday group of mixed teen-agers, meeting in the mid-week, proves to be a continual challenge. Recently we were invaded by one of the local gangs which added considerably to the problem of discipline. In conversation with the gang leader I found out that they would have shown more respect for us if it had been more difficult for them to join the club, such as paying membership fees or having their entrance conditioned by votes from the group. They expect to be subjected to authority and find a sense of security in rigid rules, which seems to be the keynote of a successful gang."

HAMILTON CONFERENCE BRANCH

HAMILTON

All People's.—"With at least twenty-three different nationalities under its care," says Miss E. May Merriam, "All People's United Church is well named. Our newest members are two little Indian children just out from India, who have joined our Mission Band, and we hope through them to reach the parents. Our Mission Band membership has leaped this year from 9 to 21.

"Half of our congregation is made up of young people, and we have a thriving Young People's Union of 27 members, started a little over a year ago. While Mr. Pike was at All People's he organized a Japanese Club. It was not started as a religious group but just a club where largely non-Christian young people could meet and get acquainted and have a good time. Now it is showing results. They are joining our Y.P.U., the Church and the choir and are turning out to be very sincere workers. There are about ten nationalities represented in our Y.P.U. and they are doing a splendid work. They put on the Christmas party for the Sunday School both last year and this, although they have not been organized much more than a year.

"Our Baby Band has 32 members now and has been a successful venture, bringing out to the Church and clubs many young women who have never come before. Now they are making the Church their own.

"Every second Sunday afternoon I visit the patients at the Sanatorium and take with me little gifts kindly donated by friends in the Hamilton and district churches. I visit the Chinese patients and those far away from home—Indians from James Bay, a Scotch war bride from Nova Scotia, patients from the Sault, Newfoundland and other places. They appreciate the visits and the gifts. At Christmas time the three All People's churches took up boxes filled with useful and lovely gifts and presented them to the patients we had visited during the year. We are grateful to those who made this possible. It was a friendly and much appreciated gesture."

Wesley and Grace United Churches.—Miss Jean C. Donaldson, home from her experiences as a missionary in Central India, finds herself sharing in the work of two churches in Hamilton; Wesley in the downtown section and Grace on the same street about a mile away in the residential district. She says, "The backbone of Wesley consists of some very faithful members, not strong in numbers but exceedingly strong in purpose, who come to church in some cases from very long distances, with some equally faithful standbys, who together have not time nor energy nor leadership to meet the challenge of this downtown church. To help this situation the W.M.S. have given me the privilege of spending half my time in this church's work.

"Come into the Christmas meeting of our Explorer group. Little Rickie, whose father is a Buddhist and whose mother says she is neither Buddhist nor Christian, but whom we know to be a most charming and attractive Japanese lady, chairs the meeting. Everything is unusually quiet in spite of the 35 members present (double last year's membership) because some of the mothers and one local interested schoolteacher are our guests. The highlight of the meeting is the not-too-well practised Christmas pageant, which ends on a worshipful note as all Explorers kneel and sing the lovely Christmas carol,

'Children are we, kneeling to Thee.' Then follows a story by the leader and the giving of gifts to the mothers, gifts made by the Explorers themselves. One of the problems of this area is to bring all the unchurched parents into the Church, and so meetings like this form valuable contacts.

"Junior Church is a new adventure for Wesley. Its purpose is to teach the children how to worship.

"Down the street a mile is Grace Church, an old building which houses a congregation which this year celebrates its centennial. My Sunday School class has gradually worked up to 9 thoughtful, questioning twelve-year-old girls, who also belong to the C.C.I.T., a lively organization affiliated with the W.M.S. and having a membership of 18. They have tackled a number of ambitious undertakings, such as managing a table at the W.A. Bazaar, buying cloth to decorate the church doors, making posters to express their ideas of what the Church means to them and sending gifts to three little girls at the Sanitorium.

"The only really new project at Grace Church is our Young Mothers' Group. We have had one meeting with mothers and children when everyone enjoyed themselves.

"Visiting is another of my duties. Altogether 223 calls at home and 17 hospital visits were made in four months with the help of my trusty bicycle. This visiting has shown me clearly how many people regard the Church with shocking indifference and are living in almost total ignorance of the rudiments of our Christian faith."

Work among the Japanese.—Miss Esther L. Ryan presents an encouraging report as she highlights the first Japanese broadcast ever heard in Eastern Canada. "It was during the Christmas season when the Japanese of Hamilton and district listened to the voice of Rev. K. Shimizu broadcasting in time donated by C.K.O.C. It was one of a series arranged by our Canadian National Unity Council of Hamilton in which many racial groups are represented. Such straws show the blowing of a more kindly wind and greatly cheer us on our way.

"Five of the Hamilton Nisei are teaching in our public schools. A young lady from Winnipeg is employed as dietician in a large city hospital, while the General Hospital has now accepted a Nisei nurse-in-training.

"Though still without a regular pastor, the Japanese speaking group which meets every Sunday afternoon in All People's Church has been greatly strengthened by the visits of a number of fine preachers. Among these were Dr. Matsumoto of Hiroshima and two others from the Orient. Their rousing messages have helped to crack the hard shell of custom and tradition which makes it so very difficult for a Buddhist believer to turn from the religion of his ancestors.

"Average attendance at the regular Sunday services is still only 29, which, however, represents an increase of 45 per cent. over the previous year. Five other special meetings averaged 50 people, while Dr. Matsumoto attracted 148.

"Eight new members were received on confession of faith—three grandparents, two mothers, and three young girls recently returned from Japan after many years of separation from their parents who are not Christians.

"The names of 19 of our adult group were added by transfer to those of the four more adventurous spirits previously on the roll. This new willingness to bring in membership cards happily illustrated a noticeable advance in adjustment to life in our city."

St. Christopher's.—"The time for measuring advance has come again," reports Miss Miranda Brown, "and we at St. Christopher's wish to express our gratitude to our loving Father for guidance and help during another year of service and of real advance in many ways in our work here.

"Financially, St. Christopher's has had the best year in its history. It is still far from being self-supporting but all groups—children's, W.A., W.M.S., Mission Circle, Sunday School and Church givings—show substantial increases for 1949. The Mission Band has more than trebled its givings in the last three years and the Baby Band gave over four times as much as last year.

"Spiritual advance is a little more difficult to measure. Increased church and Sunday School attendance indicate advance here also. At the New Year's Rally held recently our Sunday School won the Plewman Banner for the increased average attendance over the previous year—an increase from 161 to 188. Both the Mission Circle and Auxiliary came second in the Presbyterial reading competition.

"The Young Worshippers' League, begun over a year ago, has not only increased the attendance of children at our Church service but it has been the means of bringing some of the parents out to church, parents who previously were not seen there. One such parent was recently made a member of the Board of Stewards.

"During C.G.I.T. and Tuxis Week the girls and boys co-operated in the Church service instead of having separate nights. One hundred and ninety-five attended this service.

"A Church membership class was conducted by the pastor. There were 19 additions to the Church roll, four by transfer and 15 by profession of faith. The Church membership now stands at 104.

LONDON CONFERENCE BRANCH

SARNIA, ONT.

St. Luke's.—Miss Marjorie D. Stedman, taking over new work in June, says, "When I arrived in Sarnia I found that most of my work would be done within the sound of the hammer. Building of new homes continued on several streets till the last late daylight was gone. Visiting first the 47 families on the list given me, I found about half of them to be young families either still building their homes or just recently having completed them.

"A two-week Vacation School was held in August, one week for kindergarten children and one week for Primary-Junior, with a joint closing program, very well attended. The total enrolment was 60, seven adults and nine teenage girls of the community helped with the school. The offerings of $11.40 were sent to European Relief.

"After this I began house to house visitation, making a denominational survey and in addition to sick calls and other necessary visits the total number of calls was well over three hundred.

"There is a W.A. of 21 members and a Sunday School with growing interest and attendance. Due to crowded space it was divided into two sessions in mid-October, one meeting at 2 p.m. and the older ones at 3 p.m. This grading has also made for better discipline and worship. I have given leadership to the younger session and taught in the older. The average attendance at church services was 31, number of communicants 56."

WINDSOR, ONT.

All People's Mission.—"We live a busy life at All People's," report our two missionaries, Miss Hazel Adsett and Miss Marie M. Staples. "We find many of the boys and girls who come to our classes have no family church connection, so our great aim is to implant a respect for the Christian church and a reverence for God, the Heavenly Father.

"We begin with the four-year-old children in kindergarten three mornings each week, and on Fridays the boys and girls under nine years meet in their Happy Club here at the Mission with an average attendance of 25.

"Again this year we have combined our Mission group of Explorers, girls nine, ten and eleven years of age, with those from the church with which the Mission is affiliated, and each Monday after school between 25 and 30 girls come in full of enthusiasm and energy. They are affiliated with the W.M.S. and this year contributed $26.50 after paying for all material used in handwork. In the spring a graduation service was held one evening, with mothers as guests, when those who were twelve years were promoted into C.G.I.T., the ones from the church to the group there and the others to our Mission group. This marks a real step in the life of a girl, helping her to realize she has reached the age of a degree of maturity in her religious life.

"The boys may become Cubs when eight years of age, and on Friday evenings these boys meet 24 strong.

"The natural step is from Cubs to Scouts, but we have been unable to secure leaders for Scouts. At the boys' suggestion they meet as a Canadian Boys In Training Group, something original in name at least, but corresponding to the girls' group of that age. Again this year the boys assumed the responsibility for renting the gymnasium in a nearby public school for their night. As the membership stands at 23 we find it more feasible to divide them into juniors and seniors, each group spending one hour in the gymnasium and one hour here at the Mission when their meeting is held.

"The C.G.I.T. has been more responsive this year, and is made up of girls from the community. We do not encourage any one to come here who attends a church where there is a C.G.I.T. Group. Though we differ in some ways we have so much in common and we feel that all Christians are needed to work together to build up the Kingdom of God. These girls are also affiliated with the W.M.S. Only one from our group attended camp this year, and one Italian girl whose family attends our church was chosen as a scholarship camper. She, of course, attends Sunday School and C.G.I.T. at the church now, though they originally became interested through the Mission.

"On Sunday afternoon we hold a small Sunday School for those who do not attend elsewhere, and also send papers to two Hungarian families who live too far from the city to attend school.

"Christmas at the Mission is definitely a festival in honor of the Christ Child. Santa makes one visit and, at the request of the children, again this year brought tins of canned milk to be sent to Japan in the name of the children. Their part is in sharing and contributing to a Doing Without Box to defray expense of postage. But letters tell us the milk is very welcome. During the year we also sent four cartons of clothing for distribution through Church Relief.

"The Vacation School is another medium through which an appeal is made to the higher things in life, and a most worth while one, we feel.

"Through the Advisory Board, the World Friends magazine is made available to 70 homes and there is no question as to its popularity, even with girls of C.G.I.T. The Board helps in so many, many ways—at Christmas time, with Vacation School expenses, furnishings for house, and many others. Last spring they gave a dinner at the Mission for those helping in different departments, thus contributing to a fine spirit of co-operation and goodwill."

COMMUNITY MISSIONS WEST

MRS. F. R. SNARR, Secretary

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

The loss of farm population has depleted the strength of multitudes of open country churches. After World War II many of our veterans failed to return to the farm and this migration takes the strongest and most energetic and leaves the rural community poorer. The transfer of a family or individual out of a neighborhood, which involves a change in personal relationship and gives one the status of a stranger in a new community, allows that person or family to sever the old ties and it is more difficult to find themselves in a new church.

Hundreds of people in rural and urban areas across the country are unable to speak English and understand it so little that it is of no practical use. Schools offering English courses have more students than they can accommodate and still the need is not met. English teaching and literacy classes are Home Mission enterprises and are more widespread than we realize. Our reports tell us of some significant beginnings that have already been made.

There is increasing unemployment and the financial straits and the mission churches are the first to sense these trends. In some of our All People's churches lunches have been served daily. In others, arrangements are made with the staff to have men go to restaurants, but interviews with hundreds of these men standing in line is not only an exhausting experience but a very distressing one.

At the Head of the Lakes, Miss Mary Mansfield and Miss Iris Daly are working closely with a committee that fully appreciates their services.

In Flin Flon whole new areas are being opened and new homes erected. The constant shifting of population makes the work difficult, but the greatest need is for space for Church Schools. Miss Gladys Watson has entered into every phase of the Church work and has had opportunity to implement all her ideas in children's and Young People's work.

The Ethelbert field was strengthened by the appointment of a Lay Supply in the early autumn. This allowed Miss Marion Hodgins to go farther afield with her ministry and in every school she has been made welcome.

Miss Elizabeth Stephen wrote particularly regarding the opportunity available for service to older people in Winnipeg unable to pay the very high rates required in most nursing homes.

Miss E. Mac Laycock, our hospital visitor in Edmonton, has enrolled some families in the Sunday School in the Home—By Mail and Air. Her Christmas and Communion services were held in the tuberculosis hospitals where they are without Protestant services. Her plan is for the regular continuance of these services.

The work in the Drumheller Valley brings us thrilling reports of services and the keen interest of the women's groups means the improvement of the property and a pride in the entire work. Again in these mining towns much is expected of our women.

The country known as "The Colony" north of Edmonton may be one of the rich oil areas to which many people will flock, but our missionary work among small groups needs our thoughtful attention. Miss Myrtle MacGregor from Smoky Lake has agreed to make a survey in Redwater and we shall then evaluate our ministry and decide where the greatest need exists. Miss Mac-Gregor has responsibility for preaching services because no minister is available and Miss Wilhelmine Trewartha finds she, too, must preach and teach in Vilna and the surrounding area. Because only one worker covers this field, we made a grant sufficient to secure the services of a young woman for Church Vacation Schools. Six schools were held with splendid success.

One of our most difficult tasks was given to Miss Henrietta Campbell, last September, to serve in Manning, with the nearest minister 90 miles distant at Peace River. And more difficult, we expected her to find means of moving the church and manse to Manning from Notikewin, four miles distant. Because of the scarcity of suitable lots in this town, it was decided to move the church to our Woman's Missionary Society's property. A new Anglican church is in the course of erection in the town. At present the Anglican children come to our Church School and 46 are enrolled. Who can measure the influence of this work in a new country?

"Vital" is the word one can use for the work in Lethbridge under Miss Madeleine Bock. We mortgaged "Gifts to Building Advance" to replace the car on this field, but when the returns came in the books were balanced.

There is a new day also for rural youth. A consolidated school system brings farm boys and girls into the town schools by bus, so that they enjoy the advantages of a graded school with its specialized staff, better equipment and various school social activities.

In Vancouver we now serve in "Columbia Street United Church," formerly a Japanese Church. The place has been completely renovated; dedication services were held and the Presbytery is providing preaching services. The Y.M.C.A. is taking charge of the older boys and Miss Olive Shaw has the women and younger groups. Much of the building of the congregation will depend on her work. This is another centre where unemployment will affect our work.

"Conrad United Hall" in East Prince Rupert was repaired and improved by the local women's group in order that their children and young people might have a centre for meetings. Our small grant gave them courage and now that a worker has been appointed, much use will be made of the building. The area comprises 400 families with a Church School of 50 and there is great need for leadership.

FLIN FLON, MAN.

From Flin Flon, the third largest community in Manitoba, with its 11,000 people, Miss Gladys B. Watson describes her share of the work in connection with Northminster United Church. She says, "Northminster is still in the process of being built. In the meantime our Church services and weekday activities are carried on in the large hall, accommodating 450 people, and in a room on the first floor. The building is used for community as well as Church activities and every afternoon and evening the place is like a busy beehive."

"Our Woman's Association, with a membership of approximately 160 members, meeting in eight groups, have contributed very generously to the building fund as well as caring for furnishings and equipment for the church building and the manse.

"Under our Woman's Missionary Society we have an Afternoon Auxiliary of 18 ladies and an Evening Auxiliary with a membership of 30. We have two Mission Bands with a total membership of 41 children.

"We have four Sunday Schools under our care with a total enrolment of approximately 600 pupils and 65 teachers. One school is held in the church building and the other three are held in day schools.

"Two Church services are held each Sunday with an average attendance of approximately 100 people. Our senior choir is noted for its superb music and our junior choir, after one year of life, is carrying on a very fine service to the church. Communion Service is held once a month and new members are being received each month.

"There are two hospitals in our town, the Flin Flon General and the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co. Hospital. During the year 1949, 351 babies were born. Regular visits are made to these hospitals and we find that here we contact many newcomers to Flin Flon who profess to be United Church people, and, of course, we strive to interest them in the Northminster Church.

"Our Ministerial Association is fortunate in being welcomed into the day schools once a week to give guidance in Bible study to the teachers and instruction to the children. This Association is also in charge of presenting morning meditations each morning over radio station C.F.A.R.

"Last summer a ten-day Bible Vacation School was held. This was a new venture for our Church and an enrolment of 41 pupils was considered encouraging."

LAKEHEAD, FORT WILLIAM, ONT.

In this anniversary year when the past is being recalled in many ways and places, Miss Iris D. Daly does a bit of research at Lakehead and tell us about it. She writes, "Mission blue prints—yes, when I was looking through the cupboards at Wayside, Lakehead Missions, Fort William, I came across an old roll of blue prints entitled Wesley Institute. It was interesting to note that the plans showed a large gymnasium, a domestic science room, a pool and a nursery, but no chapel. Looking further back in time, there was the old pool room converted into a school to teach the newcomers from Europe the ways and language of our land. That was thirty-eight years ago, and the first woman community worker came from Chicago two years later. And as the years slid by the plans, with some changes, materialized under the name of Wayside—there is stood at the side of the road, a friend to man. The list of workers is an impressive one—the finest of our Church.

"At Fourth Avenue, Port Arthur, one of the memorable events of the year was the Easter service when the Explorers and C.G.I.T. shared the Easter message through a pageant telling of God's gifts in the world of nature, and of His Son—His life, death and victory over death.

"As I go about visiting in the homes, meeting groups of C.G.I.T. girls, Explorers, Primary youngsters, Woman's Associations and Sunday School children in the two churches, I covet for my people an awareness, a knowledge and a love of Him in whom we live, and move, and have our being."

SUPERIOR PRESBYTERY

It is a far cry from the Ukrainian settlements of Northern Alberta to the wide stretches of Superior Presbytery, but our missionary, Miss Mary L. Mansfield, has spanned the spaces, and after her furlough has undertaken work in this new district. After only four months in the new field, she writes, "Christian Education classes are held in seven schools each week, one of these being a two-roomed school. There is but a half-hour for the lessons, which means that in one-roomed schools this time must be divided between junior and senior classes. We begin usually with two hymns, one especially for the primary folks, and a prayer. Then a story for the juniors, and while they are following it with handwork, with which the teacher assists, the lesson with the seniors is conducted. In most cases this is the only religious instruction the children receive, not even a church to attend. I am happy and fortunate to have the co-operation of the teacher in each school.

"There are very few young people above school age in the rural communities. When they finish public school they go either to the city to school or to find employment.

"Church services are conducted at four points, two each Sunday. Many folk apparently do not feel the need of worship and usually have something more important planned for Sunday. There are a few, however, who do realize the importance of the Church in the community and they keep it going. I keep visiting in the homes, a reminder that the Church is interested and concerned about them. I find lonely folks who have settled far from their own people, some from other countries, also folks shut in through illness. Many women have to carry on alone with their families while the husband is away all week, and some for weeks at a time, in the bush camps, or other work.

"I take my turn once a month on the radio broadcast of morning devotions for the rural area. This gives another contact with the people whom I serve, many of whom I cannot reach otherwise.

"There is a great work to be done and I feel I am only touching it."

WINNIPEG, MAN.

All People's United Church.—"When one finds the Church a Community Centre, it is imperative, if somewhat trying, to make the Church the centre of the community." In this way Miss R. Eva L. Empey begins her report of work at All People's Mission. She continues, "This has been our endeavor and results are beginning to appear. There is a better Sunday School attendance. While Church attendance is not yet what it should be, we are hoping for better things next year.

"The 60th anniversary was a very great success. We celebrated all through the month of November with a congregational dinner, a concert and a tea. Rev. W. Shaver, son of Dr. Shaver, who was superintendent here for so many years, was guest speaker at the special anniversary service.

"The Nursery School is held in a large sunny room where the little ones run for sheer joy. It is the one place in the world where they can be themselves and play as they wish. Will you think what that means? Because of such inadequate housing we are trying to meet this tragic need by providing a place for these little folk to play. They stay with us till they are five, then go to Norquay Kindergarten. They love their Nursery School. The Christmas holidays seemed too long to Michael and he wanted to know what happened to the teacher. They are overjoyed when they receive the letter telling them when school will begin. The mothers are quite pleased, too, for one mother said, 'Such big trouble when there's no school.'

"The mothers of the Nursery School form the Madonna Club, a study group, trying to understand the children and fit ourselves, both teachers and mothers, to wisely direct these little ones. The mothers have also learned something about the organization of the United Church and have voted some of their money to the W.M.S. in appreciation of the Nursery School and so that children of other lands might have the same opportunities.

"The Mission Band decorated four gift boxes which were on display on Sunday. When they sacrificed a show, gum, pop, candy, the money was put in one of the boxes.

"The older Girls' work, under the direction of Miss Frost, sent gifts to Mrs. Quong in Shanghai, and this year the Christmas tree was loaded with gifts for Africa to be sent to Miss Eleanor Kirker, a former worker here.

"A new feature at our Mission is the Saturday Fun period from 2 to 4 p.m. when two representatives from the Alpha Phi Fraternity supervise activities. Sometimes they make costumes for a party which is planned, or they assist in games, music or the library.

MacLean Mission.—"Highlighting the year was the work of the choir," writes Miss Margaret A. Pulton from MacLean Mission, "and during the fall months we had three special church services which brought inspiration and vitality to our fellowship.

"I speak especially of our choir because it is a unique feature of Mission churches in Winnipeg. Under the leadership of Miss Nancy Edwards during her year at MacLean, the choir made a name for itself, and the good work has been carried on by the young woman who was then organist, and who is now choir leader as well. During 1949 she attempted two major projects—an operetta for girls only, in the spring when our choir was all female voices, and the Christmas pageant with mixed voices. Because they gained so much while preparing the pageant, six young men have become regular members of the choir. Now we are practising an operetta for mixed voices to be staged in the near future. We have set our objective high, because we want and need new choir gowns.

"The special services I mentioned included, besides the pageant, a service of baptism, reception of new members and Communion. Two babies and one adult were baptized, four were received into membership on profession of faith and one by certificate. The other special service was the commemoration of our fifty-fifth anniversary on December 4th. Many former members and friends 'came home' for this service. Greetings were received, too, from a number of former workers, both professional and lay. Our service and fireside afterwards were times of real fellowship and rededication.

"Regular work for me includes children's and Young People's groups four days a week, and two classes on Sunday. We have two Mission Bands—the Merry Mission Band for six-year-olds and the Busy Beavers for seven- and eight-year-olds. I take these groups alone. Our Explorers (girls), 20 in number, meet on Thursdays after school with two volunteer leaders and myself. C.G.I.T. meets on Tuesday nights. Since September I have been superintendent of the department with three leaders for the groups.

"Last spring our C.G.I.T. made a puppet show of a Chinese story in connection with our study of China and for their effort received from the Winnipeg

C.G.I.T. Board a camp scholarship. The prize was divided between two girls who reported a very good time at Brereton, and have aroused enthusiasm among other girls for this year's camp.

"It was my privilege to be leader of a group of junior boys at Fresh Air Camp last summer. A new cottage had just been completed; we were the second party to use it. Of a party of over 100, twenty were boys between the ages of six and eleven, and the new cottage seemed just made for them and their two leaders, another woman and myself. Such bundles of activity those boys were!

"Progress in the Christian education of children is hard to measure, but we believe we are at least not receding in this task at MacLean."

Point Douglas Church.—"One of the highlights of the year was the celebration of the 60th anniversary of our Sunday School," reports Miss Emily M. Putnam, "when at a special service letters of congratulations and good wishes were read from many former members and workers of the church. It gave one a thrill to see the church so filled with folk who still maintain an interest in their former Church home. One man came from Ottawa at an earlier date than planned just to be present at our service.

"Another special was a house-to-house canvass of the district made by the Woman's Missionary Societies of the city to determine the number of Protestant families and others who are interested in the ministries of our Church. Approximately 300 visits were made by 42 women. Since the survey I have been busy visiting in over fifty new homes, with the result that about 40 more children are now enrolled in Sunday School and mid-week groups. Many of the children come from Catholic or Greek Orthodox homes and perhaps that is why it is hard to get the parents to church with them.

"However it is gratifying to see the larger number of parents who attend the special services, such as Mother's Day, Rally Day and the day when the Sunday School awards for attendance are given out. This gives us hope that they may become interested in the regular services of the church.

"The Woman's Association, although a group of less than a dozen women, has done courageous work in support of the church.

"The Mission Band and Explorers have been carrying on their regular programs successfully. In the spring the Explorers were a part of a city-wide Explorer Rally in one of the parks, and our group discovered that they belonged to something bigger than their own organization, and it gave them quite a lift.

"When the C.G.I.T. started their study of China, Mrs. Freeman, W.M.S. Secretary for Affiliated Groups, came and spoke to them, and at their affiliation service Mrs. Williams, a former missionary in China, spoke on 'The customs of Chinese women.'

"Perhaps the best piece of Religious Education was done in the Vacation School, when for two weeks I assisted with the school at MacLean Mission and the next two weeks helped at Point Douglas. In addition to our own children we had the children from St. Andrew's, who arrived every morning in a bus. At a picnic sponsored by the Kinsmen Club, every child received a prize, a lunch and lots of ice cream. The school closed with an evening demonstration when the parents were invited to come and learn of the work done at the school."

Robertson Memorial House.—Miss Aileen Gunn tells of the activity of their six C.G.I.T. groups. "Six meetings in February and March were spent on the study 'Tales from China.' They were rewarded when at Westminster

Church in April, MacLean United C.G.I.T. and Robertson Memorial C.G.I.T. tied for first place with their missionary projects which were displayed at the Chinese Festival then being held. The prize, donated by the Winnipeg C.G.I.T. Board, was Camp fees paid for one girl. Instead of dividing the prize, the Board doubled it, making it possible for a girl to go from each of the two winning groups, with all expenses paid. Our Robertson girls also won the Volleyball Cup presented by the Winnipeg C.G.I.T. Board.

"We held our affiliation service at the Mother and Daughter Banquet and made a contribution to the W.M.S. We are grateful to the W.M.S. for providing camp scholarships for two of our girls to attend Camp Council at Lake Brereton. They both enjoyed it and returned more interested than ever. One has become the leader of our twelve-year-old group and is proving a most conscientious leader; the other girl is a member of the senior group and making a worthwhile contribution to its work.

"In the fall the new mission study, 'Growing With the Years,' occupied six meetings at one of which we had as guest speakers the two sisters from Trinidad who are studying at United College. The girls are now very interested in Trinidad.

"Their Christmas observances were all done well and with reverence, including a pageant assisted by members of the Y.P.U., the senior boys' group and the junior groups. Two primary groups—'Happy Hearts' and 'Little Lads'—finished their missionary activities and are now interested in 'The Flying Umbrella.'

"We had a well attended Vacation School for three weeks in July, with the Junior Department studying 'Choosing God's Way' and the Junior group working at 'Friends at Home and in the Community.'"

"The Robertson Memorial W.M.S. is a very loyal group, although the membership is small. We look forward to greater things in the year to come."

Hospital Visitor and Strangers' Worker.—In taking over the work previously done by Miss Neta Sadler, our Hospital Visitor, Miss Elizabeth D. C. Stephen, gives her definition of her task when she says, 'Hospital visiting means helping patients to realize the Church cares enough for them to send a visitor to sympathize with them in their illness, pray with them and reassure them as they prepare for an operation, perhaps give them an 'Upper Room,' or a magazine, or slip them a package of lifesavers or a dish of jelly from some kind friend. Sometimes it means sharing happiness of a new baby with a girl you had known in C.G.I.T. or even had in your kindergarten years before. Sometimes country patients do not know how to get in touch with their friends in the city, so we send a note or make a phone call for them. Many times letters have to be written to loved ones at home to relieve their anxiety. Sometimes the minister must be notified of the illness of one of his congregation or of someone with no Church connection who would like to see a minister.

"There are 24 Nursing Homes in Winnipeg and the patients in them are always glad of a visit with Bible reading and prayer. At Hospice Taché we have three short devotional services in the wards each Saturday afternoon. Every second week I visit the T.B. patients at St. Boniface Sanitorium. Once a month the minister of St. Vital United conducts a service there, and one of his elders with four or five W.M.S. members assist in moving the beds up to the auditorium. At Christmas these ladies prepared boxes of dainties for each of these patients. One lady invited a married patient to her home for two days at Christmas, and it meant that she had the privilege of being with her four children, as they were also house guests for Christmas.

"At St. Boniface Old Folks' Home members of Norwood W.M.S. visit each month. At Christmas they decorated Christmas trees in some of the rooms and provided gifts for each patient. The week after Christmas a carol service was arranged by the Norwood United Church minister, with representatives from the Anglican, Church of Christ, Pentecostal churches and the Salvation Army assisting and distributing the gifts. A Communion service was held here this fall—the first for some years, and was very much appreciated."

SMEATON AREA, SASK.

"When I was appointed to this area," Miss Alison Andrews states, "the intention was that I should work in co-operation with Rev. Harvey Clarke, minister at White Fox, specializing in Christian Education work through the area of the combined charges—Smeaton and White Fox. The Presbytery Home Mission Committee discussed the matter from every point of view and the only practical plan seemed to be for me to carry on the work of the Smeaton charge as Lay Supply with Mr. Clarke as Supervising Pastor. One of the main factors in this decision was the long distances involved and the heavy travel expense that would be incurred if Mr. Clarke and I both had to cover the whole area. Sunday mileage on the Smeaton charge is 40-45 miles, and on the White Fox charge about the same. Although preparing and conducting services and carrying on such other work as is usually done by the minister limits the amount of time I have to give to mid-week groups, the arrangement seems to be working out satisfactorily.

"I have four preaching points, so have had weekly services at Chociceland and Smeaton morning and evening and have alternated between Snowdon and Mossey Glen for the afternoon service.

"Due to lack of experienced leaders I went to Chociceland every week to assist in the C.G.I.T., but hope local leadership will soon be found. They have only been organized one year and have two groups with 20 members.

"Smeaton C.G.I.T. has had local leadership for several years. It consists of intermediate members only as the senior girls belong to the Y.F.U. I was unable to find a leader for a newly organized Mission Band, so am endeavoring to do a bit of leadership training, looking toward future needs. One of our schoolteachers, who also is teaching in the Sunday School, is the leader of an enthusiastic Explorer group of 10 members.

"We have Sunday Schools at Mossey Glen and Snowdon, but no mid-week groups because of lack of leadership.

"In November I began an adults' mid-week group in Chociceland, meeting fortnightly, the idea being thus to form a 'cell' group of really interested people for leadership training, Bible study, and other helpful projects. Smeaton has an Affiliated W.A. and Chociceland has two groups, one an evening circle. Neither of their groups are yet affiliated.

"We have a Sunday School at four points with a total of 160 pupils and teachers, and attendance is good.

"In November I had what was rather an unique experience for a missionary, when I acted as 'Padre' for the Canadian Legion at their annual Remembrance Day Service. No doubt it was the fact that I, too, had been in the service that made a woman padre acceptable."

SASKATOON, SASK.

Miss Ethel McEachron loves to see things grow, and she has had much satisfaction and joy in seeing growth in the work at Saskatoon. She tells us about it this way. "This year we celebrated the first anniversary of St. David's United Church and found some of the first fruit in evidence. The four elders seem to realize the importance of the sacred duties entrusted to them. The eight stewards, one of whom is a woman, and most of whom hold such an office for the first time, are doing good work not only as financiers but also with hammer and saw as the need arises. In a district such as we find here, it is not easy to obtain experienced Sunday School teachers, but about a dozen men and women have been found and they are training successfully about 125 pupils on the Sabbath Day. The teachers try to arrange weekday meetings, and most of the boys have been organized into hockey clubs and some of them into an Explorer group. There are about 20 girls in the C.G.I.T. and about a dozen girls in the Explorers. True to form, a splendid group of women cheerfully shoulder their full share of responsibility. In the Woman's Association they raised nearly a thousand dollars during the year. They are ever ready to help other organizations in any way that they can. They also have shown a real interest in the general welfare of the community. The Woman's Missionary Society has a membership of 16, and although the attendance at their meetings has been small they have had a good year. They report that they have raised more money than that allocated to them, have sent supplies to a Mission hospital and have made over 700 visits, 200 in the homes and over 500 in the hospitals. The Baby Band has a membership of 50 and expects to double that number in 1950.

"Bethel Church, too, has made some progress during the year. The seven stewards, four of whom are women, have tried to assume their full responsibilities and have been successful in raising more money than has been raised for many years. They painted the church inside and outside, and bought new pews and drapes, making the church a more attractive place in which to worship. Here, too, the women have done their full share of the work. The Woman's Association has increased its membership and its activities. The Woman's Missionary Society with only seven members has struggled through its first year. The Society has met monthly. They have raised their allocation and have had some interesting and inspiring meetings.

"As I have watched the development of the work in these two churches I have been aware of a spiritual growth in the lives of many of the people.

CALGARY, ALTA.

Hospital Visitor.—"As I look back over the past year," writes Miss Ethel Halpeny, "much of my time seems to have been spent visiting and just doing little things, and yet when one is ill those little things may be very important. It may be only writing or mailing a letter, buying some stamps, getting in touch with friends or reading a letter or some choice bit from a book. One day I visited a man from the country who had been in an accident. He was very anxious to have a message broadcast over the radio for his wife's birthday. I was able to arrange it and shall always be grateful for the privilege of having this share in making them both happy.

"Among the contacts made one goes as far afield as the Peace River, Kimberley, and Vancouver, Ottawa and Montreal. Those who live in isolated districts are often cut off from Church connections and appreciate the personal contact with the representative of the Church.

"There are lonely ones, too. I heard a patient in the ward say as I passed her bed, 'Isn't there anyone from the Church visits here?' I stopped and visited with her and later phoned someone in her own church to go to see her. Another woman who had returned to the hospital because of another illness, said she was glad to see me, as she had been thinking about my visits to her when she was here before, and she was hoping I had not been moved. I realized then that my three years here were bearing fruit. I was one friend, at least, that they could look forward to seeing.

"Then there are the Nursing Homes and Homes for the Aged, where one's visits are needed and appreciated.

"In the Sanatorium are many who look forward to our visits. A service is held every Sunday in the chapel and the United Church is responsible for one service a month. We also have a Communion service every three months, which means much to the patients. We do appreciate the work of the nurses and helpers who arrange the setting for this service, group the patients in the sitting rooms and sometimes move bed patients to another ward.

"Many of the people whom I visit ask for 'The Upper Room' and other literature and the daily readings in 'The Upper Room' often serve as the subject of our conversation. They feel they want to discuss them with someone.

"Last fall, I called on about 25 students attending Faculty of Education and found that some of them had already found Church homes in Calgary and were assisting in some form of Church work. I am interested in these girls for many will be going out to teach in our rural schools and will have much influence in these places and will find many opportunities for serving the Church. We need Christian teachers to give leadership in the rural communities of our Province."

Trinity-Bowness Area.—With two churches on her hands and the "makings" of a third, Miss Bessie Bentley writes, "The term Trinity-Bowness Area seems something of a misnomer, since the field of work comprises two large areas, one city and the other suburban, with most of the City of Calgary between them and a distance of ten miles between the two churches. Visiting and doing other work in such a scattered territory means spending a great deal of time on streetcars and buses, and sometimes making interesting contacts during this seemingly-wasted time. On a streetcar one day I fell into casual conversation with an attractive young woman who sat down beside me. I soon found that she had recently come to Calgary, was living near our Church, was without friends in the city and had been United Church at home. Members of the Young Adult Club called at the home and by the next meeting she and her husband were enrolled as members; their baby was entered on the Sunday School Cradle Roll. Before the year was over they were transferred again to another province, as they had expected when they came here, but during the months they were here both their own lives and those of the others whom they met had been enriched by the contact; and perhaps it would be easier to seek out the fellowship in the new place, because of having had it here. One of the difficulties against which we have to contend is the constant movement of people in this unsettled day in which we live. During the latter part of 1949 we lost several of the very active workers from both congregations; the only consoling fact is that we know that the churches in the places to which they have gone are gaining what we have lost.

"During 1948, after a house-to-house visitation of homes in Montgomery, a rapidly growing area between Bowness and the city limits, we organized a small group of women as a part of the Bowness W.A. They felt that the district should have a Sunday School of its own. Though some of the children belonged to the Bowness Sunday School the distance is too great to walk and the position such that it means a double streetcar fare each way. However, since there were no public buildings and the homes were all small, there seemed no opportunity to urge increased attendance at the W.A. or to start other work. But we planned to do both as soon as such should arise, though it looked rather remote at the end of June. Suddenly near the end of summer the School Board or individuals decided that a school had become imperative. Surplus military buildings were secured and within a very short time a neat-looking school building with four large rooms was established. Under the auspices of our W.A. group a meeting of those interested in the Church was called by Rev. Mr. Ross, the use of the building was secured, and the Sunday School was started with an immediate enrolment of over 60 children and adults. This has since grown to about 100 with an exceptionally good average attendance. The Sunday School is carried on with local leadership and the assistance of a Calgary layman, who goes out every Sunday to lead the adult group. At their September meeting the W.A. group decided to separate from Bowness and carry on independently. Early in December they carried through a very successful tea and bazaar at the school at which they raised about $100. Of this they gave a generous donation towards the Sunday School Christmas tree and entertainment. A Church Board has been formed and we look forward to the day, not too far in the future, when a United Church may be firmly established in this growing area.

"Camp Council at Kasota Beach with the Senior C.G.I.T. and their leaders was a happy experience in July. It was my first camping experience since the Trinidad camping days, and I counted it a privilege to be associated with these 50 or 60 girls and to lead in a Bible Study group and also one on Racial Relationships and Missions. When I returned from camp the Daily Bible Vacation School in Trinity combined with Heath Baptist, and the Bowness one were already under way. About 160 children took part in the well-planned program and kept us all busy.

"My holiday was a highlight; first at the Thurman School of Religion and life at Naramata and then at the Conference of United Church Women Workers at Belleville.

"This year I continued to act as M. and M. Secretary in Trinity Church. Missionary interest has been well sustained and offerings in church, Sunday School, W.M.S. and other organizations have increased again. It seems as if the number of meetings always increases. I have attended an average of one a day throughout the year, including Sundays and holidays, and without including any of those attended in holidays, camps, or conferences. Perhaps we are over-organized!"

DRUMHELLER, ALTA.

A joint report from the three workers in the Drumheller Valley includes the work of Miss E. Mae Laycock, for part of the year, Miss Ruth M. Lanigan and Miss Verda Ullman, who took Miss Laycock's place.

"Since September we have made a special effort to increase the Church attendance at Newcastle, and have been getting very good results. We miss several very faithful families who have moved away, but a number of newcomers are taking their place in the Church, and we have been having good services twice a month. Rev. A. Edworthy of Drumheller, who is the supervising pastor, comes out several times in the year for baptismal services, and conducted Easter Communion services at Newcastle and Nacmine, and a pre-Christmas Communion service at Wayne, with gratifying attendances at each service. Throughout the year we have had services weekly at Wayne, twice a month at Newcastle, and once a month at Nacmine. A Christmas service was held at Midlandvale in connection with the Sunday School, and the parents who attended the service express their wish for a monthly service commencing with the new year.

"The Sunday Schools at Newcastle, Midlandvale and Wayne are doing good work. So far we have not been able to do Sunday School work in Nacmine, though there is a real need for a United Church Sunday School there, and some of the parents have requested it. However, this need is at least partly met through the class in religious instruction in the public school. The Mission is responsible for four half-hour classes per week in religious instruction in the schools, and one class is in Nacmine.

"The four women's groups have each had a fruitful year. The Nacmine group observed the World Day of Prayer. Ten women met that afternoon and took part in the service, which was a very real experience for them. All felt the spiritual uplift of the service. The Wayne W.A. accomplished the seemingly impossible when they succeeded in getting the foundation of their church repaired, and now they are raising money to get the interior redecorated. Newcastle W.M.S. held a Rally in June which was very well attended when Miss Winifred Warron of the Chinese Mission in Calgary was the speaker.

"This fall a fellowship group was organized for the young people who attend Church at Nacmine, and the girls and boys of the Bible Class at Newcastle. As they continue to meet and study together we may expect that from this group of very fine young people will come future leadership, not only for the Church in the valley but for a wider field as well.

"For many people at Newcastle and Nacmine the Christmas pageant put on by the 20 young people and a choir of 30 girls was the outstanding event of the year. Preceding the pageant the young people conducted a worship service with dignity and reverence, and as one of the girls said, 'We felt we were doing this with God rather than for the people in the audience.' The pageant was presented in the Mission hall at Newcastle and again in the hall at Nacmine, and made a profound impression on all who saw it.

"No less than five new Explorer groups were organized this year. With the Newcastle Explorer group that made six groups, but in the fall one girl Explorer group graduated into C.G.I.T.

"The new C.G.I.T. group at Midlandvale brings the C.G.I.T. up to four groups. Girls from each group attended the C.G.I.T. Rally held in Drumheller this fall and gained a fresh interest and enthusiasm for the C.G.I.T. program.

All the groups are affiliated or preparing for affiliation. Twelve girls from Newcastle went to C.G.I.T. camp this year, and next summer girls from all four centres will be wanting to go."

EDMONTON, ALTA.

Hospital Visitor.—Miss E. Mae Laycock, entering a new field of service as Hospital Visitor for the rapidly growing City of Edmonton, writes, "The Edmonton hospitals are enlarging for the increased demands being made upon them, and your visitor meets patients brought in from many distant places. Many of these have been out of touch with the Church for some time. Some having children have been enlisted in the Sunday School by Mail or Air. Literature from our United Church Press and 'The Upper Room', have been distributed and much appreciated.

"Your hospital visitor has been greatly helped in her work by the fine co-operation of nurses, supervisors and hospital officials. The United Church ministers of the city have shown keen interest and have given their assistance whenever the occasion required it. Special mention should be made of the Christmas Communion Services for three groups of T.B. patients. Two city ministers, Rev. W. Bainbridge and Rev. McElroy Thompson, administered the Sacraments with 65 patients in all participating. Instead of the pipe organ and choir, we had Christmas carol recordings. The messages were in keeping with the season and the Sacrament deepened the sense of fellowship with Him Who came to give life, and with each other, in their struggle back to health. A junior choir from Wesley United Church with their leader, Mr. Bazand, went through the corridors singing Christmas carols the evening before the Communion service, and were well received by both patients and hospital staff.

"Then to complete the good work, all the Evening and Afternoon Auxiliaries of W.M.S. in the city sent in boxes of fruit for the T.B. patients, and with the assistance of our Presbyterial president and friendship secretary, these were distributed through three city hospitals. A Mission Circle of Norwood Church, wishing to help in this work, took boxes to the polio ward for those who were unable to be home for Christmas.

"By Christmas your visitor had made over 930 visits, not to mention many letters written and telephone calls put through. She spoke at a Fall rally on a rural charge, at Salisbury, and also addressed a rally of friendship secretaries in the Edmonton Presbyterial, where every church was represented. She attended and opened the King Kwong Mission Circle bazaar at Norwood Church, and was the speaker at several Auxiliary meetings."

LETHBRIDGE, ALTA.

Miss Madeleine Bock in reporting her year's work tells of one disappointment that came when the work at Coalhurst School had to be closed and the classes taken on at Coaldale instead. However, she says, "While it has meant the disbanding of a dearly-loved C.G.I.T. group, it has also meant the giving up of a mere handful of students for about 400 others. Besides this, the schools in which I had been teaching the senior grades in Bible study asked for teachers for their junior grades also. That meant finding a volunteer staff, the extra time to drive them to and from the schools and much phoning to fill vacancies. But it is greatly worthwhile. The members of the staff are consecrated women, former schoolteachers or those who have had Bible training, and are enthusiastic about their work. They use flannelgraph, the viewmaster, etc. in developing their lessons. Last fall I told the story of Mary Jones and her Bible to all my classes, and since then I have been gratified to know how many of them wanted to own a Bible. Many of them did get them as Christmas gifts either from home or Sunday School and are very proud of them.

"A Mission Band organized at one of the schools at the beginning of the year and meeting at the noon hour now has 100 per cent. attendance (over 80), and has collected and sent overseas two large boxes of good used clothing.

"The Coalhurst C.G.I.T. enjoyed their first year and worked hard to raise money to send their group to Waterton Lakes Camp. Two of the members, one Dutch and the other Japanese, were proud to be chosen as W.M.S. Scholarship campers. The group was happy to win recognition and the girls were proud of their first chevrons.

"There is a very interesting group of Christian Japanese women who have a Bible Study class with Mrs. Kabayama, the pastor's wife. She conducts the meeting and teaches them new hymns and I teach the Bible lesson.

"The Niseiettes, a non-Christian group of Japanese girls, continue to be a challenge to me. The short Christian message given at the beginning of each meeting seems to be appreciated. Their activities include home nursing lectures, handcraft, business procedure, etc."

PEACE RIVER PRESBYTERY—MANNING, ALTA.

Missionary-at-Large.—From the most easterly province of Canada where her ministry of service was by sea as well as by land, comes Miss Henrietta Campbell to the very north of the western Province of Alberta, to become missionary-at-large for the Peace River Presbytery with headquarters in the rapidly growing town of Manning. She writes, "Four months have passed since I arrived. Manning is now three years old, but almost every day this fall it has grown by the addition of a house moved in from a nearby settlement. One day I saw to my surprise a schoolhouse being moved in from the country to supplement the already crowded new school. Another day I watched the R.C.M.P. Barracks from North Star being moved with the greatest of ease into town. A whole new street of homes has opened up since I came, houses are being erected here and there, a new curling rink opened after Christmas and there are many trailers around town, the homes, for the time being, of American and Canadian oil survey companies. When I arrived the population was 400; it is now estimated at 700—all in four months.

"Our Church and manse were at Notikewin, a settlement four miles north of here, so every Sunday at 7.30 we went there for worship. A committee had been set up for the purpose of getting the church moved down here, since Notikewin had become a ghost town, but it was not until this fall that steps were actually taken to jack it up and place it on skids ready to be moved when the 'cat' would come to town. We waited long, and you can imagine my joy when on the afternoon of December 19th I saw at the top of the very steep bank of the river the church, ready to make its descent. (The bridge was too narrow to bring it across, so it had to be brought across on the river ice.) It was amazing how it moved slowly but surely down the steep hill, across river, down the street and on to its temporary site near the nurses' residence. It is in need of some repairs, but it has been too cold to have these done. In the meantime I am most grateful for the use of the living room in the nurses' residence. It has become the little chapel where our Sunday night service is held followed by a sing-song and a cup of coffee. It is here our Sunday School is held at eleven on Sunday morning with two day schoolteachers and a bank clerk for teachers. The Sunday School has grown from an attendance of 12 to over 20. We use two of the bedrooms for classrooms. A C.G.I.T. was organized in the fall and with its program we are trying to meet the needs of the 14 teen-agers who attend. I am fortunate in having as leaders one of the nurses and Mrs. Boyd, the doctor's wife, both former 'C.G.I.T.-ers.' The Christmas Vesper Service, held in the Anglican Church at North Star, was well attended in spite of thirty below zero weather, and the girls took part in the service reverently and well. Our Christmas carol service Sunday night, held by candlelight in the residence, was well attended. However, the Church attendance is most discouraging and if it were not for the faithful ten or twelve who never miss, we would have no church. All are loyal supporters in every way and I appreciate the support and backing they give to me in so many ways.

"Religious instruction is given two days a week in the school here. In the fall I made an almost door-to-door canvass of the town to find out who were Protestants and if they had any Church affiliation. I was welcomed, and while all seemed pleased to have a Sunday School for their children, most showed little interest in attending a service themselves.

"A couple of visits have been made to Deadwood and Hotchkiss, outside appointments.

"Our friends from the Missionary Alliance Tabernacle here, the Anglicans and we united in two services of Christmas carols and Scripture readings, the week before Christmas. These were enjoyed by the few who attended."

SMOKY LAKE COMMUNITY MISSION, ALTA.

Miss Myrtle MacGregor's field is in the Waskatenau-Smoky Lake Charge, with Rev. G. A. Sauder of Waskatenau, the minister, residing at Waskatenau, 15 miles from the Smoky Lake Mission. There are five points on the field, and Miss MacGregor tells us that her Sunday appointments are at Pakan, 11 miles away, and Warspite, 7 miles away, and at Smoky Lake. At Pakan there is a very small attendance, but at Warspite nearly all the 20 families were represented at the special services at Easter, Mothers' Day and Christmas. Miss MacGregor says, "Talks on the life of Jesus leading up to the Easter service were given, and the evening meeting held, when Mr. Sauder helped to clarify in their minds the meaning of Church membership and baptism and Communion. At Easter Communion service, a Church roll was constituted. Three were already members, two joined by certificate, and 13 by profession of faith, of whom 9 were also baptized. It was a great day.

"The weekday meetings included the Cubs at Warspite, where a good program was followed; the kindergarten three times a week at Smoky Lake, with an average attendance of 16 until the thermometer dropped to far below zero; the sewing meetings of the W.A. affiliated with the W.M.S. I keep in touch with the heart of our Church life by attending these meetings and the women keep in touch with what is going on outside the local church by my presence, for the study book is always presented and discussed.

"Three schools were given religious instruction each week, necessitating a drive each time of from five to ten miles. The total average attendance at the three schools was approximately 63.

"Leadership was given to a Vacation School in Waskatenau at which there was good support and two excellent Sunday School teachers, and also at the girls' camp of the neighboring Presbytery to which our girls went this year.

"One hundred and eighty calls were made during the year including those to the local Hospital. The World Day of Prayer was observed by the women of the two Ukrainian churches meeting with those of the United Church and was most successful. Many interesting contacts have been made locally through Home and School Association and other activities. Sunday School Conference, Camp picnics, Presbytery and Presbyterial were outside interests, all helping in the discharge of missionary duties, and all personally interesting. In the Presbyterial I held two offices—Treasurer and Secretary for Missionary Monthly and World Friends."

VILNA, ALTA.

"The year 1949 was begun appropriately by a C.G.I.T. New Year's candle-light service held in the Church," writes Miss E. Wilhelmine Trewartha. "For the first six months the C.G.I.T. group met each week with the girls accepting responsibility in conducting worship services, sing-songs, business transactions and entertainment. There was an enrolment of 25 and the average attendance was very encouraging. The highlight was a Mother and Daughter Banquet held in February. Miss Grace Trinder, Superintendent of the W.M.S. Boys' Home at Bonnyville, was the guest speaker of the evening and rendered several readings which were greatly appreciated by all. In September the girls felt that they would prefer to belong to a Young People's group as they had been members of Explorers and C.G.I.T. for several years. A Young People's group was organized. The enrolment was 42. Meetings were held every two weeks with both an excellent attendance and enthusiasm.

"Sunday School met at 10.30 a.m. each Sunday in Vilna United Church. There were 30 on the roll including two teachers and the secretary-treasurer. In October the older boys and girls preferred to attend church services and Y.P.U. as they had studied the various Sunday School lessons, so last fall the Beginners and Primary classes met alone. At special services—Mothers' Day, Christmas, Easter and Thanksgiving Day—the adults and children worshipped together.

"Kindergarten met two mornings each week. This service is very much appreciated by all the parents, who fully realize the benefit the children receive from attending these classes.

"Services were conducted in Vilna Church by your worker two Sunday mornings each month, and when roads were passable and weather favorable, services were conducted at two country schoolhouses every two weeks. At one country point a lady of 83 walked two and one-half miles through the bush to attend worship. Such devotion! Three children were baptized. Communion was administered at two points and two funeral services were conducted by your worker during the year.

"During each week your worker held Christian Education classes at five schools. Eighty children were reached by these classes.

"Monthly W.M.S. meetings were held in the homes of the members. In November a special meeting was held in the Church when the members of the W.M.S. invited the W.A. Ladies so that they might become better acquainted with one another."

BRITISH COLUMBIA CONFERENCE BRANCH

, PRINCE RUPERT, B.C.

"Those last months from January to August, 1949, in Prince Rupert were very happy ones and have left many lovely memories," writes Miss Helen R. Hurd, who has recently retired from the active service of the Woman's Missionary Society. She continues her report from Prince Rupert. "Work for little children and with young mothers accounted for much of my time during those last eight months. Three kindergarten classes with an enrolment of 60 with eight two-hour periods per week kept me busy, and as one group was in the East End, it meant considerable travel by bus and very little time to lose between morning and afternoon sessions. I had much volunteer help from mothers in the actual classroom work and much in preparation also, in the case of the East End work.

"The East End group of mothers and others interested were especially appreciative. It gave me great encouragement that they became so enthusiastic about the work for children that they began to plan in earnest for renovating the hall so that both kindergarten and Sunday School could be carried on there.

"The Church services and visiting schedule organized in the Miller Bay Hospital after my arrival in Prince Rupert in December, 1948, continued up to the time of my departure. The attendance at the services varied greatly due to the patients' physical conditions. On our best days over 20 gathered; on other days there might be as few as 10. But it was seldom if ever that anyone stayed away if the doctor gave permission to attend. A tiny borrowed organ added greatly to the patients' enjoyment, even though it took all the strength of the 'preacher' to manipulate the pedals.

"On most visiting days I had flowers to take out from Prince Rupert. Several interested friends supplied these. I think no one—nurses, doctors nor patients—will easily forget the day I arrived with ten or twelve dozen glorious poppies in all their glowing variety of color. Gasps of delight followed me as I made my way down the corridors, leaving a bunch in each ward. Miller Bay Hospital is built in the deep evergreen woods, with almost no space about the buildings for growing flowers.

"Two of the patients took the Sunday School by Mail course of Bible Study, and were highly commended for their work. One young man of superior character made a clear-cut decision for Christ and was gaining in understanding and confidence.

"Amongst other duties which levied toll upon your missionary's time were 13 radio broadcasts in the morning devotion series. She also supplied the morning or evening pulpit occasionally, spoke at public meetings, was acting superintendent of the Primary Sunday School for most of 1949, and attended and helped as required in the local W.M.S. and W.A. groups. One pleasant departure from the usual was a trip made to Port Simpson to speak to the W.M.S. group there, most of whom were Indian women."

VANCOUVER, B.C.

First United Church Community Centre.—From the hive of activity which is First Church Community Centre, Mrs. Margaret W. Painter writes of their various doings in her annual report. She says, "The kindergarten meets daily at Jackson and Powell, with a total yearly enrolment of 82 children. Four 'Open House' afternoons were held for the benefit of parents and friends and an hour's program given each time.

"The Explorers Club for boys and girls ages 9 to 11 meets every Monday after school under the leadership of Mrs. Crosby and myself, with an enrolment of 38 and an average attendance of 25.

"Mission Band with a membership of 45 meets every Tuesday, when we specialize in missionary projects. The average attendance at the various clubs during the year is approximately 290 children each week, and this does not include the work being done among the boys in their weekday clubs. These young Canadians comprise about 19 different nationalities. We have five Chinese and one Japanese. There is no race discrimination—all play together and work together as one family.

"There is close co-operation between the various Social Service Agencies; the police escort our children to and from kindergarten; Miss Eva Chang, Reg.N. of the Metropolitan Health, looks in on us weekly and oftener if need arises; the V.O.N. comes to see us and sometimes watches the children at their exercises; we have the children 'cliniqued' and cards sent to the parents, who in turn bring their children to the clinic for treatment.

"Sunday School, Vacation School and Girls' Camps are all important features of our work. Visiting the homes of the children who attend the various clubs, classes and Sunday School is an important part of the work. 675 visits were recorded last year, an average of 17 visits per week. There are many changes of address to be recorded as the people in this district are trying so hard to improve their circumstances. Many of these visits are followed up by the minister and the nurse and reports exchanged with the family Welfare and Children's Aid Society."

Fairview Area.—"By act of Presbytery, our building is now a full-fledged United Church, the Columbia Street United Church of Canada," reports Miss Olive W. Shaw. "The beginning of regular United Church services in the building, the first since the Japanese left, was a really bright spot. The end of November the St. Giles congregation moved to their new Church at 41st and Elizabeth, miles away from their old site and left our immediate district without a United Church so the controlling committee opened services at 6th and Columbia. The congregation is still very small, but the Rev. Geo. Turpin, the padre of Shaughnessy Hospital, is giving his services.

"Otherwise the work has gone on much as before with the regular activities. The C.G.I.T. and Explorers group, superintended by Mrs. R. Jones, a member of St. Giles, is a fine enthusiastic group of about 30 girls. The Mission Bands or Primary groups, with boys and girls separate, are going strong.

"The kindergarten averaged around 30, and we had a most successful happy term culminating in our Christmas party at which 40 of the regular 41 were present with only two of their mothers absent, several grandmothers and friends present with 20 wee tots.

"The Ladies' Friendship Club, with an enrolment of over 20, have kept their name in mind and have worked on a friendship quilt, embroidering 360 names. After giving $10.00 to the W.M.S. and $30.00 to the running expenses of the work in the spring, they helped with both the Hallowe'en and Christmas parties, and so start enthusiastically into another year as all the departments do."

Hospital Visitor.—"I suppose I talk to 30 or 40 people every day as I go about the hospital wards and the Nursing Homes," writes Miss Edna McLellan. "They present a cross-section of humanity and of the many ailments the body is heir to—and how many and varied are the attitudes towards these afflictions! But by far the majority are the patient and long suffering ones, ever grateful for the nurses' care and the doctor's skill. There are the non-religious ones, indifferent to anything spiritual; there are the over-religious ones and there are the 'firm-in-the-faith-smiling-through-affliction ones', and the hospital visitor must needs be able to respond to all cases as she meets them.

"Mrs. H. was worried as she lay in her bed in Ward B. Word had reached her that her landady was being evicted and her things put out. Could I get to her church circle group to help her find a place to go?

"The woman over in the corner of the ward was beckoning to me. I recognized her as one who had been in some months previous. 'I know I don't belong to your Church,' she said. 'I am a Catholic, but you were so friendly to me when I was in before that I want you to talk to me some more.'

"'We wish we had a chess set,' said a group of convalescent men in the T.B. Ward. A request was made on the First United Church broadcast the next Sunday and very soon a brand new set was donated by some generous person.

"One has been in the infirmary for fourteen years. Her hands are stiff from arthritis but she knits! A lovely baby jacket was her donation to the W.A. bazaar held in her church.

"I continue to help in the Sunday School and W.M.S. of First United Church, and again had the pleasure of ten days in August at Camp Firecum along with 100 teen-age girls."

INDIAN

MRS. J. R. WILKINSON, Secretary

BEGINNINGS

When the women of the Methodist Church organized their first Woman's Missionary Society in Hamilton in 1880; they found a piece of Home Mission work at their hand, already waiting for their support. It was the Crosby Girls' Home at Port Simpson, B.C., started in Mrs. Crosby's own home, because of the urgent necessity of finding a safe place for the young Indian girls to live. Mrs. Crosby wrote at the time, "Indeed the alternative often is, coming under our roof or going to ruin." Soon the missionary's home could not accommodate their own family and the girls who wished to come to them, so in 1879, entirely on their own responsibility, the Crosbys had an addition built to their home to accommodate twelve girls. Still under the supervision of Mrs. Crosby with the assistance of a day school teacher, the home began to assume the character of a Refuge or Orphanage. The first $200 raised by the Hamilton Auxiliary in 1880-81 was given to the Crosby Home, and much interest was aroused in this work.

In the years that followed Indian Residential Schools and supervised Day Schools in co-operation with the Government, made their appearance in many places, supervised by the Woman's Missionary Societies of various denominations. Of recent years many changes in the thinking of Church and Government have taken place in regard to the welfare of the Indian, which has meant closing the work in some places and opening a new type of service in others. Our W.M.S. still carries on work in 6 centres with many encouraging results.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Less than 30 years ago it could be said with some truth that Canada's native population was dying out. Today the Church and the Government are working on a program of rehabilitation that is meeting with success. Family Allowances have assisted Indian families; hospitals are established to care for all Tuberculosis patients. Probably British Columbia has this program as well in order as any province, with the fine hospitals at Nanaimo, Miller Bay and Chilliwack. With the help of the other economic and educational aids offered by the Government, the Indian can look forward with confidence to a healthier, happier tomorrow in which he can play his rôle as a Canadian citizen.

After consultation with the Department of Indian Affairs, the per capita rates for Residential Schools have been increased and are retroactive to April 1st, 1948.

We were loathe to see the File Hills Indian Residential School close. The closing meant days of hard work; and the auction sale amounting to approximately $7,000 came to our Treasury. School staff and principal were then ready to move to Portage la Prairie, but what of the future of File Hills? The Department of Indian Affairs gave us the opportunity of nominating United Church teachers, but no one seemed available and when the two-roomed school opened in September, the teachers were Mr. M. B. Belyk and Miss Moen, Greek Orthodox and Memnonite respectively. Since these teachers are entirely under the Indian Department, we have not had any contact with them.

The School built at the Colony was not ready until March 1st and our nominations of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Silversides as teachers were accepted.

It has been an unsettling year for the Indians, but nevertheless the work has gone fairly smoothly under the leadership of Miss Ida Drake, a Baptist young woman, who knows Indians because of former work among them. The summer was the busy season with camp and Vacation School activities. The interest in the Church Services ran high when 80 were in attendance and a Sunday School was organized for the first time. Bear in mind that never before have these people had responsibility for their children, so the topics of discussion are "What should we teach our children about themselves, about consideration for others, about Church and reverence and what is suitable for a child's school lunch?" This is an important year in the life of File Hills people.

At Portage la Prairie, Mr. Lachlan McLean became principal on July 1st. The crop on the farm was good when 2,000 bushels of grain were threshed, the gardens produced well, and the Department of Indian Affairs immediately supplied the equipment for kitchen and laundry, which Mr. McLean requisitioned. In September the enrolment was 110 children, 37 of these being new pupils, without any English. Nineteen of the children came from Island Lake, a northern mission in Manitoba and had never seen a car, electric light, water tap or bathtub. Dental and X-ray examinations found the children in good physical condition and the school was away to a good start. Since Christmas a building has been purchased in Winnipeg and moved to our school to provide a third classroom.

As this report is being written a telephone call has come from Ottawa requesting the use of our Portage la Prairie Indian School to house flood victims from Winnipeg. We have asked Mr. MacLean to send home his Indian children, to retain his staff and accommodate the elderly people from an Aged People's Home who had to be evacuated.

Round Lake has not had such a good year, although the spirit among the workers was always reported as happy. Rev. J. A. Card has been ill, and we regret that on June 30th he severs his connection with the school. Mr. and Mrs. Card came to us in the war years and we are thankful to them for their service.

At Cote there is an increasing need for a third classroom, as the present enrolment is over 60, and more encouraging is the renewed interest in the Church. Services are well attended. With the aid of the Department of Indian Affairs and a donation of $100.00 from the Band it was possible to serve hot lunches from November to April. This entailed a great deal of extra work on the part of our Matron.

The Crosby Girls' Home at Port Simpson still stands an empty building. We have disposed of its contents and we are hopeful that it may be purchased.

A bill to amend the British Columbia "Provincial Elections Act" was passed on March 23rd, 1949, whereby the Indians of British Columbia were granted the franchise. This is a step forward and one for which the Indians have laboured long.

Ahousat has 200 Indians in the village and 34 of these are in Miss Moats' Day School, unless they go with their families to the trap lines. An Explorers'

Group of these little people sent a parcel to Trinidad Explorers. Miss Gerhard took three girls to camp near Victoria and it did them immeasurable good to mix with other girls and know their ways.

The Church continues to be used for the school building, but we have been assured of a new school and residence in 1950.

Mr. Glover from Uclulet goes to Ahousat to perform marriages, to dispense Communion, and baptize babies, but recently when we requested Rev. Joseph Jones to go in and repair our residence, this honor came to him. We are grateful to Rev. Joseph Jones for repairing our residence and making it more habitable. Our two women leaving Ahousat this summer have been most faithful and much appreciated by the Indians.

A visit to our fine school at Alberni with its 240 Indian children again convinces us that in small schools we could not accomplish what is being done there for the Indians. Food, health, recreation, education are all given attention. Men are available to supervise the boys, and the Department of Indian Affairs has taken the responsibility for the salaries of the teachers. There you find our children from Port Simpson, Kitamaat and Ahousat enjoying the larger fellowship and learning by the wider contacts.

"FROM OCEAN UNTO OCEAN"

The work of the year as the missionaries see it.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, MAN.

When File Hills Residential School was closed last year, Mr. Lachlan McLean, the Principal, was appointed to Portage la Prairie, where he received a sincere welcome from the retiring Principal, Rev. Joseph Jones. In sending his first report from Portage, Mr. McLean says, "This year we have 110 children living in residence, 57 girls and 53 boys, and of this number 39 are new pupils and range in age from 5 to 14 years. Many of them know only their own language, so have to begin the study of English at once. Despite the fact of a measles epidemic, much progress was made, and at an impromptu concert before Christmas the staff members were very pleased when four boys, ages 7 and 8 years, who had come from the north in October, sang in English all of the hymn 'Jesus loves me'."

"We had the usual Christmas concert and tree for closing the school term and then inaugurated a new era in the history of the Portage school, when we allowed 72 children to go home with their parents for the two weeks' vacation. On behalf of all the parents, one of them sent us this message, 'This is the first Christmas we will have our children home from your school. If you only knew how glad we are, then all your work has not been in vain.' And in spite of a bad storm the parents had all their children back in the Residence on time.

"At the present time Mr. J. C. Preece, former Mayor of Portage, is teaching the St. John's Ambulance Course to two classes of our seniors. He says, 'This is the first time I have taught Indian children, but in my long experience I have never had a class who worked so well with their hands. They never miss a thing."

"We who labor here with hard work and much faith have the advancement of the Indian people at heart. We are trying to establish a greater measure of understanding and tolerance between our two races. By so doing we hope a stronger basis of fellowship and of clearer Christian vision will open up, and pagan families will see that Christ dwells in the hearts of men and women."

FILE HILLS, SASK.

From his new position at Portage la Prairie, Mr. Lachlan MacLean gives us a memory of the last Graduation Sunday at File Hills Residential School, a memory of vision and hope tinged with a bit of regret that it was to be the last. "Those who have been there will realize what I mean when I say Graduation Sunday was a day looked forward to and planned for by all of us all through the year. To us it signified certain things. It meant the school year was over, that final exams had been written and marked and that certificates would be given; it meant that the members of the communicant's class would join the Church at a very special service in the afternoon; and it meant that afterward summer vacation would begin.

"This year all of us knew that it was a special Graduation. Over sixty years before, File Hills had opened as a residential school for Indian children and now the Department and the Woman's Missionary Society had decided that its work had been accomplished and that it was to close. In its place were to be day schools. For the people of the Reserve this decision marked a great advance in their way of life.

"When I awoke that morning it was to the sound of rain beating on the windows and of tree limbs lashing on the roof. As I lay and listened I knew that the parents and their little children would not be with us for it was out of the question for them to drive many miles over the prairie trails. Had it been sunny and warm as we had hoped their wagons would have arrived on the ball diamond or over under the bluff before noon and a few tents might have been pitched and campfires lighted. Nor did we have any other visitors. Only our guest minister braved the muddy Saskatchewan roads.

"We had our special service in the afternoon, and never did our choir do so well. For one of their numbers they sang by request the Twenty-third Psalm. Not only did our graduating class join the Church, but many of our teen-agers decided that they, too, would mark the day by identifying themselves with the Church.

"As the evening shadows fell with that quiet hush that follows a June rain I noticed the residence was all in darkness. I went over and went in and followed the sound of singing to find all once more gathered together, this time in informal groups. Hymn after hymn was called; someone brought a desk lamp and set it for the pianist and still they sang. Seven-thirty came, then eight. From my corner on a back bench I watched them all and wondered if they felt that this was the last evening they would all be together in the old school. All knew that lunches were packed and bundles and bags ready so that the 20 Kamsack children could leave by truck right after breakfast for their long trip home. When 8.30 came I called for 'Abide with Me' and they sang it as a prayer, then we all said 'Our Father' and the Missal's Benediction.

"Very, very quietly they went up to their dormitories. A few minutes later I stood at the center of one of the dormitories while they softly sang 'Jesus, tender Shepherd hear me,' then goodnights were called and in a few minutes all was quiet."

"The File Hills Colony Church ministers to the needs of approximately 50 Protestant families," writes the Community worker, Miss Ida M. Drake, who lives on the File Hills Indian Reserve.

"Our work includes the holding of Sunday services in the little church at the Colony, and also in various homes near the west end of the Reserve; week-night meetings at the Manse; visitation work among the patients at the Indian Hospital at Fort Qu'Appelle, and in the homes on the Reserve; the distribution of clothing and much personal counselling.

"The W.M.S. Auxiliary meets at the Manse each Tuesday, and that means that there are quite a number of little folk here at the same time, so Auntie, my assistant holds a Baby Band meeting in the kitchen while the older folk have their meeting in the living and dining-rooms. The wee tots love it and are loud in their protests if they are not allowed to come.

"In addition to the morning Sunday School help at the Colony Church, we have been holding an afternoon Sunday School in one of the few Protestant homes in the Black Bear area of the Reserve. This began as an outdoor service and when weather conditions got worse with the approach of winter we were invited to continue our meetings indoors as long as the roads permitted.

"The evening services begun last year at the Red Granary have been continued this year, moving into the various homes with the coming of winter.

"Two Vacation schools were held this year, one at each end of the Reserve, with an average attendance of 30 and 17. The interest of the children was gratifying and their lessons well done. On the morning we were to begin the first school here at the Colony we were visited by a very severe cyclone and hailstorm. Just before opening time, the lady who was to have helped Auntie and me came to tell us that the roof had blown off their house nor had they any crop left and that she must go back home today but that she would be at the church to help tomorrow, and she was. Do you not think that loyalty like that makes Indian work worthwhile?

"Only a year ago the children from this Reserve attended the File Hills Residential School. Now 42 of them are enrolled and attending a two-roomed day school near the old residence and are living in their own homes on the Reserve. How are the Indians adapting themselves to these changes? Of course, there are 'growing pains' as our people assume for the first time the full responsibility for the care and clothing of their school-age children. One does not learn all the wisdom, tact and knowledge necessary overnight, and while some do complain it is also true that many are really trying hard to learn.

"Our Christmas concert was well attended this year and very successful.

"During the fall weeks I have had a weekly knitting class for young girls—and three boys! All worked very hard starting on a doll's scarf and in no time at all it seemed beginning their first mittens or sockes. A few minutes ago one of the girls came in with three pairs of children's socks she had made out of all kinds of scraps of wool.

"Problems? Yes, we have them, too, but we find that most of them develop from very little things that gradually assume large proportions because our world here is too small. We need very much to enlarge our outlook on life, to get a new vision, to be in reality 'men and women of far horizons.' With this aim in view we are studying seriously Growing With the Years in order to learn how other peoples think and live. After all, the so-called Indian problem is basically a spiritual one, and their greatest need is, to have Jesus Christ in their lives."

KAMSACK, SASK.

Miss Winnifred Johnson, teacher at Cote Indian Day School, gives an encouraging report. "Last year we reported that our school had expanded to two rooms, and now we hear that a new day school will be required this year to take care of the increased enrolment. I have more than 40 pupils now and we can expect another 20 in the spring. The senior class is crowded, and Miss Russell is doing a fine piece of work there. One of her pupils hopes to carry on with High School work next year and we hope others will follow her example. The Reserve holds very little for the young people between the ages of 16 to 18. We rejoice that one of our girls is attending Bible School in the hope that she may come back and teach among her own people. Another girl, a gifted musician, hopes to attend Cook's Christian Training School for Indians, and will have a great influence when she comes back.

"Our new car has enabled us to reach the faraway homes and visit the sick and the needy on the Reserve. The School was painted on the outside this year and looks much improved and the new furnace is a real blessing.

"One good friend gave us a much needed organ for church and we are hoping to get a piano for use in the school. We have several good musicians among the Indians and one young man is now training a church orchestra to assist with the music. This will encourage some to attend Church and Sunday School, for they love music. We have a new projector, and last Sunday had the beautiful missionary picture 'New Life Calling.' Rev. Mr. Dixon of Kamsack is' always ready to assist in the special services and we appreciate his help at all times.

"The work in the church and Sunday School is encouraging. The Bible study meeting each Wednesday has been well attended and we enjoy the fellowship and social time at the W.M.S. and Homemakers meetings each month. We also have social meetings when all come to the school for an hour of games and fun, and partake of a bountiful lunch prepared by the women. This helps to raise funds for both organizations."

Miss Agnes MacDonald, the Matron of the School, writes, "1949—a year of changes! Our school has more than trebled in enrolment since we came, so the school dining-room had to be turned into a second classroom, our nice Masonite tables put away and desks set up, curtains taken down and blackboards put up—changes to suit the changing conditions.

"In April the Government grant for lunches stopped and the Indian Agent said the children were to bring their own lunches and we were only to give them a hot drink. Here was another change, and as the children came along with their new lunch pails we were amazed at the beautiful lunches they brought.

"That gave me more time for visiting, and another lovely change came in May when our new car arrived, and I should like to thank the members across Canada for this beautiful car which makes our work so much easier and which saves miles of walking. It also means that we can visit our people, especially the ones far away, so much oftener.

"We have also been told that many of our Indians are beginning to read the Bible in their homes. We were quite thrilled to hear some of the mothers telling how the children were praying at home. One little girl said the Grace at Christmas dinner; a little boy when going out one night with his mother asked her to pray with him that God would watch over them while they were out; and yet another little girl when her grandmother started to teach her a prayer said, 'Grandma, I can pray my own prayers now,' and she prayed a beautiful little prayer. These are the incidents that make our work worthwhile."

MOOSE MOUNTAIN, SASK.

"Discouragements and encouragements, sad times and glad times all help to make up life on an Indian Reserve," writes Miss Ruth Nelson, "and the problem is to keep the right idea ever foremost. Since I have had more time to talk to the people, I have been trying by pictures and posters to bring to the folk here the great need of peoples of other lands and especially of the children who lack food and clothing. They all agree that it is very necessary to help them, but to the folks here who has always 'received' it is hard for them to comprehend that the time has come when they should help others. Many feel much like the old man who listened patiently and then said to me, 'Yes, that's fine, but WE should come first.' At Christmas I hoped by having the service on Sunday—Christmas Day—and explaining the purpose of the White Gifts and where they had come from, that I could emphasize the true spirit of giving and receiving, but the weather interfered. On December 26th I drove to most of the homes with the gifts for the little ones, the school children having received theirs on the closing day of school. I also had some for the old folks made possible by the Auxiliary which has taken me as their missionary for prayer, and have been interested in helping to answer some of their prayers.

"Several of the old folks have had houses built for them by the Government and some of them have come for curtains and pictures to make them more attractive.

"The week following school closing last June the T.B. Clinic was held and your worker assisted the medical staff in charge of that. In July during the Agency Assistant's vacation and that of his wife who is the field matron, I was here to help out in case of need. With Mrs. Morrison's help we had a splendid World Day of Prayer service. She contacted the women not connected with our Mission and we had the school well filled. In the fall Rev. Mr. Edgecumbe held a baptism and communion service when eight children were presented for baptism. The C.G.I.F. Mission Band and Sunday School had a good year and we hope for good results.

"The visitors to the Clinic room come with various needs and requests. It might be a woman who has lost the only needle she possessed, or someone wanting reading material. One day a man came wanting a Reader's Digest, and he said, 'You teachers have taught us to read and now you will have to give us something to read.' Some boys come wanting pictures with stories like we give at Sunday School that perhaps the mother can read to them, or just pictures to look at. Whatever their needs we try to satisfy them, with the hope and prayer that they may become Christian."

ROUND LAKE, SASK.

"Anything which happened before May seems comparatively unimportant, since in that month unfortunately our barn burned, with seven Holstein calves, much machinery, the blacksmith shop and most of next year's supply of wood." This is the sad tale with which Rev. J. A. Card begins his report from Round Lake.

"Daily morning worship in the dining-room, Sunday services with Sunday School classes following, were carried on through the year. The C.G.I.T. and Explorer Groups under the leadership of Mrs. Linton and Mrs. Card concluded their year's work in May with a joint picnic and singsong. This fall Miss Horner, the Girls' Work Secretary for Saskatchewan, was with us for a week-end. On Sunday she spoke at the morning service, talked to the C.G.I.T. in their Sunday School class, had a visit with the girls in their playroom in the afternoon and conducted a singsong in the evening.

"We had special services at Easter and on Mothers' Day when invitations were sent to all the families on the Reserve. There were some infant baptisms, and one young woman, previously a Roman Catholic, who had married one of our boys during the year, joined the Church. A girls' choir has been organized which helps with the services.

"Our enrolment is somewhat lower than last year. This may be attributed in part to the reluctance with which the Indians part with their children. We feel regretful that they do not realize their need of the type of education, the care and the influence we can give them. One of our Grade VIII girls is taking her Grade IX at Brandon this year and plans to be a teacher, which ambition we hope she is able to realize."

Miss Gertrude Staples continues the report from Round Lake. She writes, "The yearly Valentine party is just one day away and the excitement is almost at boiling point. The kitchen girls have come up from their afternoon's work but have asked to make valentines instead of their usual fancy work at this hour. Just before Christmas we had a little sale in the playroom of the fancy work completed by these girls and made $5.00 for the C.G.I.T. group.

"We are very thankful to have had no serious illness in the school during the year and no serious accidents. Our weight book shows a gratifying increase in the children's weight from month to month. The October weights show all but two girls to have gained, an average of over three pounds, so our diet must really agree with them.

"We have been fortunate in having a full staff in the house most of the time, with a few changes in the kitchen when I have had to fill in and put added burdens on the others. The building of the new barn made a very busy time for us all, but the new cook arrived the day the builders came, so things worked out nicely."

BRITISH COLUMBIA CONFERENCE BRANCH

AHOUSAT, B.C.

"'Never is it so cold!' cried the Indians at the beginning of 1949 at Ahousat. A man, already paid, went for a log for school fuel. When it did not arrive and he was questioned, his reply was, 'Burn him in my stove. Cold.' At last the Superintendent of Indian Affairs sent an oil heater, and after an explosion and a soot-covered room it was properly installed. Now it works perfectly and our school room is comfortable." With this chilly beginning Miss Bernice E. Moats takes us right into Easter with the daffodils all in bloom and a visitor arriving from Alberni Residential School where many Ahousat children attend. "She brought messages to many families and returned weighed down with parcels for the children. Easter, too, brought all the people out to church—a contrast to the faithful 30 or more who come Sunday by Sunday.

"British Columbia election day was an important day for the Indians—the first time they had the privilege of voting after being enfranchised by the province. Most of them took advantage of the privilege, too.

"Although I continue to have a Sunday School class and lead church service on alternate Sundays, my chief interest is in my boys and girls at school. They are a co-operative, responsive group and some of them make good progress in spite of language difficulties. For them our Christmas party when their parents were guests was a real event, just as it is for children everywhere. With fir and cedar at door and windows and a shapely pine in shining Christmas dress, the room was attractive. A flannelgraph the children had done to represent the first Christmas and a crèche, helped create the right atmosphere for an evening that was both serious and jolly.

"Many were the Christmas events in the village—a week of them. The Old People's party stands out. On suggesting that they sing an Indian song they entertained themselves and us. Some sang, the others swayed and clapped in rhythm to the subdued beating of the drum, and without thinking of it, we were joining in. On the floor under a blanket near the tree sat old Dan's wife, who with only one leg could not balance herself on a chair. Dan had come wheeling her in a wheelbarrow. He himself is nearly blind, and he said to us, 'Teach me to talk English good. No see to read. Hear radio. No understand. Teach me talk English good.'

"There is a new note of hope this year. One young man is taking the course for lay readers at Naramata Training School. Understanding his people better than we can, his return may mean a new day for Ahousat."

Miss Blanche Gerhard, the nurse at Ahousat, tells us more of this young man, Walter Campbell, who has gone to Naramata. She says, "Walter writes glowing reports about his school work and was happy to be invited to the home of his room mate during the Christmas holidays. He writes, 'I must say that Naramata gives you a new outlook on life, makes you want to do things and live better.' -His letter ended with a plea to the people in Ahousat to celebrate Christmas in the right way. We pray that his influence may be of great help to the people in the village. He is a W.M.S. Scholarship student, as is also a boy who has started his High School work at Alberni."

Miss Gerhard continues, "Through gifts we were able to send three girls to C.G.L.F. camp at Sooke this past summer. They also helped with expenses by having a tea which the village people patronized. They are a fine group of girls and deserve to be helped. The three who attended camp will never forget their experiences there. It was worthwhile.

"Sunday School and Church attendance improved the latter part of the year, some older people who had stopped coming have returned and the young people remain faithful.

"During the year Rev. Mr. Glover and Mrs. Glover came twice to hold special services and to administer the sacraments. Ten babies were baptized and two marriages performed. The Homemakers met every Wednesday to sew and enjoy a visit together. Our Christmas festivities were many and varied—the W.M.S. used the candle-lighting service from The Missionary Monthly and the Junior Mission Band helped with the devotional service. The C.G.I.T. had a vesper service the Sunday before Christmas, and the children were not forgotten by Santa, nor were the old folks overlooked. We look forward to a new school in 1950.”

MEDICAL

MRS. COLIN YOUNG, Secretary

BEGINNINGS

Twenty-five years ago the Woman's Missionary Society had twelve Home Mission hospitals, two hospital units, and shared in the support of eight other hospitals under the direction of the Home Mission Board of the Church. This was just twenty-five years after the first Home Mission hospital had been built and staffed at Atlin, B.C., in response to Rev. John Pringle's appeal for a medical ministry among the gold miners of the Yukon.

Changes have taken place through the years, and following its policy of opening and maintaining hospitals in the isolated frontiers, the W.M.S. has from time to time been able to transfer the management and maintenance of such a hospital to the municipality or district as it became strong enough to assume this responsibility.

Today the Woman's Missionary Society maintains ten Home Mission hospitals and one hospital unit—one in B.C., three in Alberta, one in Saskatchewan, four in Manitoba, and two in Ontario, each one carrying on the ministry of healing in a spirit of Christian service.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Twenty-five years ago community health service as a whole was in the earliest stage of development. At that time the application of sanitary measures to improve general living conditions was the emphasis. New health knowledge had little effect upon community life and unnecessary illness and deaths were a common occurrence. The government, however, saw its responsibility in a wide measure and in the municipalities health officers were being appointed, health grants were offered and a comprehensive health program for Canada was undertaken. In our small institutions we have tried to become part of the larger program but we have been hindered by our lack of staff.

From a plea for nurses that went to every Candidate Adviser and Conference Branch President across Canada in January, we secured one nurse. It was worthwhile, for that woman has gone to relieve a much overworked Superintendent. Our hospitals remain essentially an evangelizing enterprise and while the boundaries are changing and the interests broadening to keep pace with the times, the initial enterprise has not changed.

Health work is a State responsibility but much energy and thought have been given over the years to our hospitals and while it is a most unwelcome duty to have to preside over the dissolution of institutions with a glorious past, it simply has to be done in some cases.

Burns Lake Hospital in British Columbia is under the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service and this scheme not only helps those who are in need of hospitalization but will put the hospital on a sound financial basis through grants. There is need for a Nurses' Home.

Burns Lake has been fortunate in its staff; with the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service setting the salaries, nurses were easier to procure and they were needed when Miss Preston reports 40 more babies and 100 more admissions than in the previous year.

Battle River too had a busy year, a number of changes in staff, but with the town at the door of the hospital, living was made a little more attractive. The hospital has been painted inside and out, porches built on hospital and nurses' residence and a busier year with patients than any recorded.

We regretfully closed the Katherine H. Prittie Hospital, Bonnyville, in January, 1950, and we were about to proceed with the disposal of the furnishings when a wire channelled through the Conference Branch from a Young Women's Social Club in Bonnyville asked for a month to six weeks to consider reopening. As this report is being written, we are awaiting further word. We have been without a doctor since last July but our main reason for closing was our proximity to the Roman Catholic hospital in Bonnyville town, two miles distant, and the town of Glendon, twenty miles distant, where a municipal hospital was built in 1949-50.

Cold Lake has had a very trying time for months because of staff, but by June 15th, we hope two nurses will be added.

The health services in Saskatchewan are urging communities to assume responsibility for their own hospitals and, with this in mind, after consultation with the Department of Health, the Advisory recommended the sale of Smeaton Hospital to a Union Hospital District. Being anxious that we should keep the hospital open, we agreed to do so until May 1st, but the Smeaton agreements have not been signed and we are now requested to continue to June 30th. The offer made by the Union Hospital District of $10,000 was accepted by us.

For the first time Teulon town gave the Hunter Hospital assistance. This gift of $1,000 was raised in 1949 at a concert where fine tribute was paid to the work done by the Society through the years.

We had to spend a large sum in Ethelbert to install the hydro and make some improvements. From January to May 1st were were without a doctor but on that date Dr. Ruth Fryer of Winnipeg, a young woman, went in. She and Miss Hodgins will occupy the doctor's residence.

Eriksdale has recently had a new sign on which we hope will be printed "Elizabeth M. Crowe Memorial Hospital—The Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada." Miss Elsie Hunt is proceeding this year with repairs to the stucco exterior.

From coal-oil lamps Gypsumville has moved on to electricity. The Church has been wired by the women's group. When Dr. Best visited Gypsumville for a Sunday in November, sixty people attended church; three babies were baptized and the Communion dispensed. The interest is growing. This Autumn a nurse will be with the missionary. A piano for the residence was a long felt need and this Spring a new one was purchased and shipped by Eaton's.

Hearst has had a busy year and with 300 admissions early in March, the majority being male, it was necessary to enlarge the washrooms on the men's ward. Another major repair was the replacing of the pipes under the kitchen, after a bad flood. Staff changes are inevitable and a shortage of nurses always faces us. At a recent Clinic Miss Mullen took 27 chest X-rays. These are revenue for our hospital, which has carried itself financially in 1949.

Matheson has had a series of Superintendents. At one time we did not have a trained nurse on the staff. It placed our Society in a very serious position so a nurse was rushed from another hospital.

"FROM OCEAN UNTO OCEAN"

The work of the year as the missionaries see it.

HEARST, ONT.

"The past year has been a heavy one," writes Miss Kathleen Mullen, of St. Paul's Hospital, "and we have been able to surmount difficulties that would have been impossible had it not been for the excellent staff of helpers I have; the nurses carried on short-handed many times when we have been so busy that hours off were very few, and I would like to thank them for their grand co-operation and also for their friendship."

"The field of medicine has taken great strides in the last half century. How fortunate for the nursing world that sulphur drugs, penicillin and streptomycin have taken the place of endless days of nursing pneumonias, acute infections, etc. How it has helped out in this shortage of nurses . . . seems like 'it was one of God's plans!'"

"We can give you stories of cases we have had and cared for, dreadful accident cases, dangerously ill patients, serious operations, and we exert our skill and knowledge to nurse them back to health again. This we know is the right and proper thing to do. But why do we do it and why are we able to do it? Have we ever stopped to think who gave us the knowledge and skill and patience to carry on amid great difficulties and discouragements?

"May we have your prayers that God will be with us in our work here as we carry on in His name."

MATHESON, ONT.

From Rosedale Memorial Hospital Miss Ada M. Chilvers reports the busiest year in its history. "There were 586 patients admitted with a total of 3,302 days. There were 89 babies born and 6 deaths. It has been necessary because of a lack of graduate nurses to ask the nursing assistants to take a great deal more responsibility than they should, but be it known to their credit that they have accepted the responsibility and carried out their duties very efficiently.

"Years ago the superintendent was always responsible for the book-keeping and office work, but since the shortage of nurses a full-time office secretary has been employed. This relieves the superintendent for more professional duties and has resulted in better book-keeping, detailed records and a more thorough collection of hospital accounts.

"The Kinsmen Club of Matheson which has done so much in the past for the hospital has helped to buy an electric instrument sterilizer for the operating room, and we are grateful to them.

"The Leaside Junior Red Cross donated an incubator for the nursery which has already proved its value in saving the lives of babies.

"The Local Advisory Committee has been a great help to the superintendent in solving many of the problems relating to the building and equipment of the hospital. We thank all those, both local people and those more distant, who have helped in any way the work of the hospital."

ERIKSDALE, MAN.

"There were 470 admissions this year at the Elizabeth M. Crowe Hospital," writes the superintendent, Miss Elsie V. Hunt, "almost the same number as last year, and we also had 138 babies born, including two pairs of twins.

"Our prize patient was little Roy who was brought in a distance of about 90 miles. He was eleven months old, weighed ten pounds and had hardly a spark of life in him. It was some weeks before he was pronounced definitely better, but when he was once able to smile he very rarely stopped. He was so glad to have people talk to him and always eager for them to stay longer.

"Early in the year there were three interesting little boys in one room—one five-year-old and Dutch, another an Indian lad, and the third of English descent. The little Dutchman had only left Holland a few months previous to his coming to the hospital and was rapidly learning English. They did not sympathize with each other and vied for attention from the nurses.

"The hydro was turned on in August after what seemed like many weeks of rewiring the hospital and nurses' residence. Men at work, floorboards torn up, power turned off just when you wanted it—these were common occurrences during those weeks. But now we are enjoying the hydro and are getting more conveniences, including an electric range, some hot plates and a mangle ironer. The proceeds of the bazaar sponsored by the Ladies' Guild of Eriksdale helped in the purchasing of the new equipment. After the wiring was completed the hospital and the residence were insulated, then the task of redecorating the interior of the buildings was begun."

ETHELBERT, MAN.

Miss Dorothy Wilson, Superintendent of the Ethelbert General Hospital, reports 260 admissions and 39 babies born during the year. She says, "Our biggest thrill has been raising Donna, who was born in August weighing two and one-half pounds. In ten weeks she weighed five pounds and was ready to go home. We were thankful for our incubator even if we did not have electricity and had to keep her warm with hot water bottles.

"Another exciting moment was when two children and their mother were brought in after being burned in a gasoline explosion. We are thankful that all recovered.

"Our staff has been reinforced by Miss Muriel Proud and Miss Donald MacQueen, both from Ontario. Miss Proud has been teaching in the Sunday School ever since she came. Miss Leah Rogers has given leadership in the C.G.I.T. all year and helped with two Vacation Schools in July. We are regretting that Dr. and Mrs. Henderson will be leaving in 1950, but look forward to another doctor, which means so much to our work."

Ethelbert Community Work.—"To me," writes Miss E. Marion Hodgins, "one of the happy things in this field is to see the acceptance of responsibility by some local people for their own organizations, especially is this true of Pine River.

"Here the Church School under the superintendent, Mr. S. Peterson, had a good year. Constable Bach taught a class of boys without missing a Sunday. Local teachers carried this school all summer in open session. Our W.A. president took her turn with the rest.

"During the winter and summer a Y.P.S. was carried on with the help of Constable Bach. Here his original ideas were responsible for good cooperation and raising money, some of which we donated for tuning the piano.

"The Woman's Association under the leadership of Mrs. J. Ratkowski had the most successful financial year in its history, raising nearly $500 for all purposes. Fifty dollars was sent to the Woman's Missionary Society.

"The choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Peterson, were most loyal and faithful, adding greatly to the services of worship.

"During the winter a course of study on 'The Personal Religious Life' was studied by the teachers of the Church School. At Garland, the people for the first time, after a visit from Dr. Best, took on a definite allocation for the minister's salary, and paid it, the Woman's Association paying half. The Pine River and Ethelbert Churches have been wired for electricity, which we hope to have turned on in these towns soon. Garland is making plans to do the same.

"Christian Education continues to be carried on by your worker every Wednesday after school in the Garland Church. These boys and girls again put on a Christmas program.

"St. Lambert is a most encouraging group to any worker. We were most fortunate in being able to get there every Sunday last winter, but one in April when mud prevented. This group raised a total of $133.75 for all purposes in appreciation of the services they have been given. In addition they have contributed farm produce for suppers and teas in the Pine River Church. The loyalty of this group of worshippers where several families come to worship together, mothers and fathers and children, seems to us to be an idea we would like to see everywhere.

"There were four Bible Vacation Schools held for one week each. At two of these Miss Leah Rogers of the hospital staff, was able to help. On the last day, parents were invited to attend and see and hear what the boys and girls had learned. In each place some attended, and words of appreciation were spoken and requests given that we hold them again next year, only for longer periods. These Bible Vacation Schools were held in school districts where we have no other work. When school opened in the fall, your missionary was able to go into the Vinny Ridge district, where we had had a Bible School and hold a class in Christian Education every Tuesday from 3 to 3.30 p.m. before going on to Pine River for Mission Band after 4 p.m. At Vinny Ridge we found a young permit teacher who welcomed our coming.

"The C.G.I.T. at Ethelbert held several teas and made enough money to pay more than half the amount each of six girls required to attend the C.G.I.T. camp at Clear Lake.

"Your missionary has continued to have Christian Education in the Sclater School all year, and was most fortunate in having roads that were passable, though there was one mile she had to break every week and travel mostly in low gear to get through, carrying the books and the organ the last quarter mile."

GYPSUMVILLE, MAN.

From the busy isolated hospital unit at Gypsumville, Miss Rose Bolton tells her story of difficulties of travelling in her district where the roads are poor with the exception of one highway. She says, "Patients from all walks of life were treated in the hospital unit. Epidemics of flu, whooping cough, measles, mumps and chicken-pox all brought extra dispensary work and out-calls. Visits to patients were made by cars, trucks, caboose, hayrack, wagon, jeep, snowmobile, jigger and bombardier.

"One accident required travelling all night by car with the patient to Winnipeg. Our driver was very tired, consequently we landed in the ditch on the way. Fortunately it was not a steep drop so we managed to get out, but it would have been a different story if it had happened a short distance farther along the road. On another occasion, after visiting in a home where the father and three children were ill, we were overtaken by a heavy thunderstorm. The old car stalled on the muddy road and the roof leaked. The men worked for two hours in the rain to get it started again, but the shower inside the car continued all the way home. I had been told that a jeep would always get you through to wherever you wanted to go without stalling, but that was before the spring thaw and rain. After winding on and off the road and through fields, we stalled and were glad to transfer to a wagon with a team of horses. It was not always possible for the doctor to get through—then it was necessary for the nurse to do double duty. There were times of anxiety and strain, but the Lord always gave wisdom and strength for the time of need."

Community Work.—Miss Gertrude L. Cass, with her background of experience in Kurca as well as in Home Mission work, comes from a furlough to take over the Community work at Gypsumville. "It has been interesting," she says, "to get acquainted with and to be associated with the people here.

"The most definite service, perhaps, is given through the Sunday School, with an average attendance of 27. The children are very regular in their attendance, but we regret we have at present only pupils up to the Junior Boys' and Junior Girls' Departments.

"Canon Sanderson of the Anglican Church has conducted the service on the first Sunday evening of the month as usual and I have had charge of the service on the other Sunday evenings.

"Our Woman's Association is quite an active organization, and all have done good work. At present the women have as their special project the wiring of the church.

"The C.G.I.T. has not been as active as we would have liked. We still hope that with adjustments the new year will find us organized and doing a good job.

"Our Explorers and Mission Band have had good meetings with a membership of 14 and 16 respectively. During the fall they donated some articles for the Canadian Church Relief and they have since received a nice letter of appreciation. When the Mission Band sent its first parcel seventeen of us went to the post office with it. It was a very important occasion.

"We had a special service for the Harvest Festival with Canon Sanderson in charge and with a very good choir of young people. The church had been nicely decorated by the Woman's Association and some of the children.

"The Bazaar in October was quite good and the Woman's Association realized quite a sum of money for their work.

"Dr. C. H. Best, Superintendent of Home Missions for the Manitoba Conference, visited us in November, when the church was well filled and all appreciated his message. Three children were baptized and a short service for Remembrance Day was held.

"The Christmas tree for the Sunday School children was a great success, with mothers and children and Baby Band members attending in goodly numbers.

"There has been no nurse here since August, and although I am not a nurse, I have been glad to give what help I could at the clinic at the hospital unit. The doctor has come regularly the first and third Thursday of the month. However, in the absence of a nurse there have been a good many cases that have had to go elsewhere for medical treatment."

TEULON, MAN.

From the Hunter Hospital, Teulon, Miss Alice C. Read reports, "We had 858 patients this year, 131 operations and 136 babies. For some of our major operations we had surgeons come out from Winnipeg. Some of our patients came from the Fisher River Reserve, and some from as far north as Koustatak because there was no doctor then in the Indian Department hospital.

"We had three sets of twins during the year and at the time of writing this report the last twins are still with us. One of the nurses called them John and Judy; the mother liked the names and John and Judy they are. They were premature babies and at first shared our one incubator. Now John has reached the five pounds and must wait in the hospital until little sister comes to the five pounds, too. In the meantime, like Moses' mother of old, the little mother has been given work in the hospital so she may be at hand to nurse her babies and give them her care. She is only nineteen, but she will be able to take full charge of the babies when they go home. Her husband comes every week to visit his family and is so grateful for the training she is getting in the hospital.

"The town of Teulon and surrounding district organized an amateur concert in November and raised over $600.00 for the hospital. Later other donations came in making a total of $1,000. We are very grateful for this effort on the part of the people of the district and believe it will make them feel they have a real share in the medical work here. There were many years when much free medical service was given and now that the people are able, they want to return some of these benefits and assist others.

"The difficulty of getting help is still a problem. A few married nurses in town help out from time to time; in the summer some of the local High School students come as ward aides. Two of those Grade XII students who helped last summer are now entering Winnipeg hospitals to take their nurses' training. On Sundays some of the girls from the Girls' Home help for part of the day, either in the kitchen or on the wards. It gives these girls an opportunity to see if they would like to be nurses, and it also makes it possible for our nurses to have Sunday 'half-days off.'"

SMEATON, SASK.

Miss Catherine Bawltinheimer writes, "We were fairly busy for the first six months of the year, having admitted 151 patients, 32 were newborn babies. Since September, being without a doctor, we have only admitted 19, two of them being newborn babies, one boy arriving Christmas evening.

"In the spring Dr. Albright was called to see an elderly lady who had broken her hip. It required a specialist's care. The air ambulance was called and in a few hours she was in a Regina hospital. The trip from her home to the landing field, in the back of a truck, was made very unpleasant for the patient by a heavy rain.

"It is the out-patients rather than the hospital patients who keep me busy these days. I am finding a nurse's training very inadequate for the work I have to do.

"On the last day of the year an elderly gentleman, who had been a patient of ours in the spring, was seriously injured when a team ran away. When the sleigh struck a telephone pole, Albert was thrown against a timber in the caboose fracturing and cutting his nose. He was brought here and I dressed his cuts, but finding his limbs were paralysed sent him to Nipawan by ambulance, where he died the next morning. The other two who were in the caboose escaped with bruises and a bad shaking up."

BONNYVILLE, ALTA.

Miss Ada M. Chivers, Superintendent of the Katherine H. Prittie Hospital until her transfer to Matheson, reports for the seven months of the year that the hospital remained open for patients. She writes, "Dr. J. E. McTavish who has been the doctor for almost three years left to take post-graduate work and we have not been able to replace him. The last patients were admitted early in August and all had been discharged by the middle of the month. This report therefore only includes about seven months' work.

"We admitted 264 patients and performed 68 operations and had 31 births, two stillbirths and two deaths."

The future of the Bonnyville Hospital rests on two points: (1) Is Bonnyville still a pioneer district needing the ministrations of a W.M.S. hospital? (2) Can a doctor and nursing staff be found to man this well-equipped hospital which for thirty-three years has served this community and district?

COLD LAKE, ALTA.

From the John Neil Hospital, Miss Alma G. Gadd, the Superintendent, begins her report on a very happy note when she tells of the joy they are having in their new nurses' residence. She says, "Early in the year the staff moved into the new residence, Mrs. Bissell's much appreciated gift, that was added last year to the small group of buildings overlooking the lake. We have enjoyed completing the furnishings bit by bit. Many of these were gifts from stores, from groups, from individuals, local and across Canada, and from the staff members themselves.

"The hospital itself has not been forgotten. A wheelchair was presented as a memorial to two of Cold Lake's pioneers (Mr. Frank Hall and Mr. Chas. Labatt). A high chair was sent by a Mission Band in Ontario and already some of the babies have found it with its playtable a pleasant change from bed.

"Our work goes on much as usual. Cases have been chiefly medical and obstetrical. Many Indian babies have come to us with pneumonia or digestive upsets to be nursed and fed back to health again. Each year we seem to have one baby that is our special care. This year it was Marcel. Marcel came to us first at four months of age so thin and bright-eyed that we called him 'Spider.' He is a very fat Spider now, but still comes to us occasionally to get a new start and to have treatment for his little club foot.

"In early summer a midnight car accident brought us seven men, some of them were quite severely injured. They filled our men's ward overflowing and encroached on the Indian women's ward, much to the indignation of an old grandmother who had to be screened off in one corner. An early morning fire brought another victim who had escaped with his life and moderately severe burns but who had lost all his possessions. We have been glad to aid with old clothing and bedding in this case, and two other fire victims.

"Because of the shortage of nursing staff, the group work that was part of our staff life early in the year had to be left to others in the fall. However, staff members are still active members of the adult groups, Mission Circle, W.A. and W.M.S. The doctor again conducted most of the church services during the winter as well as superintending the Sunday School and helping in some of the Junior groups."

MANNING, ALTA.

Reporting for the Battle River Hospital, Miss Evelyn B. Shiels and Miss Jessie M. Weir write. "The year of 1949 was a busy and interesting one for the staff of the Battle River Hospital. During that time 458 patients were admitted, 70 babies arrived, 182 operations were performed and 261 X-rays were taken. This was a decrease of 47 patients as compared with last year, but an increase of 126 X-rays; the latter has become a very important part of our nursing program.

"The Hospital Aid purchased an incubator for the nursery, and this valuable piece of equipment has already been put to use several times. An autoclave, heated by propane gas, was also purchased, the W.M.S. paying $10,000 and the Hospital Aid $500. This machine greatly facilitates the sterilizing of instruments and operating room equipment, which were previously done in large pressure cookers. Fire escapes were added to the hospital and nurses' residence and the hospital, doctor's office and residence were all painted on the outside. The residence was also painted on the inside.

"Miss Henrietta Campbell, our United Church missionary, arrived in September and we have been very pleased to have her with us. Church services, Sunday School and C.G.I.T. meetings have been held in the living-room of the residence as well as other group meetings. The hospital and residence are indeed a vital part of the community.

"Manning has grown in leaps and bounds during 1949. Scarcely a day passed that we didn't see some house or building being pulled into town by a large caterpillar tractor. The United Church from Notikewin made its way down on the 19th of December, crawled slowly across the Battle River, up the opposite bank and is now on the hospital property.

"One of the most interesting cases we had during the year was little Nick K. He came of Polish parentage and his parents had only been in Canada six months previous to his birth. Nick was born at home because his mother was 'afraid of hospitals.' Neither parents speak or understand English very well and could not be persuaded by their neighbors to come to the hospital for the birth of their first child. Nick was brought in to us looking like a wizened up old man on his second day of life. The doctor felt that blood of a special type was needed immediately if Nick's life was to be saved, so we telegraphed to the Canadian Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service in Edmonton and they had the blood flown to Peace River where the doctor met the plane and brought the life-giving fluid back to the hospital by car through roads that were nearly impassable due to heavy rains. This was all done in record time as we wired for the blood in the morning and the doctor was back here with it by 11 p.m. that same evening. After several transfusions Nick recovered and is now back at home with his parents. These people no longer fear the hospital but look upon it as a place where they can come when in difficulty."

BRITISH COLUMBIA CONFERENCE BRANCH

BURNS LAKE, B.C.

From Honau, China, to Burns Lake, B.C. is a far cry, but Miss L. Clara Preston has bridged the distance by answering the call for Christian service in the Home land. Her report says, "It is our first year under the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service, and that has meant many changes. It is such a joy to be able to say to the in-patient, 'No, you have nothing more to pay. The Government Insurance pays it all, thanks' It has meant new bookkeeping and more reports, but we have fewer unpaid accounts than ever before. Shorter hours for the nurses and staff make it better for the staff but more responsibility for the one in charge.

"Four different times the wedding bells rang out for our staff members. Now four new homes have been opened in the community.

"The 'Stork' visited us 40 more times than last year. It has meant so much to the mothers to have the hospitalization and care and in no time it seemed the fathers had arrived to claim their offspring and proud mothers.

"The stretcher did its part in taking patients to and from the operating room and the X-ray was busier than ever, mostly showing where the fracture was or in helping with early diagnosis of T.B.

"The faithful W.A. met the second Thursday of every month for ten months of the year, helping with the mending. They supplied a new bed and mattress for the nurses' residence and a ventilating wall fan for the residence.

"The Advisory Board were always on hand when needed, advising and encouraging us.

"Mail days three times a week bring us our contacts with our friends and outside world, while the transfer companies come often with our supplies of groceries, drugs and those mysterious parcels from interested and thoughtful friends.

"When our Indian elephant bell rings, knowing that the patients have already been fed, the staff soon gather to participate in our family fellowship together and enjoy the excellent home cooked meals our young capable cook provides.

"Our new stoker has been installed and is keeping us nice and warm in the continued zero 30-to-60 weather. Our fan is a big help in drying our clothes. Physician's scales, bedside tables, baby scales and a new inhalator help to make the work more efficient.

"Many interested Indian patients have been admitted to our wards, but we regret the malnutrition and the advanced T.B. and the lack of schooling among the Indians here. They move from place to place so often that it is hard to help them.

"Each patient makes his or her contribution to our life here and in the ward, but I want to mention two especially. Years ago a young Salvation Army lass came to this country from Scotland and settled with her husband and enjoyed her comfortable home. For the last twenty years she was an invalid in a wheelchair and when she was stricken with a malignant growth no word of complaint ever reached our ears and for the last two months of her life we were privileged to look after her here. Her fortitude, her interest in everyone around her made her beloved by all. Later we heard of the generous gift she left our hospital of over $6,000.

"'Kentucky Bill' began his life in a log cabin in Falling Water, Kentucky. There he grew up on a farm, the eldest of thirteen children, and there he learned to love the woods and streams. After sojourning in many places in the States and Canada after he grew up, he finally came to Ootsa Lake and has lived there ever since. Living up and down the lake in trappers' cabins, lean-tos or whatever was handiest to get for shelter, even if it was only the shelter of a large spruce tree when nothing better was available, he spent the winter trapping. Finally he filed a claim for a homestead on Hungry Bay, in our Burns Lake district, so named because of the hardships he went through.

A one-roomed cabin with a rustic fence, a mass of bright flowers through the summer, a well-kept garden and plenty of berries with a faithful dog for company, these all spelt home to Kentucky Bill.

"When Bill arrived at Burns Lake Hospital he was very ill and he feared he would never see his home again. After weeks of suffering and constant care he slowly showed a steady improvement and when his two daughters visited him from the States he had turned the corner and was on his way to recovery and was able to enjoy their visit. One daughter he hadn't seen for around thirty years.

"Bill endeared himself to all the staff and the other patients in the ward. He had lost a lot of weight and he would constantly say, 'I have fallen away an awful lot, haven't I, nurse?' When he realized he had been granted a longer span of life he would say, 'These bones will rise again.'

"He declined a tempting offer of care and help if he returned with his daughters, but his friends, his dog and his small home called him. After six months he arrived at the hospital to say goodbye to us and reminisce about his hospital experiences, he was dressed in his northland clothes for 30 below zero, but he was starting out for California to visit his brother there."

ORIENTAL

MRS. R. E. MACKENZIE, Secretary

BEGINNINGS

In the twenty-five years since Union great changes have taken place in the general conduct and policy of Oriental work in Canada. It has been a period of transition and development, due in large measure to changing living conditions and to the exigencies of war.

When the Chinese work was first established by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church in 1887, it took the form of a Rescue Home in Victoria, B.C., to safeguard the lives of young Chinese girls who were being bought and sold by both white men and Chinese for immoral purposes. When the necessity for rescue work had seemingly passed, the Rescue Home became the Oriental Home and School, and a broad educational program for Chinese and Japanese women and children was initiated.

At the time of Union in 1925 seven W.M.S. workers with a group of teachers and assistants were carrying out this program in kindergarten, school, home-making and housekeeping, sewing and religious instruction, Sunday School and Mission Band, and various other activities for both young and old among the Chinese and Japanese women and children.

Today the Oriental Home has become the "Chinese Christian Community Centre" where youth groups and women's clubs have their friendly meeting place and where the Christian spirit is evidenced in all phases of its work.

Similarly in eight centres in Canada today this work is being carried on, its motivating purpose always being to help the Chinese Canadian and Japanese Canadian make their own finest contribution towards the building of a Christian Canada.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Japanese

Our life course is shaped in part by the events which befall us and the places in which our lot is cast and so it would seem when we review the day of 1942 when our Japanese people came first to Ontario. We know today the wonderful issues of that seemingly tragic event and it has created a new attitude in the hearts of many who harbor that greatest evil in the world, race prejudice.

From Toronto and Hamilton reports come of flourishing Young Peoples', excellent congregations and fine fellowship in our Japanese Groups and we rejoice that on July 1st the Toronto congregation may be constituted at Queen Street United Church. The spacious rooms in this building will provide scope for all the activities and our women's groups will have their own accommodation. We are thankful that this arrangement has been made.

Earlier in the report we referred to Miss Sadler going to Vancouver to work among those who are returning to the West coast. Miss Grace Namba at Greenwood sees her group gradually diminishing, since these are the people returning to the coast. Their families will be remaining until suitable living accommodation is secured.

Chinese

A large number of Chinese have come to Canada during the last year. Every city where we have workers has had an influx.

In Victoria some 20 pupils each evening await the arrival of teachers in the second floor room of the Chinese Church. When these people arrived they could speak not a word of English and while it is still halting, they can make themselves understood at work. Through the representation of our missionary a school for English was opened for half the day under the Department of Education, beginning April 1st. This may be a full-time project in September.

In Vancouver among the new residents is Mrs. Chow, who taught in the Canton Normal School. She immediately offered her services as a Bible woman, in a voluntary capacity.

Up-Island at Nanaimo we again appointed a missionary and Miss Ruth Peat with her car, is covering the area from Alberni to Duncan. Old and new Chinese need friendship which is offered them by this young worker and in all these centres they are in logging camps, restaurants or shops. At the Easter Service at Nanaimo four young Chinese were baptized and brought into the Church fellowship. This is a follow-up of the work done by Miss Mossop four years ago when six young people became Church members and in 1950 all but one of the six were in attendance to support the new members.

In Calgary, under the guidance of Miss Winifred Warren, the Inter-denominational Mission was duly constituted as a United Church of Canada early in 1950. New people are learning English and meeting in a group. Most of these are boys and some girls who have come to join their fathers.

Toronto, too, has added to its numbers and the Chinese work with this new influx of people has had a real revival.

TORONTO

Japanese Canadian Work.—Before going on furlough, Miss Florence M. Bird, who has given a full term of fruitful service with the Japanese Canadians in Eastern Canada, reviews and evaluates what has taken place since 1943. She says, "In 1943 when it was decided to make Toronto my headquarters the Japanese Canadians in this city were, for the most part, young people who had responded to the call to come to the east. Taken from the homes they loved and from their highly organized community life which afforded them interest and activity they were lonely, insecure and very conscious of the prejudice and suspicion their presence aroused.

"Because of this, in the autumn of 1943, we organized the Nisci Christian Fellowship. The name was chosen in faith, not for what the majority of the attendants were at the time, but for what under divine leadership they could become. With the exception of a brief worship service approved by a small minority who had had previous Christian training, the first meetings were social in character. The Christian members did their best to create a friendly atmosphere, but it was not easy as the young people in attendance came from many different districts and social groups. But as time passed there was a change in their attitude. By working, playing and worshipping together the members grew in understanding and in loyalty to their group. Their meetings took on a new depth of meaning when they accepted the program of the national Young People's Union making the Christian way of life their central purpose. They studied the Christian in relation to God, to his family, community and nation, and to the world.

"Opportunities were given for practical service; many calls were made on the Japanese Canadian patients in the hospitals and gifts sent to them at Christmas and Easter. The Fellowship also made contributions to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund of the Church and sent parcels of food and clothing to Japan, thus learning the joy of service."

We can enter into the feeling of joy and gratitude and pride that must have welled up in Miss Bird's heart as she sat with the Fellowship at their "Banquet of Appreciation" last June and looked along the tables at the 200 young people, half of whom had been active in the work of the Nisei Christian Fellowship— young men and women who had come by themselves to Ontario under a cloud of suspicion but who did not take a defeatist attitude nor indulge in self-pity. Miss Bird says, "Almost all who were present had taken some course of study since coming to the east. There were graduates of the universities in arts, medicine, dentistry, nursing, engineering, education and music. There were also undergraduates and post-graduate students. There was a fairly large group who had taken advantage of the night classes to study arts and crafts, mechanics, radio, stenography, book-keeping and business administration. I wondered where we could find another group of young people who had accomplished so much under such difficult circumstances. Rev Y Yoshioka, who had come from Kelowna to be present at his son's graduation in medicine, said at the banquet, 'This is a great gathering of Christian young people. There is strength here.'

"In the early years before the parents were permitted to come to Toronto it was my privilege to help many of the young people with their weddings, and I have since tried to keep in touch with them. After marriage the interests change. They are busy getting their homes established and making preparation for the future. To try to keep these young people in the Church and to help them to realize the importance of founding their homes on Christ, we organized a Young Married Couples' group two and a half years ago. Gradually thirty-five couples have joined the society. We have studied books on Child Training, have discussed together such topics as the Church and the Home, religious education for the young child, etc. Mrs. Shimizu, the wife of our Japanese pastor, has made a great contribution to the work of this group.

"The Mission Circle though not large is a well integrated group. The members work happily together and take a real interest in the work of the Woman's Missionary Society. They are quite well informed about our fields as they not only study the prescribed books and read The Missionary Monthly but read other missionary literature as well.

"Nowhere have we seen greater growth than in the women's meeting. We started in the fall of 1943 with three women and have reached the 100 mark in membership. This society has a very competent executive who take their responsibilities seriously. Among the interesting programs of the year were two prepared by members of the executive.

"We have now a number of women who were in the churches in B.C., but during the first three years of this society's history we had only a few quite new Christians. Many of our women were Buddhists before evacuation but have come to know Christ. They attend the Japanese services in the Church of All Nations and are gradually coming into membership. The Japanese congregation now numbers 173. These are the older people who were born in Japan and speak Japanese.

"The English class which meets on Monday evening in the Church of All Nations is worthy of our respect and admiration. Two of the Mission Circle members have given voluntary service as teachers for three years. They are glad to help these older women who come across the city after a day's work in the factory or in sewing at home. The women feel the necessity of knowing the English language and are ready to make sacrifices to learn it.

"I began to teach English because the women requested it, but more and more I am coming to realize that this is an important part of missionary work. Whatever we can do to help the new Canadians to make a happy adjustment to this new environment is worth doing."

When Miss Bird went on furlough, Miss Netu Sadler was appointed to this work, and came with a background of experience in Japan, on the West Coast and in the relocation camps in British Columbia. Miss Sadler says, "During August when there were no regular meetings, I had a wonderful opportunity to renew old friendships and to get acquainted with many new friends in more than fifty Japanese homes, in all parts of the city. It was a great and rich experience meeting most of the families again for the first time since 1942. My heart was full of joy as I heard expressions of gratitude for God's guidance and loving care and the fellowship of the Church through the years. My first observation was the reunion of families—their happiness and contentment in home life again. Young people have made a great adjustment and have secured good positions and many are carrying responsibilities for their parents or younger members of the family, which truly is worthy of honor and praise. No tone of resentment or discontent was evident. The bright and happy attitude of love and gratitude for God's blessings gives hope for the future of our Christian work. Now is our opportunity to advance and with a great vision before us, we seek God's way in all our organizations and activities.

"The four organizations, namely, the W.A., the Young Married Couples, the Japanese Christian Fellowship, and the Mission Circle, which meet regularly at the Metropolitan Church, have all participated in worthy projects through the year and have accomplished great results. There have been social functions, concerts, bazaars, teas and children's parties. Perhaps the most outstanding has been the welfare work, in Canada and Japan, which has been so gladly undertaken by all the groups. At Christmas time the young people distributed beautiful artistic gifts to 60 patients in the Sanatorium. The W.A. also shared in similar work to the hospitals and shut-ins.

"In September a highlight of our program was having Dr. Matsumoto from Hiroshima, Japan, address our meetings. His Christian heart and personal witness for Christ inspired us all with deeper devotion to our missionary tasks of the Church. His message was stirring."

Bay Street Chinese United Church.—"Advance" has been the keynote of our work in line with the whole program of the United Church this year," writes Miss Cora N. Wovil. "Our building has been repaired, rooms redecorated, new stove bought, chapel cleaned, oil unit installed in furnace, and many improvements made.

"The attendance at church service has been larger, more people have taken contribution envelopes, bringing the total offerings up much higher. Large amounts have been raised for hymn books, Bibles and repairs. One member of our women's group who moved to the outskirts of the city and could not get to church very regularly came one Sunday near the end of the year, bringing her box of envelopes and each envelope filled. It is hard to realize that a little over a year ago so few knew anything about church envelopes or the joy of giving.

"In July the church and Sunday School picnic was held and about 200 came. It is the first large gathering of this kind that has been held for quite a few years and was a great success. In November the church held a social for all the newcomers from China and had a large attendance. It was a friendly, happy meeting of Christians and non-Christians and all seemed to appreciate the friendship shown.

"An unusual event was our church Christmas dinner, held on Christmas Day, Sunday, at 5 o'clock in the gymnasium, with the men doing the cooking and the young people the serving.

"The women's group holds its meeting each Wednesday and because several of the new members have recently come from China, an English class is held for one hour before the meeting. It is amazing how quickly the women get a working English vocabulary. The two big events of our women's group were a May picnic to Niagara Falls during Blossom week, and the Bazaar in October, both successful.

"The young people's choral group has met every Sunday night after Church and has sung at the Church service on special occasions.

"About 18 of our Chinese children attended Vacation School at Carleton United Church where I helped with the Primary Department. We always met at our own church first and went together to Carleton Street. One of the twelve-year-old girls, Joan, helped me take the children over and the superintendent of the Vacation School was so impressed with the way she helped with the children and the program, that she gave her a small gift at the close of school, which was much appreciated. The attendance at Sunday School has been splendid; two of the Junior boys only missed one Sunday all year, and eight prizes were given the Beginners and Primary who missed only two Sundays. There is growing among the children a sense of loyalty to the Sunday School, the feeling that this is 'my Sunday School.' The growth of the Sunday School has been brought about largely because of the Nursery School, which has been held every morning Monday to Friday. Most of the children are quick to learn and they are all dear children. Two graduated to the Public School in June.

"We had a member of long ago return for a few weeks, and he said to me, 'I can see the church as a whole has gone ahead and is growing spiritually,' which is the way in which we are all working to 'Advance.'"

ASSINIBOIA, SASK.

In her seventh year as Matron of the Assiniboia Girls' Residence, Mrs. Gertrude Thompson notices many changes that have taken place with the passing years, as she reports for herself and Mrs. Mary Scott. "Seven years ago there were nine to be washed, say their prayers and have a story at bedtime. Now four are in High School and our little Kazuko is nine years old, so we have no babies left. Another one of our Japanese girls graduated from High School winning the scholarship for being the best student in Grade XII. She is now taking a business course in Toronto where her three sisters are.

"We have thirteen girls boarding with us at present. Two sisters who had been driving six miles in to school came late this fall. We had room for only one, but Kane gave up his bedroom for the other, and sleeps in the music room.

"Mr. S. visited us this summer. The children had not seen him since coming to Assiniboia and he seemed like a stranger at first. But he took them downtown and bought them things they wanted and needed, like fountain pens, etc., and was soon their friend. At Christmas time he sent them money, and now they feel a sense of security. Mr. J. is a very good father, comes twice a year to see his three children and was with us for Christmas again. He had hoped that his wife and mother and son would have been able to come from Japan for Christmas, but his wife was not so well again and the trip had to be postponed.

"Our family all made their grades in school and music. Toshi won the scholarship at the Musical Festival in May and also the I.O.D.E. Scholarship, which is given each year. Yuki and Pat attended C.G.I.T. Camp in July and the ten younger children took part in the Vacation Bible School in August. They have also won their seals for the certificates given for Sunday School attendance. Six of our girls sing in the Junior Choir. Mary Nishikawa has been nursing in Shauwaven Hospital since last June and is doing very well.

"We gave the girls a farewell dinner on the last night we were together for 1949. Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Sebilus (the cook) and I dressed up and received them as they came in. There were thirty of them altogether, with guests. We waited on them, gave them a lovely dinner and ate our dinner in the kitchen. They thought it was fun, especially when they did not have to do the dishes. We enjoyed it as much as they did."

CALGARY, ALTA.

After her many years of service in Honan, China, Miss Winifred Warren continues to give of her best to the work of the Chinese Church in Calgary, which work she says is a "daily round" and a "common task," which furnish "all we need to ask," although certain tasks seem to rise above the "common," giving us reason to thank God and take courage.

"There are the regular Sabbath services, the Sunday School, the Mission Band meeting weekly before Sunday School. There is the daily class for the little tots, very few but very precious. There is the visiting in afternoons which offers opportunity for entering homes scattered city-wide. These form the setting within which openings for service meet one the year round.

"During the early months of 1949 a weekly Bible study class met on Monday evenings to follow an outline study of the Old Testament which had been requested.

"The morning class for the pre-school age kept on with very few days off because of wintry weather.

"With July came the Daily Vacation Bible school for two weeks. This year we had no outside help, but our own girls undertook to teach the little ones. The Sabbath evening service was given over to our closing. The daily offerings from the school amounted to $4.00 and this was sent to the fund for help in Europe, through the Canadian Council of Churches.

"August brought a welcome visitor, a Chinese lady, Miss Mavis Lee, B.D., who had just completed a year's service at the Chinese Christian Community Centre in Victoria and was returning to the United States for further study. Her overflowing enthusiasm and her knowledge of the Cantonese language won for her a warm place in the many homes we visited together and into the gatherings at which she spoke.

"With the opening of autumn activities in September, we were very conscious of how many Chinese had been coming to Canada during the summer—coming to seek a new home, with security for themselves and their families. The evening service found quite a group of boys attending, a fresh challenge when speaking at this service. But, besides, there were several women in their homes, too modest to come out. Strangers, and unable to speak English, they were lonely and in need of friendship. So with three or four of the English speaking Calgary group to help, we invited the newcomers to meet in my room on a Wednesday afternoon. They enjoyed the friendly gathering and one of their number invited us all to her home the following week. Since then, regularly, the group have met from house to house—mostly a few younger women. We have the 'cup of tea' (sometimes with quite elaborate dainties of Chinese confectionery). We try, through games and conversation, to add to their store of English: most of all the Bible story with pictures and the help of the English speaking friends as interpreters offers the opportunity to make the time together count. Coming to a new land we want them to know our Saviour.

"At Christmas, the Mothers' Club made pretty little aprons to take to the Old Folks' Home where the gifts brought much joy. The newcomers made dainty Christmas card sachets for some of the ladies living at 'Sunset Lodge,' where again the thought of being remembered brought sunshine to quiet lives. They also packed two boxes full of small parcels to take out to the Sanatorium to two lovely young Chinese women who are there and away from their homes.

"Visiting in the homes brings the reward of many heart-warming experiences. One little lady, recently come from China tells of days of Japanese occupation and flight into Free China, and proudly shows her Bible which always travelled with her. In another home the dainty daughter, Flower, comes home from morning school singing, 'There is a green hill far away.' The mother herself used to sing that hymn when a young girl in a small Alberta town and sang in the choir. Now she and Flower must learn to sing it as a duet. There is another home where welcome has always been warm but where it has been hard to make the message clear because of the language barrier. When Miss Mavis Lee and I went and this dear lady heard the ‘Gospel story from Miss Lee in her own tongue, her face lighted up and understanding and satisfaction was expressed in her grateful eyes. I believe that it was her hour of coming to Jesus.’

BRITISH COLUMBIA CONFERENCE BRANCH

GREENWOOD, B.C.

“The first half of the year was spent in the Greenwood Camp for Japanese,” writes Miss Ella Lediard, “and the last half enjoying a furlough in Ontario. In Greenwood the housing situation is very bad for many, but the people themselves are an integral part of the community. Our policy, of course, was to encourage them in this, although it was very difficult to persuade some of the older folk to learn English. It seemed too bad that I had to go on furlough and Miss Lawson be transferred to Montreal in the same year, but we were glad to have Miss Grace Namba back and she was given a warm welcome by the community.

“The kindergartens, clubs, Sunday School, Mothers’ Association, Bible Classes, and C.G.I.T. all went along successfully. The Protestant group is small but they need the help of the Church and the W.M.S. if they are to be held.”

Miss Grace Namba continues the report, as she returns to Greenwood after two years’ study in Toronto. She says, “As I look back to the day of my arrival back to Greenwood I see the friends and children of our Protestant group and also some of the Catholic group at the station to greet and welcome me. It was a thrill to see them; the children had grown up quite a bit and in some cases there were new additions to their families.

“The first two weeks of August was a time of getting re-acquainted and also to make new friends. Vacation School was the first project that I was able to do with the help of Miss Lediard. It is wonderful to see the change in the people brought about by Miss Lawson’s and Miss Lediard’s work.

“Gradually from the Vacation School program the Sunday School followed. In this the resident minister’s wife and I worked together. At first the numbers in the Sunday School were small, but gradually we have built it up and have a flourishing school of 86 children and 12 teachers. These teachers are mainly senior C.G.I.T. girls who have grown up under the influence of the W.M.S. since the first evacuation days of the Japanese into Greenwood. We also have one boy (senior) teacher and another boy as the secretary of the Sunday School.

“The weekday programs for the children are the Mission Band groups and the Explorer groups. We are studying the new packets and have been very interested in the study of other lands and also the study on the growth of our Church. The children are very enthusiastic about their groups. I have two of each group, one in Midway and one in Greenwood.

“Besides these groups I have two English classes. The Japanese mothers are very enthused about their classes. The group in Midway are mostly just beginning and they try very hard to speak the English language. As a result the mothers are more alert to the English spoken at home by the children and words have new meaning whereas prior to these classes they had made up their minds that they would never understand the language. In our Greenwood classes we are now beginning to read the hymns and sing them in English—prayers and Bible reading are part of our lesson also.

"The kindergarten classes both here and at Midway have gone along steadily. There are fourteen children in each of the kindergartens. One of the Japanese mothers who is now assisting in the Greenwood kindergarten was a former kindergarten pupil in the Powell Street Kindergarten under the W.M.S. and she recognizes some of the songs and action games that we are having in the school. With the nursery and kindergarten children all in one class in each centre the teaching is mixed between a nursery and kindergarten program. I am happy to have the privilege of using some of the ideas given by the Institute of Child Study under Dr. Blatz of Toronto. One of the mothers who had attended the course offered by the Extension Department of the University of British Columbia, is assisting at Midway. The mothers meet monthly to discuss, and these discussions are different from last year in that we have had speakers such as the Public Health nurse, High School teacher, Red Cross nurse and the minister's wife to assist us. These meetings were usually thrown open for discussion after, and have helped to iron out some of the difficulties in the home, along the lines of First Aid, books for pre-school children, Home Nursing, and the spiritual development in children. Many of the older women attend these meetings even though the discussion is carried on mostly in the English language.

"The C.G.I.T. have again just been formed into an organized group. They have been assisting in the Sunday School and as leaders in the mid-week groups. Their co-operation has been invaluable in the work.

"Many of our Japanese women have come into the W.A. of the Midway Church. In Midway, one was the president last year and this year another has been elected as secretary."

NANAIMO, B.C.

Chinese Up-Island Work.—From her first appointment since graduation from the United Church Training School, Miss Ruth G. Peat writes of her Up-Island work, "Our Chinese church at Nanaimo is mainly a young people's mission. Rev. G. Y. Chow of Victoria comes once a month for an evening service, but apart from that we have had very few services for the parents. However, I meet them quite often when visiting the homes.

"The young people and children have shown their deep interest in the Church by their regular attendance at Sunday School and their groups, and by their co-operation in any efforts on behalf of the Church. The Y.P.U. and C.G.I.T. and Trail Ranger groups worked hard for a Tea which we had in order to raise money for improvements to the church building. Then at Christmas they co-operated splendidly again when we entertained parents and friends at the annual concert.

"Some members from the Y.P.U. teach in the Sunday School and asked for a Bible study course so that they might be better fitted as teachers.

"A great help and a source of joy is Miss Ella Wong who assists with the kindergarten work. Both little ones and older ones seem to like to come to the Mission to help or just to have fun and friendship. I wish I had more time to be with them.

"In Duncan, where I go every other Friday, there is a Mission Band and a Young People's Union, where again I wish for more time to spend with them. The children think two weeks is a long time to wait for Mission Band again. They seem hungry for Bible and other stories and for someone to teach them games.

"I have only been able to visit the Chinese families in Chemainus and Port Alberni once, but when I have the car running I should be able to make more frequent trips.

"To work with the Chinese people is a great privilege, and to do it in the name of Jesus Christ is even a greater joy. With such interest and enthusiasm as there is in my C.G.I.T. group over news from my young missionary friends and other graduates of the Training School and over correspondence with girls in Japan and Newfoundland, there is, I earnestly hope, a possibility that some may give themselves to the great missionary enterprise of the Church."

VANCOUVER, B.C.

Success and Advance seem to be the keynotes of Miss Mildred Mossop's report of the Chinese work in Vancouver. She begins with the Woman's Missionary Society when she says, "The Chinese Auxiliary has had another successful year. In our devotional periods special study was made of prayer as a vital force in the Church, in the home and in the life of the individual. In February the annual party for the women of the community who were not members of the Auxiliary was held with a gratifying attendance. Our United Church women joined, with the members and friends of the Chinese Anglican and Presbyterian churches and with the representatives of the Chinese Y.W.C.A. centre for the World Day of Prayer service held in our church. Each group was responsible for translating a part of the service into Chinese and for preparing a brief address on the special subject assigned to them.

"At one of the December church services the Auxiliary, the Affiliated C.G.I.T. and the Mission Band members presented the work of the Woman's Missionary Society. The film, 'The House of Wong,' was also shown in the church under the auspices of the W.M.S. The annual Chow Mein Tea was one of the outstanding events of the year and as usual was supported by friends of our Chinese work.

"The kindergarten has had an enrolment of 42 for the year. The children delighted a large gathering of visitors at the Chow Mein Tea in June with their songs, exercises and games. In the same month 11 little ones took part in a colorful graduation ceremony attended by many parents and friends.

"The mothers of the kindergarten children meet each month at the church. The children entertain them with their everyday school program after which the mothers have their own meeting for worship, study and fellowship.

"The Mission Band children found the story of 'The Dike Against the Sea' especially interesting for it was about China. They had fun presenting their little play 'The Children of the World' at the Sunday School Christmas program. The members of the Mission Band also made posters of China and played Chinese games at the Chinese Festival held in the spring.

"The big event for the year for the Canadian Girls In Training Group and the boys of the Trail Rangers was the Chinese Festival to which parents and friends were invited. The C.G.I.T. affiliation ceremony with the W.M.S. was held on this occasion. Visits were made to other C.G.I.T. groups in the city and a special C.G.I.T.-Trail Ranger service was held in the church at which our B.C. Boys' Work Secretary was the speaker. On several occasions these groups were responsible for serving tea at the Social Hour held once a month after the evening church service.

"Again this year the Sunday School has increased in attendance. Most of the teaching staff is composed of busy Chinese young people who have almost a perfect attendance record.

"The new choir of Chinese young people is steadily increasing in membership and continues to be an inspiration to those attending our church services.

"Prayer meetings under the direction of our minister, Rev. Chow Ling, are held monthly in the homes of members giving an opportunity of Christian fellowship and discussion.

"The Columbia Street Church has been the scene of happy monthly gatherings of Chinese women and children living in the district. Our faithful volunteer worker, Mrs. S. S. Ricketts and Mrs. Yow, one of the new and gifted women who have recently come from China, have been responsible for the program in Chinese for the women while the missionary had meetings with the children.

"Night classes have been opened in the church hall to meet the need of Chinese who have recently come to Canada. Many of these students come to us well educated in Chinese, but they realize their need of the English language to carry out their responsibilities as new Canadian citizens. Some have attended Christian institutions in China and are now making their contribution to our Canadian Chinese churches. I think of one of these Chinese ladies who was a Biblewoman in China and a teacher in one of the Normal Schools there. She was asked to assist in the visiting connected with our work and offered a small fee for this regular work. After talking the matter over with her husband who is an elder in the Chinese church she said to us, 'It will be a joy to serve the Lord in this way. We are so grateful to Him for bringing our family together after so many years of separation.' She agreed to do the visiting as requested but refused to accept any fee. Others are making their first contact with the Christian Church. Perhaps the most important challenge which we will face in 1950 is how to best express the Christian way of life in the spirit of Jesus to these who have come to Canada to make their home."

VICTORIA, B.C.

In concluding her year of service in Canada and returning to the United States for further study, Miss Maiss Lee, B.D., a Chinese woman well trained for Christian service, expresses her appreciation of the opportunity for working among the Canadian Chinese and pays tribute to many W.M.S. workers and others who helped to make her stay in Victoria a happy and helpful one.

She says, "During the year we have had four special meetings of the W.M.S., the Christmas service, and the Easter Mother and Daughter Banquet to which the various W.M.S. groups were invited.

"We have also had 'Silver Teas' to assist in the work of raising funds for C.G.I.T. and Pacific Northwest Chinese Christian Youth Council Camps.

"My most valuable experience has been my work among the Chinese people. There are between two and three thousand Chinese in Victoria, and since the war most of them are opening their own stores, grocery, greenhouses, laundries, and restaurants. They are improving in their business ability and in their standards of living. But I am shocked at the small number of families who are Christian.

Continuing the work after Miss Lee's departure was Miss Hedwig D. H. Barling, who writes, after three and a half months' experience, "The Chinese have been most kindly to me. The strong loyalty of former pupils of the Oriental Home to the Church and all its efforts has struck me as noteworthy. One of these, a grandmother now, has voluntarily come down to assist in the kindergarten. Her support has meant much to me. She never misses a day and is happy in helping. The kindergarten, while small, opens doors chiefly into non-Christian homes and means that I can, to some extent, touch the unchurched.

"It was difficult, at first, to organize a C.G.I.T. Group, but now the girls are most enthusiastic. The attractions of the non-Christian Chinese school, the city movies, etc., are difficult to cope with, but when your girls are willing to forego those in order to carry through group projects, you know you can count on them.

"Since the government has allowed naturalized Chinese to bring their families to Canada there have been a surprising number of young immigrants who want to learn English. Our language school at the church has an enrolment of about 20. I have been helping two and three nights weekly. It is good to teach these earnest young folk, they are so anxious to be able to express themselves in our language. Also I have some extra pupils for two hours every afternoon.

"The Mission Circle and the Vancouver Island Presbytery Young People's executive, as also the Pacific Northwest Chinese Christian Youth Conference, held their monthly meetings at the Centre. The latter organization held a fall rally with group gatherings and discussions. Young people from Portland, Seattle and Vancouver attended, and one noted their fine Christian spirit in the admission of a young American that Christian world citizenship was more important than narrow patriotism.

"Our Young People's Union is considered one of the most effective in British Columbia. Much credit for its success must be given to Sam Gung, a signally fine Christian. His leadership in the Presbytery has meant a great deal in the promotion of friendship and fellowship.

"I think our Bible Class is also exceptional. Every Sunday afternoon we meet here for a good hour of discussion, eat supper and then attend church. We have an average of 12 young folk grappling with the problems of Christian living. I wish more Canadians could have the opportunity of fellowship with these people who bring so much richness of culture, of patience and wisdom to our harsh young country."

At Work Overseas

HIGHLIGHTS OF OVERSEAS MISSION WORK PREPARED FROM THE REPORT OF THE OVERSEAS MISSIONS EXECUTIVE SECRETARY AND THE REPORTS OF THE MISSIONARIES

Another year has passed and again we have to report a year of turmoil and difficulty in some of the areas abroad where we carry responsibility. This is particularly true of China, but wherever we look in the world scene we see an unusual situation. This presents both special opportunities and special difficulties. Indeed the key words in all our work overseas at present are crisis, opportunity, urgency. We are living in a period of the world's history where great events are in the making and where the future pattern of life is being determined by what is happening now. There is a sense of urgency in the opportunities which are before us as Christians now. In certain areas there are indications that unless we are able to put forth greater effort at once, the doors may be gradually closed. Certainly it is true that if we desire to live in a world governed by the principles of life which Jesus Christ came to teach, it is of the utmost importance that all of us who are Christians put forth every effort to strengthen and extend the work and witness of the Christian Church throughout the world.

It is against the back drop of revolution—social, economic, political and ideological that the work of the past year has gone forward. We give thanks to our Heavenly Father for His guidance and strength which alone have enabled the missionaries and national leaders to carry on through all the difficulties and dangers and we rejoice that through our missionaries and the various National Churches we have had a share in the work of the Kingdom and in bringing more men and women and children to know Jesus Christ and to accept Him as Lord and Saviour.

Re Missionary Staff

During the past year there have been 110 missionaries in full time active service on the overseas staff. This is actually a smaller number than we reported last year and has been due to the China situation. Of these one passed away during the year while on active service, 2 have been married recently, 4 retire this year, one has resigned, 4 short-term nurses have withdrawn, and 5 are due for retirement within the next 5 years. Happily 7 new missionaries and 5 short-term workers have recently been appointed and 3 who are on leave of absence are returning to their work. This all means that by the end of this summer we anticipate a missionary staff of 116, which is the same as we reported a year ago. The need for more missionaries is urgent if we are to maintain our present work and move forward to new openings before us. This will mean greater effort on our part to find qualified young women who are willing to put their lives into this important work and also increased funds to support them.

Re Orphaned Missions

The situation with regard to Orphaned Missions continues to be serious. It was hoped that by 1950 the fund could be closed out but the European Churches have been in a difficult economic situation. In 1949 the total givings of the Canadian Churches were $14,093.26 of which $4,625.00 was from The United Church of Canada, $2,625 from the Board of Overseas Missions and $2,000 from our Society. In view of the appeal from the International Missionary Council for an increased amount for 1950, both because of the continuing need and because the British Societies are not able to take as much responsibility as formerly, due to the general economic situation there, the Canadian Overseas Missions Council recommended to the Mission Boards that a minimum of $15,000 be our goal this year although we were asked for $25,000. In response to this appeal, $3,000 was granted by our Society from the General Fund for 1950.

The Foreign Missions Conference of North America

At a special meeting on April 25, 1950, in Philadelphia, an important action was taken by the Foreign Missions Conference in the decision to become a part of the proposed National Council of the Churches of Christ in The United States of America. This means that the Foreign Missions Conference will become the Foreign Division of the above National Council. However, provision has been made in the proposed constitution of the Foreign Division for Mission Boards whose denominations are not within the National Council, to be members of the Division. All Mission Boards and agencies which are now members of the F.M.C., become charter members of the Division at the inaugural meeting in November, 1950. Thus our relationship to the F.M.C., remains unchanged, although there will be some changes in nomenclature. The area and functional committees will remain unchanged in their purposes and functions.

The Committee on World Literacy and Christian Literature has continued its usual program of channelling grants from Mission Boards for Christian Literature to the various areas. Under this committee Dr. Frank Laubach has continued to carry out literacy campaigns in various areas. The areas of special interest to us where this had been done this year are Korea and Angola, and thrilling reports have come from both countries of the success of the campaigns. In each case there was good preparation by the local groups and follow-up work is being carried out.

The Christian Literature Society of China

This Society has been able to carry on a fairly full program of production in spite of political upheaval and change. There have been difficulties due to rising and uncertain production costs and the interruptions in communications but during the last six months of 1949, 55 new books and pamphlets were published in Shanghai and received wide distribution. Up to the end of the year there had been little or no interference from without in the work of the Christian Literature Society of China, but they have not yet been able to register any of their magazines with the government and this has meant increased cost of distribution. Miss Margaret Brown returned to China last autumn, spending some time in Great Britain en route where she met supporting Boards there and spoke on behalf of the C.L.S. She reached Hong Kong in December and had hoped to secure an entry permit to return to Shanghai. This has not yet been possible and there are no immediate prospects. Meanwhile, she is very busy in Hong Kong in work for the C.L.S., and she also assists our Society and the Board of Overseas Missions in forwarding mail to other parts of China and keeping us in touch with developments for all of which we are deeply grateful.

United Board for Christian Colleges in China

During this past year all of the Christian Colleges have come under the new Government of China. As private colleges and universities, they have been required to register with the government, but so far neither their independence nor their Christian purpose have been threatened. The publicly avowed policy of the new régime is religious freedom and the college authorities have been using this to reinforce their position. There are, however, indications of increasing pressure to conform to communist policies. In each one of the colleges an indoctrination course in communist principles has been given which is required of all students and faculty. Courses on Marxist political and social theories must be included in the curriculum. There has been considerable change in the administration. They are each directed now by a council composed of representatives of the administrative officers, the faculty, students and servants. This is in line with the demands of the new government for every institution. In spite of all this, there is evidence that Christian witness is continuing by individuals and in voluntary fellowship groups. There are reports of students receiving baptism as a result of such groups. The future is uncertain but we still have an opportunity for Christian witness among those almost 10,000 students in the 13 Christian colleges who will be among the leaders of China tomorrow. It is of the utmost urgency that we continue to support these institutions or they will most certainly be taken over by the government and be closed to all Christian influence.

Conclusion

There has been much to discourage and alarm us this year, difficulties which seemed insurmountable, but through it all we have been led by Him to whom all things are possible. To our missionaries, who are our representatives in lands abroad, we express our appreciation and confidence. They have borne the heat and burden of the day. For them there is sacrifice, hard work, difficult living conditions and sometimes personal danger. We pray that they may be given the vision and courage needed for the tasks.

As we close our year's work and look ahead may we rededicate ourselves and all that we have and are to the service of our Master, Jesus Christ, praying that He will use us for the furtherance of His Kingdom throughout the world.

RUTH H. TAYLOR

AFRICA

MRS. IRA W. PIERCE, Secretary

BEGINNINGS

In 1886 Rev. and Mrs. Walter T. Currie were sent to Angola, a Portuguese Colony on the West Coast of Africa, to establish a Mission for the Congregational Church of Canada. The American Congregational Churches had opened mission work there in 1880 and Dr. and Mrs. Currie went first to Bailundo, an American station. In 1888 Chissamba was chosen by Dr. Currie as the first Canadian station.

The first W.M.S. missionary to be appointed by the Canadian Society was Miss Minnehaha Clarke, who went to Angola in 1890. She labored under difficult conditions for three years and then went on to higher service in 1893.

A grant of about 9,000 acres was obtained from the Portuguese Government and in 1914 a new station, Dondi, was opened. Here Currie Institute, a training institution for boys, was established under the principalship of Dr. John T. Tucker, and some two years later the American Board decided to build Means School, a training school for girls. At the time of Church Union in 1925 it was decided to make these two schools union institutions, the American and Canadian Missions sharing in them. A hospital was also built on the same station and the work carried on co-operatively. The Church work of the Dondi area is centred at this station also, about a mile and a half from Currie Institute. This is called Lutamo, but is on the Dondi concession. Here are the Brantford Day School, Boys' and Girls' hostels, the Girls' Vocational School and our missionaries' residences. In order to consolidate the territory lying between Dondi and Chissamba, the Camundongo station was taken over in 1920 by the Canadian Mission from the American Board.

Our Mission has contact with about 500,000 people and, in addition, the Selas tribes of about 200,000 are urgently appealing to us to open up work in their area.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

There has been great rejoicing in Angola this year over the restoration to health of Misses Edith Brown, Millicent Howse, and Margaret Halliday, and their return to their work. Miss Elizabeth Utting has spent this year in Lisbon in language study and she will proceed to Angola at the end of the summer. Miss Eleanor Kirker has resigned to be married on June 3rd to Dr. Allan Knight of the Board of Overseas Missions staff. We wish her every happiness and are glad she will still be working in Angola.

We deeply regret to report the passing of Miss Elizabeth S. Mackenzie on March 3rd, at Chissamba, after a four months' illness. Her loss is a severe one both to our Society and to the Church in Angola. She was especially gifted in the Umbundu and Portuguese language and was teaching the Umbundu language to new missionaries and doing translation and literature work. It will be hard indeed to find some one to take her place. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved family.

Christian literature is an especially important part of the mission program. The Literature Production Committee of the Mission have considerable material ready for printing including Bible Lessons for school use, school text books, home economics lessons, agricultural booklets, a booklet on marriage taken from the "Source Book of Home and Family Life" by Dr. Irma Highbaugh of China.

The lack of an adequate water supply at Dondi has caused concern for some years. At the request of Mission Council last year, approval was given to the installation of a gravity water system for the Central Institutions at Dondi as approved by the Mission and the Africa Joint Consultative Committee at a total cost of $7,500, of which our share is $1,000, and to its extension to Lutamo at a total cost of $3,000, of which our share is $1,500 since Lutamo is a Canadian station. $1,500 for Lutamo was granted a few years ago and the $1,000 for Dondi was granted from Property Account.

A project of "hospital supplies" was undertaken by our Supply Department this year at the request of the Mission and a grant of $350 was made from the Estimate to purchase the materials necessary. These supplies were made by selected Presbyterials. The Mission has requested the continuance of this plan on a permanent basis.

Miss Marjorie Millar has asked that she be permitted to work at Benguela at the coast, and Mission Council have approved as from October of this year. Consequently we have made a grant of $100 from Provisional and Emergency Estimates to provide for fuel and light.

The literacy campaign under Dr. Laubach's direction was a most thrilling experience. 64 missionaries from all the missions in Angola attended. Over 1000 Africans came, many walking several days. 400 pupils were graduated and about 400 teachers received certificates. Follow-up work is now going on.

Two delegates have been appointed by the Angola Evangelical Alliance to attend the World Council of Christian Education in Toronto, August 10th-16th this summer. They are Pastor Jesse Chipenda and Pastor Frederico Mussili. The latter is a graduate of our Lutamo school and took his secondary education on a scholarship from our Society. Both are very fine experienced pastors and it will be wonderful to have them in North America—the first Africans to come here from Angola. Pastor Frederico will spend most of the time in Canada after the Council, and Pastor Jesse will be in the U.S.A., but it is hoped there can be an interchange for at least a brief period. Our Society is responsible for one-half the expenses of Pastor Frederico.

The following property grants have been made this year from the Property Account:

Transfer of property titles, $1,250.00; Lutamo residence equipment, $150.00; Mission office equipment, $500.00; W.M.S. furniture (Camundougo and Dondi), $500.00; W.M.S. furniture (Miss Millar at Benguela), $200.00; Granary for Lutamo School, $1,000.00; Totalling $3,600.00.

"THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE WIDE EARTH"

The work of the year as the missionaries see it.

EDUCATIONAL

Camundongo.—"The New Year of 1949 felt very new indeed when it ushered into Camundongo 20 new students entering the vocational school." In this way Miss Frances Walbridge begins her annual report, and continues, "My furlough had kept me from having any dry season vocational schools from which to draw pupils for the wet season school. And with Dr. Laubach's new set of lessons I could not resist having a little school with which to experiment.

"March was examination month and several types of schools closed. There came to the Mission, Meaus School graduates and undergraduates who would later go out to take charge of the 175 girls attending the dry season vocational schools. Dorothy Schaffer and Eleanor Kirker came over to help teach them the various courses they would be teaching later on.

"After Joint Annual Meeting in April the dry season began in earnest. A carefully-worked out schedule kept me moving from one to another of the four vocational schools located in Chissamba and Camundongo areas with time out for the week of Pentecost services and the ordaining of Pastor André Capenje in Chissamba. I tried to be present at the opening and closing days of each school. Schools consisted of from 18 to 80 girls, and they had lessons in Bible reading, knitting, agriculture, etc.

"The outstanding feature of the schools this year was the opening of a joint Camundongo-Chissamba school in the area occupied by the Luimbi tribe. To it came members of the Umbundu and Cheokue tribes as well as the Luimbis. This is the first time such a school has been held in that area, and since the girls of both the Luimbi and Cheokue tribes marry when they are eleven and twelve years of age we invited the childless married women to come. We feared they might not make much progress and might not be co-operative, but they were among the best students we had, and of one accord they assured us that they were coming back next year for more lessons.

"When visiting the vocational school in the Camundongo area, I took the opportunity to visit as many local village schools as possible. One has to see with one's eyes to appreciate the handicap under which pupils, teachers and parents labor, each with his own needs and failings.

"The opening of Sanders School was scheduled for the beginning of August this year, for it was felt that the boys needed a longer school term. So we opened school and then dashed off to close the Luimbi vocational school. Such things are possible when there is the splendid African staff in charge.

"In the middle of the month an invasion occurred when 300 little Grade I and II village children swarmed over the Mission leaving behind it a colorful trail of orange skins. With the staff of teachers we undertook to give them written and oral exams. Those passing went home to get the necessary fee for entering the intermediate school where Grades III, IV and V study. This school is almost entirely supported by the fees of the children who pay for all their food for four months and almost all of the two teachers' salaries. Enrolment brought us heartwarming tales of the ways, in which parents strove to gather together money for the children's fees, sure sign that they recognize the value of the schools.

"With holidays ended only one school remained to be opened, and that was the vocational school. In it are 30 girls chosen from those attending the dry season schools, and in addition are 12 girls taking the Certificate Course—First Year, which formerly has been given at Means School.

"With the coming of the rains in November the tempo of life has increased and every spare moment is taken up with sowing seed in the fields and the garden plots. Later the teachers will try to introduce slowly into their diet raw foodstuffs from their garden plots. Thus we hope to improve their diets in the villages."

Camundongo.—Miss Dorothy Schaffler continues the report from Camundongo. "It was a relief," she says, "to leave the inactivity of daily language lessons and plunge into a busy dry season program. I wanted to see as many as I could of the various kinds of work which I might be called upon to direct a little later on. So I attended two girls' leadership camps, two girls' camps, and part of a Vocational School, where I found myself directing singing and games in Umbundu that made the girls' stare in open-mouthed amazement. Then I directed a camp for Portuguese girls near Dondi Mission and was thankful that most of them also understood a lot of Umbundu.

"After so much camping I was glad to have a two weeks' holiday in the Missionary House at Lobito before coming back to the task of moving my belongings from Chissamba to Camundongo. Here I have tried to continue a little Umbundu study, translating worship services and stories and writing a Christmas tableau which was presented by girls' groups in a number of different centres this Christmas. I have made several trips to visit girls' groups and rallies of Sunday School teachers.

"Here on the station I have charge of the sale of books, the Girls' Club program on Saturday mornings, some singing periods, and weekly recreation nights for the school boys and girls. At the Christmas season this involved a final week of four Christmas parties to direct, a children's tableau in the church, two girls' tableaux at the leper camp and at the school closing, and the directing of the Christmas cantata, which was suddenly left in my charge when the choir leader was kept in Silva Porto for the week of official exams. Christmas morning our six orphans all came to church in pretty pink dresses, which I made as a gift from our girls' groups who had voted their offerings for them."

Chissamba.—The annual report from Chissamba, full of the activities of a consecrated busy missionary, was written by one who was greatly beloved by the African people and by all who knew her, Miss Elizabeth S. Mackenzie. Not many weeks after her report was written, she took ill and passed away on March 3, 1950, after thirty-one years of service in Angola. The closing sentence of this report is her voice speaking to the members of the Woman's Missionary Society in Canada. She says, "We are confident that you will continue your prayerful and practical interest in Angola and join with us in stretching out a hand of Christian love to a people who in truth are 'wrestlers with a troubled sea'."

"Chissamba continued as a centre for the study of Umbundu till well on into the year. Senhor Antonino Hei was an efficient and faithful colleague in the work of putting this indispensable tool into the hands of our new missionaries.

"The Women's Day of Prayer in Chissamba area is usually extended to a week-end of services for women. On the Friday, seven of us started off by car for two of the centres where services were being held. Three of our company were left at the first point of call and picked up on the way back. The women conduct the service in a simplified form but the spirit and main content are the same the world over.

"On the Sunday I went to another pastoral centre where about 150 women and girls had come together. They paraded around the village singing hymns. One of our Means School graduates, wife of the local chief (who is a graduate of Currie Institute), was the preacher and another Means School graduate led the service, which was dignified, reverent and helpful.

"On invitation of Rev. Theodore Tucker, I went to a school for catechists in the Chitembo area of the Dondi Church in June, when Miss Amy Schaeffer was a pleasant and helpful companion. The area was first evangelized by the Umbundu Christians, and it is very gratifying to see the leadership of the work being gradually taken over by converts from their own tribe. Each catechist represents a small nucleus of believers or at least of listeners. Most of them have made a clearing in the bush near an unevangelized village and erected a temporary grass building for worship and school, and a house in which to live. These tiny settlements constitute the beginnings of new Christian communities. Visits to some of these villages in the afternoons gave us an idea of their tremendous need, as well as of the appalling apathy of many of the inhabitants. One realizes how discouraging must be the task of some of these catechists and how much they need a strong foundation for their own faith, and hope for hours of discouragement. It was a thrilling experience to open up to them some of the pages of the one Book which can give them these requisites.

"A School for Pastors' wives from all stations of the American and Canadian Missions was held for three weeks in March at Dondi. The response was enthusiastic. Mrs. Collins was given charge, and I gave a Bible course.

"A week-end in camp where deacons and deaconesses from Chissamba and Camundongo gathered for a Retreat proved a time of spiritual uplift. The constant calls on these workers to hear the discouraging and oftentimes sordid reports of failure on the part of Church members, to help settle questions of Church discipline, and to strengthen weakening ties in family life, all make it important that their sense of spiritual values be kept alert and their confidence in spiritual forces unshaken.

"It was my privilege to be a delegate to the meeting of the Angola Evangelical Alliance at Luanda in June, and to be a guest of Dr. and Mrs. Tucker in their new home. The meeting was comprised of missionary and African delegates and all sessions were conducted in the Portuguese language. The opening devotional session was led by Pastor Julio Miguel of Luanda, who expressed deep appreciation of what missions had meant to his people, and he appealed for an understanding of their present problems and an adaptation to them of the Gospel which had already proved so powerful a redemptive force."

Chissamba.—This report is continued by Miss Eleanor Kirker, who on June 3, 1950, at Chissamba, became the wife of Dr. Allan Thomas Knight. For 1949 she writes, "Camps this year were even more interesting than last dry season. Could have had something to do with my progress in the language! Margaret Dawson came from Dondi to direct the Girls' Leaders' camp and to help Dorothy Schaufler and myself to understand this part of our new work, in the Bié area. All the leaders came on foot, and many of them had to sleep at least one night on the way. To help them with their loads, which always includes a baby, I tried this year a new experiment. I bought bags of meal and corn and beans and some fish, and turned the back of our pick-up into a store, so that they bought their food right at the camp. They were glad of the arrangement. We studied about the making of the Bible and they made little Bible bookcases. On Sunday they presented a Bible play for the visitors and villagers who came from nearby. Our closing ceremony was held down by the river. Each camper 'put to sea' a tiny boat made by herself from a thick leaf on which stood a tiny candle. As she watched it sail downstream lighting the darkness of the underbrush, she prayed that she might be one of God's candlelights, bringing light to her village and brightening the lives of the girls whom she served.

"I have been in charge of the Girls' Boarding School this year, and the girls have taught me a great many things.

"Sunday School work among the younger children has also been an enjoyable part of my work. I am particularly pleased to have the use of the spacious kindergarten building for work among children near the mission station, for it affords opportunities for recreation, handwork and worship. One of the missionary-minded school teachers spent three week-ends in the villages helping Junior Sunday School teachers; my own visitations so far have been limited to Sundays.

"Angola is sending three delegates to the World Conference of Christian Education in Toronto. One of those African Christians who will represent the Church here will go from Chissamba. I have had a small part in helping him with the study of English and in telling him about the new country he will visit. He will be able to tell you better than any letter of ours, better than any report we can ever write, better than any pictures you will ever see of our work, what The United Church of Canada is doing in Angola. He will be a living witness."

Lutamo.—Returning after a year's furlough, Miss Kate Rutherford says, "In leaving Canada to begin my fourth term in Angola, it gave me a great faith in the future of our work to know that those who 'tarry by the goods' share deeply, intelligently and with great consecration, with those of us who go 'down to the battle' in Africa. It is a battle—the battle against ignorance, witchcraft, and evil, a battle for the very life of the spirit, mind and body.

"After our arrival, one of the first things that came my way, was the reorganization of the station Sunday School. The first step was to shift to the capable shoulders of our almost-blind retired pastor and his wife who live over in Chianga, the responsibility for Sunday School with the boys of the nearby village Boarding School of 102 boys, and for all of the children on their side of the river. That left us with about 400 pupils but even so, with only ten classrooms and the assembly hall of the school in which to properly accommodate classes, it took several weeks before all the younger ones could find the class and teacher to whom they belonged, for most of the boys' classes are out under the trees. We have a class of twenty small children.

"The theological class is co-operating with us by coming out on Friday afternoons and taking charge of the preparatory classes.

"Along with the station Sunday School work I was asked to organize the catechumen classes for boys and girls preparing for Church membership. We divided them into groups according to the year in which they became catechumens. There are fifty-one girls and seventy-two boys in the classes. I teach a group of girls whenever I am on the station on Sunday. The other girls' groups are taught by the Boarding School matron and the wife of the local pastor; and the boys' groups, by four teachers.

Regional Schools

"Our primary Regional Schools were in session in the dry season, beginning in April. At the beginning of October classes for the fifth-year boys opened in seven pastors' centres. The fifth-year pupils come, some of them long distances, so they live in a dormitory and pool their money for food, and a man from the village oversees the cooking and supervises the main agricultural work done by the school. The teacher is responsible for lessons in gardening and putting into practice with the boys, the lessons taught in class. There are simple sewing lessons too, for which the teacher is responsible.

"We appointed a man with a good many years' teaching experience, as part-time supervisor of these seven widely separated classes with 189 pupils in all, and of two village primary schools, one with 28 pupils, the other with 142. He has a bicycle but even so the way is long and sometimes hard in the wet season. He came back quite undaunted from a trip on which he had found a bridge out and had had to walk miles out of his way, part of the time carrying his bicycle on his shoulder over paths too rough to ride. He is finding a great response to his talks on lessons in agriculture with which Dr. Knight has provided the schools; and Dr. Gilchrist has given him some points in Public Health to emphasize wherever he goes.

"The work which the School Supervisors do is a most important one in bringing a sense of unity to our Church which, geographically, is very widespread, and apt to become divided on matters where unity is strength. These men bring news from afar to people in lonely pioneer districts, and they travel with their pockets full of letters which link relatives and friends and Church officers to each other in the great fellowship of Christian brotherhood.

"Here at Dondi we are all busy with plans for the February visit of Dr. Frank Laubach and his party. Christmas is only a few days off. Schools closed yesterday and the girls and boys are off over the long weary miles of native trails, to the dozens of villages from which they come, and a great quiet has settled over the station. The evening before they went home the Christmas drama was presented in Brantford School assembly hall."

Lutamo.—Rev. Amy E. Schauffer continues the record of the work at Lutamo: "The annual meeting stationed me at Lutamo and May found me moved across the river. The dry season brought many new experiences. I went out into the villages and lived a little closer to the life of the people. The work of supervising village schools was far too great for a newcomer without first studying the system with one who knows the area, teachers, curriculum and policies thoroughly, but I did what little I could because there was no one else available until Miss Kate Rutherford returned from furlough to take up the reins again.

"I was very much impressed with the work of the students from Currie Institute and from the station school, who go out into tiny isolated villages to teach during the dry season. They suffer loneliness and misunderstanding, but they carry on as best they know how, and many times make a remarkable contribution to the uplift of the community.

"I wish I could describe adequately some of the places I visited this summer. The schools vary from nice adobe buildings to temporary grass shelters. None have desks. The benches consist of rough hewn boards supported by stones or adobe bricks at each end. Slates may be nice new ones or inadequate broken remnants handed down from an older brother. Except for the Bible lessons which are in Umbundu, all lessons must be taught in Portuguese right from the first grade on, so it is uphill work for them. Yet in spite of the difficulties, there is a hunger for learning, and many more students are knocking at the door of the Mission schools than we can accommodate.

"My most satisfying trip was the one made with Miss Beth Mackenzie down into the Chitembo area. Most of the people there belong to the Gangela tribe, but they understand Umbundu pretty well. They are not as far advanced as our Ovimbundu.

"We spent ten days in the pastoral centre of the Chitembo area, Zundu, teaching in a school for catechists in the morning and visiting outlying villages in the afternoon while the catechists made adobe bricks for the new school-church they are building. What a comfort it was to have an experienced missionary with me this time. She knew the area and the Church leaders, and we had a wonderful time discussing the many problems we encountered. She also had a knack of giving me confidence to use my Umbundu and forget my fears and self-consciousness. I shall never forget our campfires at night with those men and women, so eager to learn of the things of God. Some of the wives had come too, and after my Bible lesson on Genesis with all of them together, the women came out under the trees with me for reading lessons, while Miss Mackenzie continued with the men on Ephesians. She also taught courses on the Psalms, home and family life, Portuguese conversation, and the village teacher, an institute boy gave a few classes in agriculture.

"I also helped a little with the dry season vocational schools and a women's camp, not enough to contribute much, but enough to appreciate all the work and preparation that should go into these activities."

Lutamo—Brantford Day School.—"Our guest speaker at the school closing at the end of March, Pastor Basilio Hila of Chissamba, urged us all, pupils, African teachers and missionaries alike, to work together with a united heart, to be united in aim, and in the carrying out of that aim for the good of the schools," reports Dona Celenia Pires Ferreira from the Brantford Day School, where she has been teaching since April, 1937.

"We began the school year in May with two classes under the capable teaching of Senhores Tavares Hungu lo and Diamantino Malaquias, two former W.M.S. scholarship students at the Liceu in Nova Lisboa. There were 46 pupils, 43 of whom wrote the government examinations. For the first time we had girls in the class—four of them—and in spite of the fact that the examinations were very difficult, two of them were successful in December when the examinations were done, and 23 boys also passed. The rest of the school opened later, making a total of 470 pupils. Besides these we sent 52 boys to a school in Chianga, a nearby village, as we had no room for them here.

"Of the 470 pupils, almost a quarter are day pupils who come from the Mission and from nearby villages, some of them walking one or two hours to get here. At the school closing last year one little girl was highly commended because she had not missed a single day of school all year in spite of the fact that her home is a long way off.

"In September, of the pupils who had finished the course here in March, we sent five girls to the four-year Diploma course in Means School, and 19 entered the first year of the Certificate course which is being given at the stations this year with the thought that they will go to Means next year for the second year. Twenty-three boys entered the first year of Currie Institute.

"Of the ten African teachers of Brantford School there are two who have given long years of faithful service. One of these, Senhor Evaristo Muhongo, after 15 years of fruitful teaching, interrupted only by his three years as a W.M.S. scholarship student in the Liceu, is leaving in January to enter the Theological Course.

"Singing in the school has been directed by Mrs. Theodore Tucker assisted by one of our African teachers. The special services at the close of school for the Christmas holiday was in the form of a drama arranged and directed by Misses Halliday and Rutherford and Mrs. Tucker.

"When Miss Mackenzie was transferred to Chissamba in 1947, I assumed responsibility for the selling of books at Lutamo. During this year sales have been high, and in the week when crowds of people were at the Mission for Pentecost, we sold almost two hundred dollars' worth of books. Unfortunately we never have enough copies of the New Testament or of the Psalms to meet the demand. The need for good literature of all kinds is a very pressing one."

Dondi—Means School.—After a mid-term holiday at Cape Town where she stayed at the Andrew Murray Missionary Home and met with folk from many mission fields, Miss Edith M. Clark says she came back refreshed physically and spiritually.

"Last year the government ruled that all the families scattered around the Concession and near it should build together in one village. They built just off our property, about twenty or thirty minutes' walk from our house and they called their village 'Sacipangele,' which means 'I did it against my will.' Even if it is against their wishes, community life has some advantages. They now have two small community halls or shelters where they meet regularly. Some Means School students go over weekly to take charge of the children's Sunday School under the direction of Miss Dawson, while I lead the Adult Bible Class, which has an average attendance of about 40. I also have a mid-week meeting with the women for handwork at which the Means girls help.

"About one-quarter of the families are working together on their kitchen gardens as a family project to improve their daily diet. About nine-tenths of the men have been on our work list and it is a joy to meet them now as neighbors and try to help them to more abundant living. About one-quarter of the families are now having daily family prayers."

Dondi.—In beginning her report Miss Margaret E. Dawson describes a camp at Bailundo, worked in as an extra during the summer holiday at Means School. She writes, "This year I was able to accept the long-standing invitation to conduct a leadership camp in the Bailundo area. And what a camp! Miss Dorothy Schaufler went along to assist and to gather ideas for her work. And with us went five of the best girls' work leaders of the Bié area. How fortunate for us that they went along, for the Bailundo camp turned into a 'Four in One' of two weeks' duration. Twenty-five deaconesses came to hear what our girls' work program was all about. Thirty young women came to prepare themselves for the leadership of girls in the Bailundo area. With the young women came 26 babies ranging from a few days of age to three or four years. And 43 girls were there to act as assistants to the women to cook their food and care for their babies. A Means School girl had gatherings daily with the small children; Dorothy had groups with the girls; our five Bié leaders outlined the program to the young women and I had meetings with the deaconesses. Reports from Miss Dibble, who is directing the work there, tell us that numbers of leaders have been formally dedicated by the various Church areas and that the work is making progress throughout the whole Bailundo area, with each week more and more girls added to the rising number of members of African Girls In Training.

"During one session of the meeting of the Board of Education in February, Dr. Gilchrist presented a paper on 'Education for Life.' The discussion which followed the reading of Dr. Gilchrist's paper resulted in a six weeks' conference held in Dondi during May and June with a view to training educators who would go back into the villages to give demonstrations in agriculture, extend the public health program and generally improve the methods of primary education, relating what is taught to the life of the people. It was my privilege to give lessons in Pedagogy and arithmetic at that time.

"Since the Dondi conference had been a delegated one with only a few teachers from each Mission station, each Mission station conducted other conferences for those who had not been privileged to attend. I enjoyed the ten-day conference in Chilessso, where I spent a happy time with the 38 teachers gathered there, trying to show them how to teach writing and arithmetic to small children.

"Work at Means School is very different from work on the stations and it takes quite a while to adjust oneself to the new life. A Mission station is a centre from which the missionaries serve a great area divided into several districts, each district under the guidance of an ordained African pastor, again divided into smaller districts, each one under the leadership of a deacon and deaconesses. On a Mission station one has to work with and through the Church leaders. This necessitates constant "onjangos" (meetings) with them, consulting about methods of work, etc. This makes it impossible to carry on a routine teaching program. Here at Means we are a self-contained community and each missionary can follow more closely here, her teaching program, although with only three of us, that is not easily done here either. But what an opportunity to work with the girlhood of Angola, guiding the mothers-to-be of the future leaders of our Church, teaching girls who will eventually become leaders themselves.

"The work at Means can be divided into four main departments, Bible, Household Science, Pedagogy and Academic. During one half of the day the girls are taught their Bible and academic subjects; during the other half they take domestic science, cooking, sewing, laundry, etc., and have their practice teaching.

"The third and fourth year girls each have two periods a week of theory and each girl has from three to five weeks of observation and teaching in the practice school.

"The girls come to the practice school to observe and teach just as is done in any normal school at home.

"Our senior girls are given opportunity each week to learn how to teach Sunday School. Each Sunday afternoon one half of the fourth year girls teach the other girls of the school under Miss Sumnerville's capable leadership. The rest of the fourth year girls go to Sachipanguela, a village 20 minutes' walk away. There they teach five classes of children with an average attendance of 55 each week.

"The girls are taught to conduct women's groups. Each week Miss Clark takes a number of girls with her to Sachipanguela where the girls get training for their future village work, teaching some 35 village women."

Dondi.—"For the past four years," says Miss Marjorie Millar, "my year's activities are divided into two parts; during the school year, which is the rainy season, I am a member of the staff at Currie Institute, teaching Pedagogy classes to the boys and young men in the mornings and supervising their teaching of the children in Hay Practice School in the afternoons; the dry season months are spent at the coast among the large numbers of people who have come there from all our up-country Missions and who need the help of a missionary from time to time.

"Currie Institute this year had an enrolment of over 300 students. There are so many classes that for three days in the week every period all morning is full of Pedagogy classes, but I divide up some of them with my assistant, Sr. Adolfo Chipaca. There are 165 children in the Hay Practice School, and from school opening in September until Christmas, Currie Institute students of the third and fourth years did their practice teaching and observing. Those of the second year will have their turn after the New Year.

"The student teachers directed the children's Christmas program, to which as usual the parents received special invitations. We followed one of Mrs. Dow's White Gift Services—only without the white wrappings. The last night before the holidays the fourth year students presented a Christmas play, "Kings in Judea," assisted by the teachers' wives, who took their parts so well.

"My activities at the coast began in July when I went to Benguela for a month. It was encouraging to see the progress made by some of the women in their reading since the previous year, and what is more important their progress in Christian character and living.

"We again had classes in Umbundu reading, Bible, singing and hygiene. In Bible we studied the book of Mark. As the regular Church service is in the afternoon, the women's group which meets Sunday morning, paid visits at that time to a different centre each week to hold services, sometimes being accompanied by some of the men who were free to go.

"I spent three weeks at Kalundu in the home of Pastor Macedo Pina, who was ordained this year and is supported by the whole Umbundu Church as their missionary to the contract laborers in the fisheries along the Southern coast. Dombe Grande itself is not on the coast, but is the centre of the very extensive operations of the Angola Sugar Company. Pastor Macedo also ministers to the many contract laborers in its employ, as well as trying to win for Christ the people of the Dombe tribe, whose homes lie close about the sanzala where his "parsonage" is located, with the church next door.

"Since my shorter visit there the year before, there has been a large increase in the number of women in the Church, as many of the men employed by the company had sent for their wives, who had remained up country, to come to join them. In the mornings I had a class of children for Bible stories, singing and outdoor games, a most refreshing group of young live wires. With two exceptions, at least one parent of each of these children is a Dombe. In the afternoons the women and girls met for Umbundu reading, beginning with the picture-word charts, and for the study of Pilgrim's Progress.

"The women of Kalundu have fields but they are distant from their homes, about an hour and a half's walk, all the nearby available land being occupied by the company's plantations of sugar-cane. One evening a number of us with the pastor visited and held a service in one of the compounds of the workers of the sugar company. These young men, many of them mere boys, have been sent there from widely distant areas and from all our Missions. They too appreciated very much the gramophone and the opportunity to buy books. Many more wanted Bibles than could be supplied. Another evening we visited and held a service in one of the sanzalas of the voluntary labourers and their families.

"The last Friday night of my stay in Dombe we had surprise week-end visitors, Rev. Larry Henderson, the new missionary of the American Board, who with his wife and family is now located at Lobito, and Rev. Jesse Chipenda. Larry had just purchased a new bright red Chevrolet pick-up, and in it the next day a goodly number of us made what was my first visit to a fishery. Owing to getting stuck from time to time in the deep sand of the road, we didn't have long to spend when we arrived there, but it gave one a glimpse of the lives of those who toil amid great hardships, set, in the case of this fishery, in a scene of great natural beauty. Though their work hours did not permit the holding of a service, Pastor Jesse's quiet little personal words to the laborers as they passed could not fail to give inspiration and uplift to their burdened lives. A number too availed themselves of the opportunity to buy books.

"On our return to Dombe that evening there was a closing program in the church.

"I returned to Dondi in September, but went to Lobito for another special week-end. It was the occasion of two important events—one, the ordination of Sr. Frederico Calumbo Mussili to the Christian ministry at the Coast, the other, what they called "half-a-jubilee" in honor of Pastor Jesse Chipenda, who had begun work there in September, 1924. He is one of the men who will represent the Umbundu Church at the World Conference of Religious Education in Toronto in 1950, and he is one of Angola's best Christian sons."

MEDICAL

Chissamba.—"My second year in Angola passed! How fast the time has gone! How short the days have been! How numerous the tasks unfinished!" writes Miss Edith M. Radley.

"In 1949 five land marks stand out bright and clear. The first is in April, that momentous day when I successfully completed the first year Umbundu examinations.

"May brought us the welcome return of Dr. and Mrs. Strangway and their family and the sudden opening of four more wards and the nursery, and a rise from an average of ten patients to sixty and sixty-five within a few weeks. It seemed as though everyone in the Chissamba area had waited to be sick until the doctor's return. Operations and maternity cases; ward and laundry and sewing supervision; unpacking and storing—all added to the work of introducing four new girl nurses—and later three boys—to the mysteries of hospital routine!

"August and the long-expected arrival of Miss Edith Brown who has been nursing in Chissamba for more than twenty years. How happy and thankful we all are to have her back at Chissamba again. Along with other duties she took over the operating room and maternity cases after she arrived, and I have attempted ward and nursing supervision.

"November and the surprising accomplishment of several extemporaneous Umbundu prayers at our hospital worship periods! Yes, they were short and probably full of mistakes, but they were in Umbundu and at least a step advanced from the written prayers which I had been following so closely.

"December and my first organized Public Health work in the villages. True, throughout the year we had done a little village work such as arranging for whooping-cough clinics, and visiting odd dispensaries. But in December the hospital staff arranged two days a week to be kept for village visiting, and so I was able to make a number of visits in connection with leper work. I loved this work and look forward to a larger program in 1950."

Dondi—Sarah Hurd Scott Memorial Hospital.—"The opening event of 1949 was the beginning of the nursing course again," writes Miss Mary E. MacDougall. "Our hospital was staffed mainly with students who had finished their first year of training. Some time previously the missionary medical workers had discussed the training of African nurses, the course they should have, etc., and an agreement was reached that there should be a three-year course, eleven months' study and practical work with one month holiday. This is necessary if adequate training is to be given, yet it is a long step for the Africans to work eleven months with only one month holiday. Many of our students are married and have families and thus such a long period presents real problems for them. The Church does what it can for financial support and help comes through scholarships from other sources, very gratefully received. We are proud to have six African girls this year and we hope support will be forthcoming for others also.

"In the month of October we had a very happy time in Dondi when 14 medical workers from about ten different Mission stations came to learn. I have said 'medical workers' rather than nurses because sometimes those who have the supervision of medical work are not doctors or nurses but nevertheless try to do their share in directing the work. We were delighted to have Dr. Mary Cushman with us also. In this course Dr. Gilchrist presented new developments in medicine and diseases, treatment and diagnosis. Frankie Botham seized the interest of the members of the group by showing them tape worm eggs; eggs of various other types of intestinal worms so common here, which prejudice the health of the African (and sometimes the missionary).

"What's in the mind of the patient?" Doesn't that sound interesting! And so it was as we listened to some of Marie Crosby's observations made both through personal contacts with our patients and in her reading on African psychology.

"Not of least interest was an evening in which many of the articles contained in the 'Divining Basket' were explained by Dr. Gilchrist and by one of our nurses who has come from a non-Christian background.

"With 34 students to teach; preparing lessons and at the same time doing surgery and general routine hospital work, it would seem that there would be little time for village visitation. And yet unless our teaching can be made practical and applicable to village life it is of little value. Thus I was thrilled to participate in the plan suggested that once a week on Tuesday, half of our second-year students go to a village for some practical demonstrations.

"Linked up with this type of work is the Public Health Course of four months' duration. The students in this course, which might better be called 'Rural Sanitation,' are men chosen by the Church whom they feel will become leaders in this type of work. Their work is a study of ways and means of prevention of disease such as malarial control, tick control; digging sanitary latrines in the fight against hook worm and round worm infection; construction of better houses; lime plastering, etc.; things that are essential to better living conditions for the people in their villages.

"A year and a half ago when I came to Dondi Hospital the foundations for new houses for our lepers had been dug. The foundations were there also for a chapel, for two workshops where they will learn crafts; and of course, a building for their treatments and two rooms for patients who may need special observation for a short time. We want to get away from the idea of calling this new home 'a camp' and think of it more as their village. The lepers themselves have named it 'Elavoko,' which means 'Hope.' The dedication service was held on December 18th with nearly 80 lepers present.

"It is good to see from my office window the walls of our maternity building going up. It will be a wonderful day when it is finished and we are able to have space to care for our mothers and babies properly. Slowly but surely the African women are learning to come to hospital to have their babies. Beside the maternity building there will be also a building for our orphan babies. Here we hope to be able to carry out a better system of teaching in the care of these wee ones. But all new additions to our hospital plant mean the need for added missionary supervision. That means we need more nurses, doesn't it?"

Dondi.—Even in a W.M.S. report, Miss Frances Botham likes to talk about the dear little chocolate baby she is mothering. She says, "You see I expected to have a laboratory in Africa and to have fine African men and women to train as technicians and I had sometimes dreamed of having an African choir, but I never thought of having to care for and play with and love a little chocolate baby. She turns all my spare time into a busy hustle of knitting, sewing, letting down, turning up and patching. Six-year-old Mimi Ferguson said as she played with my giggling toddler, 'She's just like our nicest white babies.' And of course she is. She lived in my office at the hospital for several weeks and was a splendid subject for teaching baby care to our men and women student nurses. Since then she has gone with me for my holidays and has been an example of a clean healthy baby, and a very lovely one.

"The rest of my year has been spent in finishing formal language lessons, experiencing first-hand malaria, strongyloidiasis, and amoebic dysentery. It sounds bad, but then I always did believe in medical people knowing what the patient has to put up with—makes us more sympathetic! In between these things I began to work in my lab—a lab which Dr. Gilchrist began and in which he is keenly interested. Most of my time has been spent reorganizing and enlarging the work already begun and in getting enough background and experience to make a good three-year plan to carry out during the remainder of my first term. Next year will see the plan in action. One of the most satisfying things about teaching in the lab is the keenness of the students. The wrigglers and swarming bacterial life appearing down the barrel of the microscope have the same fascination and charm for the Africans as for Canadians. And the very least of the simplest explanations elicits a wonder of thanks. One lad said, so sincerely, "Oh, Dona Frankie, if only you could take off your head for us to read all that is inside!" In the vast fund of things to know we know so little and yet to them it seems so much.

"Scattered lightly through the week are choir practices and singing lessons. It's fun to conduct my three African choirs of student nurses. We carolled on the ward in the early morning the week before Christmas and we have amateur plans for Easter. Teaching the children of the missionaries in a group, trios, duets and individually is a good hobby and lots of fun. Because we were still rather wobbly in spots we have put off our first 'public appearance' until Annual Meeting time.

"The days are very full and happy. It is good to be at the beginning of a new year with lots of work ahead of the kind I love."

CENTRAL INDIAMRS. C. S. WYNNE, *SecretaryBEGINNINGS

In 1872 the Canadian Presbyterian Church selected India as a Mission Field. The first Woman's Missionary Society missionaries, Miss Rodgers and Miss Fairweather, reached India in 1873 and worked with the American Presbyterian Mission in North India until 1877, when they joined Dr. J. Fraser Campbell and Rev. J. McDougall in opening the work in Central India. W.M.S. work was first begun in Indore and Mhow. The first Boarding School began in 1885 with three young girls, who boarded in the home of Miss Rodgers. Medical work began in 1884 under Dr. Elizabeth Beatty at Indore. Prior to this there was no hospital for women in all Central India, with its ten million people, of whom about one-half were women and girls.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

There has been great improvement in the situation with reference to missionary staff in Central India during this past year. Misses Jean Bridgman, Joyce Kilpatrick, and Kathleen McTheral appointed last year reached India in late October and were warmly welcomed. This year we are exceedingly happy that five more have been appointed. In addition we are happy to report that Miss Alice B. Munns, who has been on leave of absence for three years for personal reasons, is now able to return and has been re-appointed as from September 1st. Also, Mrs. A. R. Graham, who was appointed three years ago but who could not go at that time, is now able to proceed, and has been re-appointed as from October 1st. We regret to report that because of the serious illness of her mother, Miss Muriel Bamford has had to return to Canada after only three years in India, and has been granted leave of absence for an indefinite period. This brings the missionary staff in Central India to 36, the largest it has been for some years. We rejoice with Central India in this further indication of the possibility of advance. It should be noted, however, that four of these will retire within a five-year period so there should be no relaxing of our efforts to increase the staff. We have before us requests from India for 19 additional missionaries in various types of work.

There are certain phases of the political development in India, which interest and concern us. The geographical area in which our missionaries work which was formerly composed of a number of Indian states has now been consolidated. All our work except Banswara, is in what is now called Madhya Bharat. Banswara is in Rajasthan. A good deal of attention has been given this year by our Mission and the Church to literacy work and to the planning and production of reading matter for newly literate adults. A new Primer and First Reader based on the Laubach methods were prepared. These books incorporate instruction on such matters as health, economics, home life and citizenship. "The Story of Jesus," prepared by Dr. Laubach, has been translated and was published by The Rasulpura Christian High School Press.

The Bhil Work Council in which our mission shares and which was formed to make constructive plans for work among Bhils has recommended that a Union Bible School for the training of lay leaders and a Teacher Training School be set up in the Hindi speaking Bhil area. They are also working for a more adequate rural medical service among the Bhils. These are important new plans and they call for support.

Nursing Education has also received attention this year. Two post-graduate courses were held in Ratlam this year, and a new course in Public Health Nursing was given under the direction of Miss Louise Scott, nine students from various parts of India took these courses. Eight midwives and 20 nurses from our hospitals successfully completed their courses this year.

The Indore Girls' High School had a successful year. The 60th anniversary of the school was celebrated in February, 1949. We rejoice with them in their notable record during these years. Four hundred and forty pupils were enrolled last year.

Indore Christian College celebrated its Diamond Jubilee in December, 1948, when both Church and State officials participated in the service. During this past year the college has had the highest enrolment in its history, a total of 473. Included in this number were 101 women, an unusually large number.

The following Property Grants were made this year by the Executive: Urgent repairs $9,864.00, Banswara water system $850.00, sanitary water units for eight W.M.S. bungalows $3,200.00, motor car $3,000.00, totalling $16,914.00.

In addition there is available from Gifts to Building Advance for 1949 the following two amounts: Three new cars $9,000.00, public wards, Dhar $6,000.00, totalling $15,000.00.

The outstanding event of this year at Vellore Christian Medical College was when it received final recognition by the University of Madras. There are still urgent building equipment and staff needs to meet the university requirements and to be able to accept the agreed upon number of men students each year. Dr. Hilda M. Lazarus, the president, has been awarded the C.B.E., in recognition of her outstanding medical services in India. During this past year there were 209 students from eight provinces and nearby countries. Of these 192 were Christians. These were supported by 20 different missions, one being from our mission. In the autumn of 1950 Dr. Ida Scudder will celebrate the 50th anniversary of her work in India. Celebrations are being planned including a gift of $50,000 to Dr. Scudder to be passed on to Vellore by her. This is being secured by contributions from friends of Dr. Scudder.

The Madras Women's Christian College reports that the present enrolment is 250, of whom 68 per cent. are Christians. This is an increase of about fifty students. The college has been under heavy pressure to accept a larger number of students this past year. After eliminating all from the applications for freshman year who did not meet the minimum requirements for English and second language and age, 348 were left to be considered, of whom only 82 were admitted. The college asked for the continued loan of Miss Dorothy Pearson on a permanent basis. The Executive approved this for her next term of service and we have received a message of warm thanks from the College Council for their action.

"THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE WIDE EARTH"

EVANGELISTIC WORK

Banswara.—"In a country where illiteracy is so general, visual education takes on even greater importance," writes Miss Emily A. Maxwell as she tells of the use of slides and film strips depicting Bible stories and interesting places, as the missionaries show them when they travel about setting up their camps in different places. At one camp they were just getting their tents set up when a young husband from another village came, pleading that they send the car to take his wife to the hospital. It was growing dark and the roads were bad but the driver got the young woman to the hospital at Banswara before midnight and her life was saved. This is typical of the calls for help that come to them, especially during the cold season when pneumonia is rife.

"Three little village schools carried on throughout the year," Miss Maxwell continues. "The school year is arranged differently, giving the children their long holiday during the rains when their help is needed on the farms. Anandi Bai, trained teacher-evangelist, spent three months in one of these schools when there was no other teacher available. Summer school was held in Banswara for the months of April and May with an attendance of 55. Good work was done in the regular school. There were 24 village Christian children in the Hostel. We planted a field of corn to help out the food situation for the Hostel and Christian farmers brought their oxen and ploughs in nine miles to do the ploughing and cultivating.

"Our new pastor, Andrew Lalli, came to us at the end of May and under his leadership the congregation has received new life. He directed the Christian Home Festival which was celebrated in Banswara for the first time in September. There was a community picnic to start it off, then an evening of Mr. Irwin's pictures, another evening when the young men presented the drama of "Queen Esther" very well. There was a special Sunday service when families sat together in church, which is not the ordinary state of affairs here, when the usual thing is to have the men on one side of the church and the women on the other.

"Independence Day on August 15th was also well celebrated with flag raising, church service, sports, a community dinner and a camp fire afterwards.

"In our Hostel this year is Premi, nine-year-old daughter of Lalsingh, one of our most faithful and promising Bhil Christian leaders who died a year ago. His only brother who must now look after the widow and her five girls, decided he would like Premi educated as a memorial to her father. We hope she will become a teacher or nurse to work among her own people and keep alive the memory of her father, who spent himself for the good of others.

"In November, we held a mela or retreat for four days in a central spot to which the Christian villagers came from miles around. Miss Louise Scott joined us with one of her public health nurses and made a valuable contribution with her practical health talks to both men and women. Pastor Lalli was the principal speaker and his spiritual messages were inspiring and gave a fresh uplift to the life of the community. Discussion groups were interesting and profitable, as problems in the Christian life were faced frankly. The climax of the mela was the Communion Service at noon on Sunday. All sat on the ground in the shade of a big banyan tree. The 'wine'—sugar cane juice—was served in leaf cups and the bread was the flat, corn chappatti. There were 200 present and 142 took Communion.

"Immediately after the mela, I went to Jobat, in the Canadian Presbyterian Mission area, to attend a meeting of Synod. It was the first Synod meeting I have had the privilege of attending. Miss Martin and I were both sent by Malwa Church Council and we were the only women present. It was an interesting experience, especially hearing the views on Church Union as expressed by the different bodies represented. As Miss Martin said, with our background of Union in Canada, the difficulties do not seem to loom so large for us.

"While in Jobat, we had a chance to confer with the Presbyterian friends about the proposed Union Bible School and Teachers' Training School for Rural Teachers, which it is hoped will be set up in their area and to which we wish to send students. This will fill a long felt want.

"As we went on with our tour of the district, we met with much to encourage—a bit of adult literacy work going on quietly, about which we had known nothing—a marked growth and deepened sense of responsibility in the young men who have taken up the burden of eldership in the rural congregations. Two young men, who have proved themselves, were added to this number.

"On December 19th we went in to Banswara for the Christmas celebrations which were all enjoyed as usual. This year, I think we all agreed that the best number was the Christmas drama presented by the nurses, which was beautifully done.

"Another year came to an end with the Watch Night Service and now we look forward to 1950. In the first month of the year India becomes a republic and the ship of state will be launched. There is a spirit of hope and optimism abroad in spite of disappointment that this new freedom has not at once produced a Utopia."

Hat Pipila.—"We are on tour as I write this report," says Miss Frances E. Stevenson, "and there are many adults here who express a desire to learn to read and write, so we may be able to report many new literates next year.

"One big feature of the year 1949 was the opening of our new Hostel building in September to house the 16 children mostly from villages where there are no schools. The opening ceremony was an occasion of happy fellowship and thankfulness for all, and it formed part of our Christian Homes Festival which began on Friday evening with a children's program and finished Tuesday with a candle-lighting dedication ceremony.

"The enrolment in the school has greatly increased this year, as the opposition from a certain group in the village has ceased. We have secured two new teachers, more highly educated and trained and doing very good work.

"The new car has been a great asset to our work and was especially appreciated when we made a trip down the hills to sell literature in the many villages there last March. We were able to take all our supplies and equipment for the four of us nicely. There are many still eager to buy the Gospels and other Christian literature in spite of those who mock and try to hinder our work. Our Christian Endeavour Society was presented this year with the shield for being the best all-round society. It is a new shield so we are the first to have our names on it.

"The local W.M.S. continues its activities and we were able to send in a generous amount for Home Missions work, to partially support an orphan child in the Hostel and at Christmas time we had candies for all the children on the tree. We made attractive holders by rolling old Christmas cards into a cone shape and fastening with a stapler."

Kharua.—"It was January 19th when we left on tour," reports Rev. Hilda M. Johnson, "and from then until March 12th my dwelling was a tent. The inside was always home, though the outside scene changed every ten days or so. What were we doing all those weeks? Here is one day, typical of many others:

"February 14. We had a full day visiting not one, but three villages. We started out before 8 a.m. and did not get back to camp until after 4 p.m. About 8.30 p.m. we had our regular night meeting in the village beside which we were camped. The following day was also a long one as we crossed the river by ox-cart (the water was too deep to permit the car to cross), and travelled slowly toward the village of Ghattia where Miss Clearhine camped on several occasions. We received a very warm welcome, and many times during the visit we were told of their desire to have us camp near their village. On the return journey we visited another village where a Christian woman lives and again we heard the plea, 'Please come and camp here.'

"After the eight weeks of camping life we left our tents behind and with the 1929 Ford piled high, three of us started northward. Crossing the Sipra River was an adventure, but the Ford took us over the rocky crossing covered with well over a foot of water, and up and over the deep ruts and difficult paths that brought us to and from the River. The warmth of our welcome when we reached Padmakheri, though, made us forget the difficulties of the way. As I sat alone for a few minutes that evening high on the bank of the Kali Sind River I gave thanks again for the privilege of being engaged in the work of spreading the good news and of teaching those who are babes in Christ. For almost two weeks we visited the villages in the northern part of the field, staying at nights in the little church rooms at Padmakheri and Chacharni, or in the catechist's house at Chaumanla or the dak bungalow in Suwasra. How we wished that we could bring the tents and stay for a longer time, but the late March sun and the warm wind of the middle of the day warned us that the tenting season was over.

"April brought its own special features. In the mornings we visited villages around and about Kharua, sometimes going several miles by car. In the afternoons there were other things to keep one busy, church accounts, sermons to be prepared, flannelgraph talks prepared, committee work, etc.

"During July I went to Indore to teach classes at the Theological Seminary, Indore, and there I remained until the close of the Seminary year, shortly before Christmas. The Seminary day began with a quiet time from 7-7.30, but living, as I did, a mile away, the first part of the day's program there for me was the chapel service from 9-9.30 a.m. We left our shoes at the door and entered quietly and reverently into the small but attractive chapel where we sat on the floor with low desks or book stands before us. They are of natural colored wood, as is the Communion Table, the lectern and the cross hanging on the front wall. After the chapel service, classes began, the first and second year students making up the junior class and the third and fourth year students the senior class. For the greater part of the time that I was at the Seminary I found myself trying to teach classes in Theology or Christian Doctrine. The lack of an adequate Hindi vocabulary was one of my biggest difficulties. Classes in English also had a part on my schedule, as did classes in Indian religions. Each morning I met with the wives of the students, spending three-quarters of an hour, sometimes on Bible study, sometimes on learning of some of the pioneer women in the Indian Church, sometimes on lessons on child care, sometimes in using the flannel-graph, and sometimes in knitting. I felt a special interest in this year's graduating class for I have watched them over the four years of their course, teaching them for at least six weeks each year, and rejoicing in their growth and development.

"The last week-end in September called me back to Kharua to share in the Christian Home Festival activities. What a busy week-end it was with not only the special celebration, but the catching up on accounts and all the many details that had been waiting for attention. On Saturday afternoon I was one of the committee who made a tour of inspection of all the Christian homes, allotting marks for cleanliness, orderliness, decoration, pictures and gardens. It was difficult to choose the best for all had made strenuous efforts to have their homes perfect. Sunday was a big day for the hostel children when they were invited to be guests of private homes for the day. Families plus their little guests, sat together—a departure from the regular practice of men on one side, women on the other. In the evening there was a very special home dedication service in which the different families joined.

"Other week-ends provided an opportunity for visiting and addressing some of the W.M.S. groups in other centres. There were the monthly W.M.S. study leaflets too, that required time and effort. From January until April the studies concerned matters relating to the training of children and the Christian home. At the Presbyterial meeting in April the women asked for more papers on this topic, so October to December studies also were written on the subject of child training. During July, August, and September the studies concerned pioneer missionaries, Morrison of China, Mary Slessor and Schweitzer of Africa.

"Home to Kharua for Christmas—and what a rush to get accounts done, parcels for well over 100 ready, attend Christmas services, etc. This year we had an especially happy Christmas—one of the best yet!"

Mandleshwar.—"After the Week of Prayer, we set out on tour. We had only a little over a month in which to hold three camps and visit 30 villages where there are Christians," reports Miss Elizabeth Newhart. "While at our third camp, we took an all-day trip by ox-cart to visit an elderly woman and her daughter. It was a sad visit in one respect because young Gulab had just been cheated out of 75 rupees by the farmer for whom she worked. Yet, in other respects, it was a grand day. Gulab's husband said, 'It is not right for me to be a Hindu and my wife a Christian. The thing for me to do is to become a Christian.' Eight altogether sat with us for two and a half hours. Eventually, we had to tear ourselves away because the men just had to go to cut wood. One after the other, they had made attempts to persuade the rest to leave but each effort failed. One teen-ager said, 'Let's not go to work today, even if we go hungry tomorrow.' They wouldn't have, of course, because there was food in their house, but it was apparent that they just could not make the break while we were there talking of Jesus.

"Another morning we visited a young Christian married into a Hindu family. To be the youngest daughter-in-law is not to be in an enviable position but, much to our joy and surprise, the mother-in-law, some of her sons and all the daughters-in-law made us welcome and sat down to listen.

"By the middle of February, it was time to cross the river where there are fewer villages, more widely scattered. The highlight of the season was the organization of the South Nimar congregation. At an impressive Sunday service, two elders were ordained, two adults and three children baptized and four women and one man received into full Communion. After an appropriate address, Communion was dispensed. A little later, the new congregation had dinner together and the food was prepared by these new Christians—both the symbol and the fact that Christians are one family in Christ.

"In a neighbouring village, a wedding was going on and the two Christian families were expected, by their neighbours, to attend the celebrations. We tried to time our meetings to accommodate but twice we overlapped and the four teen-agers were called repeatedly to come out. We were overjoyed to hear them shout, in reply, that they were not coming out until their meeting was over.

"Time flies quickly and it was soon time for W.M.S. Presbyterial, Easter and then a holiday in historic Simla.

"In less time than it takes to do all we did, the holidays were over and I returned to Mandleshwar, heat, rain, repairs and being the "In-charge" of hospital, school and hostel. Without doctor, nurse or pastor, with Miss Morson in Canada and Mr. Clark in Indore, we began to feel neglected. In August, Miss Baxter came from Indore to take the Women's Rainy Season Classes and her visit gave us a new lease on life while she herself gave daily messages of God's love and His great gift to mankind.

"The Christian Home Festival was celebrated in our Mission area one week in September. Here in Mandleshwar, we started the week with a candle service in which the whole group went from house to house to give a lighted candle and have prayer. Our procession was rather individualistic, but this did not destroy the meaning of the act of dedication. One evening the school children put on three short plays and two other evenings were devoted to women and girls and men and boys. One added touch was that each woman and each man received a garland from one of the children.

"October seems destined for meetings and so it was in 1949 with Church Council and Mission Council and soon November announced its arrival. In November and December we had three camps. At the first camp, everything happened that shouldn't, but by the time we had experienced the full-hearted enthusiasm of the third, the misadventures of early November were forgotten.

"Before Christmas preparations could begin, there was a business trip to Indore, literally enveloped in shopping and social functions. Our Christmas service on Sunday was unusually reverent with worship, baptisms, and White Gifts. None left until the benediction was pronounced and the short program of music had begun. An hour or two later, we had the annual congregational dinner.

"1949 came to an end officially, on December 31st, after three successful hours of games and races, even though it was not midnight."

Sitamau.—"Time and strength are not adequate for the many opportunities that come to us," writes Miss Margaret L. Drummond, as she tells of the requests that come to them from villages that desire to have a visit. "Our first camp was for three weeks in one place in the early part of the year. There we have our little school which kept me busy morning and evening, and from there we went out to as many villages as petrol would allow. Many tracts and Bible portions were sold and in the crowded markets we met many village friends. By four in the afternoon we are glad to get home, even if it be but a tent.

"Later in the year we made several short trips, staying in dak bungalows for several days at a time. What a joy it was to visit some of our fine Christian homes. I recall now the home where the children came to me with books and slates, and while I had a class with them, the Bible women taught a group of women, and the men were taught by the motor driver. In another a mother and son took an active part in singing and witnessing to the non-Christians who had come to look at us and stayed to listen.

"A little more than a year ago a young engineer, living in Sitaman, decided to leave all and become a member of our Church. It was not easy for him to separate himself from his relatives and friends, but there was no half way with him. At a very impressive service he was baptized. His face revealed the joy and peace that was his, now no longer bound by caste rules and customs, and free from the fetters of sin. He attends Church services regularly, and welcomes every opportunity for Bible study. For some time his wife opposed him bitterly, and it seemed for a while the home would be broken up. We visited her often, and when her husband was absent for several months, we were able to help her in times of sickness and sorrow. Her own boys, when home from a Mission school, did much to change her. From several we heard of the great change that had taken place—a new woman she seemed to be, so happy, and wanting to learn to read. Not long afterwards she and her two small children were baptized, and on New Year's Day the two older children were baptized. It is a great joy to us all to have this family in the city witnessing among their own caste people, and endeavoring to bring their relatives into the Kingdom."

Sitaman School.—"We have two good teachers in the school, but not as many village children as we would like. Now a Girls' Hostel is almost finished, we hope to have a little girls in as well as more boys.

"One of our village schools has made very good progress this last year. The attendance at the night school has been most encouraging. We have succeeded in creating in the minds of some of the boys a desire to read, which is half the battle. The school hours are from 8 to 10 a.m. for the little ones, and for two hours in the evening for the bigger children, who have to work during the day. Crowded on a small verandah, often surrounded by parents and many others, 15 or 16 carry on, and I marvel at the patience of the young teacher.

"A few nights before Christmas we had a candle-lighting service, when big and little joined in a procession through the village, carrying candles high above our heads, and singing Christian hymns. At every Christian home we stopped, while the pastor led in a short prayer, and presented a picture of Christ in an Indian home. Crowds gathered to see the children take part in a Christian drama.

"In Sitaman we have a well equipped dispensary where village people can get medicines. When on tour, I have my little box of medicine with me, and this year had a short service every evening before giving medicines or treatments. We used the flannelgraph and found it a great help. We have crowds around us very often, as we try to meet the needs of those who come from distant villages."

Ratlam.—"What's new?" asks Miss Mildred F. Cates in presenting her report, and answers her own question by giving us a background of the everyday activities against which she superimposes a few new features. "In July," she says, "I found myself helping the medical department by teaching introductory psychology to a class of graduate nurses who were taking a post-graduate course here at Ratlam. The contact with the nurses from various parts of northern India gave us all much pleasure and their presence livened up the compound for six months.

"New departures in the Biblewomen's classes this year were the Bible contests and dramas which the women enjoyed immensely, and the examination was held orally instead of written, with much benefit to all.

"The hot season, too, had its new activity, namely, a month's summer school for Bhil children held in Bannia during May. It is hoped that before long Bannia will develop into a rural centre with various types of work being carried on side by side.

"I returned early from a holiday at Ranikhet to attend the meeting of the Mid-India Christian Council, which was held in Rasalpara for the first time. The plans to make Rasalpara into a Polytechnic Institute with an emphasis on helping villagers to start cottage industries sounded as if it should bear fruit in the years to come.

"October, of course, was filled with meetings of our various Church and Mission Boards and Councils, but early in November we managed to get out on tour, and made a flying start with four camps before Christmas, some of them ten days long. Every camp showed that the interest of the people is increasing for even against hindrances they came to us more eagerly than ever before, and learned well. I called one of the teachers of a village school, Ejan Bai, to join the camp for a time, and she was most helpful. Full of enthusiasm herself, she has 'infected' many of her relatives with the same fervor, so that when we camped at a new place, surrounded by her relatives, we were almost overpowered by their kindness and their keenness to be taught. Night after night they turned out in force, and with the greatest of good humored excitement, sang all the songs they knew as well as all the new ones we could teach in the time we were there. I felt as if in the midst of old friends, and it was the first time in my experience that Bhil people said to me, as I rose to leave their houses, 'What's your hurry? Do sit down and talk to us longer.' Medicines, too, were much in demand, from the Bhils to the Rajput herdsmen who are also inhabitants of that isolated little plain among the hills. One day a visiting Police Inspector decided that we were objects worthy of suspicion, and put us through quite a catechism; but when, a few days later, we together consulted as to the proper treatment for a youngster with a bad nose-bleed, I began to see the dawning of trust and respect in his attitude."

EDUCATIONAL

Indore.—Miss Green Gardner from the Canadian Mission Girls' High School says the outstanding event in 1949 was the celebration in February of the Golden Jubilee of the founding of the school. "Invitations were sent to some 300 graduates and when the day arrived we welcomed back many old students from near and far. The first day of the festivities was devoted to sports; races and team games and finally a tug-of-war between the staff and old students. In the afternoon the distribution of prizes was an exciting event. At six o'clock all gathered around a camp fire in front of the school when a program by the 'Old Girls' and staff was put on. As the evening darkened the long front of the school building, was illuminated by small diyas, little earthen lamps burning sweet oil, which gave out a soft, glowing radiance.

"The second day was principally for our guests. It began at 8.30 with a service of worship followed by a program in which a short historical sketch of the school was given. Four of the 'Old Girls' spoke about the happy and amusing recollections of their school days, and then, Miss Singh, the vice-principal, read some of the many letters that had come regretting the inability of the writers to attend. Several concerts were put on during the day by various groups, all of which were well attended and gave much enjoyment, and in the afternoon tea was served to our guests in the garden.

"It was a very happy occasion in every way, but I think the greatest pleasure came from the many reunions among the old students for which this gathering afforded a much-appreciated opportunity.

"Our graduating class in 1949 was larger than usual, numbering 22, all of whom passed the matriculation examination, two of them in first division and eight with distinction in one of their subjects.

"The general enrolment was a little higher than the previous year with a somewhat higher percentage of non-Christians, 45.7% were Hindus, 40.5% Christians, and the remainder was made up of Mohammedans, Sikhs, Sindhis and Parsis. Of the five non-Christians in the Hostel, three were Hindus and two Mohammedans. The girls of all groups mingled quite happily in school and Hostel sharing whatever work had to be done.

"During the year the usual school activities were carried on, all of which help to mold that character we are trying to develop in the girls. Girl Guides and Bluebirds flourished; games such as badminton, basketball and kho-kho gave training in team play; literary societies, one in Hindi and one in English, provided an opportunity for training in public speaking and in drama. A Christian Endeavor group and a Junior Band held their meetings, led by the girls every Sunday. School picnics for both children and staff were as popular as ever."

Kharua and Indore.—"From January to April, Miss Christina V. Baxter says, "Kharua was the scene of my labors, time being distributed among the varied and many activities connected with the supervision of schools, girls' and boys' Hostels and the medical work carried on by a trained Indian nurse whom I assisted on occasion.

"The highlights of January included the annual medical inspection and anti-typoid inoculations of staff and pupils at the school, the sports day and its races and prize giving. February brought an opportunity to visit Rev. Hilda Johnson and participate to some extent in evangelistic touring. One night it meant wading a river to give a lantern lecture in a village.

"For the second time at the final examinations in April one of the sixth class boys brought great distinction to Kharua school by obtaining the highest marks in our Mission Schools. Early May saw the transfer of responsibility of educational work of Kharua and district into the capable hands of Miss Patterson who had returned from furlough. The Canadian wheat seed obtained from the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto from the world champion had multiplied many times. Rice and soya beans had also flourished, as had the oranges, lemons and vegetables in the school gardens and fields.

"Late in June I returned to the familiar surroundings of the Girls' High School at Indore, but to another piece of work—the supervision of the primary section of the school and also of the primary schools at Mhow and Gwalatoli and Pardesipura. Strict rationing of petrol makes it difficult to visit these as often as one would like. There are eleven classes, numbering about 300 in Indore primary section, with 100 in Mhow and 90 in the other village schools. One of the greatest problems is securing and keeping trained Christian teachers. Times have changed since the early days when Mission schools were the only ones to employ women teachers. While one is glad to see the widening spheres of influence opening up for Christian women in government and other schools, still it makes it difficult to secure and hold qualified Christian teachers in Mission employ when higher salaries tempt them elsewhere.

"It was a busy happy year in Kharua and Indore and it passed very quickly."

Kharua.—"After a furlough year it was good to be among my friends in the old familiar scenes," writes Miss Grace C. Patterson from Kharua, and she adds, "Three weeks later my colleagues had gone to the hills leaving me in charge of the station. The end of May the doctor left Kharua and the medical work was left in the care of a junior compounder and a dresser with the administration of the estimate in my hands. Besides this I have to take responsibility for the difficult cases, to say whether or not they have to go to Ratlam Hospital. Each one must have a little letter to the big Dr. Sahib to make sure that good medicine will be given.

"On December 15th I motored to Indore to do some Christmas shopping and to bring home Miss Johnson who had been teaching in the Seminary since July. I attended the graduation exercises for the Seminary students, one of whom was our former bearer, Nathiya. He belonged to the depressed classes and it had not been easy for him to attend school nor to gain admission to the Seminary, but his ambition stood him in good stead, and I was proud to see that he had won through. We had an exciting Christmas, and the days following were busy ones, finishing accounts, paying the people, giving out clothing, etc.

"But my task is teaching. How it warms my heart to see the smiling children run to the footbridge, the entrance to the school compound, hands lifted to forehead with their morning greeting, 'Salaam, Miss Sahib Ji, Good morning.' Where have these children come from? They are from village homes of the grain merchants, silversmith, cloth merchants, butchers, leather worker, etc. Several of them have walked four miles to school. So our day begins with Young India—214 boys and girls.

"There are 35 boys in residence, 17 of these from village homes. They have hostel duties, drawing water, cleaning grain, cutting wood, and helping to cook the evening meal. They have reclaimed a plot of waste land and planted a garden which they are watching with pride."

Neemuch—Girls' School.—The report from Miss T. Kishan shows a school enrolment of 146, an increase of 50 over last year. "Of these only 45 are Christian boys and girls, the others are Hindu, Mohammedan and Parsi. The number of the children in the Hostel has also increased, and the health record is satisfactory. The usual extra-curricular activities have been carried on—we have one company of Girl Guides with 24 Guides, and two Flocks with 40 Bluebirds. All students appearing for Second and Fourth Class Commission examinations passed. Lots of repairing was done in the building and on its surroundings and it has given a new appearance to the place."

Ratlam—Girls' Middle School.—"In new India, the word we hear most frequently is Progress," writes Miss N. A. Penner. "The cry is that we must progress materially and mentally, then we can compete with other nations, meaning of course, England, United States and Canada. With progress in mind the Mission School tried in several ways to raise itself to a higher level. The school was divided into groups called houses with their captains. Each month the house that earned most stars for high marks had its color hung in the hall for that month. Every morning the classrooms were inspected for tidiness and the class that was neatest over a period of several months received a present of money to buy sweets. In the Hostel the girls were rewarded for punctuality, neatness and cleanliness by giving them silver paper stars, and for helpfulness, truthfulness and overcoming quarreling by giving them gold stars. The girl who gets most stars at end of the year will either get a prize or receive money to entertain her friends to a party of her own. The girls do not easily earn these stars and they have been hampered by having their leaders succumb to various temptations of hostel life. But with good leaders the girls try their hardest to live a good and useful Christian life in the Hostel.

"You will think that the children are bribed to be good. It is true that we are holding out very materialistic rewards to encourage the girls to live and make their lives better. But 99% of the girls come from Christian homes where Christianity has not permeated through and through in the lives of the people, where gain coming from religion has to be extremely visible or concrete before the desire to live up to that religion has any pull. And therefore Christian principles have to be instilled in these children by very earthy methods!

"This year the children have had gardens. They have been encouraged to give the first fruit to God. One little girl's pumpkin was bought for five rupees by a generous donor. The little orphan girl was most happy and proud to have her name printed among the givers to the church.

"Quite a number of children from the village have entered school this year. It was marvellous to see them change in dress and behavior as the life of school and Hostel influenced them.

"Also this year, the Indian Christians have wakened up to the fact that they could help the orphan children a bit by money. Quite a number of donations have come in. These enabled the children to have fruit and extra milk and a party and picnic at Christmas time.

"It may be strange to you in Christian lands that the theme of all the teaching and guidance given to the children in this school, is to live a true Christian life. But there are in India too many careless Christians who do not think seriously of the ideals and teaching of our Lord and Master, Jesus Christ, who put desire and pleasure before duty and obedience to Christ, and so hinder little children from seeing what a true and yet a happy Christian life is."

MEDICAL

Hat Pipila.—"In a special way a combination of curative and preventive medicine has been the theme of our staff this year," writes Miss Louise Scott. "Of necessity the work of the hospital is primarily curative, but with the number of relatives accompanying the patients, opportunities are many to explain the laws that govern healthful living.

"Noon prayer services have been continued during the year with increasing interest on the part of both staff and patients or relatives. One day when we were talking in this service, I asked the women if they understood a little of what I was saying, and one woman spoke up and said, 'Why shouldn't we understand? We also believe in the Lord Jesus, otherwise why do we come here?' More and more I feel the responsibility we have as Christian leaders in our witness.

"Knowing that it was to be my privilege to go to Ratlam in July to help with the post-graduate courses that were to be conducted there, Dr. Samalia and I spent some time in translation that would be a help to me in the classes that I was to take.

"These courses were conducted under the Mid-India Board of Examiners for Nurses, Midwives and Compounders. The one in Hospital Administration and Ward Teaching held its fifth session with Miss B. McMurchy of the Canadian Presbyterian Mission directing it this year. Commencing the post-graduate course in Public Health Nursing was a venture in faith, the first of its kind to be held in our area, and in Hindi.

"In the two groups there were nine students, representing various parts of India. Concentrated lecture courses were given during the first three months with greater opportunity for practice work later. Observation visits to other institutions were much enjoyed, and the hospitality of other Missions and State organizations was greatly appreciated.

"In December we held the graduation exercises of these two post-graduate groups. Seven young women, graduate nurses, received the certificate of study in Hospital Administration and Ward Teaching, while the first certificate in post-graduate Public Health Nursing in the Mid-India area was presented to Miss Phoebe Mangal, one of our own Central India nurses, by Mrs. Buchanan.

"At our Council meeting last October it was agreed that I would continue working along Public Health Nursing lines till I go home in the spring of 1950. I am indeed grateful for this opportunity of setting up one of the Rural Health Centres that we have looked forward to for so many years."

Miss Florence E. Gruchy continues the report from Hat Piplia, although she only returned from furlough in October and had never served in the Hat Piplia Hospital before. She writes:

"The hospital has served a very great need here throughout the years. It is a great joy to see how the medical work has developed, and a great privilege to enter into the fruit of the labors of those who were here before me, and who bore the load so faithfully when there were much fewer facilities for working than there are now. There are still plenty of difficulties of course, we have no water on tap for instance, and no electricity in any form, neither for the hospital nor for the bungalow, and water has to be drawn up from the well by the bucketful and carried everywhere by hand. We are at present investigating the possibility of getting our own engine working again which we were forced to close down during the war, but it requires kerosene and the supply of that commodity is still very uncertain and costly.

"With the addition of the new Out-Patients' Department more space is available for in-patients and our capacity is now 50 beds. We have a full hospital right now and it is keeping me busy trying to provide the necessary supply of sheets, pillows, blankets, etc. This is the season for pneumonia, and how thankful we are for the marvellous results of penicillin treatment!

Anemias are very common here, due partly to the general undernourishment of the people, but also to hookworm which is very prevalent. We try to teach the people to eat more tomatoes, which grow very well around here, and in other ways to improve their diet, but it would be vain to extol the merits of liver for instance to these vegetarian Hindus! (Actually however, they take it quite readily in the form of injections, and drink gratefully the raw liver juice we prepare for them, asking no questions for conscience' sake, because it can be taken as just one more medicine.) We are not staffed to undertake major operations except in emergencies, but we have the usual run of minor surgery, and a fair amount of maternity work. Through the kindness of friends at home I brought out a new little autoclave which was greatly needed and which is proving a tremendous help.

"This is an entirely rural area, and it is a privilege to be able to minister to the needs of these simple, kindly gentle villagers. Our Indian lady doctor, Dr. Rosie Samalia, is a keen evangelist, and each day at noon when the out-patients department closes, a short service is held, led by various members of the staff in turn, and attended by any of the patients who are able to walk and a large group of relatives. We often have 50 or more gathered together for worship at this time.

"This being the cold season Miss Frances Stevenson, our evangelistic missionary, is on tour, and she is accompanied at this time by Miss Louise Scott who is working out a program of Public Health in the villages prior to proceeding home on furlough. We show slides in the hospital sometimes also, using a petromax lamp inside a good old-fashioned magic lantern! We call it a 'cinema,' and the people gather enthusiastically for whatever we have to show them."

Indore.—Miss Edith Betan says, "The happiest part of our nursing is to see patients recover, but it is a joy when they tell us they are thankful for all we have done for them and that they like to come to a Mission hospital because all patients are treated alike no matter to what caste or creed they belong.

"From year to year the training of nurses continues in our hospital. It is encouraging to watch the young, somewhat frightened school girls grow and develop into useful and capable nurses. Considering their background and the homes from which the girls come, there is reason to be thankful for the girls who devote their lives to the nursing cause.

"The Mid-India Board of Examiners, is much concerned in the raising of the nursing standard in India. Some months ago it was a great pleasure to welcome to our hospital Miss Adranvala, the president of the Trained Nurses Association of India, and Miss Taylor of Vellore, whom you all know. These two influential people were on a tour of inspection to many hospitals. They had a busy day in Indore. What questions, what matters of interest were raised; many helpful suggestions were given; they were glad to pass on to us their findings and experiences from their visits to other hospitals in the many parts of India. We are trying now to put into practice some of the suggestions given.

"The plans for the new hospital are passed by the Building Committee and are being forwarded to the government authorities for their approval. Another step forward—slowly but surely progress is being made.

"The Hindi speaking Nurses Auxiliary Conference was held in Ratlam this year. The nurses were thrilled and glad to have had a privilege of going to our hospital there. Many helpful discussions and happy fellowship made the conference a great success. Our own hospital Auxiliary should benefit from the reports which our nurses have brought back with them."

Miss Muriel R. Bamford continues the report of work from Indore Hospital. "This year I have been doing a little more of the teaching, and enjoying it more, since every day the language comes somewhat easier. I think we have an especially nice class of first year nurses, one of which is a Hindu girl.

"My special charges are the medical ward and the operating room. The medical ward usually has between 35-40 patients but some times we crowd in a few more. Since we have begun the use of streptomycin for tuberculosis we have had to set one four-bed ward aside for them. Doctor still tries not to admit active pulmonary tuberculosis but at the present we have two Christians in with it, one the son of one of our own hospital workers.

"Our nurses are carrying on their Sunday services on the wards and some of the people show a real interest in them. One I think of, is a village woman who was with us about seven months due to numerous fractures. She fell from a tree. She was such a cheerful soul that when she was over the worst we put her in the largest ward to cheer up the rest of the patients. While she was in, she learned many of the choruses and she still loves to return on a Sunday for the service, even though she often has to walk the whole way (17 miles or so). When she comes the nurses welcome her as an old friend and let her choose the choruses, which she sings with more zeal than harmony. She has been our best advertisement and has sent several patients to us. Two of our present patients she brought from her village. I have spoken to the acting principal of the Seminary and I hope the Seminary students will visit her village and keep in touch with her."

Neemuch.—"I was very glad at the first of June to hand over the hospital into Miss Buckles' capable hands and devote all my time to the work of the Babies' Home," writes Miss Margaret McHarrie. "Seven children graduated from the Babies' Home in July, and two were adopted into good Christian homes during the year. Several very tiny babies, the youngest one and a half days old, were admitted during September and October and have kept us busy for they require so much care and attention. One tiny motherless baby was admitted early in the year, fifteen months old, but could not hold his head erect. I had very little hope he would live, but today, a few months after admission, he is able to feed himself, holds his head erect, has a most winning smile and can walk with holding the nurse's hand. His father, who had lost his only other child, was delighted to see him when he came recently.

"Little children whose mothers are in the Madar Tuberculosis Sanitarium are encouraged to speak and think of them. Their love is thus fostered. Post cards and letters and sometimes the children's pictures, are sent so the mothers will know they are not forgotten.

"Prices of food and milk soar higher every day and I am grateful for those gifts which make it possible for me to carry on."

From the Mission Hospital Miss Frances J. M. Buckles says, "When 1949 began I was in Mandleshwar, carrying on the hospital until such a time as a doctor should arrive. No doctor came, so in May the hospital was closed and only the dispensary with a couple of beds kept open and a compounder to do the work.

"In June I came to Neemuch and here again no doctor. I am very grateful to Dr. Fazl Rehman, a Mohammedan doctor in the bazaar, who comes whenever urgently needed. But he has his own private practise and I cannot constantly be calling him away from that. I have been up since four o'clock this morning worrying about a three-year-old nephritis case. It is at times like this that I wish for a doctor to take the responsibility.

"Electricity is coming to Neemuch! Some of the poles are already up. It will be so nice to have electric lights and a fan in the very hot weather. There is a rumor also that Neemuch will have water piped from the Chambal River, but that, I fear, will be in the future. Our water shortage is acute now, and I don't know what will happen in the hot season. Our hospital wells have been dry for months and we have been buying water from outside.

"We have started a Nurses' Auxiliary group among the Neemuch Christian nurses, the first they have had here. They are so interested and I wish I had more time to give to it."

Ratlam.—Miss Vera Boyd writes, "1949 has been a very fine year in Canadian Mission Hospital at Ratlam. There have been the usual variety of patients, all interesting. 'Grandma,' for instance was amusing, pitiful, and likeable. She had a large gash in her leg and was practically forced to come to the hospital. Having come there she expected to be cared for by the Nursing Superintendent herself. Had she not made great concessions to come at all and to allow herself to be put into a high bed between white sheets, and believe it or not, to be bathed all over right in bed! Surely some respect and favor was due her after all that giving in. She was a great favorite of the nurses and one of them taught her to say, 'The Lord is my shepherd,' but she would say it with a question mark and a look of not quite believing what she was saying. Now she has gone home and Miss Cates is keeping in touch with her and her family.

"Nursing School events have been almost too many to report upon this year. Most outstanding among them was the annual Nurses' Auxiliary Conference which this year met here. We were able to make use of part of the new Geachie additions to the Nurses' Residence and that was a great help in housing the 65 delegates. It was held over a week-end giving Saturday for secular discussions and nursing problems, Sunday for evangelistic services, and Monday for business and discussions. There was added interest too because the president of the Mid-India Auxiliary is one of our own male staff nurses. He relinquished his office at this meeting in order to take office in the national organization. It was very gratifying to see new evidence of our student and staff nurses being able to conduct their own discussions and business affairs.

"With the coming of Miss MacIntyre a good part of the burden of too much work has been temporarily lifted. She has fitted in as though she had always been used to having goats meet her on the verandas and relatives sleep under the beds in her hospitals and nurses not know how to study! I do not know how she does it. And when she goes to language school in the spring we lose her for she is to go to Indore from July to replace Miss Bamford who is to go to Mandleshwar with Dr. Gaekwad who is to open up Mandleshwar Hospital which has been closed for want of staff. It was ever thus. However, there is a bright side to the picture for Miss Canara joins our staff about March. We are looking forward so much to having her with her Canadian training plus her understanding of India's problems. She should be a wonderful asset.

"Another bright spot in Ratlam is the nearly completed Geachic addition to the Nurses' Residence. It is really wonderful, with big kitchen and store-rooms, a room that can be a chapel some day and lovely little cubicles for 17 student nurses."

One of our new missionaries, who had only been five weeks in India when last year's reports were being written, Miss Dorothy MacIntyre, says:

"My time in India has been taken up, for the greater part, with language study, which I have enjoyed immensely. Language School and meeting the missionaries from so many countries and denominations was a sheer delight. I have made so many friends at school that I shall be happy to return to Mussoorie in the spring and meet them again.

"Naturally the other interest which I have is hospital work. Hindustani hospitals are definitely different from those at home. But I can't say that I was as surprised at the hospitals as I was at other customs in India. An artery forceps is still an artery forceps; temperatures go up and down—only more so!

"Just one hospital incident, and I am finished. Christmas Day a student nurse called me into the male ward. These were the words, only they were chiefly in Hindi. 'Sister, if I take the bandage off that man's foot, the whole foot will fall off.' Her words were only too true, because there was very little holding foot to leg—certainly neither flesh nor bone. But that is India! Wounds, abscesses, coughs, gangrene, tuberculosis, anaemia and many other diseases are as far advanced as that foot before they come to us. Thus we see many conditions which could have been avoided if preventive medicine were as popular in India as at home.

HONAN

MRS. R. G. STRUTHERS, Secretary

BEGINNINGS

The Honan Mission was begun in 1888, by the Canadian Presbyterian Church. In 1890 the first W.M.S. missionary, Miss Margaret I. McIntosh, reached the field, to be followed in 1892 by Dr. Lucinda Graham. The Mission has been responsible, in co-operation with the Honan Synod of the Church of Christ in China, for work among 8,000,000 people.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

It is difficult to write a report with the heading "Honan," because all our work in that geographical area has been withdrawn. This does not mean that the Church has ceased to function but it is in great difficulties under the present régime. The latest word to reach us regarding the situation in that area is that all the rural churches around Weihwei and Changte have been closed. The Weihwei hospital has recently been taken over by the government and organized as a medical school.

The only W.M.S. missionary who has this year been in what was formerly known as Honan territory is Miss Helen Turner, Reg.N., who has been on the Cheeloo Hospital staff. She has resigned, having almost completed her three-year-period, and was married on May 12th, in Kumlér Chapel, Cheeloo University, Tsinan, to Mr. Peter Nelson of the English Baptist Missionary Society, and on the pharmacology staff of Cheeloo University. Our best wishes go out to her for her happiness and success in her continued service in China.

Miss Jean Sommerville has continued her work under the General Assembly of the Church of Christ in China, at Kweiyang, Kweichow Province. The new government took control of that area in November. There had been a busy summer with a full program of conferences and institutes. Word has come fairly regularly since November and she reports herself well and continuing her own work in the church and kindergarten.

Dr. Isabelle MacTavish returned to Canada on furlough last summer. She retires on July 1st of this year after 35 years of fruitful and devoted service. We express to her our sincere appreciation of her outstanding contribution to Christian medical work in China. Her name is held in high regard in North China and wherever she has lived and worked.

Of the other names listed under Honan in our Annual Report, Misses Violet Stewart and Anne Davison are in West China, and Miss Margaret H. Brown is in Hong Kong under the Christian Literature Society. Miss Evana Demitroff, Reg.N., resigned during the year and left China.

The Executive approved a grant of $1,645.00 from the Honan estimate to reimburse our missionaries for part of their personal losses incurred during the last few years in Honan.

The Honan Continuation Committee was dissolved this year because of the return to Canada of most of the members and because meetings were impossible because of distances involved. All matters relative to the Honan Mission are now dealt with by the Boards direct.

Cheeloo University is now entirely back on the Cheeloo campus at Tsinan. The new government assisted the Medical College in their move from Fowchow, Fukien Province, back to Tsinan last Fall by providing trucks to the railroad at Shangjiao and train accommodation from there for the staff and students and the large number of cases of equipment. On arrival in Tsinan it was found that most of the buildings were still occupied by the government university, but some of these have now been returned. There were no applicants for the Arts courses this year. There are about 500 students in all in science, medicine and rural work. There has been up to the present no interference with the Christian activities on the campus, and chapel services are well attended. A baptismal service was held at Easter when a number publicly professed their Christian faith. The Red Star was placed on the chapel tower for a time, but it has now been taken down and the Cross put up again.

RUTH H. TAYLOR.

CHRISTIAN LITERATURE SOCIETY

From Hong Kong where she is working while awaiting a visa to re-enter Shanghai after her furlough, Miss Margaret H. Brown sends a report of some of the activities of the Christian Literature Society during this period of war, uncertainty and struggle in China. She says, "The difficulties during the last half of the year have been many but we are most thankful that there has been no interference from without in our work of publishing and distributing. Not knowing exactly what would happen, the Christian Literature Society sent part of its staff to Hong Kong early in May, including Miss Liu, Editor of the Woman's Messenger and Miss Tsui of Happy Childhood magazine. After several months it became imperative for all members to return to Shanghai, but alas! it has not been possible to get an entrance visa for Mr. and Mrs. Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Millican and myself, who were at that time on furlough. The Society asked me to return to Hong Kong in the hope that entrance might be granted before my arrival, but the prospects are that none but doctors or trained technicians will receive missionary visas to enter Shanghai. I must just carry on my work from Hong Kong.

"One of the best selling books of the new publications of 1949 is entitled Blossom of Thorns. This book was prepared in a Shanghai prison by a very fine Chinese writer who spent three years in confinement as a political prisoner. He had been accused of collaborating with the Japanese merely because he worked on a newspaper. It is interesting to hear him tell of the real religious revival there was amongst the prisoners and of how this book was a great blessing to all. I am sure it will richly bless many others in this period of great strain in China.

"In 1949 the C.L.S. appointed Rev. M. R. Yu as Secretary for Rural Literature. This greatly strengthened the staff. Mr. Yu had wide experience of rural work when he headed the Rural Department of Nanking Theological Seminary. He is heading up a vigorous program of rural literature for the special needs of Christian work at this time and already several of the volumes have come from the press. In this rural program the C.L.S. is co-operating with the Church of Christ in China, and the National Christian Council. He is also editing the People's Star in my absence.

"One of the great events of the year was the publication of the Guidebook for Christian Homes. It was prepared by Dr. Miao of the National Christian Committee for Religious Education against the day when the only services might be those in the homes. In many rural sections of China that day has already come and it is with deep gratitude that we know so many have secured copies of the Handbook in time. The book had a phenomenal sale in April just before the change-over in Shanghai when 30,000 copies were sold in one month—an all-time record for the sale of Christian literature.

"The Society had the pleasure of seeing the completion of the one volume Commentary on the New Testament which has been so long awaited. This Expository Commentary will be of great inspiration to pastors and Church leaders at this time. A large number of the books of the Old Testament Commentary also came from the press and the complete bound volume will be ready early in 1950.

"There never was a time when it was more important to have the right kind of literature for youth. The society was therefore well pleased to be able to publish a series for youth prepared by the National Christian Committee for Religious Education.

"There were also books on the Bible such as Great is the Company and Discovery of the Bible. One very fine book prepared by Rev. Newton Chiang of the Nanking Theological College was Twelve Addresses to Youth. It is always a special privilege to publish original works by Chinese leaders.

"It has been a disappointment that they have not been able to secure an entrance permit for me and that I have had therefore to remain in Hong Kong. But there is still a great work for me in Hong Kong. It has become increasingly difficult in China to get any competent writer or translator outside of the society to do solid works. We find that one by one many are turning up in Hong Kong. It looks as though much of the preparation of the larger work will have to be done here and I have already set to work on a program. All workers in China are under very heavy strain and this is more true of Shanghai than elsewhere because of the serious threat of bombing. That they have done such a magnificent job in 1949 is a cause for great thanksgiving and is in a very special way a tribute to the excellent leadership given by T. Y. Hu, the General Secretary. The future is in very truth 'all unknown' and we must uphold them with our prayers and gifts."

SOUTH CHINA

BEGINNINGS

In 1902 the Canadian Presbyterian Church sent Rev. and Mrs. W. R. MacKay to begin mission work at Kongmoon. In 1904 Miss Agnes Dickson and Dr. Isabella Little went out as the first W.M.S. missionaries. From this beginning the South China Mission of our Church has grown until, before the Japanese invasion began, there were two well-established stations, Kongmoon and Shek Kei, and co-operation with Union institutions in Canton. Our Mission undertook responsibility for work among 1,500,000 people.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Our missionary staff in South China is now reduced to two, Dr. Victoria Cheung at Kongmoon and Miss Bessie Cairns at Canton. Misses Irene Moore and Margaret Hossie returned to Canada in November since it seemed wise for them not to remain at Kongmoon under the new conditions.

The new government took over control in the Kongmoon area in November and in Canton somewhat earlier. Conditions have been considerably unsettled since due to bombing by the Nationalists which continued after the change of government.

The hospital has had a busy year except for a few days at the time of the turnover. The whole staff remained and Dr. Cheung and Dr. Annie Wong continued their visits to the clinic in Kongmoon city all through the disturbed period.

The school has had some disturbance to its program. All students left at the transition period and only a small number have returned. There are about 70 there at last report where formerly there were about 500.

The new church building at Kongmoon Port was completed this year and was dedicated recently. A Women's Service Guild has been formed which is undertaking service projects for the community.

An additional grant of $425.00 was made this year to the Union Theological Seminary, bringing our total grant up to $675.00. There are a number of women students at the Seminary. The new Central Building of the Seminary at Canton was dedicated in December.

Since there are now only four United Church of Canada missionaries in South China, it did not seem wise to continue Mission Council. Already the administration of the school and all church work was under Synod but funds were still sent through to Mission Council and recommendations came from them to the Home Boards. After careful thought and full discussion the following recommendation was approved and negotiations are now proceeding.

"That on the recommendation of the Joint Policy and Medical Committee and in view of the fact that there are now only three missionaries at Kongmoon and one at Canton and travel is impossible between these two points, approval be given to the following:

"(a) That in keeping with our recognized policy of transferring responsibility to the National Church and with the assurance to the Kwangtung Synod of our active interest and support, the South China Mission Council as such, be dissolved as from July 1, 1950, and the Kwangtung Synod be asked to take over the administration of our work and funds in the fields of evangelism and education.

"(b) That we consult the Kwangtung Synod and the Kongmoon Hospital authorities as to the possibility of the Kongmoon Hospital being also administered by the Synod."

This does not mean that our Church will withdraw from South China but rather that we continue our work through the Synod. Requests for grants and new missionaries would come from Synod instead of from Mission Council. This is in line with developments in other areas.

The Union Middle and Normal School has had a very difficult year. Along with all other middle schools in Canton its program was disrupted for some time in the Fall to give time for parades and celebrations. The school re-opened in February with an enrolment of 500 where formerly there were over 1,000. This is partly due to disturbed travel conditions and continued bombing. Word has recently been received that the government is closing the Normal Training Department from the end of this academic year. This is greatly to be regretted as it has had a remarkable history of excellent work.

RUTH H. TAYLOR.

"THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE WIDE EARTH"

The work of the year as the missionaries see it.

EDUCATIONAL

Canton.—From the Union Normal School at Canton, where she has been continuing her work in spite of difficulties, Miss Bessie M. Cairns writes:

"Christmas is over and 1949 is drawing to an end. Once more the Christmas message, carols, church services, the Christmas programs and gaily-decked trees have made the season a happy and blessed one. The presentation of the Christmas story was given by our primary school children, first in the church, later in our assembly hall, the accompanying hymns being sung by the primary choir and the high school choir. As part of our program, we had 'Why the Chimes Rang' as well, given by the High School and Normal. Our Normal and High School choir formed part of a choir of 400 voices which sang at a service in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium the day before Christmas. The hall was packed both forenoon and afternoon, the clergy of the city took part in the prayers and Scripture reading and one of them gave a short message. The main part of the choir sang a good part of the 'Messiah' in English. It was a heartening experience to be there. That evening our students sang carols around the campus, and even a group of half a dozen servants—all young lads—came and sang under my window.

"In the spring term it was a great pleasure to staff and students to have with us Miss Pearl Chiang of the Child Welfare Centre, Chengtu. The staff enjoyed her company and the students her teaching. She started a workshop in which the Normal School girls could learn to make toys to use in their work, then she planned and equipped, and finally opened a Nursery School for us. Visitors found the nursery so interesting that we could hardly tear them away, and we got the idea that two nursery schools would be better than one, and opened one at the branch kindergarten, where over 40 tots have a happy time, and the Normal students gain experience. The High School has 221 as against 303 in the spring; the primary has 176 as against 407; and the main and branch kindergartens 71 as against 145.

"The primary school children go to Sunday School at the church every Sunday morning. The High School and Normal fellowship group has two evening and three early morning prayer meetings each week, the attendance being around 20 in the morning and around 40 in the evening. At these times only the boarders can be present. The girls conduct the meetings, some of the staff attending in the evening if they wish.

"At the Easter Communion Service in the church 20 of our girls were baptized. Two who had been baptized in infancy united with the church here, and a few went to the city to unite with churches of other denominations. Present attendance at church is rather small.

"On April 25th we had the privilege of hearing Dr. Stanley Jones speak in our chapel, and visiting with him afterwards. In September, Mr. Murray, General Secretary of the New Zealand Presbyterian Church, made a visit to South China, and came to see our work. Mrs. Sherwood Eddy came out once and took a chapel service.

"At the monthly meetings of the English Department we have had some interesting talks, followed by discussion. English is of less interest than formerly, and one class taught by a part-time teacher has been dropped.

"Not long ago I visited Shung Kei Bible Training School and found it going quietly on its way, scarcely affected by the great changes taking place. The students are doing their field work in villages and in the city, and acquitting themselves creditably, but there are far too few of them to fill the need in the country churches."

MEDICAL

Kongmoon.—With characteristic poise, Dr. Victoria Cheung, writing from the Kongmoon Hospital says, "I suppose we have had no more than our rightful share of ups and downs during 1949, but it does seem as if we had one continuous trip on the most modern of 'Merry-go-rounds.' The Chinese have a popular saying, 'If there were no plains or valleys, where would the hills be?' The hill-tops are still before us.

"An air of expectancy permeated the spring, then a sense of tenseness and of grimness crept into the summer, which prevailed all through the fall. This uneasiness kept would-be patients from venturing out, whilst those braving the threatening clouds scattered for home when the ack ack of machine guns and the bursting of bombs proved too nerve wracking. And then with the lull even the bridge failed us! Perhaps we failed the bridge, at any rate the bridge broke down under the incessant strain of the past 10-15 years. The annual floods and the eddies around that bend, the tropical rains and erosion of the soil, the heavy traffic and lack of repair all helped to form that ditch and sagging at this end of the bridge.

"In May, we bid farewell to members of our Mission as they sailed for an early vacation; these included Dr. and Mrs. D. McRae, Rev. and Mrs. D. Clugston and family, Miss Irene Moore and Miss Margaret Hossie. We regret circumstances have not yet cleared up to permit their return. We are, however, extremely grateful that Dr. and Mrs. McClure decided to stay at their posts as long as permissible. Miss B. Cairns, the other member of our Mission, is still with the Union Normal School in Carton.

"In August, we welcomed a male intern and the return of Dr. Annie Wong from Canada. She is most enthusiastic over her year at the Women's College Hospital in Toronto and extremely thankful for the kindnesses and hospitality, friends showered upon her while in a strange country. Her experiences have proved invaluable both to herself and to the hospital. In June, we actually filled that surgical gap in our staff! Dr. Tsui Koon Fong applied and was accepted. He is a keen young Christian and received an excellent training under American surgeons in the military hospitals during the war. He is eager, energetic and does a good job. Dr. Wong Ming Iu and Dr. Chan Chi Hung together with Dr. McClure held the fort all those months when both Dr. A. Wong and I were away. Mrs. McClure has again very kindly given full time service in holding up the laboratory end of the hospital. We have also one other male resident doctor. Thanks to travelling inconveniences, for once, all eight doctors are At Home!

"We have now on the staff, 12 graduate nurses and 30 ward aids. Miss Sung took on duties left by Miss Moore and Miss Hossie in addition to her own. With the increase in staff and in the number of in-patients, the work of the hospital, naturally resolved itself into the various services. Graduate nurses were assigned to particular departments and the whole staff is to be commended on the magnificent co-operation throughout the summer months. Every available space was used in which to place a bed; time after time the carpenter was called upon to fill a rush order for bedboards.

"Every member of the staff takes his turn at morning prayers while the minister and his helpers are responsible for the evening services. Bible study for the war aids ended in November when Miss Lei Kin Poon, the evangelist, was transferred to another station. Miss Lo's classes for the servants and the Sunday School for the ward aids have continued without interruption. Twice a week the war aids practice hymns for Sunday church services. In this way, we have helped to introduce a good number of new hymns to the congregation.

"Lack of time is no excuse for being ignorant of the latest fads in medicine. Even in this community the public is so well informed in the latest developments and new drugs on, or about to be on the market, as to fluster the busy general practitioner. On the other hand, I think we have thoroughly convinced them of the value of anti-rabies vaccine and diphtheria toxoid—our one good deed for 1949. Human rabies and diphtheria were particularly rampant and deadly this year.

"It is interesting to note that during the past year two new churches were built in Kongmoon; one belonging to the Church of Christ in China and the other to the Anglican Church. Official openings were held in October and November. The congregations gave generously and are becoming more Church conscious; attendance is more regular and services more worshipful.

"Life has been one round of excitement and bewilderment. As often as hope rose to its peak, so often was pride pricked and deflated as apparent lethargy roused to take on responsibility far beyond one's expectations, thus silently reprimanding one's lack of faith in the human race. Pray God that we may have the will to go on, the courage and conviction to work towards the fulfillment of the goal which our Lord set forth to accomplish."

WEST CHINA

MRS. D. L. MACLEAN, Secretary

BEGINNINGS

The West China Mission was opened by the Methodist Church in 1891. The first W.M.S. missionaries, Dr. Retta Gifford and Miss Sara Brackbill, reached Shanghai in February, 1893. After some months in language study there, they proceeded to West China and reached Chengtu in March, 1894. In 1895, just two weeks after the arrival of Miss Ford, the Mission was forced to evacuate to Shanghai because of anti-foreign riots. In 1896 they were back again in Chengtu where a school was started with 43 day pupils and 14 boarders. In 1900 the Mission again had to withdraw to the coast because of the Boxer outbreak, but in the autumn of 1901 they were back once more. Twice since then the Mission has had to evacuate, in 1911 because of the disturbed conditions during the Revolution and again in 1927 because of anti-Christian and anti-foreign opposition.

In Szechuan our West China Mission, in co-operation with the Board of Foreign Missions, is responsible for Christian witness among 10,000,000 people.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

The past year has been one of tension and uncertainty in West China. During the fall the forces of the new government gradually took over control of Szechuan Province. Fuling was the first of our mission stations to be involved, and it was followed in a short time by Chungking. Chengtu did not change hands until Christmas Day. At first the new government was given a warm welcome by almost all groups because of the extreme dissatisfaction with the former regime. A complete reorganization of all administration, both political and social, followed. This involved all institutions whether government or private, including Christian schools and hospitals, as was the case in all parts of China. Courses in indoctrination were given for all citizens and were compulsory for the students and faculties of all schools and colleges. Religious freedom as provided in the new constitution, has been observed up to this point as far as the work of the Church is concerned but there is more difficulty in rural areas than in the cities.

In the months since then the general situation has shown some change. Heavy taxes have been levied as well as forced subscriptions to the National Victory Loan. Quantities of rice have been sent out of the province to feed the army and to be sent north. This has seldom happened in the history of Szechuan which has traditionally been isolated from the rest of China geographically and in spirit. Inflation followed and there has been considerable dissatisfaction and unrest, especially among rural people.

Through all this the work of the Church and the Mission has gone on though under tension and with certain adjustments. As is the case in the rest of China, missionaries are not free to travel about. This interferes with evangelistic work except in the larger centres. Financial difficulties have been considerable. Funds can be sent from abroad but inflation makes the work difficult.

In spite of this impending situation one new short-term nurse was appointed to West China last summer in the person of Miss Mary Kilborn. She reached West China in the early fall in company with Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Kilborn and Dr. and Mrs. W. Arup, the latter being also new missionaries. Three short-term workers, Misses Alexander, Demitroff, and Pilon, left West China in October and have resigned. We are grateful for their contribution to the work. Miss Lois Russell and Miss Jean Holt have retired during the year. For health reasons it was not possible for them to return to China in these disturbed times. Miss Lula Rouse should have returned to China in April of this year, but entry permits can not be secured at present, so she has been transferred to our work in Trinidad for one year in the hope that the way to China may then be open.

There are now nineteen missionaries and two short-term nurses on our staff in West China. This is far below our usual staff. At present it is not possible to send out new missionaries because entry permits can not be obtained. We are hoping that in the near future this will change and the way will open.

A new department, called The Christian Engineering Service, was set up in Chengtu under the direction of Mr. Edwards, a missionary of the Board of Overseas Missions, to be responsible for the electrical and mechanical equipment in all our hospitals and to train young men for this work. The total maintenance for this for 1950 is $2,500.00, of which our Society assumed one-half $1,250.00 in accordance with the Joint Medical Plan.

The Szechuan Synod decided to become entirely self-supporting in a five-year period with a gradual reduction of the grant from Canada. Hence our usual grant of $2,000 was reduced to $1,000 for 1950, and on the recommendation of Mission Council the $1,000 saved was divided as follows: $500 to The United Theological College and $500 to Christian Literature for women and girls at the Canadian Mission Press.

One of the serious difficulties facing our hospitals is finances. There is no income from private patients, and all grants from relief organizations are now cut off. The maintenance grants from our two Boards have never been adequate. Furthermore, heavy taxes have been levied on the hospitals. In the case of Fuling this was remitted but the same thing has not yet happened in other places. At the urgent appeal of the Mission the Executive approved a grant of $10,000 from General Fund to meet this emergency. A similar grant was made by the Board of Overseas Missions. What the future holds for the hospitals is hard to predict, but it was felt we should stand behind them and avoid the necessity of their becoming government hospitals.

Since a building program in West China is unwise at present or in the immediate future an undesignated amount of $10,275.05 held in Property Account for the Hwa Yin School, Chengtu, was released for use to meet urgent property needs elsewhere.

Both Hwa Yin School, Chengtu, and Wen Deh School, Chungking, have had a difficult time this year. Dr. Stella Cheng resigned as Hwa Yin principal, having accepted the invitation of the West China Union University to become head of the Home Economics Department. Since no one could be found to take her place, Miss Eleanor Liu, principal of the Wen Deh School, Chungking, was appointed but she could not accept until the fall of 1950. In each school the administration is under a committee composed of representatives of the teachers, students and servants. This committee has full power for the management of the School, including the appointment of teachers. There is a smaller enrolment in both schools.

West China Union University has gone through the same administrative changes as other universities. The student body is slightly smaller, about 1,200. Courses in Marxist ideology have been added to the curriculum as in other cases. Religious freedom has continued and Christian fellowship groups have met regularly. Christian witness has been maintained. Special Christmas and Easter services were held.

During the years since women students were admitted more than 800 women have graduated from the University. Of these more than 100 are doctors. There are 450 women in the University now. Because of the financial difficulties an additional grant of $500 was made by the Executive, bringing our grant for 1950 up to $4,500. In addition a grant of $5,000 was made by the Executive to the University Hospital in response to an urgent request for $20,000. $5,000 was also granted by the Board of Overseas Missions, and it is hoped the balance will be secured from other Boards or agencies.

RUTH H. TAYLOR.

"THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE WIDE EARTH"

The work of the year as the missionaries see it.

Summing up in general the work of the year, from the viewpoint of her position as Secretary-Treasurer for the W.M.S., Miss Winifred Harris writes from Chengtu:

"In reviewing the work of the year just gone one is reminded of the unfailing care of the Father, so that the dominant note must be one of thanksgiving and following that a word of deep appreciation of our Chinese co-workers who have stood so nobly and well through extremely difficult days and without whose help we could not have carried on.

"The beginning of the year found us wondering what the new year held for us and our work, for it was pretty evident that ere the close of the year we would be living and working under a new flag.

"Our evangelistic, educational and medical work in most places was carried on without a break. Even at Christmas time, which for Chengtu came only a few days before liberation, programs were carried on.

"On Christmas Eve I had the privilege of attending a pageant presented by the staff of the Child Study Centre under the direction of Miss Yu Hsi Chi, whom many of you know. Miss Yu read the Christmas story herself, and as we joined in the old familiar hymns and heard again the song of the angels, "Glory to God in the Highest and on earth peace," our hearts were lifted above our surroundings and a vision of what "peace on earth, goodwill to men" could mean to the world became very real to us even though around us were all the evidences of war.

Our Christian schools have shown up very well. At Hwa Yin, our Chengtu Girls' High School, Dr. Stella Cheng has given excellent leadership. She has been carrying a tremendous burden, having responsibility at the University as well as in the High School. Miss Pearl Chiang and Miss Eleanor Liu, too, proved their qualities of leadership. It was necessary to change the school program somewhat, having regular academic courses in the morning and cultural and interest groups in the afternoon, but the important thing is that our schools continued to function.

"Many of our churches have been working toward self-support for reports from other parts of China indicate that the surviving churches are the indigenous ones. In villages where we have Biblewomen we have been urging on the churches the need of local support and warned them that workers would be withdrawn from places where no support was forthcoming. As a consequence some villages are uniting to support a Biblewoman and have pledged themselves to more concentrated effort in the future.

"In the uncertain days that lie ahead it is our duty to use the time we have at our disposal to build up a strong forward-looking Church."

EDUCATIONAL WORK

Chengtu—Theological College.—"We seem to be out-growing our buildings rapidly," writes Miss B. Louise Foster, Dean of Women at the Theological College. "This sign of growth was shown in the registration for 1949 which was 98, an increase over the previous record year of 18. Thirteen out of thirty-five girls are of the Church of Christ in China, eleven of these from our own West China schools. We thought we were overcrowded last year, but it is amazing how there is always room for one more.

"At the beginning of the spring term we welcomed as the new President of our Theological College, Dr. Tseo Ping-Th, formerly of Nanking Theological Seminary, which was with us during the war years. So Dr. Tseo did not come as a stranger; we knew his reputation as a scholar and realized also the contribution he could make to the spiritual life of the College. At the close of the term we regretfully said Good-bye to Dr. and Mrs. Sparling, our first President and his hospitable wife, to both of whom the College owes so much. Our graduating class in June was very small, and there were no women graduates. In 1950 there will be one and we have some specially fine girls in training.

"The last day of November we lost our blind girl, Miss Yao. She had been in Hospital about seven weeks and everything possible had been done for her. To the last she was cheerful and in spite of acute suffering always thinking of others. We miss our Lucy, her cheery smile, her happy spirit, for although blind she was truly a 'light' among us, and so she was given the name of Lucy—a light. We shall look forward to having another blind girl to take her place. The blind boy, Mr. Chang, is carrying on and hopes to graduate in June. He is making excellent progress in music and sometimes plays the organ for chapel very acceptably.

"This year we have added several vocational courses which our graduates may in turn teach to the people with whom they work and which may also be of value should they, like Paul, find it necessary to support themselves while continuing to preach. Girls may take a course in midwifery and we hope to offer one in practical nursing. Weaving is being taught, thanks to Miss Stewart, and we plan to add the making of stockings. Two courses in agriculture are under way, not only the theory but also the practical application of what is taught. If the students can find time this course will be expanded to include raising of stock and chickens, care of fruit trees, etc.

"In spite of tension and the actual 'liberation' on Christmas Day, we were able to have our usual Christmas activities both at the College and in the community around us. Carol singing on Christmas Eve was limited to our own compound but the old familiar hymns rang out once more. New Year's Eve we held our usual Watchnight Communion service."

Chengtu.—"Life for a missionary in her first term is certainly not monotonous," agrees Miss L. Isobel Clark. "I have just completed three years in China and have had five different homes. At the opening of the spring term I taught a class in children's clothing to the students in the Home Economics Vocational Course, and later on started a weaving class with the assistance of one of the teachers from the Junghsien Vocational School. I also taught a class in children's clothing in the Home Economics Department at the University. While at Hwa Yin I helped with the Saturday night English Club at the church, acting as one of the advisors and helping to conduct the worship services. On Sunday I taught one of the English Bible classes.

"In September I moved out to the University to take over the work of Miss Hazel Heffren, who had gone to Loshan to do Evangelistic work. I have been living in the Home Economics Practice House in Woman's College. The fourth year Home Economics students, in groups of four to six, spend a period of several weeks living in this house and carrying on the regular work of a family. As only Chinese food is prepared I have been more in the role of student than teacher so far as meal preparation is concerned. This term I taught Home Management and Technical English. The rest of my time was spent in language study. I have enjoyed the student contacts in our Christian Fellowship Group and in a Bible class which I taught during the week. The upheaval in our regular work and life brought by the 'liberation' has been a time of testing for our Christian students and we are hopeful that they will come through it with a firmer faith and a desire to show their faith through their relations with their fellow man."

Chengtu—Educational.—"It has been a hectic year because of political uncertainty and also because of my own work, whose areas have just been gradually evolving." So writes Miss Katherine B. Hockin, who returned from furlough at the beginning of the year. "When I returned to the field I found that as well as my original work as Religious Education Secretary I had been asked to carry the work of Associate Educational Secretary in order to lighten the load of our W.M.S. Secretary-Treasurer, who was tremendously over-burdened. In the spring term in this joint capacity I spent some time in Hwa Yin School in Chengtu, and in the stations of Tzelutsing, Junghsien, and Loshan.

"I was able thus to get a picture of the work of the schools and of the Church too in these localities and value this experience very much as a background for future responsibilities. One of the highlights of these weeks was a series of meetings with the girls of the Junior Middle School in Tzelutsing where we prepared for the celebration of the Easter festival in a development of the events of Passion Week. The girls came in force and it is hard to put into words the exact thrill that came with telling the story to those who had never heard it. Always before I have been in groups where the majority have heard at least once, but here there was a sense of close attention, almost as though the girls were holding their breath for fear of what might come next. In the summer two conferences were held for teachers on a somewhat new pattern. A couple of leaders went to the individual institution instead of the schools sending representatives up to a central place. This meant that in Chungking, where the staffs of Chin-Ih and Wen-Teh Schools, and in Loshan where teachers of kindergarten and primary schools, shared in a week's program, that we were able to bring about a greater sense of fellowship within the group as well as something of an awareness of joint purpose and educational as well as religious values. Miss Hsi Chi Yu was my colleague in both of the Conferences and their success centred mainly about her contribution in the areas of Psychology and Mental Health, both of which dove-tailed into the religious emphasis of the Conference very well. In Chungking, because many of the teachers attending were not Christians there had been some little feeling that our religious emphasis was too heavy and they asked for more of the technical subjects. It was most reassuring to find the whole group swinging back to concern with the dynamics of the religious life as an outcome of a presentation that Miss Yu made on the characteristics of a mature person. We hope that in the future more Conferences of this pattern will be possible as well as the other type which selects representatives from the whole area and gives them a sense of the overall picture in our educational work."

Chengtu—Child Study Centre.—Last year in her report from the Child Study Centre, Miss Annie Thexton indicated that a change in emphasis was being made in their program—a change which would mean progress. This year she reports those changes, and has asked Miss Pearl Chiang and Miss Yu Hsi Chi to add to her report. Miss Thexton writes:

"With the passing of the year 1949 we close a chapter in the story of the development of the work of the Child Study Centre. We face a period of momentous change, but in the 35 years of the history of our institution there have been many periods necessitating change, and each change leads us a step forward in our service to the children of this community, so we move on with confidence. Before the taking over of the city by liberating forces there was a period of great tension, barricades were erected on the streets, students scattered to their homes, there was fear of looting, of fire, of occupation of property by troops. But our teachers stayed at their work. When the small children no longer came, the students in training still kept on with their classes, took turns at being on night duty, planned activities that not only kept up the morale of the group, but brought servants, students and staff into more of a family group than ever before. The climax was on Christmas eve when our whole group (105) joined in a very beautiful worship pageant and a Christmas party.

"Actually, very good order was preserved in the city, even though there was fighting on the outskirts, and with the taking over by the new government the city soon resumed its normal activities. We learned that our group here could stand up well to a very severe test, and that it is useless to fear possibilities that may never eventuate. Now, January 8th, with our school going full force again in all departments, we are making changes in our program that will be better suited to the present régime. The result is a decentralizing of authority with group decision and discussion of all important questions, a lengthening of the hour of work, the undertaking of more manual labor by staff members, a lessening of class or rank distinction, and a heightening of the feeling that it is our responsibility to do something about the welfare of the great masses of the poor. So we move forward."

Of the work of the Centre for 1949 Miss Pearl Chiang, principal, writes as follows: "This year has meant for us a speeding up of a plan that has been unfolding through the years. This institution started as a teacher training set-up. During the period of government monopoly of teacher training our emphasis was on children's work. Now we are once again carrying out a teacher training program. During the years of depression and war we expanded children's work and strove to make it self-supporting, but six years ago we started a free school for underprivileged children. This project has grown until 20 per cent. of children registered are in this group. So we move toward our objective of equal emphasis on children's work and teacher training, on children's groups for those who can pay or those who cannot pay.

"In the teacher training department, this year has seen the re-establishing of our Normal, but this time as a one-year course for Middle School graduates. Of the first class 12 girls have studied to completion and will graduate this term. These are largely girls sent in by the Missions who will go out to fill the very great need for trained kindergarten and lower grade work teachers. Three of our members of staff have carried courses at the university this year in child study and related courses and students from these courses come to the Centre for observation and practice.

"This fall term there were 725 children enrolled in the school. Of these 276 are in the nursery schools and kindergartens, 299 are in the primary school and 150 are in the free Health School. There are 20 different classroom set-ups in which the 53 teachers in training and the 20 university girls may observe and practise. It is a lovely sight to see the children happy and active whether in classroom or on the playground—one of the most interesting spots to visit in Chengtu, visitors tell us. Our greatest advance in classroom work has been in two vocational courses. A class was opened in sewing for the older girls of the Health School, from needle work they progressed to the use of the hand machine and now to the treadle machine. This course has become very popular and has been also offered to teachers and to women servants. A class has been opened in mothercraft for the older girls of the Health School. Carpentry for boys had made a beginning and next term we are preparing to open courses in weaving and in basketry. I have asked Miss Yu Hsi Chi, the head of the work for the Health School, to write to you of some of the more personal aspects of that work. Some of you remember Miss Yu when she was in Toronto last year."

"The Health School has reached one of the peaks of its development during the year 1949. The new building given by the Junior Red Cross of Canada was ready for use at the beginning of the spring term. When the children who were used to living in straw-huts with muddy floors, first came to the school, they stood and looked at the building in awe, then they started to run into every corner and to touch everything in it to test its reality. Now they have settled down to use the building with pride and care. Every morning before the classroom work begins, and every evening after the school day, groups of children clean the desks, wash the floors and sweep the playground. Keeping the building clean and orderly carries over to the children who become clean and orderly. Therefore it is not a surprise to find children of the streets with dirty faces, running noses and undesirable habits come into the school and become pupils, clean, courteous and self-respecting.

"The school starts its program at 8 o'clock in the morning. Children go directly to the washroom, where they wash their faces and brush their teeth. Then the school nurse comes and gives them health inspection with treatment for those who need care, for eyes, skin trouble or other minor ailments. At 9 a.m. the children go to their classrooms in two groups, kindergarten and primary school.

"Every other Tuesday the parents of the children are invited to a Parent Education Group meeting for instruction in health, nutrition, child care and training. Every child's home is visited by the social worker and teachers, in case of need several visits are made. The following is an illustrative case to show the results of such work. When the school opened this fall a blind woman hanging on to the shoulder of a boy of five came seeking admission to the kindergarten for the boy. Questioning revealed that she sold peanuts on the streets, for her husband, a weaver, had recently died. Through severe trachoma she had become completely blind and her sons of 11 and 16 years were also suffering from trachoma. The sixteen-year-old is an apprentice in weaving. The whole family had to manage on one meal a day. The school took in the five-year-old, sent the mother and her two older sons to the Mission hospital for treatment. The woman's sight is partially restored through an operation, blindness in the boys is arrested. The mother can walk alone, can see large objects and can do some sewing. The school helped her with some capital, and she is now running a fruit stand outside the school gate and earning enough to support her family."

Chengtu—Child Welfare Centre—Shu Hau Kai Church.—Of this interesting work, Miss Anne Davison writes, "Miss Yang as the Principal has been a wonderful leader during this session. She lives in the church building and is always around when needed. Mrs. Yu is a widow with three children and she has been a great help. Miss Wang was a graduate last year of our Christian Middle School, and is most willing to do what she can. All three of the staff are teachers in the Sunday School where they meet about half the children that come during the week days.

"Many applications were received for admission, and it had to be explained that this was not a regular school—the needy were accepted without question, and 72 were enrolled. The younger group only attended in the mornings. They were given as complete a nursery school program as possible. There were 50 in this group, and this took the time of two of the staff as well as the help of the students from the Sociology Department of the University who took this as part of their supervised field work. The older group of 22 return in the afternoon when they have a more intensive training in reading and writing. They are a lively group and make great use of an opportunity to learn.

"As the younger children do not return in the afternoon it leaves the staff time to take turns with the older group and the others are free to visit the homes. Each home was visited by one of the staff twice a month during this five-month period, so the home and centre were in close touch with each other.

"During this period there were three parents' meetings held. Miss Yang made them feel free to bring along their handwork whatever it was, and it was interesting to see them start out working hard, and as the Bible woman proceeded with the story they would gradually let their work drop to their laps and give the story their whole attention. Only two of the families indicated that they were Christian at the beginning, but many came to church and Miss Yang made them always welcome in the mothers' meetings and all the other church activities. The literacy class for mothers carried with such enthusiasm that they could not wait for the new session, and on two nights a week they come to the church for an hour or more, and learn like their children the basic things of an education."

Chengtu—Vocational Work.—"Most certainly vocational work in Szechwan does not lack variety, and that has been particularly true this year. There are calls on every side for instructors in various arts and crafts. The demand definitely exceeds the supply. Production and more production is the slogan. Because of this increasing demand for expansion of vocational work it was decided that I should be transferred to Chengtu," writes Miss Violet Stewart. "We had carried on in Jungshien for the first half of the year and it was with regret that we left the school there, but it has continued to work uninterruptedly, we are glad to say.

"In Chengtu, three units were opened; one in the Theological School, one in Hwa Yin School and one in a small chapel at the East Gate of the City where there is a thriving congregation. I can hardly tell which unit of work is the most interesting; training prospective ministers and evangelists, or middle school girls as vocational teachers, or teaching junior grade girls vocational work, reading writing and arithmetic, together with religious education. All three types of work present their own particular challenge. The work with the junior grade girls at East Gate is small, but very compact. Our aim was and is to attract only the girl living in that immediate district. At first it was difficult to attract her, because folk living in that area are accustomed to the factory type of work for themselves and their children. We did however persist in our aim of a combined course in both vocational and simple junior high school subjects. - We feel that we have won the day, for more are now wanting to enroll than we can well accommodate.

"Fortunately for our Mission, Vocational work was commenced several years ago (by Miss L. Rouse at Junghsien) and we find ourselves now in the vanguard of this popular branch of education. It has become an important department in our Church's work, and moving along with religious education as its companion, there is a very satisfactory program maintained.

"At the East Gate Chapel we have as teachers two of our more recently trained Junghsien graduates. In the Hwa Yin School and Theological College we have Miss Wang Ju Yu in charge, with student teachers as her assistants. Thus we endeavour to follow up the work of more promising students with teacher training, insuring greater efficiency and self-reliance in the young teacher.

"We propose this coming year to introduce stocking knitting as well as making of straw sandals. Weaving, however, will continue to be our main course. Our products change with changing times. We are emphasizing in the future the weaving of towels and plain cloth; all luxuries are in abeyance for the time being, so we are limiting somewhat the output of pattern weaving.

"It is good to be of use in the present situation, and to be able to contribute something to the life and work of the Church which will maintain, or help to maintain, the Church's usefulness in a changing society. Not only that, but will help to contribute something worthwhile in character building with the young. Our religious education program continues, and we do not expect any interruptions in the immediate future. Combining it with other practical courses under the vocational program assures us of an unparalleled opportunity to serve."

Miss Evelyn I. Swann continues the report from East Gate Church and Vocational School. She says, "I have found my greatest happiness this year in associating with teachers and students at East Gate Vocational School. There I have tried my wings in the Chinese language and teachers and students alike have been most kind and understanding.

"The girls show a great interest in the Bible and Miss Stewart has been giving them a real foundation for faith, in the simple logical explanations she gives of the passages as the girls read them. Miss Dong, the Principal of the school, daughter of one of our pastors who has recently gone into the Tribes country as a missionary, is a charming young lady, and she and the two weaving teachers have established very friendly and happy relationships with the girls, who are observing and practising Christianity in their daily lives.

"Mrs. Chang has recently been appointed as Biblewoman in East Gate Church and I hope to go visiting in the homes with her later on. Last term I had several English Bible classes and it was a real joy to me when two members of one class were baptized last Easter.

"I have been doing part-time work in the W.M.S. office—very necessary work—but my real interest is in the industrial—evangelistic work carried on at East Gate, and I hope to give more time to it in the future."

Chengtu—Christian Literature.—"God has done great things for us in the work of producing Christian Literature," reports Miss Florence A. Fee. "This past year we have been very conscious of the way He has been providing us with competent, consecrated Chinese co-workers, preparing them for the taking on of administrative and executive duties, so that from henceforth Mr. Kitchen, Mr. Day and myself will be co-workers with and under the direction of our Chinese Executive staff. This is one of the significant achievements of the past year. The Canadian Mission Press is to be called by its Chinese name—The Hwa Yin Press. It is no longer an institution under Mission Council but an organ of the Literature Departments of the Szechwan Synod of the Church of Christ in China. We thank God for this forward step.

"In January Mr. Guo, co-editor with me of the monthly Church magazine, Christian Hope, was taken ill, and a young Northerner, a graduate in both Arts and Theology, Mr. Ma, came to the Department. From henceforth he will be chief editor and I will be his consultant or assistant. Though still ill enough to be confined to bed, Mr. Guo has been able to do some of the translation work and to prepare the 1950 calendar of 12 sheets. More and more of my time is being given to translation work, as the preparation of Chinese material is being done by the Chinese workers. Miss Dorothy Chiu, for several years in the accounting department, joined our editorial staff in September when Miss Din left for study in the Theological College. Miss Chiu is preparing booklets on many subjects related to the lives and needs of the semi-literates and rural folk, and in relation to the Christian Home. We have also a fine young man, Mr. Lee doing straight translation work. At the present time we are working together on two books, "The Herdsman" and "Where the New World Begins." With Mr. Ma I am working on an adaptation and translation of J. M. Shaw's book, "Life After Death." Many other fine books are being translated and distributed.

"Besides translation there are many other opportunities in this work of producing Christian literature, such as writing tracts, preparing materials for use in the churches on special occasions, such as Passion Week, Mother's Day, Thanksgiving, etc.; translating and editing the program for The World Day of Prayer, helping with pictures and posters and numerous other interesting and challenging avenues of service through literature."

Chungking—Wen Deh High School.—With a heart full of gratitude for the blessings of the past, Miss Laura Darby writes from the Wen Deh School, "Two-thirds of our school staff are at least nominal Christians, and some of them very earnest. I continued to function as treasurer of the school, to attend all school executive meetings, to teach twelve hours of English, and take my share of the Religious Education, three C.G.I.T. groups, leading evening prayers, Sunday services, teachers' fellowship group, etc., besides community projects and mission business.

"In April we were gladdened by a one-day visit from Dr. Lautenschlager, who gave two addresses to a combined gathering of pupils from our Wen Deh School and the Gin Ih Boy's High School. Although he spoke through an interpreter, he was very appealing and received a great response from the students. One hundred and ninety-nine of our girls signed the cards to become better Christians or to study Jesus' principles and way of life. In July we held a ten days' conference for the teachers of our two High Schools—really a kind of reading party. The topics discussed or on which book reports were made, came from the areas of Religious Education and Psychology, Guidance, and Teaching Methods and Problems. Over thirty teachers attended and much hidden talent was discovered, as well a greater interest in things religious aroused. It was extremely worthwhile.

"After the 'liberation' a new governing body was set up for administering the school, with the principal as chairman. The personnel of the committee was the six teachers (including the principal and myself), six pupils; and two servants. This committee has been meeting every second day since, and now has organization details all worked out. Some needed reforms have been made with the sanction of all. The new curriculum will be more practical—with farming, industrial arts, especially weaving, and various aspects of household science emphasized more. The new regime's national anthem is a stirring song popular during the war with Japan, beginning, 'Arise, arise, citizens! build a new China.'

"Christmas celebrations were as usual, including midnight carol singing around the neighbourhood."

Chungking—Educational and Evangelistic Work.—Last year Miss Jean Stewart reported that her work, like Gaul, was divided into three parts. This year again she says, "I still find myself divided into three parts: the school work, the church work and the work with the evangelistic team.

"The religious activities with girls and teachers at Wen Deh make a happy relationship with that institute. C.G.I.T., Sunday evening service, Bible classes and prayer meetings are all worthwhile. The spirit of happy co-operation is apparent in many phases of the school life.

"My work with the little church group is a means of reaching out into the community to enlist new people to follow Christ. This part of the work is slow and sometimes discouraging, as we try to reach the factory and farm folk with new ideas. But they are an appreciative folk to work with. When the big fire occurred here at the first of September our group worked long hours fixing over garments for the sufferers. I have these women twice a week, once to bring their work and all work together, when an opportunity is also given for those who wish to study and learn. The other time is a general meeting when I stress Bible stories, common health practises and general knowledge. They always call on me when there is a new baby and I try to help out with clothing and see that the child is clean and well cared for.

"Then there is the evangelistic team work which is dear to my heart. This spring three of us—Pastor Liu, Miss Pen and myself—made trips to the Penghsien and Jenshow districts. In the Penghsien district we attended a Workers' Conference and had a Bible School with them. This prevented us visiting any of the smaller places in the district which was a disappointment. In the Jenshow district in May we were able to visit one smaller station as well as carry on special meetings in the city. It is hoped that in the future planning of our work we may be able to stay a longer time in each place."

EVANGELISTIC WORK

Loshan.—"After spending the first part of the year at Chengtu where Sunday School at Shu Hua Kai Church, and weekly Bible class and English conversation groups with university students who were interested in our church, were a great source of satisfaction, I was moved to Loshan where Miss Eunice Peters was carrying on alone. I had done one year of language study there and knew the church people, so it was of interest to me to come back and help in the evangelistic work there." So writes Miss Hazel E. Heffron. She continues, "What have I been doing in Loshan since then? I will have to give you a glimpse of the groups which I help with, in order to make you understand a bit of my work.

"There are the 'Kidlets,' our regulars who come three times a week. The minute the hospital bell rings for twelve o'clock noon, they come bursting in our front gate and make a rush for the paddles and birds, sand bags, or bowling balls they play in our front yard. They are quite a motley assembly, 24 of them, from about six to about thirteen or fourteen (even though they said they were between seven and twelve, the ages we set), children from our own streets who aren't able to go to school. As well as reading and writing characters they are given music, Bible stories, crafts (braiding and weaving small articles). Throughout the whole two and a half-hour session, they are spontaneous, happy children, reasonably well-behaved, right through to the swallowing of the red vitamins with the rice porridge they have before going home at 2.30, forgetting for the time, the responsibilities and worries of their homes.

"Then, come along to Sunday School and meet, in addition to these 24, about 100 more who live on our street and in the immediate vicinity. Some are usually waiting when we come out of church before twelve o'clock, but they aren't supposed to come until one-thirty. When the bell rings at that time, the teachers (fine High School students, most of whom are church members) collect their materials and pupils at the gate and take them to the various locations of their classes—two in the little assembly hall of the school, one in a classroom, and three in the Sunday School building behind the church. We have spent a good deal of time and effort to prepare expression work to go with the lessons, the teachers having come during the week to trace and cut out patterns. So, if you go around with me to visit the classes, you will likely see the pupils colouring and pasting. The problem is to get them to understand what these pictures represent and how they are associated with the story. We tell them they are supposed to go home and tell their mothers what the picture means. Then too, you will hear them memorizing the golden text in very loud tones, repeating over and over with apparently little understanding of the meaning. I first thought this was very outmoded and useless, but that is the way these children and their teachers expect to learn—memorize first, and find out what value it has later. In a little while when the bell rings we all go to the church for the worship service. We have tried very hard to teach the children that this is worship, not just a review of the lesson, and not just teaching them to sing songs.

"During the year, Miss Peters has been developing a big Cradle Roll. When fall came she felt that the next development would be a study group for the mothers of the babies on the roll and asked me to lend a hand. These mothers are mostly people who haven't had a great deal of direct connection with our church activities and are not really very much at ease. The first series of lessons—four weeks—was nutrition, using plenty of fancy charts, in spite of which I didn't feel that I had really got very close to what they really needed. Now you may come to see the second series of lessons—Child Study—going over a little better by the play-acting method. Each week we prepare a little skit of what to do or what not to do. After some of the mothers have been persuaded to read the parts, they often discuss among themselves, but won't speak loud enough for group discussion.

"Another group in which are people who haven't any other connection with the church is my English class, in which besides some of our own teachers, are a few teachers from other schools in town.

"Still another phase of our work, which you have to get up early in order to observe, is maintaining the Christian atmosphere and spiritual life in our institutions. So it is that I take my turn leading morning prayers for the primary school teachers, hospital staff, pupils in the school and servants."

Miss Eunice L. Peters begins her report from Loshan by thanking all her prayer partners—societies and friends—for their strengthening prayers, for, she says, "My share in the work here could not have gone on without them. I started the year with illness, and yet during my illness I happen to know that I was used of God to help several people.

"In February I was able to take part in a Young People's Retreat held about 40 li from here, in a school building in a lovely spot between river and hills. I was able to lead my Bible study periods as planned and the young people participated in discussion very thoughtfully.

"One thing new is the Cradle Roll Department started in February. At first Mothers' Meeting of Cradle Roll babies there were less than 20; at the second more than 50, the third more than 75. As the year ends there are more than 100 mothers which means a good many more babies; as many homes have two babies under three. Many more are clamoring to have babies enrolled. These babies are open sesame to more homes than I have visited in my previous two years here, and I have not been able to call on all by any means, owing to too many other duties and engagements. The delivering of their birthday cards, seasonal cards (Christmas, Easter, etc.), get well cards, when mothers are ill entails much calling. These cards are selected from the packages of used cards sent out from home, but we have a locally printed enrollment card alike for each one as it is enrolled. In the expansion of this work and the care of it we have had the services of a woman who for many years has been a teacher in this school. She retired from teaching this year, and is free to give her time to this work. Many of these mothers are former students of hers and have a real respect and affection for her. She has introduced us to homes with which the Church has no other contacts. Mrs. Tang, our woman evangelist went on sick leave in the early fall and since then much of the woman's work has also been carried by Miss Fuh very efficiently and very whole-heartedly.

"This year's summer work was a little different from other summers. When Rev. R. L. and Mrs. Bacon had to leave us early in June, she left a class of students who studied Bible with her on Sunday mornings. Some of these I absorbed into my Sunday morning class. He left a class of teachers who were studying the Gospel of John. They were anxious to continue and I arranged to give them one early morning period and one afternoon period each week to the end of term. When end of term came, some were staying on in the city, and with the closing of our school our own morning duties were somewhat lighter, so on request we carried a 9-10 o'clock Bible study for the teachers five days a week. The original group found other teachers of other schools who were also glad to come. Miss Heffren and I shared the work of this class, and we pressed into service any missionary ministers who happened to be in Loshan for a few days as we felt this group appreciated an exchange of ideas with men. The visiting pastors were most kind in their expressions of appreciation of the groups to which we introduced them. Present busyness and preparation for the future both seem more urgent than recalling that which is already done, for good or ill. But I repeat in closing what I said in the beginning—I need your prayers."

Tzelutsing—Evangelistic and Educational Work.—"Personally," says Miss Constance E. Ward, "I am very grateful for the privilege of having some small part in the work of the Kingdom during 1949. At the Council in January, a request was made to open a small vocational unit for weaving. Miss Stewart sent one of her best weaving school graduates and then we began to look for a head teacher for the school. Finally after prayer and much thought Miss Hsiao agreed to take charge and has proven to be the right person. There is a nice group of twelve girls, and Miss Djang, the weaving teacher, started them from the very beginning. We were all thrilled when the students wove the first simple table runners. The plan of the school unit is a half day's study and a half day's handicraft. Every day a simple worship service is held first, and each week there are two hours of Bible study, while the girls also attend church and women's meetings. The hope is that this school may not only teach handicrafts and some middle school lessons, but also the essentials of Christianity, so that all may have a chance to become Christian and perhaps later some may offer to do definite Christian work.

"Early in the year Christian wardens were appointed to the prison, and the church people were welcomed to hold meetings with the prisoners. Mrs. Yeh and I worked more particularly with the women, but sometimes joined the pastor and Mr. Sutton in speaking to the men. One of the wardens is considering making Christian work his vocation.

"The weekly visits to the three hospitals were continued. Patients looked for us and were disappointed if we did not come on the regular day. How we wished for more time to do the follow-up visiting, for when we have been able to do it, we have been very cordially received.

"The weekly meetings with pupils of a Primary Government school were kept up until the summer holidays. The love of Jesus, a reverent attitude during prayer, and the joys of songs of praise became part of the experience of these children who had no other Christian contact. Another weekly gathering is held in our Mission kindergarten for those who bring the wee ones to school. John's grandmother is a Christian and she talked to other women about Jesus and brought many of them to the meetings held during Christianizing the Home week. So the good news is spread.

"Sundays are busy days. Miss Hwang and a small group of Peh Deh pupils took charge of the 100 or more children in the Sunday School. Miss Hwang's efficient leadership made the service attractive to the children and also gave the girl teachers worthwhile training. Two or three English Bible study groups met at the same time. The first half of the year I had the junior group—girls from the Nurses' Training School, from Peh Deh Middle School and some from Shu Gwang private school. Rev. Sutton took the senior group. This summer and autumn I took the senior and Mr. Hsu, the junior group. These contacts are valuable and as one sows the seed a prayer is breathed that it may grow and bear fruit. The regular morning service follows these activities. Surely the people come to hear the word of God, for there is nothing spectacular about our services, and the attendance is usually from 70 to 100. Easter Sunday about 12 persons were baptized and a number accepted as learners. Eight of those baptized were Peh Deh pupils. They have attended church regularly ever since. At Peh Deh a Sunday evening meeting is conducted by Miss Hwang for the boarding pupils every week. During the week she has eight or nine Bible study groups. I take the graduating class. The attendance at these groups is optional, but about three-quarters of the girls attend regularly. They have a small room where they may come for private prayer and meditation.

"The usual activities—literacy classes, women's meetings, home visitation, Sunday School and public worship have been carried on by Biblewomen in the six villages of the Tzeliutsing district. Early in the spring at Chinese New Year, these Biblewomen went as a group to four of the villages to hold three days' special services in each place. Their own faith was strengthened and the message spread by this united endeavour. This autumn, frequently Christians from the city church have gone to assist in the Sunday services at one of the three nearest villages. It is gratifying to see a greater feeling of unity and also a sense of responsibility by the Christians in city and district.

"Council advised leaving Tzeliutsing for a time at least, in order to be with others. So Chungking was my choice.

"My home is now with an Overseas Mission Board family on the hospital compound. My duties are hospital evangelism, English with the technicians of the hospital laboratory, and helping in the Sunday activities in the church which is part of the program here. One of the cheery projects is going with Rev. and Mrs. MacHattie to sing in the wards each Sunday afternoon. A thrilling experience, on the Friday before Christmas, was listening with hundreds of others in the 'Y' theatre, to the splendid concert of Christmas music given by all the Christian churches of the city. Carols, anthems and the Hallelujah Chorus made a program about three hours long, but the large audience listened with eager attention throughout. Schools and hospitals held the usual Christmas festivities and through it all, in our hearts, was a song of praise and gratitude."

Fowling—Miss Eleanor D. Graham reports, "At Fowling the change from one ideology to another came Nov. 28th, quite quietly, so we were most grateful.

"During the spring our Baby Welfare was most popular. From the middle of February when we re-opened until the end of June, we had washed more than a thousand babies, and up to the middle of November the number was 1,036. The highest number for one day was 94, made possible by gifts of towels from friends at home. We also vaccinated a goodly number of children against smallpox.

"During the spring I was asked to take charge of the Children's Department of the Sunday School at the church. We were able to gather together a capable staff of Christian young people as teachers, and had a large attendance in spite of rainy Sundays.

"Our leadership Training School, held from June 22nd to July 11th was a very successful project with 20 young men and 10 young women in attendance. I was in charge of the handwork and we decided to make four sets of figures for the first ten lessons of the Life of Christ for the flannelboard. We had to improvise because materials were scarce, but the finished products were so good that we had urgent pleas from three other places to do sets for them, which we are undertaking.

"During the Chinese New Year holiday, in February, two and sometimes three church groups went out for several mornings, holding two or three street meetings, each group, each morning. Those who were especially interested were invited to further meetings held each afternoon in our Woman's School. The response was so good that the Young People's decided to hold a special meeting for outsiders, each Saturday night, in the church, the rest of the spring term. The last week of March we held a week of special meetings for our church members, emphasizing the most important Christian doctrines.

"Our kindergarten continues to have many more applications than we can take. Last spring, three afternoons a week, the kindergarten teachers took turns coming over to Han Lin Ba, to carry on a kindergarten for poor children. This fall they decided to have it every afternoon, at the church kindergarten, but that is the centre of the city, with more business people, and it did not get many poor children.

"We invited the industrial teacher of our Woman's School, and a doctor and his nurse-wife (she was formerly Superintendent of the Nursing School of our hospital) with their three children to live with me. With the addition of these two Christian families and the two servants' families already here, our united prayers each Saturday night is a very happy time."

MEDICAL WORK

Chengtu.—Miss Cora A. Kilborn from her busy life in the hospital writes,

"In spite of uncertainty as to what to expect, and tension as to what might happen, the year has passed fairly normally and peacefully. We are now under communist control and up to the present we have been able to carry on our medical work pretty much as usual. There was a certain amount of fighting during the occupation, but our hospital did not have to cope with hundreds of wounded as they have frequently had to do in times past, for the military authorities had set up their own military hospitals. We cleared out a large 50-bed ward, added about 10 extra beds and soon had the whole ward filled with wounded soldiers and civilians.

"It was not only the military who were thinking of their wounded for a committee of the National Christian Council, the city churches, and the women's committee of the University church have all come in to bring comfort and cheer to the wounded soldiers in the hospital, and to preach the gospel message to them.

"During the time of tension, when one did not know what to expect from one day to the next, most of the students at the University left for their homes or other places which they considered to be safer. It was very gratifying that practically no members of our nursing or medical staff left their posts, and only a small percentage of the student nurses. A great many patients left the hospital and with the reduced numbers our finances, of course, suffered.

"Christmas passed very quietly with very little decorating of the wards, but we did manage to have our usual morning carol singing through the wards of the hospital.

"A big forward step was taken last fall when the entrance requirement to the School of Nursing was raised from Junior Middle to Senior Middle graduation. This means a further three years of study, and so the girls are more mature and come to us with a much better foundation. It is interesting to note that there was no difficulty whatever in getting plenty of applicants with the higher standard. Including the 28 in this new class, there are altogether 90 student nurses in the regular school and 16 students in the university nursing course. We have 42 graduate nurses in the hospital and 85 per cent. of these are Christian. It was a joy to see five come forward and accept baptism at Easter time.

"It is wonderful to have so many Christians among them, but I so often wish that they could put into practice on the wards real ideals of unselfish Christian service. We often feel that this is lacking. It is also hard to maintain standards such as we would have at home.

"During the year in our University Hospital, there were 3,644 in-patients, amounting to 57,746 patient days, and 19,753 new patients seen in the Out-Patient Department with 20,907 return visits.

"There are many difficulties and frustrations, but in spite of all, it is ever a joy to have a small share in Christ's ministry of healing. Do pray with us that we will continue to be allowed to carry on the Master's work in this great land."

Continuing the report from the Chengtu Hospital, Miss Lillian Taylor says, "A hospital is one place where work never ceases, and in spite of difficulties, we endeavour to carry on as normally as possible. Last year a total of 1,289 operations were performed, of which 417 were major and 872 minor. The plaster room which was changed a little in order that casts could be applied more easily and efficiently saw a good deal of use during the month of December, for the number of gun-shot wounds involving bones was very great. The spirit shown by the operating-room staff was indeed fine during this period. Immediately after 'liberation' as soon as permission could be obtained, teams of doctors went out in trucks through the countryside looking for wounded soldiers. Then as the situation eased a little, soldiers began coming in of their own accord or were brought in by their comrades.

"Beside working in the operating room I had two classes in the nursing school during the fall term; one was Nursing English for intermediate students; the other was Operating Room Technique with the graduating class of the University Nursing Course. As these latter students have quite a good understanding of English, their classes were conducted entirely in that language.

"These days ahead will be a testing time for the Christians. May faith increase."

JAPAN

MISS CORA M. EAKINS, Secretary

BEGINNINGS

The Japan field was opened by the Canadian Methodist Church in 1873. In 1882 Miss Martha J. Cartmell went out as the first W.M.S. missionary. In 1884 she began a school with two pupils and these two were the beginning of what is now our largest school, the Tokyo Eiwa Jo Gakko, at Azabu, Tokyo. In Japan The United Church of Canada, of which the Woman's Missionary Society is an integral part, is responsible in co-operation with the Church of Christ in Japan, for Christian witness among 5,000,000 people.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

We have been able to add to our missionary staff in Japan this year. Last fall Miss Jean Bates was able to get clearance from the Medical Board to return to Japan and she arrived there in December. Miss Marjorie Tunbridge, appointed last year, has spent this past year at Berkeley, Cal., studying the Japanese language. She will proceed to Japan in August. Miss Gwen Suttie has also recently returned to Japan. Because of the necessary delay until the new W.M.S. residence at Kofu was completed, she has spent the fall and spring in language study and in preparation for her teaching there. Miss Sybil R. Courtice retires this year after 40 years of outstanding and strenuous service. We especially appreciate these last few years since the war when she was the first to return to carry a very heavy burden under most trying and strenuous conditions.

Now that practically all Boards are channelling their funds through the central office of the Inter-Board Committee for Christian work in Japan, an appeal came to the Boards for two young women with business qualifications and experience for that office in Tokyo. In response to this request Miss Janet Mason, B.A., of Moncton, N.B., was appointed by our Society on a three-year term, and Miss Annabel Worrell, also from New Brunswick, was appointed by the Inter-Board Committee. We are happy that Miss Jean Macdonald, M.A., and Miss Margaret Trucman, B.A., Reg.N., have been appointed as full-time missionaries. They will study Japanese language at Yale University this coming year. In addition four short-term teachers of English have been appointed for three years—Misses Rhoda Palfrey, B.A., Vodia MacKay, B.A., Doreen J. Webster, B.A., and Irene Webster, B.A.

Toyo Eiwa School, Tokyo, celebrated its 65th anniversary in November 6th and Yamanashi Eiwa, Kofu, its 60th anniversary on November 9. Greetings from our Society were sent for both occasions and an appreciative reply has been received from the principal of each school.

Toyo Eiwa School, Tokyo, applied for Junior College status for the Kindergarten Training Department, as otherwise that department would have had to close according to the new educational regulations in Japan. The new status was granted. This has meant certain additions to buildings, and an increase in maintenance grants to provide the necessary equipment and increased staff. In response to the request for $2,000 additional annual maintenance grant, $1,000 was granted in 1950, and the full amount included in the 1951

Estimates. The new name for that department is "The Junior College of Childhood Education of the Toyo Eiwa Jo Gakuin." A new class of 35 was admitted in April.

The two new W.M.S. residences at Kofu and Shizuoka have been in process of erection during this year. Both will be completed shortly. A grant of $1,200 each was made to provide furnishings for them. Our property at Hamamatsu was entirely destroyed by bombing during the war. Miss May McLachlan has been spending part of each week in Hamamatsu in response to the urgent request of the pastor there. In order to provide accommodation for her an offer of a small house at Hamamatsu was made to us by a Christian layman if we would purchase the land on which it stood. A grant of $1,800 was made from the Property Account since she is needed there on a full-time basis. The property is 13 tsubo and is next to the kindergarten property. The house needs some repairs and furnishings. Grants of $241.28 to Nagano and $1,060.00 to Kanazawa were made to provide furnishings.

Relief for Christian workers and general relief has continued throughout the year. The general situation has improved considerably but pastors still receive far too low salaries and need material aid. Each pastor was provided with a clothing outfit this year. CARE parcels were also sent by Church World Service. Our Society shared in those through our grants to the Inter-Board Committee.

Since the war about 170 church buildings have been rebuilt or are in process of reconstruction. Towards this an amount equal to approximately $250,000 U.S., has been contributed in Japan and about $242,000 U.S., from abroad. A recent survey in Japan shows that there are six large cities, 1,164 towns, and 8,854 villages with no Kyodan churches. The unfinished task is still overwhelming.

The 90th anniversary of the beginning of Protestant Christianity in Japan was celebrated in October last year. Special events and programs commemorated the occasion. A special convocation of ministers of the Church was held in Tokyo, October 5-9, when Dr. Emil Brunner of Switzerland, was the speaker.

Under the newly reorganized National Christian Council a program of Christian literature has been undertaken. Three hundred tons of paper were sent to Japan by the American Bible Society to provide for the printing of the Bible. All that can be printed can be sold at once. Three hundred thousand copies of the Hymnal are being published this year and one million copies during the coming three years. It is being purchased not only by Christians but also by non-Christians because they like the music. It is sold in general bookstores.

The Tokyo Women's Christian College has been permitted to add a Junior College. This is quite separate from the university grade section which includes the departments of Social Science, Literature (English, Japanese and Chinese), Philosophy and Natural Sciences. There are 911 students in the College this year. Of these, 483 are in the university grade section, 197 with Junior College, and 232 in the old Semmon Gakko which will be closed out this year. Three times as many applied for entrance in April as could be accepted. There are several urgent building needs—the restoration of the heating plant, a new dormitory, major repairs, and the completion of the East Science building. Fifty thousand dollars has been released by the North American Co-operating Committee from funds available for building needs but this will not cover all their requests. The new Science building, approved last year, has been completed and was formally opened in December. They have requested five new missionary teachers.

Approval was given to the release of $14,274.90 granted in November, 1948, from the Bequest Permanent Reserve Fund to cover J.B.C. grants for that year and not used because they were met within the Estimate. This was then available for urgent Property needs.

The following Property Grants have been made: National Rural Service and Training Centre $2,500.00, Aiseikwan $5,000.00, Shizuoka Eiwa School $4,000.00, totalling $11,500.00.

"THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE WIDE EARTH"

The work of the year as the missionaries see it.

Please Note: This year many selections from the reports of our Japan missionaries are contained in The United Church Re-Enters Japan. All such excerpts are omitted from the following accounts, but should be read in conjunction with these.

TOKYO

"A gradual improvement in general living conditions among the Japanese has been evident during the past year," writes Miss M. Luella Rorke. "While there is much distress it is not as acute as it was a year ago. A number of babies are still being supplied with milk and other foods from parcels sent by individuals or Auxiliary groups, and emergency appeals for sick and convalescents are being met. This service on the part of our Church women has been an evidence of personal concern that has done much to strengthen faith in the reality of the Christian fellowship.

"From the beginning of the New Year term all schools in Japan become very much taken up with preparations for final examinations, promotions and graduations. In this our Kindergarten Training Department is no exception.

"During the year the Department of Education has been settling standards and requirements for the new Junior Colleges. These are schools that will do College grade work for two or three years above High School, dealing with some specialty that can be completed in that time. Our Teacher Training Department is one of the schools in line for this new development.

"The return to Canada in July of Miss Courtice, for many years the Secretary-Treasurer of our Mission, has been a great loss not only to the Canadian group of missionaries, but also to all the groups co-operating with the Inter-Board Committee. Since it has fallen to me to take up some of her responsibilities the nature of my work has changed to a certain extent. The return to Japan of Miss Scruton in September has brought much needed help to the Kindergarten Training Department. We are greatly rejoiced and encouraged also by the arrival with Miss Scruton of our first new missionary in many years, Miss Wilha Thomas. Her appointment to Shizuoka has been a source of great satisfaction to all in that station."

Miss M. Fern Scruton tells, in brief, the story of the Kindergarten Training School, which has now been granted the name and status of "The Junior College of Childhood Education."

"In September, 1949, I found myself back in Japan and teaching on the staff of the Kindergarten Training Department of Toyo Eiwa Jo Gakuin (usually called in English "The Azabu School"). I had been absent eight years, most of which was spent in kindergarten work in Trinidad. Though work in the Kindergarten Training Department had sometimes been suggested to me I had not been able to visualize myself in this position even when I was asked to leave Trinidad and return to Japan. I loved the work which brought me in contact with children and mothers and through which I co-operated closely with the local church. Perhaps it is because of my experience in many practical situations rather than through scholarship or academic standing that I have now something to contribute in this school which, we hope by the time you read this, will have attained the status of Junior College.

"When I came to Japan in 1925 the work that appealed to me the most was the kindergarten work. Miss Katherine Drake, who was at that time head of the Kindergarten Training Department, did all she could to foster that interest.

"Miss Drake often told us of the early days of the school in Ueda where kindergarten training had been begun by Miss Etta De Wolfe one year after her arrival in Japan in 1904. She told us of her own first years when she took over from Miss De Wolfe immediately upon her arrival in Japan.

"By 1919 it was decided that the eighteen students then in attendance needed the educational advantage of a larger centre and so the school moved from Ueda to Tokyo and became a department of the Toyo Eiwa Jo Gakko.

"Miss Marie Staples took over when Miss Drake went on furlough in 1928. A few years later Miss Lois Lehman, a specialist in childhood education who had joined our Mission staff, became head of the Kindergarten Training Department. Through her enthusiasm and untiring efforts this department continued to be one of the best training schools for kindergarten teachers in Japan.

"Miss Lehman was largely instrumental in having Yoshiko Kunugi, a talented kindergarten teacher, go to the United States to specialize in childhood education and it was Kunugi San who headed the Kindergarten Training Department in 1941 when we all evacuated and who kept the school running all through the war in spite of almost insurmountable difficulties.

"In 1947 Kunugi San was asked to take a position under the Japanese Ministry of Education. Miss Luella Rorke, who had recently returned to Japan, became director of the Kindergarten Training Department. Although Miss Rorke's specialty is not kindergarten work she is an experienced educator and has done an exceedingly fine piece of work in helping to bring the school back to its pre-war standards. Today we have 60 students enrolled in a two-year course. The number of graduates of the Kindergarten Training School since its founding is 636.

"The program of the school includes daily chapel services conducted by teachers and pupils in turn, and two hours a week of Bible Study for each class taught by devoted Japanese teachers. There is also a course, very popular with students, in religious education to prepare them for Sunday School teaching. Work in churches of the area on Sundays is voluntary but many of the students participate. The extra-curricular religious organization of the school, the Y.W.C.A., is a thriving one.

"At present it is my assigned task to plan and supervise the observation trips and to co-operate with the Japanese teachers of the kindergartens in which our students teach so that the seniors will receive the greatest possible value from the eighteen weeks of half-day practice teaching which they are required to do.

"I am teaching courses in childhood education and English. Other responsibilities change from term to term and year to year according to the qualified Japanese staff available."

"More girls were able to attend camps last summer and most of these girls received something of lasting value from their experiences at camp." This is indeed an encouraging item from the report from Miss Leona Douglas who has been teaching in the Toyo Eiwa Jo Gakuin (Azabu Girls' High School). "In reading their diaries written at camp we could imagine a Canadian girl writing the same thing. For example—'After breakfast we had discussion groups when we talked about the student organization in our different schools. I liked the organization of one of the schools because it is so democratic. . . . From one to two o'clock we had to take a rest—but nobody did. . . . On Sunday evening we had a worship service on the lake. At the middle of the lake all the boats stopped and there the service was held. I can never forget that worship service. . . . I greeted my last morning at camp with my heart overflowing with thanks. I decided to put into practice the things which I have come to believe while here at camp.'

"But it's more difficult to imagine a Canadian girl writing this—'This morning I got up at four o'clock and left the house at 5.30 to go to the public library. Arrived there at 7.30. Already there were about forty people waiting at the front door. At nine o'clock the door was opened but about two-thirds of the people couldn't get in.'

"One of the big events of the year was the sixty-fifth anniversary of the school. As the anniversary date came on Sunday this year, the service was held in the afternoon and was followed by an open meeting at which an outstanding Christian minister spoke on 'What keeps Christianity living?' At the anniversary service the teachers who have served the school for fifteen years or more, were honored. There were seven, among whom were Mrs. Yoshimoto (Cho Ide) and Miss Tani Maruyama whom many of you will remember. It is interesting that all of these teachers are Christian, some of them having been baptized after they came on the staff.

"One evening in November the door bell rang about nine o'clock and I was surprised to see a young man, a student, who often comes to talk about his ideals and his problems. We don't have many callers in the evening because people don't travel much in the evening in Tokyo unless they have business. What was the important business which had brought this young man across the city? He had had a letter from his mother in which she had declared her Christian faith. He was so happy about it he wanted to share the news with someone. It is a privilege and a challenge to work with the young people of this land."

In reporting, Miss Mildred E. Matthewson sends extracts from her diary of the year's work, also at Toyo Eiwa Girls' High School.

February 5—During the past three days we have been having a "shuyokai" at school—that is, a kind of retreat, with special leaders, for both the Junior and Senior sections of the school. When Miss Michi Kawai gave the closing talk in the senior group this morning five girls stood, expressing their decision to follow Christ.

March 4—This afternoon we attended the World's Day of Prayer service at Shinanomachi Church. The building was unheated and cold, but the spirit of prayer and the thought of the great world-fellowship in which we were taking part made it a heart-warming and thrilling experience.

April 9—We had school opening today for the first term of the new school year. It is always a thrilling experience, I think, to see the students—more than 800 of them—gather in the auditorium each morning for worship, then start off for their classes, eager—most of them—to learn. What a responsibility we teachers have!

April 11—This was a beautiful morning and the cherry blossoms are at their best. So after the first class period the whole school—over 800 girls and about 30 teachers—walked over to Aoyama cemetery to see the blossoms. I like the Japanese idea of the importance of observing beauty. There is a long avenue of trees at Aoyama, and to walk under them on a spring morning like this is an experience which cannot be put into words.

April 17 (Easter Sunday)—This was a perfect Easter Sunday morning. The air was still and clear and fresh, pulsing with the new life of spring. We rose at 5.30 a.m. and all went to the Easter Sunrise Service, which was held in the open space before the Imperial Palace. There were about 3,500 people present—army and occupation personnel, Japanese, missionaries. Rarely have I been so moved. Here were men and women who a few years ago were enemies, joining in worship and praise to God for the victory of Christ in the Resurrection.

July 18—We had school closing this morning for the summer. It will be easier for people to get away from the city for a while this summer. Before this it has been difficult, or impossible, because of travel conditions and food rationing.

October 5—This year is the 90th Anniversary of the beginning of Protestant Mission work in Japan. As part of the special celebration of this event the United Church of Christ in Japan today began a conference for all its ministers. Missionaries of co-operating Church Boards were also invited and the guest speaker was Dr. Emil Brunner.

October 8 (Saturday)—A great Protestant Christian mass meeting was held this afternoon in Hibiya Hall, one of the city's largest auditoriums.

October 13—This year is a very special one for Toyo Eiwa Girls' School, for it marks the 65th anniversary of its founding.

December 12 (Monday)—This afternoon was the monthly prayer meeting for the staff of all departments of our school—Teacher Training, High School, Primary School and Kindergarten. There are over 50 of us altogether. This monthly meeting was started just this year for the purpose of study, prayer and fellowship. We have many fine, Christian teachers in the school who are keeping before them the purpose, "The whole school for Christ."

December 23—Yesterday was our Christmas program at school—a reverent service of worship ending with the "Hallelujah Chorus" well sung by the girls' choir; then a program of music and a dramatic version of Dickens' "Christmas Carol," ably presented by the students of the Kindergarten Teacher Training Department.

December 25—Cold but a beautiful Christmas Day. At the morning service of Terii Zaka Church nine young people were baptized, six of them being girls from the school. In the afternoon the Sunday School Christmas program was presented. During this term I have been teaching a Sunday School class here, also a Y.M.C.A. Bible Study group at the school.

"If, as has been said, human relationships are the most important thing in life, we foreign teachers here at the college have been blessed." It is thus Miss Constance Chappell begins her report on her work at the Tokyo Woman's Christian College. "We work in a happy atmosphere, with ever-growing confidence in our president, Dr. Takeshi Saito, in satisfying co-operation with our Japanese colleagues, and with the loyalty of our students.

"For myself and my foreign colleagues here the greater part of our time is absorbed in classroom work in English, language primarily, and also literature.

"With the beginning of the school year in April, 1949, I availed myself of an opportunity for further experimental work, this time in a school. An ideal situation was presented at St. Margaret's School (Episcopal, U.S.) which is within walking distance of the college. I go there three times a month, for an hour, and work in close co-operation with one of our graduates who is on that staff. My work is with the fourth year of the primary department, an excellent age to start the teaching program in which I am especially interested. I introduce the new material, and my assistant, who has five hours with the class to my three, follows through and consolidates the work. This experience gave me confidence to advocate the adoption of the Harvard methods and materials in the three high schools founded by our Canadian Mission. At a two-day conference on English teaching held during the recent Christmas holidays, teachers from these three schools met, and with Miss Wilna Thomas' help I described to them the principles involved and showed the materials. As Miss Gwen Suttie is also studying the method, it would seem to me that our schools might be in a position to take a significant lead in the English-teaching program of Japan by demonstrating the usefulness of these lessons.

"An important step was taken by the college this past year, when it was decided to apply to the Department of Education for permission to open a two-year Junior College, to operate side by side with the Four-Year Liberal Arts College, using the same buildings and administration, and to a certain extent the same faculty. The courses projected are: (1) English, (2) Japanese, (3) Mathematics, (4) Physical Education, (5) Secretarial." Important among the reasons Miss Chappell mentions for setting up this course is the fact that it will help "to meet the need of families who are unable for financial reasons to give their daughters four years of education above the senior high school—this consideration is especially important because of the present low economic condition of Japan, and to make it possible for the advantages of higher education to be more widely diffused."

KOFU

Youth's answer to the need for leadership is heartening in the eyes of Miss Katherine M. Greenbank of the Girls' High School in Kofu. "Trends of thought of the youth of Japan were reflected in the reports of summer conferences and camps given at the beginning of this school term. 'We students, must take more responsibility for Christian activities in school, church and community. We have been too content to leave the leadership to older folk.

Now we must take our share.' There have been many evidences of their desire to organize and lead, not only in the Christian associations of their own schools but also in the recently formed federation of Christian students of the city. Some helpful projects have been initiated by them during the year and they are proving that they are truly 'on the march,' but there is an urgent need for both Japanese and missionary youth leadership in city and rural life, in order to guide them to the highest achievement.

"Not only among youth is this awakening apparent but also among women, who are coming out of their years of seclusion of home-making for their own families and gradually realizing that they cannot live to themselves alone but have a duty to their neighbors. It is especially significant to find the women of the villages, who, burdened by the hard toil in the fields, had no interest beyond eking out a bare living, now willing to organize their own woman's associations, attend meetings and even to make observation tours in order to find solutions for the problems of the rural community under the new system of land control. They recognize the need of making life more pleasant if the young people are to be kept on the farm.

"Among the more efficient of the leaders of these activities are graduates of our school which has served the prefecture for sixty years. They are serving in many capacities—president of the prefectural woman's association, president of the Y.W.C.A., counsellor of family relations committee, leaders in church and community organizations, leaders of young people's study groups, leaders of children's groups in their own homes, and in other groups. They are eager to learn of the work of women in other countries of the world and are willing to make experiments in their own communities.

"The pressing needs are for welfare workers among the repatriate settlements where housing conditions are appalling, for work for widows who are without support, and for work with delinquent children whose numbers are increasing. The prefecture is working on a plan for a widows' centre but there is accommodation for only fifty women out of five hundred who are without support for their children. With CARE parcels and relief parcels from personal friends we can scarcely touch the need. LARA is bringing relief to many institutions and we cannot say enough in praise of her work but the many sufferers who bear their burdens secretly can only be cared for by close friends who are willing to share. Their gratitude is touching beyond words. One woman who had received a CARE parcel said her children danced up and down as they unwrapped each of the small packages contained in the large carton. It had come on the birthday of her ten-year-old daughter who could not help believing that it was all planned so that she could have a birthday cake from the flour, sugar and raisins. All of those who have received wish to have their gratitude expressed to the kind friends in the homeland who take the trouble to pack and send parcels or who send their gifts through CARE. The value of such kindness can never be estimated.

"Underlying all activity is the keen heart hunger for knowledge and experience of the living God. Dr. Kagawa, invited by the city council, to help guide their plans, came to give a challenge to our senior girls to enlist in the cause of Christ and to lay down their lives without thought of reward to alleviate the evils of society. The majority of the four hundred pupils signed the declaration cards."

"I feel very dark inside when I listen to my anti-Christian friends, but then I come to yours or Miss Greenback's classes or talk with my Bible class friends and again the light breaks,' said one of my cleverest boys." Thus Miss F. Gertrude Hamilton indicates the struggle of young Japanese Christians today as they 'resolve to find the way of life that leads to genuine democracy.'

"Dr. Ichikawa, a successful young dentist, an active member of some years' standing of our church, a graduate of Eiwa kindergarten and the leading spirit in its reopening last spring, gives most of his spare time to developing the work of the Y.M.C.A. in this city and province, his own home serving as office and headquarters and guest house to all visiting speakers and promoters.

"Miss Aiko Enomoto who, even while working as interpreter with the Military Government Team here, gave much time to organizing Y.W. groups and Bible classes in and outside the city, leading them herself or getting other Eiwa*graduates to assume leadership, is now teaching Bible and English in our school and devoting still more time to these important activities centering around the graduates.

"These are but two of the faithful who are paving the good road with their selfless devotion to Him who is 'the way, the truth, and the life.' We give thanks and honor to them and all such. Greater effort must be made to train Japanese leaders, but in the meantime we say to our fine Canadian Christian young men and women, 'Come over and help us.'

"Besides my fairly full program of English and music teaching in the school, I have three Bible classes a week at the Church. I still am held responsible for the Church music, and have two choirs—one of a chosen group of our older school girls, the other of young men and women. There is a growing interest in good music and our young people are eager for any training we give them in that line. Now that we have our new school auditorium and grand piano (gift of the parents) more opportunities of hearing really good music can be provided."

KANAZAWA

Miss Dulcie Cook reports that the work of the Canadian United Church in this city was begun last autumn when we, your two missionaries, Isobel Leith and Dulcie Cook arrived late in October.

"My work consists of a Bible class in each of the three churches and a similar class in Kanaiwa—a fishing village outside the city, and a class in the Woman's College and music classes for graduates of the seven Christian kindergartens in Kanazawa.

"With the beginning of the new school year in April three music classes (25 pupils in all) were begun. They range in age from six years old to young teachers in the kindergartens. Two of the classes meet twice a week and the older class once a week. Only for the fact that many families were forced to sell their pianos during the war in order to buy food, or I should have been swamped with pupils from the kindergartens. A demonstration was held on July 15 when parents and friends assembled in the kindergarten to see for themselves how the classes are conducted so that they can help the smaller children with their practice at home.

"These few months have been lived largely in an endeavour to get the feel of things. They have been months where admiration and wonder at what has, and still is being accomplished is this war-ridden land, compete with feelings of frustration that the Christian Church (Protestant) is slow to lay hold of the great opportunities now presenting themselves. The Protestant forces are not even up to their pre-war numbers. We need new missionaries—young people."

Miss Isobel Leith tells more about the work in this city. "From January I started a music class with twenty-one kindergarten teachers ranging from those who had never taken music before to those who could play quite well.

"During the winter term a request came from the Y.M.C.A. at the Higher Normal School to have an English Bible class. This was held every week until the spring term. When possible the four English teachers attended also. During the class periods it has been hard to get any discussion but at the close usually some of the boys walk with me to the street car and numerous questions are asked then.

"From April the Bible Class at the Medical College began. It, too, is under the auspices of the school Y.M.C.A. Five nurses in training at the University Hospital attended too. The group asked that we study the principles of Jesus as applied to every day living. The members seem very much in earnest as they consider how they can make the best contribution to society. One is doing internship this year and then hopes to do medical work, especially among children, in a social settlement.

"Our Bible Classes in Shirokane, Nomachi, and Hirosaka churches each meet twice a month. My groups are those who know less English. At Shirokane most of the men are working. One young man works at the railway and has brought three others from his office. Some are office workers, nurses, kindergarten teachers, students. Nomachi members are all Senior High School or Normal School students. The majority at Hirosaka are students, but range from Junior High to University.

"Once a month we go to a neighboring fishing village for a Bible class. It is a strong Buddhist centre so our members are few.

"In March I spoke to five kindergarten Mother's Meetings. Numerous and varied were the questions which came up in the discussion period during the tea time. One remark was 'American children do as they are told and are easier to bring up.' At the present time with the new idea that freedom is everything, and freedom usually meaning no restraint and taking no responsibility, it is a difficult time for both the parents and the children."

NAGANO

Concerning the Church's progress in Nagano, Miss Mary T. Haig tells of the general situation and of the individual response.

"The beginning and the close of 1949 brought the joy of welcoming new colleagues to the Nagano station. Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Carey and their two children, Ivan and Norina, arrived on January 5th and on December 23rd, just in time to share our Christmas, Miss Bates joined us, after an absence of nine years from Japan. New members are coming into the Church in numbers not known before in the history of the Church in Japan. Many of the ministers feel compelled to discourage rather than urge young people from taking the step of baptism, lest they come in too little prepared. Young people continue to come to service in large numbers; many with only vague feelings after something new and different, come once or twice and disappear but there are also many who are earnestly seeking to know what Christianity is and what is its relation to life. The effect of the regular teaching in the organized groups, is evidenced in deeper interest, willingness to take responsibility within the group, eagerness to take part in activities such as choir, Christmas pageant, the bazaar or acting on committees.

"The members of one of the English Bible classes became so keen that in order to continue their study throughout the New Year vacation they met in one of the homes and even though the leader was unable to attend they studied a Bible story and sang their English hymns. One of the leading spirits in the group was a young girl who has recently been baptized. In telling of her new experience in Christ she said, 'I feel I have been born again. I am different and I am so happy.' When asked, 'What was it that at first made you feel that there was something in Christianity for you?' she replied, 'I had a vision of a new life, with purpose in it and I just had to find it. I gave two evenings a week and studied hard until I should find it. Now I feel that I have it and I am so thankful.'

"In November a three day conference for ministers and lay members of the Church in Nagano prefecture was held in Matsumoto. Young people from the smaller congregations felt there the breadth of the Church and realized more fully the aims and objectives their ministers have been presenting. The fellowship in such an atmosphere is a new experience for many of the laity whose lives are lived largely in a non-Christian environment, many of them even in their own homes.

"As time passes and the missionary's circle of acquaintance is enlarged, more and more of her time is spent in personal interviews with members of the various groups.

"Mr. K. who for two years had been a member of a Bible class, called to tell us that his wife was in hospital with only ten days to live. Would we come to the hospital and pray with her? Later we attended the funeral and tried to offer comfort to the lonely man with three motherless children and his aged parents to support and care for. A friend of his whom we met at the funeral called again wishing to know more about Christianity.

"Mrs. S. is a widow whose husband did not return from the war. Or is he still alive somewhere among the thousands of soldiers who disappeared across the northern boundary of Manchuria and have not since been heard from? Mrs. S. wants help in learning how to live with her husband's relatives who feel the burden of an extra person in the house, especially as she is not strong in health and often is unable to do a full day's work with her needle. It is the problem of thousands of widows in this country. Mrs. S. has felt the challenge of Christianity, 'thou shalt love thy neighbor,' and realizes the gap between that ideal and the feelings in her heart. Since our talk together she has witnessed her faith in Christ by accepting baptism and by daily prayer in facing her problems.

"During 1949 more than in any previous year, we received letters from W.M.S. Auxiliaries who reported that we were on their prayer list. At the same time, in 1949 more than ever before we have been constantly impressed by a sense of God's working out His purpose in a way far beyond what might be expected from our efforts in those directions. We feel as though God sent this person and that to us, in answer to someone's prayers. We are but a small channel through which the power of God flows in answer to the prayer of a Christian far off, to a soul in need here at our door."

SHIZUOKA

The urgent needs of the Japanese Church are concretely placed before us by Miss A. May McLachlan as she writes, "An active layman in an Osaka church, who in college days in Shizuoka, was baptized by Mr. MacWilliams, visited us the other day. He lamented the weakness of the Japanese Church. 'There is much enthusiasm in Japan today for democracy but it is purely a surface affair. As in the past whatever group exerts strong pressure, the masses move in that direction and will do so again if the pressure group were to change. The only people in Japan who have any idea of what democracy really means and the Christian principles that form its basis are to be found largely in the Christian Church. There is no other group in Japan of which that can be said. And yet the Japanese Church is desperately poor and weak.' There is only too much truth in what he says. There are four Kyodan (United) churches in Shizuoka. Of the four ministers two are teaching school in order to support their families; one is an old man, and only one of the three younger men is free to give all his time to church work. Last evening, a young man from one of these churches called. He is the son of a very fine Christian family and has decided to give his life to the ministry. He will take the entrance exam this spring to the Theological College; but there are 200 applicants like himself and only 35 can be accepted because of lack of equipment and buildings. These facts put together give some idea of the tragic situation of the Japanese Church and should surely be a challenge to our wealthy Church at home.

"My Bible classes continue although the numbers are not as large as a year ago. Nevertheless at the end of two years we are beginning to see some results. Several young men have been baptized and others are definitely growing in the faith. Once a week I go to Hamamatsu, which is two hours by train from here, to help with the work there. This has been possible because this autumn Miss Wilna Thomas came from Canada offering to teach English in the school here, and so release Miss Saunders and myself for many extra hours of evangelistic work. Not only has she released us from teaching but with her fine gifts and wide experience and training she is helping us in countless ways, as well as making, even without much language, a very fine contribution to the life of our school.

"We live in part of a Japanese house which we share with the principal and his family. Whether because the house is Japanese style and so easy to enter, or whether it is just because we love to have them come and they know it, in any case, many, many young people come in and out through our Japanese gate, past a lovely old pine which is about the only thing left in our garden, to our 'genkan.' Hardly an evening in the month that there aren't several young college students in our home listening to music, borrowing our books from our little library, drinking coffee and discussing until late, very late, the deeper things of life, for that is where the conversation almost inevitably leads. After they graduate from this junior college in Shizuoka and enter University in Tokyo they often come back, stay with us for a day or two, share our family life, and then are off again. We cannot tell how and when His Spirit works in their hearts but certainly many of them are being moved to give themselves to God and we are thankful, very thankful. We feel sure God uses our home."

"Part of four teaching days is spent on English in the Shizuoka Eiwa," reports Miss Violet A. M. Saunders. "On Sunday it is my privilege and pleasure to teach Bible in one of the classes of the upper school. During the year we dramatized for an auditorium worship service the story of how we got our Bible.

"Perhaps I told you last year something of the Bible class I have had for the Nautical College which has since become the University of Mercantile Marine for Japan. Some members of the class have already graduated and are serving on the ships of Japan in coastal waters or on trips to Okinawa, Korea, and the Philippines. In March of this year the student who first asked for such a class will graduate. He was a communist but has now found the Christian revolution greater than any he had known before. Recently a new group from this University has formed an English Bible class and has asked Miss Wilna Thomas to be their teacher. We are very grateful for her coming, for fellowship with her, and for the excellent books she brought with her, so many of them collected during her recent studies in New York."

Miss Saunders also relates the story of a private High School in Shizuoka where Christian teaching is being carried on, at the wish of the school officials, and under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Yauchi:

"In April of 1948 I went to the school for the first time. Attendance was not compulsory but 500 came. I spoke in English, Mr. Yauchi in Japanese. The request had been that I tell about 'creation, faith, and God's love.' So I gave an introductory talk on the Bible and then began the study of Genesis. This was something to attempt in auditorium meetings. During the following two years I carried on an experiment in religious education, invaluable to me and, I hope, valuable to the girls. I have learned to appreciate Mr. Yauchi who is a scholar and often provides answers to questions which add greatly to the interest of the class.

"In September of 1949 Bible study was placed on the curriculum as a regular subject. Mr. Yauchi has nine classes, Mr. Harigaya four, and I two besides the class for teachers. One of these I teach in Japanese. It remains to be seen what effect this regular Bible study will have on students who may or may not want to study Bible. Many of them do wish the study, however, and the general atmosphere in the school is good.

"Many of the girls wish to attend the regular church service. The former church building was burned and a new site has been obtained within 400 meters of the Ichige school. At present girls from the Shizuoka Eiwa, whose homes are in Shimizu, attend the church service which is held in the minister's tiny house. It is necessary to remove the papered partitions to accommodate the members and the girls. So there is no room for another group although some of the girls wish to attend church. The new building is to be started in April and, when finished, will seat only 300. I do hope that it will be enough for this growing city."

Brief extracts from her "diary of a new missionary," indicate Miss Wilna Thomas' experiences in her first few months in Japan.

September 10.—It was an exciting moment this morning when we first sighted land and it was hard to stay below deck long enough to get our packing done.

It was thrilling to see our missionary group waving to us from the dock. We drove to Azabu, our missionary house in Tokyo, passing through large areas that had been devastated by bombs.

I was glad that I've been emotionally prepared for this first hand experience with the destruction of modern warfare. Today I felt not so much horror as tremendous admiration for the industry and courage and perseverance of people who have seen their "all" blown up and who have built pathetically inadequate little shacks to serve as homes and business places.

September 11.—The Azabu church congregation is not a large one but there were a considerable number of young people there. I met the young woman who serves as a congregational worker and I was very impressed with the way she was meeting folk, both old and young. She reminded me of our deaconesses at home. Someone told me that during the war she had worked tirelessly among the folk of that church.

September 15.—I shall not soon forget this day. Arriving in Shizuoka was not a simple matter. I was met at the station by the principal of the school, Mr. Murota and his wife, the head teacher, representatives of the alumnae, a representative group of students from the school and a group of Y.M.C.A. boys. When we arrived near the school we found all the students and teachers lined up along the street. Never can I forget all those welcoming smiles!

September 16.—This morning I was introduced to the student body after the morning worship service. It was my first glimpse of the new auditorium. Well may the W.M.S. of the United Church be proud of the share they have had in this beautiful chapel. To stand on the platform and look into the faces of so many girls dressed in the school uniform which resembles so closely our C.G.I.T. uniform, was a thrilling experience.

Later tonight I met some of the members of Miss McLachlan's Bible class, who accompanied her home from the church and came in for coffee and talk. Never have I been so impressed by depth of thought, breadth of knowledge and seriousness of purpose in a group of young people. They are not all Christians but they are studying the Bible very earnestly and would put many of our Canadian Christian young people to shame by their knowledge and their tremendous interest in theological and political and economic problems. I feel that I have really been introduced to the seeking spirit of Japan.

September 24.—Today I saw the Church of Christ in Japan in action. We had a meeting here with the four Kyodan ministers of Shizuoka, Mr. Yanauti in his capacity as District Superintendent and Mr. Tsureta of Hamamatsu. The occasion for the meeting was the fact that I am relieving Miss McLachlan and Miss Saunders of twenty-one hours of English teaching at the school, and it is the task of the Church to decide where and how the available time and energy should be used.

October 22.—Yesterday two of the graduates from the Koto-Gakko here (which has recently become a University) came back for a visit. They were members of one of Miss McLachlan's Bible classes when they were in school here. They came into this house as if they were coming home. It was good to know that they had such happy associations with it. Neither of them are Christians but both are honest, straight thinkers, eager to discuss some of the most basic truths about life. Tonight while Miss McLachlan's class was in session they talked with me. Their English is excellent and we had a good time. They are, it seems to me more Christian in their attitudes than many of us who call ourselves Christian—but they feel the challenge of complete and utter commitment of all that they have to Christ and His cause in the world—and as yet they have not found it possible to make that last leap of faith.

October 26.—Tonight the three of us were invited to dinner to a lovely Christian Japanese home. The grandfather and grandmother, the father and mother and three small children make a beautiful picture together. The relationships between these are those of love and great mutual respect—that the home is a happy one is obvious to all comers. The mother is a graduate of our school and her husband is a fine young doctor.

October 29.—It was interesting on the train last night—I met a young student (who speaks English rather well) who knows Miss Greenbank. In a land of so very many people it strikes me as I travel about that our missionaries, though few in number have touched a tremendous number of lives.

December 26.—Yesterday, as usual, I went to Sumpu church. It was formerly Presbyterian and is a tiny little building but what it lacks in size, it makes up for, I think, in the quality of its fellowship. Everyone is very kind to me. A young man prepares an order of service for me in English. The minister's wife does her very best with a few English words to make me feel at home. One of the members, an English professor, has offered to help me with Japanese. Yesterday there were about twelve people baptized—among them two of our Eiwa teachers and a young University student with whom I have become well acquainted. It was a most meaningful service and truly a mountain-top experience for all of us. We had our own Christmas dinner in the afternoon with the Murota family and four students as our guests and afterwards attended the congregational Christmas celebrations. Altogether it was a wonderful day but I think part of its beauty was that it was the climax of a series of meaningful and very happy gatherings. All the groups with which Miss McLachlan and Miss Saunders are associated had Christmas parties, some of which were in our home; others of which were in the churches. Our biggest entertaining project was the Christmas dinner that we had for the Eiwa teachers. Our little house was filled to overflowing when we set places for 38 people—but it was the more, the merrier. We had a wonderful dinner, thanks to the skill of our assistant and friend, Mrs. Matsunaga who has served our mission for many, many years. We tried to make the table as attractive and Christmassy as possible. It was a family Christmas for the group that are becoming more and more to be my family! Week by week I am appreciating to an ever fuller extent the fellowship of the teaching staff of the school. It is a great joy to be working with them, and I am looking forward to the new year with great expectation. It has been good for me to be here these three and a half months. They have been full and rich ones—already I am indebted to so many! I feel that God has been very good to lead me to this place."

KOREA

MRS. G. C. ANGLIN, Secretary

BEGINNINGS

The Korea Mission was begun in 1898 by the Synod of the Maritime Provinces of the Presbyterian Church. The first W.M.S. missionary was Miss Louise McCully who went to Korea in 1900. She was followed in 1902 by Dr. Kate McMillan.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Miss Annetta Rose returned to Korea during this past year, thus bringing our staff there up to five. There are still before us requests for three more, a business secretary, qualified to teach English, a student worker, and an evangelistic worker. These are urgent needs, and we hope to fill at least two of them next year, providing funds are available.

The general situation has improved during the year. The work of The American Economic Co-operative Administration has been effective in improving economic conditions generally.

The local Christian churches continue to increase in numbers and size.

Relief needs are still before us. The distribution of relief supplies is now under the direction of a Joint Relief Committee composed of seven missionaries appointed by the Inter-Mission Co-operating Committee, and seven Koreans representing the various denominations and appointed by the National Christian Council. A considerable amount of relief goods were taken by Miss Rose on her return. Our Society paid the freight at a cost of $302.15. Conditions among refugees from the north are still quite desperate. In one area called "Tent City" 687 people live in 13 tents. Others are crowded in caves near Ewha College.

On the recommendation of the Korea missionary group, a grant of $1,000.00 was made from the Korea Estimate, as our share in the purchase of a three-quarter-ton truck to be used in evangelistic work in Suwon County, near Seoul. The Board of Overseas Missions have made a similar grant, and also have granted funds for the purchase of a tent and equipment for audio-visual work. The Presbytery and the Theological Seminary (men's and women's divisions) are co-operating. The Presbytery pays the cost of running the truck, so there is no charge on our funds for that purpose. This area in the Suwon County has been assigned to our missionaries and the Korea Christians from North Korea as a centre for their evangelistic work. Students are being used on Sundays and over week-ends in this work, and a concentrated program of intensive evangelism is being carried on.

An inter-mission project is being planned for the city of Tacjon, south of Seoul. It is to include a medical centre, public health, nutrition, rural services, agricultural courses, an orphanage and other types of work. Our Executive gave approval to a grant of $1,000.00 toward the united capital fund, and we hope some day to have a missionary at work there.

The Christian Literature Society has been gradually getting established again and is proceeding with the program of publication. "A Preface to Christian Theology," by Dr. John MacKay, and a large edition of "Christianity and Communism," by Dr. John Bennett, are two of the recent publications. Twenty-two books and nine reprints have been issued since its reorganization. The magazine, "The Christian Home," is being added, also.

A new venture is the 5,000-watt Christian Broadcasting Station at Seoul. The Radio, Audio-Visual and Mass Communications Committee of the F.M.C., have been seeking to raise $120,000.00 in North America for this purpose. About $100,000 is now available, and the work on construction is proceeding. Our Board has given $5,000 and $5,000 is included in the G.B.A. askings this year. This Christian Broadcasting station is already on the air, using the facilities of the Korea Broadcasting System at present.

On July 8, 1949, Ewha Woman's University had its first commencement since receiving university status. A cable of greetings was sent from our Board for that occasion. A reply of appreciation was received from Miss Emma Kim, acting president. Two hundred and eighty girls graduated at that time. Two hundred and seventy new students were admitted in September. This year there are about 700 students in the University, which has eight departments, English, Christian Social Work, Home Economics, Physical Education, Music, Medical and Pharmacy.

RUTH H. TAYLOR.

"THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE WIDE EARTH"

The work of the year as the missionaries see it.

EDUCATIONAL

Seoul.—The survey of her year's work as given by Rev. Elda S. Daniels resembles the curriculum of a Theological Seminary with a full staff of professors. Eighteen teaching hours a week with a total of 402 students taught per term, in addition to occasional Sunday preaching, some counselling groups at the Y.W.C.A., leading chapel worship frequently, committee and other meetings would indicate a full program.

Her work at Ewha Woman's University includes five Freshman classes on the Life of Christ, nine Senior classes on Methods and Materials of Christian Education, a major course on Christian Social Work, one year on English Devotional Literature, and one on Religious Literature, Drama and Art, an English Bible Class, Supervision of Field work, observation and evaluation of the same, etc.

Her work at Chosun Seminary—Women's Division—includes, one class on Life of Christ and two classes on English Bible, using "Story of Jesus" by Dr. Laubach.

In the winter holiday there is one week's Leadership Training class for 20 students, and in the summer holiday a Caravan program under the auspices of the W.M.S. of Kyungi Presbyterial, with one week's Training camp for 50 students. The students are sent out in groups of three to 17 different places, the Leaders travel many miles visiting the students at work and holding meetings. Later there is a round-up of the students to hear reports and evaluate the work.

Miss Annetta M. Rose writes from Seoul, "After a period of three and a half years in the beautiful island of Trinidad I returned to Canada in December, 1948. In October, 1949, after a ten months' furlough, including some deputation work and study, I left Nova Scotia for my return to Korea, and arrived the latter part of November. The remaining month of the year was spent in getting my office ready, attending to the work of getting my baggage through Customs, and getting my books and baggage unpacked and settled in our little home. It is indeed a great joy to be back in Korea, and my prayer is that God will use me in His service here according to His will."

MEDICAL

Seoul.—With a Medical School and two Hospitals on her hands, Dr. Florence J. Murray is serving Korea in many ways. She reports first from Ewha Woman's University Medical School: "As the first class of medical students proceeded through their second year and there was still no adequate support in sight for a medical school, my responsibilities in trying to carry it on seemed too great, and I gave up the position of Dean with its impossible task of building up a medical school without a definite budget or an adequate hospital. As it seems hardly fair to penalize the students for what is not their fault, I am still teaching them, but they deserve a better course than it is possible to give.

East Gate Hospital, now under Ewha University, suffered a disastrous fire in January. Fortunately no one was injured but the fourth floor, including the main storeroom, was completely destroyed, with much loss and damage to the rest of the building and to the equipment. The building was closed for six months while the third storey was roofed over, and the first and second floors made useable. On the completion of the repairs, no one having been found who wished to run a hospital practically without supplies, I was asked to try to get the institution on its feet again. Miss Roberts, of the Methodist Mission, who had worked there for years before Ewha took the hospital over, came to the rescue and gave valuable assistance in securing supplies and getting things in working order. It was not until November that a superintendent was secured to give full time to the hospital. As there is accommodation for only about 20 patients this is scarcely enough to provide clinical training for a class of 34 medical students who have to go elsewhere for their clinical work.

Severance Hospital.—Early in the year, soon after my temporary task in the Seoul National University came to an end with the withdrawal of the military government, I was asked to join the staff of the Severance Union Medical College Hospital, where Dr. Martin had been our Mission representative, and where Miss Sandell and Miss Bourns were already on the staff. At first I was given charge of the Pediatrics Department during the absence for study abroad of the chief. To that was soon added the responsibility with Miss Bourns for the private patients pavilion. The foreign patients clinic is also my responsibility, and recently I have been assigned the position of assistant superintendent. These together with teaching at Ewha and Severance fill the days fairly full.

"In all these institutions working conditions have improved considerably through the year. Supplies, though still insufficient, are more adequate than they were, while repairs and renovations have been carried out at Severance Hospital through a large part of the institution. Heat in the building this winter makes possible more and better work than could be accomplished without it the past few winters.

"Another sign of progress is the increasing spirit of co-operation developed among the staff during the year. An immunization clinic has been started in the Pediatrics Department and booklets on health, home care of the sick, and nutrition have been prepared.

"Christian Korean doctors have recently formed a Christian Medical Association with committees on Public Health, Finance, Evangelism, and World Fellowship. One of their first acts was to revive the Christmas seal campaign for tuberculosis work, that disease having become a greater scourge than ever under present conditions of refugees and overcrowding.

"An English class for doctors has been carried on throughout the year. The medical women's group also meets monthly at the W.M.S. bungalow for study and discussion of medical problems. Medical books and journals are on loan to doctors who are unable to subscribe to foreign journals with Korean currency. In these ways one tries to be of help to others of the profession.

"In one of the divided and distressed areas of an anxious and uncertain world, by the good hand of our God upon us, we report progress and improvement amid the turmoil, and we thank God and take courage."

"To try to raise the standard of nursing in Korea in general and in Severance Hospital in particular, and to give the nurses an idea of what Christian nursing means, has occupied most of my time during 1949," writes Miss Ada Sandell. "The student body numbers 106 nurses, of these 95 are registered as Christians. All attend morning worship at 7.20 each morning. They are an intelligent group of girls and their eager faces each morning are a challenge.

"The work of repair on the hospital has been carried on all through the year and is about completed. We have struggled to get bed linen on the beds and hospital clothing on the patients, even if we do find an occasional patient with his own clothes underneath the hospital gown, at least it proves that he is trying to obey orders.

"The matter of actual nursing care for the patient while in hospital has not been so easily enforced. The psychology of the Koreans is such that they come to the hospital not for the nursing care, but for the number of injections they can get. The more they get the greater the satisfaction. This idea was built up during the Japanese regime and is completely satisfactory to the common people. Therefore, the patient does not want nursing care, the doctor does not insist on it and the nurse does not see the need of it. It is only the queer Westerner who wants it, so it is small wonder that little is given.

"Last spring I spent a month in the Taegu Provincial University Hospital where our friend, Dr. P. K. Koh is the president. It was his importunity which prompted our Mission to allow me to go. While there I helped the Superintendent of Nurses with practical advice and suggestions, held a course of teaching for the graduate nurses, tried to be generally helpful in any possible way and visited with the patients. What good I was able to do, I do not know, but another request has come and I am returning for a week early in January.

"Graduation for nurses in Severance was held on July 2nd, and the entrance examination for the new class was on the 17th.

"I have enjoyed my contact with the student nurses through the hours spent in the classroom with them. Several subjects which had not been taught before, such as Orthopedic Nursing, Psychiatric Nursing and Ward Administration were assigned to me. This meant, not only the preparation of the English text but the translation into acceptable Korean and then teaching it. It will be much easier the next time.

"I have continued my English Bible class each Sunday morning in the Hoo Am Dong Church and have been greatly encouraged by the interest shown. With a roll call of 30 the average attendance has been about 18 young men and women who are the future leaders of Korea. They are learning, not only English, but something of the life of Jesus as it is found in the Gospel of Luke.

"Each Monday evening a smaller group of people, mostly doctors and nurses come to our home for English study. We are using Laubach's "Story of Jesus" in this group.

"Christmas was, as usual, a busy and happy time, with concerts, entertainments, parties and worship services. Comparing the relationship between the nursing staff and ourselves, last year with this, Miss Bourns and I give thanks to God. Last year we were considered outsiders who might want to become the dictators, this year we are friends facing the same difficulties and obstacles and all working together. This is our great accomplishment, if any has been made.

"Many of our friends from Hanheung have been frequent visitors at our home, and I have been happy to be able to help them with articles of clothing from parcels sent from home.

"The year ended, with a spiritual retreat for missionaries, planned by an Inter-Missions Committee, the subject being the 'Ministry of the Holy Spirit.'"

Miss Beulah Bourns continues the report of the activities of our missionaries at Severance Hospital, Seoul, in telling of her own work. She says, "After one year of service I find working in Korea is quite a different matter from being the chief in a Home Mission Hospital. It is indeed different from working in Korea before the war. All other mission hospitals are now under missionary management and are advancing far beyond what they were in former days. Severance Union Hospital was put under Korean management before the war and they are anxious to keep it that way. The Mission policy is also urging that and so we are trying the slow way and we hope the sure way of bringing the hospital up to former standards.

"Certainly it is a different world from last year; the wards are somewhat warmer; we have running water and electricity for the greater part of the time; this in itself goes a long way towards running a hospital.

"There have been on the average 120 patients in the hospital all year. There are 235 medical students with 25 professors and 72 doctors and 20 interns. In the past Severance has had a reputation to be proud of, turning out the best trained doctors and nurses in the country. We look toward the day when we may regain that reputation.

"Our Korean Nurses Association was accepted into the International Council of Nurses this year. This we feel was due to the endless effort of missionary and Korean nurses in the past. Their previous effort failed because of the relationship of Korea to Japan. So this year without even a delegate present at the meetings in Denmark, Korea was recognized. We are happy over this fact and hope that it may inspire Korean nursing to come up to world standards.

"Our Obstetrical Department is one of which we are proud. We average around eight to ten babies all the time. We have now a very good delivery room with the necessary equipment and supplies: lovely nursery with fair technique carried out. We have a good nurse now in charge of this complete department. Our obstetrical patients are at least given the necessary aseptic care. A good deal of the foreign nurses' time has been given to improving this department. Miss Martin, daughter of our former Dr. Martin, arrived last spring. She has given most of her time to the operating room. Certainly to the outsider, Severance is rapidly obtaining its old standards.

"As always babies are my chief concern. About a year ago now on a cold night, a little new-born babe was left on the hospital doorstep, thin, dirty, but living. Love, warmth and milk soon revived her. She began to gain nicely. However at that time a homeless waif was not welcome in the hospital. It is true you can't keep a two or three months old baby in the nursery, and yet the cold children's ward was no place for her, so I was very happy when an American lady offered to take her. Little Margaret Ann grew and grew into a lovely baby and soon a nice Korean home was found for her. Just now we have a little five year old beggar girl in the children's ward, a most pitiful heap of bones. However already with food and warmth she is beginning to look like a human being again.

"One of the most satisfactory outcomes of my work with babies is that a Korean lady who had an orphanage before the war has offered to extend her social centre under the Red Cross to include a nursery for problem infants under one year of age. The feeding is under my direct supervision and is working out beautifully. She now has five darling wee babies under four months of age. I sent her another just the other day, an illegitimate premature that was doing nicely but we couldn't think of sending it out for some time yet. So this nursery is certainly an answer to my prayer."

TRINIDAD

Mrs. H. E. BUNT, Secretary

BEGINNINGS

The mission in Trinidad was opened in 1868 by the Synod of the Maritime Provinces of the Presbyterian Church to do work among the East Indian people who had been brought to Trinidad as indentured labor on the plantations. The first W.M.S. missionary was Miss Annie Blackadder, who went out in 1876 and began a school in San Fernando with an enrolment of 38 children. Our mission is the only one working among these East Indian people who now number about 150,000.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

There have been three new additions to the missionary staff during this year. Miss E. Irene Thompson, who had been on leave of absence for personal reasons, was able to return and sailed in September. Miss Thelma Olson, B.A., appointed last year sailed in August. She is teaching at the Naparima Girls' High School, and Miss Thompson is at Archibald Institute. In April Miss Lula Rouse, of West China, was appointed for one year until the way to China is open. She is trained in the weaving craft and it is planned that she start this craft at the Archibald Institute.

These additions bring the staff up to 10. This is not adequate. There is urgent need for another Household Science teacher and a teacher of science at Naparima Girls' High School as well as more community church workers.

Naparima Girls' High School has had a successful year. Their choir won the first prize at the Spring Music Festival. Steps are being taken to continue with the building program in the main building. Funds are on hand for this from Government grants. There is not sufficient at present to erect the new Preparatory School Building, so the $3,000 granted by our Society in 1944 to assist in this plan has been rescinded and the whole question will be reconsidered later when the time seems opportune.

Plans for the Girls' High School in the north of the Island are progressing. $6,000 is on hand in cash from contributions of friends in Trinidad, and $9,000 has been pledged. They have asked for our grant of $10,000 some time this year as they hope to begin building operations in the autumn. A site has been donated by the Caroni Plantation. Miss Beattie is to go to the north when Miss Margaret Scrimgeour arrives from furlough, and she will give full-time to the development of this project.

A grant of $3,000 was made from Property Account last year to erect a small building at Naparima College to provide accommodation for the girls in the Senior Certificate course who come in as day pupils. The Naparima Girls' High School is not equipped to give the course.

"THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE WIDE EARTH"

SAN FERNANDO-COUVA

Women's Evangelistic Work.—"Viewed from the threshold of 1950," says Miss Christine MacDougall, "the work of 1949 at first glance appears much as that of former years, but on looking closer I see many bright jewels shining out. Perhaps the two most precious, personally, have been a new sense of the power of prayer to overcome fears in both my own life and in the lives of others with whom I have come in contact, and secondly, a sense of the deepening of friendships with our local fellow workers, a knowledge that we spoke the same language and had the same desires for ourselves and our fellow men. This was especially noticeable in an ability to discuss and criticize or evaluate the work of the Church, frankly, "as man to man." Another outcome of this was a greater willingness on the part of some of my friends to accept responsibility as voluntary workers.

"The many visitors of 1949 brought welcome breaks in daily routine. A diary would show many early risings, "got up early" to meet Dr. and Mrs. Arnup and their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons, the Swanns, Mrs. Murray, Miss Beattie, Miss Thompson, Miss Werner and the new recruits, Miss Olson, the Thompsons and the Kitneys.

"My responsibility as W.M.S. evangelistic worker in San Fernando and Couva fields necessitated attendance at about 25 regular organized W.M.S.

groups, as often as possible, usually once a month. These groups have Bible study and most of them follow the programs now being prepared by a committee of the local W.M.S. The groups raise money for local church needs and to donate to a central fund which has been used in evangelistic educational and charitable objects as well as contributing to the education of a girl in India. For the last two or three years a sum has also been given to Presbytery's Scholarship Fund for the training of young men for the ministry. To these organized groups may be added several regular unorganized groups in other centres and a weekly knitting class held at La Pique.

"Women's groups of two congregations held Rallies this year for the first time. These were well attended and well worth while. Ten Biblewomen give part-time to this work in this field, with extra visiting and social work in their separate fields. Twice a month they together with the Princes Town field Biblewomen meet for a day of study, discussion and inspiration. Since Miss Rose's departure for Canada en route to Korea, the Biblewomen of the northern field were dependent on the evangelistic worker in Princes Town and myself for their class meeting and the field books were in my hands.

"One of these unorganized groups meets regularly in Calcutta. The meeting is usually held in a shelter which was built by the villagers and which is used in turn by Moslems, Hindus and Christians. On one occasion no one turned up at this place and after some delay a messenger came to ask if we would go to a home as all the women were gathered there "to grate coconut" for some occasion. So we sang and talked to the music of the coconut graters, which were silenced for the prayer.

"When Mrs. Jamadar and I arrived in a village where there are very few Christians, a pandit sent a messenger to invite us to go to the Hindu temple for the meeting. At first we suggested that we were comfortable in the home where we were, but he sent his daughter to 'compel us to go in.' We had a very nice service in the temple. At this and other meetings, his wife attended, and told us that the pandit's disciples were asking him if he also was becoming a Christian when he let Christians hold a service there and allowed his wife to attend Christian meetings. She spoke to her husband and he told her to go on to the meetings and said 'I'll do the answering.' Mrs. Jamadar with her knowledge of Hindu Scripture and her experience as a sadhuine has a great appeal.

"As we waited in one home a man came in and said he thanked God so many times that Christianity had come to the Indians of Trinidad. He said 'I can here sit down and talk to people of another caste. I am here a man which would not be possible had God's message not come to our people.'

"The World Day of Prayer has taken hold of the imagination of our people and is thoughtfully arranged for in many places. In country places it is not always left to the women alone. In 1949 I attended three services and was thrilled with the service in one village where young and old took part in an evening service. Most of the prayers and responses were given by young men and girls as most of the older women would be unable to read.

"Our W.M.S. Conference is always an inspiration to all who attend. That of 1949, held in the new church at San Juan, was no exception. Two comments serve to show how the true Christian spirit manifests itself in these conferences. Rev. C. D. Lalla, as Moderator, brought greetings from Presbytery to us and later in Presbytery remarked, "This Conference of women was a great surprise to me. I had no idea that such a large group of women from all sections of our Island met here. I was simply thrilled with the spirit of good fellowship which I saw. A non-Christian from a mud house in a district far from San Juan said with shining eyes, 'I was so glad I accepted an invitation to attend. It made me glad to see so many happy women.'

'Presbytery, Girls' Work Board, Naparima Girls' High School Board, Women's Christian Temperance Union, an estate Sunday School at Tarouba and many committees have filled in any spare time.

"It was a great joy to join with the members of Presbytery in the dedication of a new church in Kelly Village. This is a very neat, pleasant little church, free of debt and much treasured by the whole village. These churches are beginning to be set up in many places and to bear witness to the growth of the knowledge of Jesus and His way of life."

PRINCES TOWN

Iere Home and Evangelistic.—Superintendent of Iere Home during Miss Werner's furlough, Miss Mabel Brandow writes, "Miss Werner returned in August, 1949, to resume her former duties. That same month Miss Elma Inman went on furlough and I took up her work as evangelist for the Princes Town field for the ensuing year. For three weeks while both missionaries were away from the island, I had the doubtful honor of both positions!

"While acting as superintendent of Iere Home, there were several red letter days that will probably go down in the annals of the institution. - In February Dr. and Mrs. Arnup visited the Home and told us interesting stories of children he had met in other lands. The girls of Iere Home garlanded both Dr. and Mrs. Arnup. That is the highest honor that can be bestowed by the East Indian people. Dr. Arnup was also instrumental in giving us an all day educational excursion. February 11th was declared a school holiday in honor of his visit. A large meeting was held at San Fernando. We would have liked to attend but it was not possible. So, through the donation of kind friends, and a special concession of the bus company, we went on a bus excursion. We visited Piarco Airport and actually sat inside an airplane. We visited Archibald Institute and were treated to the delicious cookies and cold grapefruit drink which the Homemakers girls had made. One of our former Iere Home girls is a student there so it was a reunion of friends as well. We met another former student in Port of Spain and she went with us to Maracrus Bay on the north coast of Trinidad. After a swim and picnic lunch, we returned home past the botanical gardens and Government House.

"My present work as evangelist for the Princes Town field is similar to that which I did my first two years in Trinidad, in the Tunapuna-Guaico field. I work with the Biblewomen, conduct women's meetings and speak to T.G.I.T. Groups. There is one new phase of the work here that I find stimulating and worthwhile. I assist with the preparation and presentation of the Religious Education Syllabus for primary schools, especially the music. My Indian organ is my invaluable companion on all my trips.

"Occasional preaching services and Sunday Schools, choir and Christian Endeavor, harvests, bazaars, committees too numerous to mention, preparing and mimeographing programs—all these take their toll of my time. Since Miss Inman went to Canada, I have been in charge of the Literature Depot and am Literature Secretary for the Mission. I continue as President of the Girls' Work Board, and Chairman of W.M.S. Committee."

Miss Leota B. Werner continues the story of the Iere Home, after reaching there on August 28th. "The girls arrived on the morning of the 29th. It was a pleasure to meet them and their parents again. They seemed to have grown considerably in one year. Our former matron, Miss Benjamin, did not return to us, so it was necessary to get a new one. This was Miss Ivy Naranjit, whose mother had been one of our faithful Biblewomen and whose father had been a catechist.

"The last term of the year seems always a busy one. In the middle of the term we have a long week-end holiday, when the girls return to their homes. Following that we have the Harvest Sunday at the church in which we are expected to take part by decorating a certain corner of the church with garden produce. Each organization within the church does the same and all the produce is sold on the following Monday night. The money realized from the sale is put into the church funds. Then there is the W.M.S. bazaar to which we donated aprons, knitted dishcloths, and stuffed toys. During this time also we were practising for our Christmas concert which took place on December 9th. Although the day was rainy, the night was fine and we had quite a good attendance. The proceeds helped to pay for the new lighting plant which we have been using since September. The following week we had the Christmas party at which the girls received their gifts. To each girl was given a new school uniform made by the matron and some smaller gifts of combs, soap and bow clips sent down to us by kind friends in Canada.

"Four of our girls left us and although we were sorry to have them leave, we know they will be carrying our teaching into different places in the Island and helping to spread the Christian way of living. One of the girls is now attending the Naparima Girls' High School, and we have hopes that one day she may be one of the religious education workers of the future. Another has gone to Archibald Institute and we know that there she will gain useful knowledge to help in the home life of her people.

"In November, we took in one new girl whose case seemed urgent. This made a total of 26 girls for the term. She had been mistreated by her step-mother, and her father was anxious that she should have a happier life. From this and other examples which I might tell you if there were space, you can see that an Iere Home for Girls is still needed."

Archibald Institute.—In her first report after her return to Trinidad Miss E. Irene Thompson tells of a busy season. "After an absence of six and a half years, I returned to Trinidad on September 27th and received a very warm welcome from friends and co-workers of former days.

"I was appointed by Mission Council as Supervisor of Evangelistic work in the north. But as no one had come from Canada to look after the Archibald Institute, I was asked to be Director of that school until such time as some one came. Upon Miss Master's return to Canada for furlough in mid-October, I took charge, and have found it a happy experience to be working with teen-age girls again. Miss Ivy Neehall, who is very much more than a matron, has been a tower of strength, and deserves a large part of the credit for keeping the school at a high standard. The other teachers gladly gave me every assistance, and I was fortunate in having the help for part of each week of Mrs. R. D. Miller who had spent many years in Africa in similar work.

"Regular class work in theory and practice continued for two months before school closed for the Christmas vacation. During that time the students had made the refreshments for three hundred guests at the opening of a new school, a difficult task in rainy season when icings run off cakes; and had provided a large part of the fancy cakes for sale at our church bazaar. At the end of examinations they entertained the staff and their families to a duck dinner which was followed by a Christmas tree with small gifts for each student.

"At the close of the school, carpenters and painters took possession of the Institute for much needed repairs where termites had made inroads.

"The evangelistic work has not claimed much of my time, but I did attend a few meetings and had regular classes with the Biblewomen. I had one day with the young women who graduated recently in the Religious Education course, when we made plans to have classes once a month in the new year. Sunday School teaching, administration and accounts have filled in spare hours."

Summary of Minutes of Special Executive Meeting

The Dominion Board in 1949 decided to hold the Annual Meeting in 1950 at the time of the meeting of the General Council in Toronto, September 12th-21st. This action was taken in view of the fact that 1950 marks the 25th Anniversary of The United Church of Canada.

The Dominion Board in 1949 voted that the Executive be given power to do the necessary business in May, such as the election of officers, and the passing of the annual reports for 1949, and the estimates and allocations for 1951. Acting on this authority the Executive met on May 29th, 30th and 31st, in Emmanuel College, Victoria University, Toronto, the President, Mrs. James Laughland, in the chair.

Candidate—Scholarship

CANDIDATE

For the third year, the work of the Candidate Secretary has been part of the duties of the Personnel Secretary. It has been found most beneficial to have the work of recruiting unified under one committee. It is our hope that the women in local churches present an all-round picture of the vocations in the Church—those within the Woman's Missionary Society and all other employing or appointing Boards as well.

It should be restated here that our need is for 125 women entering Church work each year. This means approximately 11 per Conference. The 35 girls studying at the United Church Training School this year come from the following Conferences:

Maritimes 4; Montreal-Ottawa 6; Bay of Quinte 2; Toronto 5; Hamilton 5; London 2; Manitoba 1; Saskatchewan 7; Alberta 2; British Columbia 1; Newfoundland 0.

Of these, 21 are graduating, 14 being appointed by the Woman's Missionary Society, and 6 being appointed by the Committee on the Deaconess Order and Women Workers, and 1 as an associate secretary of Christian Education.

In the local church and community there are three specific emphases to be made, if we are to have the necessary personnel for the work of the Church. First, young people must be so nurtured in the faith that they have a compulsion to place their skills in the service of the Church; secondly, young people must be advised about the urgency of having complete Senior Matriculation before specializing in further study or professional training; and thirdly, young people must be informed through special events, materials and speakers about the many and varied vocations within the Church at home and overseas.

To make clear the details of acceptance and appointment of missionaries, the statement of qualifications and the Manual for Missionaries are being revised this year. A new pamphlet "Partners in the World Church" features the appointees of this year, and stresses the great need for more workers. Young women with university training, and nurses, are the ones most urgently required. It is our hope that next year our numbers can be doubled. It depends on every auxiliary member being a candidate advisor!

SCHOLARSHIP

During the past year Scholarship students from China, Trinidad, Japan, Korea and India have studied in Canada. They have enriched the life of Canadian young people by their association with them in the Training School, and in educational and church circles. Some of them have been closely tied by the particular kind of study for which they have come. Others have spoken to many groups and travelled quite widely. In all cases, the gain from their stay in our country has been mutual.

Graduate Scholarships:

1. Miss Chimaki Kamakura, Japan, has been studying at the Royal Conservatory in Toronto.

2. Mrs. Doreen Wu, B.Th., West China, has been studying for the second year at the United Church Training School.

3. Miss Dorothy Dai, B.A., West China, has been studying at the Royal Conservatory in Toronto.

5. Miss Agnes Rampersad, Trinidad, has been studying at the Ontario College of Education.

6. Miss Yung Oon Kim, Korea, remained for a second year and studied at the United Church Training School.

During the year, the following students returned to their former work:

Qualifications and Preparation of Missionaries

REVISED, 1946

Personal.—In addition to the primary requirements of a Christian character and a deep desire to make Christ known and to participate in the creation of a Christian world, the following qualities make for effective Christian service; good health, tact and courtesy, courage and resourcefulness, ability to co-operate, powers of leadership. Church membership and active participation in the life and work of the Church are essential.

Age.—Canada: 23 to 35. Overseas: 24 to 30.

Academic Standing, Professional Training and Experience.—For missionary standing in home and overseas work a university degree is the standard academic qualification (except in the case of nurses); for medical missionaries a medical degree and experience; for educational missionaries training and successful experience in such professions as teaching, music, and household science.

Young women with Senior Matriculation and with highly specialized professional training and successful experience may be appointed to certain types of work.

Nurses are required to have experience and Matriculation to a Canadian University. In British Columbia and Ontario, Grade XII will be accepted.

Salary.—The Society makes adequate provision for salary and for travel to and from fields of work; gives a furlough year, with salary, for study and recuperation; and has an efficient plan for retirement and sick allowances.

Missionary Training.—Since the Christian Church has its own specific methods and field of knowledge, all candidates except doctors and graduates in theology are required to take a two-year course at the United Church Training School, Toronto, which is affiliated with Emmanuel College in Victoria University. Nurses are required to take only one year of study.

This is an experience of inestimable value for its intellectual and spiritual enrichment, and for its stimulating contacts with the Principal and staff of the Training School, with the women who direct the work of the Society and with foreign students in residence at the school.

The year at the United Church Training School costs approximately $450.00, including board, fees and general expenses. The Society pays the cost of travel to and from the School and provides a number of bursaries for candidates in training.

Application.—Candidates are asked to make application to the Conference Branch Candidate Adviser or to the Candidate Secretary of the Dominion Board, 506 Wesley Buildings, Toronto 2 B, Ont. All interested in missions as a vocation are invited to correspond with an officer of the Candidate Department. The handbook for candidates and full information regarding remuneration, method of appointment, opportunities for service, etc., will gladly be sent on request.

Periodicals

For the past twelve months "Advance" has been stressed in every issue of The Missionary Monthly and for every department. The magazine has promoted the plans of the Church and of our Society for the observance of the 25th Anniversary. The June issue was a special 25th Anniversary number, viewing briefly the W.M.S. work of the quarter century. Other special issues were devoted to candidate needs, the study program Growing With the Years, W.M.S. scholarship students. Letters, reports, pictures of missionaries and missionary undertakings in Canada and overseas, news of the home Society, worship services, program plans and suggestions for every department of the Society have filled the pages.

In harmony with the W.M.S. study program for this year, World Friends has featured the work of our Church at home and abroad, and in its temperance and stewardship articles and plays, its worship services, pictures, stories and exercises, has tried to be of service, not only to the children but to the leaders and superintendents of Mission Bands. The two pages accorded the Baby Bands each month, and their own special number in June have this year been mainly concerned with the Special Objects which they support. Our missionaries and Mission Band leaders have been most generous in their contributions of articles, stories and ideas, and the Editor would like to take this opportunity of expressing to them her sincere appreciation.

The United Churchman is an official organ of the Maritime Conference. It is a family church paper with the W.M.S. providing the women's page. As the United Churchman has many readers outside the W.M.S. membership of the Maritime Conference Branch a page devoted to W.M.S. interests is valuable for promotion as well as information. In addition to the regular page, the 25th Anniversary number of the paper carried a front page story on the Maritime Conference Branch measuring advance from 1925 to 1950.

The year 1949 stopped the downward trend in the circulation of The Missionary Monthly and World Friends, which occurred with the increased price in 1948. The subscription figures were:

Missionary Monthly, 63,000.

World Friends, 35,500.

1949 also saw the adoption by Dominion Board of a Five-Year Plan of Advance for both magazines. The first six months of 1950 achieved the first step in this advance, viz., 65,000 for Missionary Monthly and 41,000 for World Friends and bringing the magazines back to their previous high peak of circulation in 1947. By 1955 the Plan of Advance calls for 75,000 copies of The Missionary Monthly and World Friends in every United Church home where there is a child. To the enthusiastic co-operation of the Missionary Monthly and World Friends Secretaries is due much of the success in this first step of our advance.

The Twenty-fourth Annual Report was published in an edition of 6,000 copies, in the shortened form of its predecessor, and has proved again how much it is needed by every officer of the Society.

Literature

A "Stand-out Year."—In many ways the Literature record for 1949 defies description, and comparison with other years. Precedents were set, experiments tried out, old patterns and plans scrapped and new standards and ideas adopted. Never before had our Society built up programs around a single "book of the year" for all its organizations and then convinced the membership that this Growing With the Years was a book for every member, too.

The main impetus and inspiration for the notable upswing in reader interest and book sales was the occasion of the 25th Anniversary of Union with its significance for our Society within the framework of the United Church. Only through a deeper appreciation and understanding of our Church's spirit and its achievements through the medium of the printed page was it possible to observe a 25th birthday in a manner and on a scale fitting to the Woman's Missionary Society.

Measuring Success.—If successes are to be measured by what was done (and our staff was busy every minute during the year) then a few important happenings will tell the story briefly.

BOOK OF THE YEAR SALES—approximately 23,000 copies sold (3 times as many as in an average year) and read by far more than that number of people, we estimate.

SALE OF LITERATURE IN 1949 exceeded the highest figure for any year by $5,000, climbing to the value of $35,600. (See financial statement).

USE OF PROGRAM MATERIALS in organizations should be on a more extensive scale, but numbers circulated show that "pot luck" programs are losing ground and, long term planning is gaining favor. Cases in point are the combined storybook and programs called "The Flying Umbrella," which was used on a wide scale by Primary Mission Bands and a new venture for all adult groups, The Adult Program Guide.

BOOKS REPORTED READ—over 97,000.

Seventeen New Titles published by the Literature Department during the year fall into five categories.

(1) Promotion leaflets: Recruiting New Members, C.G.I.T. Affiliation with the W.M.S., 1949-50 Lit-List, C.C.R.A. Relief flyer, How to Begin a Mission Band, Gifts for Building Advance Folder, Tell Me about W.M.S.

(2) Special programs: Newcomers to Canada, Keeping the Lord's Day, Wanted—Gifts Galore.

(3) Responsive services: Power of the Living Christ (Easter). These Hearts Respond (Autumn Thankoffering).

(4) Story leaflets: Christmas for Tara, What Means Means, One Lamp Lights Another (a) Pearl Ramcharan; (b) Annama Jacobs.

(5) Poster: C.G.I.T. Special Objects poster.

Depots.—A substantial gain in Literature Depot business is shown by an increase of approximately 17 per cent. in sales compared with 1948 and total sales of more than $9,200, including double the amount of sales transacted by the Newfoundland Depot (see financial statement).

Administrative Changes.—The decision to unite our slide division with the visual aids department of the Committee on Missionary Education culminated a gradual process of co-ordination and ended a long period of constructive service in the field of visual education by Miss Jessie Murray, who retired. Following this change the Literature Department is giving greater emphasis and efficiency to its main job of preparing, publishing and promoting "high quality" materials in missionary education for all ages.

What Literature Secretaries are saying.—Progress in the promotion of Literature is due in large measure to the persistent and faithful work of Literature Secretaries across the country. They tackle the task at the "grass roots" and what they have to say about making Literature known is practical and important. They say—

About their work—"Our job is a full-time job."

About displays—"There is no gathering, small or large, at which an exhibit of latest Literature is not appropriate."

About presenting Literature—"Presbyterial Presidents and program committees should see that Literature is given the time and prominence in their agenda which it deserves."

About the 1949 Mission Study—"We feel sure a fine basic knowledge of our Church's work has been gained from our study of "Growing with the Years," and,

Finally, about the future, "Hold what we have gained."

Increases in Organizations.—From a decrease of 14 in Auxiliaries in 1948 to an increase of 7 in 1949 shows real advance. The Maritime Conference Branch leads with 6 new Auxiliaries; Newfoundland reports 3; and Bay of Quinte, British Columbia and Manitoba each 2. Toronto, Hamilton and London Conference Branch have the same number as in 1948 and Alberta, Montreal-Ottawa and Saskatchewan report decreases of 1, 3 and 4.

The record of 48 new Evening Auxiliaries is an excellent one. Every Conference Branch, except British Columbia and Newfoundland, report increases, as follows: Hamilton 11, Toronto 9, Manitoba 7, Montreal-Ottawa 6, London 6, Bay of Quinte 4, Maritime 3, Alberta 2, and Saskatchewan 2.

There has also been a real advance in enlisting new Affiliated Societies—a total increase of 55. Again every Conference Branch, except the Maritime, reports an increase in Affiliated Societies, the best reports coming from Saskatchewan 13, Alberta 11, Bay of Quinte 10, British Columbia 5, and Newfoundland 5.

Increases in Membership.—When we consider the percentage of United Church women reached by the Woman's Missionary Society and our objective of an increase of 25 per cent. in Auxiliary membership—our record for 1949 may seem somewhat discouraging, but it is the best we have had for several years. Special mention should be made of the following increases in Auxiliary membership: British Columbia 499, Manitoba 171, London 166, and Hamilton 151. In a year when a very special effort was made to "Advance in Membership" and the new leaflet on "Recruiting New Membership" was mailed to every Auxiliary President, the report of decreases in the Maritime, Montreal-Ottawa and Toronto Conference Branches reveals the fact that this one of our Anniversary Objectives was not taken seriously.

In Evening Auxiliaries every Conference Branch, except British Columbia, report increases, the best records being: London 354, Toronto 220, and Hamilton 215.

The Worship Services were given a central place in Auxiliary meetings. While some followed the plan of service outlined in The Missionary Monthly, others chose their own themes and prepared their own services. In many Auxiliaries all members took part in the leadership of the services in the course of the year.

Among many comments on the value of the worship services were the following: "They are a challenge to more consecrated and devoted service." "Through these services we are becoming more understanding of people of other races and creeds."

Missionary Programs, while improving in quality, are too often a series of unrelated "talks" on various subjects rather than a purposeful study of the theme for the year. An effort is being made in many Auxiliaries to present missionary information—so intensely interesting in itself—in new and attractive ways, but it is discouraging to find that only eight out of 35 Auxiliaries in one Presbyterial followed the How to Use and that there are still Auxiliaries which "review a chapter of the Study Book."

It is encouraging to note such comments as these: "The Study Book leads in point of interest." "The Study Book is the basis of growth in knowledge in most Auxiliaries." "The group method of presentation is popular as well as dramatizations and quizzes. Films and plays were used by many." "Many followed the suggestions in the How to Use and the ones most interested were those who planned and helped with programs."

Other programs of real value were: special Christmas, Easter and Thank-offering services; "Keeping the Lord's Day," "Newcomers to Canada," Christian Stewardship, Candidate Needs, "Gifts Galore for Europe," British and Foreign Bible Society and many phases of Christian Citizenship; as well as reports of the School of Alcohol Studies, Schools for Leaders, Presbyterial meetings and General Council.

As usual in recent years reports regarding Co-operation With Younger Groups are enthusiastic and encouraging. There are still many Auxiliaries and Evening Auxiliaries that have not appointed a Vice-President for Younger Groups. One Conference Branch reports only 28 in 260 Auxiliaries, a fairly typical situation. Reports of assistance given included: providing Mission Study Packets and World Friends and reference books for leaders, helping with parties, rallies and Mother and Daughter Banquets. The splendid increase in the number and membership of Baby Bands and Mission Bands is largely due to the energetic work of Auxiliaries.

The Conference Branch Secretary for Montreal-Ottawa made the following interesting summary of Wider Relationships.

	World Day of Prayer	Sectional Meeting	Presbyterial Meeting	School for Leaders

Ottawa Evening Auxiliaries reported 100 per cent. represented at World Day of Prayer and Presbyterial meeting.

Another Conference Branch Secretary makes the following broad analysis of reports from Auxiliaries:

Membership Campaigns	Worship Services	Missionary Programs	Other Programs	Cooperation with Younger Groups
Poor.	Excellent.	Fair.	Very good, often at expense of Missionary Programs.	Too few Vice-Presidents for Younger Groups. Help given—excellent.

There were five Schools for Leaders in 1949, namely: The Hamilton Conference of United Church Women (in co-operation with the Conference Woman's Association), the Montreal-Ottawa, Maritime, London and Bay of Quinte Schools. The attendance was good and all reported worthwhile programs.

Figures are not always a true picture. Although these statistics show a decrease in Circles and membership, we have really forged ahead in our work.

Advance.—At least sixteen Circles have become Evening Auxiliaries. One has "advanced to the point where it was advisable to divide the group and form an Evening Auxiliary of the older members, allowing the younger group to recruit for the continuing Mission Circle." This experiment has worked well. This and other ways are being devised to form new groups. One Presbyterial is contacting all Auxiliary Presidents to find out if there are young women of Circle age in their churches, and another suggests the possibility of organizing Sunday School classes as Mission Circles. Many groups have difficulty in finding time for meetings, but this has been solved by one which meets on Sunday evening in the Church lounge. One, all graduates of 1949 C.G.I.T., meets Sunday morning in the Church School, and another, a Sunday School class, uses one of its regular periods each month for our Mission Circle program.

Stewardship.—Statistics show an increase of $1,167.86 in givings. All reports show a definite increase in systematic giving and many Circles find time for activities which are beyond our regular program. Some methods of raising funds were these—regular giving by envelopes, Thank-Offerings, mite-boxes, teas, pot-luck suppers, talent sales, catering, selling the United Church calendars, The United Church Observer and Christmas cards, showing religious moving pictures, and putting on a fashion show or play.

Worship.—The services printed in The Missionary Monthly have proved particularly helpful. One Circle also did some special study in the Book of Acts. Reports contain such comments as, "the worship has helped make the members aware of the need for prayer and the value of it," "has developed spiritual knowledge," "created discussion and fine religious fellowship," "the girls are more willing to take part," and "Christian principles are born and sustained."

Literature and Study.—"The greatest advance in our Presbyterianial is in reading. Sixteen Circles out of twenty are taking part in the Reading Course. One Circle averaged five books per member," writes one secretary. In a new Circle, fourteen of the seventeen members subscribe to The Missionary Monthly and have raised $12.75 to send The Missionary Monthly and World Friends to one of our Canadian mission stations. Growing With the Years and Straight Furrow have been widely read, the latter being presented in various forms in drama, story and review."

Co-operation.—Many secretaries report leadership in Younger Groups and co-operation with others. They have sponsored the Baby Band, given a skating party for C.G.I.T., taught in the Sunday School, presented a chapter from the Study Book to the Sunday School and to the Auxiliary, and catered to the Men's Association dinner.

Activities.—Many unusual activities have been participated in by our members, and they have "shown the love of God" in acts of kindness. Our secretaries report that hyacinth bulbs in blossom were given to shut-ins at Christmas; many contributed to overseas relief and Supply work; one Circle sews once a month and sends articles to Supply Secretary; one sponsored English classes for new Canadians; groups in Halifax help with port work; Winnipeg groups have done a good deal for local hospitals, mission homes and centres; some visit Aged People's Homes, providing a Christmas service; boxes of food have been sent overseas and kits for Vacation Schools provided; scholarship students have been entertained; and a communion cloth and napkins are being worked to be sent to a mission church at Kirkland Lake.

One of our Branch Secretaries writes, "The work with Circles seems to me to be the most difficult and yet the most gratifying of any of the organizations in our missionary family. Difficult because the girls are at an age when they are with us, then gone and a new group must be rallied. Gratifying because a decision to take an interest in the Church and missions at that age may change the trend of a life."

Affiliated C.G.I.T. Groups, 1,432—a decrease of 48.

Membership, 15,837—a decrease of 151.

Givings, $6,141.81—an increase of $656.68.

Six Conference Branches report increases in groups.

Seven Conference Branches report increases in membership.

Nine Conference Branches report increases in givings.

The Missionary Project.—"China" proved to be a fascinating study. Many and varied were the methods used. Group projects included creating scrapbooks, maps, posters, murals, newspapers; learning Chinese songs and games; listening to stories and plays and seeing films and slides. Many projects culminated in "Chinese Festivals," one of which deserves special mention, the Winnipeg Presbyterian Chinese Festival attended by nine hundred girls. One secretary reported: "After reading reports of those groups who attempted this project, carried it to the finish, and then affiliated, a great feeling of real humility comes over the reader. The amount of study, planning and work that has been put in by the leaders and girls is truly amazing."

World Friendship Rallies.—Over and over the secretaries commented on the great contribution World Friendship Rallies made in the lives of the girls. The presence of missionaries, home on furlough, made a lasting impression. With 52 rallies held and 4,015 girls in attendance one concludes that such events were important.

Gifts to Special Objects.—After participating in the project, "Tales from China," missionary interest was at a new high. It was to be expected that Gifts to Special Objects, since they were related for the most part to China, would be enthusiastically received. Givings of $6,141.81 indicate an increase of $656.68. It is gratifying to note that many of the gifts came through freewill offerings. We would not overlook the fact that many groups contributed much "in time" and "in doing" through the sale of home-made candy, quilts, baked goods, Christmas cards, The United Church Observer and Church calendars and through concerts and plays. The most novel method used to raise funds included a "Rice Bowl" in which each girl put ten cents for four weeks, and decorating a C.G.I.T. float for a 24th of May parade and receiving first prize.

Gifts to Hospitals, Missionaries, Local Church.—The girls went beyond "Special Objects" and contributed to Hospitals, Indian Schools and missionaries such articles as layettes, World Friendship quilts, afghans, scrapbooks, money. One group gave $30.00 for a baby cot in Lamont Hospital. Local churches received gifts of pictures and offering plates.

Gifts to Overseas Relief.—Clothing was collected for Canadian Church Relief Abroad; food parcels were sent to China, England, Scotland, Germany and Czecho-Slovakia.

World Day of Prayer.—The World Day of Prayer material with its special challenge to teen-age girls created deep interest in a "sisterhood round the world."

In the Church and Presbyterian.—Many groups took part in Presbyterian gatherings. C.G.I.T. leaders expressed gratitude for the interest shown by Auxiliaries in providing friendship, materials and enthusiasm for the teenage program. One secretary made this interesting statement: "Wherever there is a Presbyterian Executive member in a church there the C.G.I.T. affiliates."

To missionary-minded leaders, Auxiliary members, Presbyterian and Conference Branch Secretaries, missionaries—to all who have helped interpret "His Way of Life" to Canadian Girls In Training we say a grateful thank you.

Literature.—The Flying Umbrella for Primary children was a very popular book indeed. For Juniors, Growing With the Years provided background for many interesting and varied programs dealing with the twenty-fifth anniversary of the United Church. World Friends has been welcomed by leaders and children alike as being the very best magazine obtainable for stories, peace and temperance programs and plays. The Missionary Monthly also has been of valuable assistance to leaders.

Co-operation with Auxiliaries.—More than ever before Auxiliaries have been helping leaders by supplying Study Packets, books for Mission Band libraries, World Friends subscriptions, providing leadership and assisting with refreshments.

Activities.—Mission Band members have been very busy people. Plays were written and produced, flannelgraphs were made, temperance plays with the signing of pledge cards were introduced, worship services were prepared and conducted, missionaries were adopted in prayer. For outside activities, toys for the port of Halifax, gifts for overseas relief and gifts to hospitals formed the major part of the work. Also featured were teas for mothers, grandmothers and gifts for shut-ins.

Givings.—An increasing number of Gift Boxes have been used. They have been presented twice a year at a special meeting. Great interest was shown in the Special Objects for which the money was distributed as follows:

Namur School Home, Namur, Quebec, $1,500.00; Sunday School in the Home—by mail and air, $2,000.00; Salary of Miss Mabel Brandow, Trinidad, $1,500.00; Salary of Miss Jessie Weir, Battle River Hospital, Alberta, $1,500.00.

101 new Bands, 5,531 new members and an increase in givings of $1,116.51 is the contribution of the Baby Band Department to "Advance" in our missionary family for 1949. This contribution represents many hours of loving service on the part of Conference Branch and Presbyterian Secretaries and the 1,236 Baby Band Leaders and their assistants—writing letters, organizing rallies, preparing programs for parties and mothers' study groups, visiting and thoughtful study of missionary education for the home. Our sincere thanks and appreciation go to all. We pay special tribute to the Maritime Conference Branch which had 21 new Bands (a new record in this department), and to our smallest Conference Branch, Newfoundland, with 3 new Bands.

Methods of Interesting Mothers.—Visiting continues to be the greatest factor, with the human interest the greatest influence. Such visiting led to children being baptized and the parents growing in the fellowship of the Church. One Presbyterian Secretary reported as follows: "Practically all homes where there are children of Baby Band age are visited from one to four times each year, at which time the mothers are invited to Auxiliary meetings and other Church gatherings. Literature is left at the home, such as Prayer Cards for mother and baby, 'World Friendship for Little Folk,' copies of World Friends and The Missionary Monthly. Others gave the children copies of 'Stories for Little Folk and Their Mothers' at birthday or Christmas."

One leader made a collection of Baby Band literature, put it in a decorated envelope, and sent one to each home. Another sent a piece of literature each month to the home and another sent a mounted picture relating to missionary work.

Parties are very popular with both mothers and children. One had a small group from the Church of All Nations which gave a short program. At another a Japanese family, assisted by the mother, put on a sweet little demonstration of Japanese customs, dress, songs and dances. One party held in the church took the form of a "stork shower" for a Baby Band mother recently come from Europe. Since the party the mothers have become friends and the European mother is no longer lonely. Another dramatized "The Christian Home and Its Children" for its program and also shared it with a neighboring Band. At a Christmas party the children learned the names of the Gift Box children by using the Finger Play song from "Stories for Little Folk."

Gift Boxes.—Many Presbyterian Secretaries report the Bands made good use of the Gift Boxes. One reported "bulging boxes" being given in at a party. In one Band copies of Baby Band pages in World Friends are given out with the Gift Boxes. Several report that the children love to pick out from the pictures on the box, just the one whom they want to help with their pennies.

Canadian Church Relief Abroad.—Five Baby Bands in one Presbyterian contributed 33 complete layettes. Another reports sending five crib quilts and 82 pounds of used clothing.

	I. 325	I. 1,150	I. 6	I. 259	I. $1,331.25

The above statistical report is a record of cold facts, but behind these figures is to be found a company of Auxiliary Secretaries with hearts aglow with love and friendliness, who have touched and warmed the lives of many a lonely woman, of many shut-ins and of many who have been otherwise shut off from the activities of our Society.

In the Department of Associate Members there are many evidences of progress in the year that is past. A comparison of the totals of the year 1949 with those of the year 1948 shows an increase in every column. As one secretary states, "The many kindly acts and friendly visits do bring a joyful harvest." Another says, "Here is a source not only of funds, but also of new active members, of prospective leaders, and of increased interest in the work of our Woman's Missionary Society throughout the whole Church membership."

A decided increase is shown in the number of Auxiliaries with Associate Members' Secretaries and also in the number of Associate Members who have joined the Auxiliaries. This is encouraging and is proof of the fact that where W.M.S.—3 there is a strong Associate Members' Secretary, there is a flourishing Auxiliary. Yet, out of a total of 2,449 Afternoon Auxiliaries and 675 Evening Auxiliaries, the record shows only 1,841 who have Associate Members' Secretaries. The halfway mark is passed. Let us not slacken our efforts, for soon the goal will be in sight—an Associate Members' Secretary in every Auxiliary.

Contributions.—Although the reports show an increase of $1,331.25 over the givings of the year 1948, it is disappointing to note that this increase is less than the increase in the givings of the year 1948 over those of the year 1947, in spite of the fact that there has been a substantial increase in the number of Associate Members. This presents a problem to be investigated in the hope of finding a satisfactory solution.

Visiting.—Most Auxiliaries report that their chief method of gaining Associate Members is by personal calling, especially on shut-ins, mothers of small children, and leaders of junior groups and of other church organizations, who feel they cannot attend the regular Auxiliary meetings. It appears that some Auxiliaries do not understand what a tower of strength in their Societies a good Associate Members' Secretary can be.

Activities.—Because of the very nature of our work, the activities reported from year to year show but little variation. The Associate Members do appreciate the opportunity to help with Supply work and Overseas Relief. This is the type of service that can be carried on at home. But, as a change, entertainment in the form of a special tea, or a special Associate Members' meeting has its appeal.

Literature.—There is increased interest being shown in the use of W.M.S. literature. One Conference Branch Secretary reports that in every Presbyterian literature has been circulated. Some Auxiliaries provide The Missionary Monthly for all their Associate Members. Through the mothers of young children, a place might be found for World Friends, also. It is thus that missionary education is broadened and interest in our work is extended. An increase of only 6 in the number of subscribers to The Missionary Monthly is a very small one and suggests a weak spot that requires special attention.

And still our watchword is Advance, and with quickened pace if possible, the doors of opportunity are wide open. Christ is calling. The Department of Associate Members accepts the challenge in His name. Now is the time to Advance.

(Mrs. R. J. D.) LAURA E. SIMPSON, Secretary.

COMMUNITY FRIENDSHIP

The secretaries of this department have done splendid work in every part of their seven-fold task. As one secretary says in her report, "It is just not possible to estimate the magnitude of the service the Community Friendship Secretaries have rendered to their communities and to their churches." Another remarks, "Many reports can be measured in dollars and cents, but real friendship is priceless."

There has been a real advance in knowledge and understanding of the value of Community Friendship work, evidenced by an increase of 114 in the number of Auxiliary Secretaries.

Welcoming Newcomers to the Community.—Many Secretaries reported having "Get Acquainted" teas, wedding dinners, showers for brides, and social evenings. Some immigrants were helped financially, and mothers and children were called for and taken to Baby Band parties and to other social events at the church.

Visiting Sick and Shut-Ins.—Many visits were made in homes and hospitals. Regular visits were reported to: Military Hospitals and Sanitariums, County Homes for the Aged, a School for the Deaf, an Institution for the Blind and an orphanage. Gifts of fruit, flowers, jam, jelly, books, magazines, wool for knitting, and food parcels were distributed, and personal service rendered.

Providing Hospitality in Church Homes.—Students of many nationalities were entertained and several children of new Canadian families were taken into Church homes and cared for until the parents were settled and able to care for them.

Winning Others Into the Service of the Church.—Sunday School papers, copies of World Friends and other Church literature were left in doctors' and dentists' offices. Surveys were made in several districts resulting in increased Church and Sunday School membership. Information regarding the opportunities for full-time service in Church work was presented to graduating High School students.

Engaging in Social Service.—Assistance was given to families in burnt-out areas; classes arranged for teaching English and cooking; young people cared for until they could find employment; parcels, toys and magazines sent to the port workers; washing and mending done for sick and friendless people; letters written; and stories told to aged people in an institution.

Promoting Racial Brotherhood.—The members of one Auxiliary are teaching a group of Japanese to speak English and others are doing the same with the Chinese. Meetings have been held where speaker or soloist was Hungarian or Polish. Dutch people have been entertained and students from many lands have been invited to Church homes and helped in various ways.

Working for a Christian Community.—This has been the goal of all our secretaries. "Giving and doing for somebody else" brings a rich reward. One secretary in closing her report says, "It is impossible to estimate all the devotion and care that have been expended throughout this province in this department, but this I know, the province has gained in great measure by the devoted service rendered to its newcomers."

A word here about "Removal Slips." There is a decrease in the totals. Many secretaries voice the opinion that much wider use should be made of them. This is one way to help build Christian communities. We can keep in touch with people when we know where they are.

(Mrs. R. L.) EVA L. JOSE, Secretary.

SUPPLY

When the Tenth Anniversary of Union was celebrated the complete story of the Supply Department was outlined on a map of Canada. Today it would have to be the map of the world. The "work of our hands" crosses oceans now as well as a continent.

Our Task in Canada.

To send clothing, quilts, hospital supplies, and Christmas gifts to all centres where home missionaries of the Woman's Missionary Society are stationed and to Hospitals and Indian Reserves under the supervision of the Board of Home Missions.

To fill all requests for Supplies from institutions or pastoral charges whether under the Board of Home Missions or the Board of Social Service and Evangelism within the local Presbytery.

Allocations give to all our membership an opportunity to fulfil this task. Fifteen hundred Christmas gifts, approximately 600 new quilts, over 2,500 bales of clothing, more than 300 layettes besides all the knitted articles were needed to do this in 1949. No outpost nor busy community centre, hospital nor Indian Reserve, from British Columbia and the Peace River to Labrador and Newfoundland, ever sends a list of needs in vain. Add to this the bedding and clothing provided for burned out families, the needed articles given to displaced persons and many other special calls. All this and more we have done in supplying our Home Mission needs.

Port Work.—Seven of our Conference Branches report a keen interest in the work done at the ports of Halifax and Montreal where our workers welcome the new Canadians. At Halifax alone over 171 parcels were received containing toys, baby clothes, soap and towels and writing paper. These gifts were distributed as the boats arrived and both here and in Montreal this service has been much appreciated.

Handicraft Supplies for Vacation Schools.—A new project in 1949—fifty-six complete packets were provided for the use of student missionaries on summer mission fields. Each packet included such articles as crayons, modelling clays, paints and scissors. Judging from the enthusiasm with which they were received, these gifts met a real need.

Our Task Overseas.

Starting with the collection of used clothing, bedding and baby clothes in the local areas, there has been a steady flow of goods into the depots of Canadian Church Relief Abroad where it has been sorted, baled and shipped on again to Britain, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Hungary, Holland, Japan and Korea. Every Conference Branch reports having shared in this great task; some have been particularly generous. Unfortunately, however, no report form tells the whole story and I have no statistics to show just what we have done. Suffice it to say that the response from rural areas and city churches alike has been most gratifying and through the total project of Canadian Church Relief Abroad, 443 tons have been shipped overseas.

Parcels.—Hundreds of parcels have been sent overseas regularly by local groups all across Canada, but so many groups did not report this at all that I hesitate to quote any figures because I am sure what I have represents only a fraction of the work that has been done.

Picture for yourself each country that has been mentioned and you will find that you do need a map of the world. How grateful we all are for the opportunity of sharing in the work of this ever-expanding department.

ANNIE B. BISHOP, Secretary.

TEMPERANCE AND CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP

Reports in this department continue to improve as W.M.S. women realize that Christian Citizenship is a definite responsibility of our organizations, and even small and isolated Presbyterians become world-conscious and let their weight be felt in local and national matters.

More study has been undertaken. In Racial Brotherhood special attempts have been made to understand the problems involved by study, debates, reading books from the circulating library, and by "getting practice through personal contact." Speakers were heard from among the Displaced Persons and the Canadian-Japanese. An expert spoke on Immigration, past and present, while another good topic was "The Jews, God's chosen people; our debt to them and how can we repay it?" Parties of all sorts were given to newcomers, including one at Christmas time to all those who had come to that town in the previous twelve months. It is reported that "they had not much English to talk, but a smile is international."

Much wider activities on behalf of the Peace of the world were undertaken. In addition to the almost universally reported prayers for Peace, attendance at the World Day of Prayer, "practising peace and goodwill in our own Auxiliary," there were discussions on how to help Peace to come, speakers on current events, and pageants on World Peace. Links were forged with the United Nations Society by sponsoring local meetings on the United Nations, appointing Auxiliary members to attend the local United Nations organization and to bring back reports to their Auxiliaries, and circulating the United Nations news and the monthly bulletin of the Department of External Affairs.

Much that was reported under Social Welfare might be called Community Friendship. Many report gifts, visits, and showers, to needy people and institutions and increased gifts to overseas relief. But again there is an increased interest in the study of local problems, leading to the necessary action being taken. Some emphasized good reading and movies for children, sent resolutions to Ottawa in support of the anti-crime comic amendment to the Criminal Code and interested the local manager to have good films for children on Saturdays. Speakers brought information and so did visits to welfare centres, foster homes and jails. Many Auxiliaries used the Lord's Day program or studied the Lord's Day Act, and worked to combat the commercialization of the Lord's Day.

In reply to someone who asked "What do we mean by the expression Christian Citizenship," here are two replies taken from reports. "We take a keen interest in public affairs and try to use our influence in seeking first the Kingdom of God," while another said, "We should be ever on the alert to check anything that makes it harder for our people to be Christian citizens."

Under Temperance were reported the carrying on of Temperance work by talks, discussions, films and playlets, both in the Auxiliaries and in public and Sunday Schools, C.G.I.T. and Explorer Groups and Mission Bands. Films have been shown at Sunday evening services. Much work was done in Local Option campaigns and in opposing the grants of licenses for new outlets and the sale of alcoholic beverages on trains.

Concern was expressed from many quarters about the way in which the liquor trade is invading civilian life, through films, scholarships, outfitting teams, building bridges and community centres, and a vast amount of work was done by individual secretaries in initiating action through their Auxiliaries and Woman's Associations which, reaching out into the community, stopped this penetration locally.

The use of the Purpose Card, so far, is disappointing. But secretaries and Auxiliaries are beginning to realize that here is a means of introducing the responsibility and privilege of Total Abstinence not only to the Auxiliary women but also to all the organizations of their church.

May I express my thanks to all those who have done good work in this department. Good work is never lost; as one secretary said, "Many waves of influence start in the W.M.S. that bear fruit and cause action to be taken later by other groups outside of our Church," and another added, "Staggering ills, like child labor and slavery have been abolished in the past, and war and the liquor traffic will go." God speed the day, and may we, each one in her own sphere, be the willing worker by whom this job for the Kingdom may be done.

(MRS. W. R.) EDITH LANG, Secretary.

FIELD SECRETARY

Routine office tasks, work on committees and assisting with preparation of new materials are always part of the winter program of the Field Secretary. The first four months of 1949 consisted largely of that kind of work punctuated intermittently with work on the field which took me into ten different Presbyterials.

Your secretary, too, was fortunate to have the privilege of attending the International Religious Education Council of North America in Columbus, Ohio, in February, the Annual Meeting of the Board of Christian Education in Toronto in April, and the National Conference for the Co-ordination of Adult Work in the United Church held in Emmanuel College at the end of June. These were all very valuable experiences.

My two longer field trips for the year added the touch of real excitement. The scene of the first was the province of Alberta. Work started on May 17th in the Three Hills Presbytery, a week later I had a rally in Stettler, and on May 27th arrived in Kinuso in the Peace River Presbyterial, where in the next four weeks I had the privilege of visiting in all but two of the pastoral charges where there is a minister. In all of that trip I had three meetings only actually arranged by W.M.S. Auxiliary members. One was an Auxiliary of very alert women at Peace River, the second a rally of women from three Auxiliaries at Stettler, and the third a conference of Presbyterial officers at Grande Prairie at the end of my trip to give my report and plan "follow-up."

Two other Auxiliaries were part of Sunday audiences, but otherwise my contacts were with congregations, Sunday Schools, Affiliated Societies, Woman's Associations, C.G.I.T. and Explorer Groups and Mission Bands.

The second trip began on August 17th in Newfoundland where I spent the next ten weeks working in three Presbyterials and one Presbytery in and out of forty-two different places.

Because of the time of year I had a particularly good opportunity to have conference with Mission Band, Explorer and C.G.I.T. leaders, both individually and in small groups, regarding the work of the year ahead, especially the new materials for missionary study. With the opening of the schools, largely denominational in Newfoundland, came a valuable opportunity for contacts with the boys and girls and young people in the twenty-five different school rooms when I was given the chance to speak. Two Presbyterial annual meetings and a three-session Conference for W.M.S. workers in St. John's opened the way for me to confer with many of those who carry leadership responsibility in W.M.S. work in the tenth province, while twenty-one meetings with Auxiliaries, Affiliated Societies and Woman's Associations made it possible for me to understand many of the problems facing the groups locally.

Altogether the two trips were very interesting, even exciting at times, in the variety of work and the opportunities given me to understand problems and be of help.

Roughly itemized, my work on the field for 1949 would read as follows:

Presbyterial Meetings	7	Mission Circles	3
Auxiliary Meetings and Rallies ..	20	C.G.I.T. Meetings and Rallies ..	22
Affiliated Societies	9	Missions Bands and Explorers ...	11
Woman's Associations	9	Y.P.U. Rallies	1
W.M.S. Workers' Conference ...	1	Open Meetings	17
Presbyterial Executive	1	Presbytery	1
Leaders' Conferences	18	Radio-Devotions	1
Church Services	32
Sunday Schools	10		188
Public and High Schools	25

A total of 188 meetings in 85 different places in 15 Presbyterials and 2 Presbyteries in 7 Conference Branches.

IDA MACKENZIE, Field Secretary.

SECRETARY FOR YOUNGER GROUPS

It was a privilege, indeed, to be recalled to the Secretaryship for Younger Groups after two years' absence. On June 1st, 1949, I resumed these duties, and am happy to have, once again, a share in the training of leadership for the younger groups of our Society. This report is only a partial one since it is for the latter half of 1949; but these six months were filled with many excellent opportunities to encourage and to aid leaders as they assumed their responsibilities, some for the first time.

The summer months were spent at camps and Schools for Leaders. A summer is incomplete without the joy of camping. This I had as I directed the C.G.I.T. Camp for Hamilton Presbytery, and gave leadership in Missionary Education at Camp Wantanopa, the Young People's Camp for Montreal and Ottawa Conference. Then, the two Schools for Leaders—Montreal and Ottawa at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, and London at Alma College, St. Thomas, Ontario—gave me the coveted opportunity to initiate the new study materials and programs for the Mission Band leaders based on Growing With the Years. I was especially happy to meet so many Presbyterian Secretaries for Mission Bands at these Schools.

Early in September a whole series of conferences for leaders of younger groups—Baby Bands, Mission Bands and Affiliated Explorers, Affiliated C.G.I.T. and Mission Circles—was undertaken, held usually in connection with the fall sectional rallies. Again many opportunities to meet local leaders in their own groups were provided which proved enlightening to me, and I hope, worth-while to the leaders. During the autumn months I attempted a more intensified piece of field work than usual in a number of Presbyterials. This meant staying longer in each Presbyterial, thus allowing time to contact as many leaders as possible. The time spent in most Presbyterials ranged from ten days to three weeks. Most of the meetings took the form of conferences with the leaders of younger groups, ranging from two days to two hours in time. As well as these, in some Presbyterials I shared in the program for their sectional rallies.

The following Presbyterials were visited in the above manner: Peterborough, Grey, Niagara, Huron, Perth, Lambton and Essex. As well, two very significant Mission Band Leaders' conferences were held, one in Owen Sound and one in Toronto, for which the secretary assumed a good deal of responsibility, especially in Owen Sound. These were two-day conferences held in September before many leaders opened their Mission Bands and thus provided an excellent opportunity to aid them in preparing their year's work. In both cases a worth-while workshop on the study programs for the year was conducted.

The following summary presents a statistical picture of the work of your Secretary for Younger Groups as she visited some fifty different places from the middle of September to the beginning of December in Central and Western Ontario.

Sectional Rallies	9	Mission Band Demonstration
Auxiliary Conferences	8	Meetings	6
Mission Band Leaders' Conferences	11	Auxiliary Meetings	12
Mission Circle Rallies	6	Sunday Schools	8
C.G.I.T. Leaders' Conferences ...	4	Normal School	1
World Friendship Rallies	5	Personal Conferences with Leaders	9
Younger Group Leaders' Conferences	4	Summer Camps	2
Baby Band Superintendents' Conferences	4	Schools for Leaders (W.M.S.) ..	2
One-day School for Leaders	1		92

I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation to all those who extended to me such kind hospitality while on these trips. Also, I wish to express my gratitude to the Presbyterial Executives who made it possible to carry out these more extended plans for field work in their constituencies and who arranged for it so efficiently. My prayer is that God may bless all those leaders committed to the program of Missionary Education among our children, teen-age girls and young women.

OLIVE D. SPARLING, Secretary for Younger Groups.

Gifts for Building Advance were continued in 1949, the projects being funds for additional personnel for Overseas, new cars for Canada and India, classrooms for Shizuoka Girls' High School in Japan, and a new ward for Dhar Hospital in India.

As in previous years, each Presbyterial that exceeded its allocation could designate for which projects that excess amount should be used, it being the understanding that if one project were oversubscribed, the excess would revert to one undersubscribed, and in the event of all objectives being reached, any additional amount would be used for general maintenance.

The sum of $55,933.99, which was designated for Gifts for Building Advance, and which is included in the total givings of the Branches, was sufficient to complete all but one of the projects, as follows:

Branch	Additional Personnel— Overseas Objective $15,000.00	New Cars		New Class Rooms Shizuoka Girls' High School, Japan Objective $20,000.00	New Ward Dhar Hospital India Objective $6,000.00

Of the total of $55,933.99 raised for "Gifts for Building Advance," the sum of $40,933.99 was transferred to the Property Account to cover the projects which are granted from this Account.

Included in the expenditures from Overseas and Home Missions are grants made from the War Emergency and Rehabilitation Estimate, held in the Current Reserve Account.

The net revenue raised in 1948 for general maintenance was $914,376.53, which was the amount for expenditure in 1949, and it will be seen the expenditures in 1949 exceeded that sum by $35,083.59. Of this amount $23,411.52 was met from War Emergency and Rehabilitation Estimate.

General Fund

In accordance with the action of Dominion Board in 1947, the amount in the General Fund at the beginning of each year is to be the amount of the Estimates for the ensuing year, any difference between the revenue and estimates to be drawn from the Current Reserve Account.

It will be noted from the Balance Sheet that the total assets in the General Fund amount to $1,802,622.90, but in this total and not available for expenditure, are the following:

Property Account—General and Designated.....	$311,073.30
Specific Trust Funds.....	107,563.17
Interest Payable on Specific Trust Funds.....	1,062.35
Transmissions.....	3,017.50
Special Trust Funds (for future remission).....	11,854.25
	<hr/>
	<hr/>

Taking this amount into consideration together with the amount of $1,080,000.00 for 1950 Estimates, plus $15,000.00 for personnel as covered by Gifts for Building Advance and $6,000.00 regranted for 1950, leaves a balance in Current Reserve Account of $267,052.33. In this latter figure, however, is included the balance of the War Emergency and Rehabilitation Estimate of $86,391.84, which amount has been granted but not yet expended, so that the actual balance available in the Current Reserve Account at December 31st, 1949, was $180,660.49.

Bequest Permanent Reserve Fund

Sixty-one bequests were received in 1949, totalling $64,699.78, which was a decrease of two in number, but an increase of $30,586.10 in the amount.

At Dominion Board in 1948 a grant of up to $100,000.00 was made from this Fund to meet urgent requirements in the Overseas fields. The entire grant has been designated, of which $63,530.29 was expended in 1948, and, as will be seen from the statement, $10,186.00 was expended in 1949, leaving an amount of $26,283.71 still to be disbursed.

The capital at December 31st, 1949, appears as $522,963.80, but from this should be deducted the balance of the special grant just mentioned, leaving an amount of $496,680.09 as the actual capital of the Bequest Permanent Reserve Fund.

Rest Fund

At December 31st, 1949, the capital of this Fund was $285,990.56.

Retirement Fund—Capital

The capital of this Fund is now $988,830.94. It was established and is being built up to produce the revenue to take care of the retirement annuities to our missionaries. It receives the annual assessments paid by the missionaries and grant from General Fund, as well as the residue of some Guaranteed Annuity Gifts.

Retirement Fund—Annuity

This Fund, from which annuities are paid to retired missionaries, has a capital of $412,085.98. The interest on the invested funds of the Retirement Fund—Capital is credited to the Retirement Fund—Annuity.

Guaranteed Annuities Fund

In 1949 there were forty-three new gifts received in this Fund, totalling $53,800.00. This is an increase of thirteen in the number of gifts in comparison with 1948, and an increase in the total amount of $6,175.00. The capital of the Fund now stands at $251,085.06. Thirteen gifts matured and the residuum of $11,354.77 was transferred as follows:

General Fund—Donations.....	$6,377.34

Re Investments

The total book value of all investment holdings of the Society as at December 31st, 1949, was $3,572,171.75, divided among the various funds as follows:

Bequest Permanent Reserve Fund.....	$470,420.80
General Fund.....	1,125,200.80
Guaranteed Annuities Fund.....	244,489.75
Rest Fund.....	272,937.50
Retirement Fund—Capital.....	964,405.75
Retirement Fund—Annuity.....	390,881.50
Specific Trust Funds.....	103,835.65
	$3,572,171.75

The gross income from all securities held amounted to $114,303.11.

All securities were evaluated as of December 31st, 1949, and the market value was found to be in excess of the book value.

The usual examination was made by the auditors, and their report certifies that the securities in the Safety Deposit Boxes were in accord with the books of account.

General Remarks

The auditors' report assures the Society that the accounting records have been well-maintained and that satisfactory vouchers were produced to substantiate all disbursements made during the year.

This report would not be complete if mention were not made of those throughout the Society who undertake responsibility for the care of funds. The largest part of the revenue is the givings from our membership, which come to us through local groups, Presbyterials and Conference Branches, and we express appreciation to all who have served in the capacity of treasurer for their part in helping to make 1949 a successful year.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

EDITH MCKENZIE, Assistant Treasurer.

Christian Stewardship

Our report from the Stewardship Department for the year 1949 is a source for gratitude and joy, because there has been marked Advance in so many areas of our work. The final results, in larger financial returns, are a natural result of the faithful service of many women in every Conference Branch. Study these reports gathered from the eleven Conference Branch Stewardship Secretaries. Here is the foundation of our year's "Advance":

More Stewardship Secretaries.....	2,884
More Stewardship Programs	2,601
More Systematic Envelope Givers.....	2,339
More Prayer Partners	2,512

It does not surprise us, after those reports, to learn that we have the largest income from Conference Branch returns since the time of Union—$950,370.00—which is an increase over 1948 of $67,061.32. All Conference Branches exceeded their allocations. Our total income from all sources, at last overtook and passed the million dollar income mark, toward which we had striven for so many years—$1,015,006.10.

The "Gifts for Building Advance" Plan received most enthusiastic support, with these splendid results:

New Missionaries	Objective $15,000.00—Completely met.
New Cars for Canada	Objective 10,000.00—Completely met.
New Cars for India	Objective 9,000.00—Completely met.
New Ward, Dhar Hospital, India	Objective 6,000.00—Completely met.
New Class Rooms—Japan, Shizuoka Girls High School	Objective 20,000.00—$15,933.99

It should be remembered that none of these objectives could have been financed this year except by the united and self-sacrificial effort of every organization, which went beyond its allocation, thus making it possible for the Presbyterial to go beyond allocation and have money to vote to these urgent needs. Let us never forget the fact that "Advance" in our missionary work must come from money over and above allocation, because the maintenance of our present work only is covered by our budget plans.

Our younger groups have also done splendid work this year and continue to cover by their financial efforts some special work assigned to them.

From Baby Bands for selected children's work	$15,646.38
Increase	1,116.51
From Mission Bands and Affiliated Explorer Groups for selected children's work	5,471.34
Increase	21.87
From Affiliated C.G.I.T. for Girls' work	6,141.81
Increase	656.68

Again it is evident, in the reports of our Branch Stewardship Secretaries, that the best financial results follow a steady and sustained study of God's claim on our time, our talents and on our material possessions. This year there were 2,601 meetings under the Woman's Missionary Society devoted to the study of Christian Stewardship. This resulted in more members becoming systematic in their offerings and we trust more also responded as proportionate givers. A strong challenge is needed in this regard because, all too often, God is offered the "remains—the scraps" of time, of money, of ability, after we have used the best ourselves. This sin seems to develop most in the areas of the greatest ease and comfort. I have often wished that all our membership might read the reports of some of our small and scattered groups. They are stories of courage—physical courage in face of long, dangerous journeys by boat, by freight train, by milk truck! They tell of money gifts, which represented giving up a new hat, desserts at dinner, or vacation trip! One report said, "More and more our women are putting God and His work in first place in their plans." Another report said, "Our young people are responding to God's call as never before by giving their lives to His service." Still another said, "We are having more free-will offerings, given monthly by envelope, and we are convinced it is the best way. It saves time and strength for more important service to God."

Once more we thank all the Treasurers, Finance Committees and those who have worked so closely with our department. We are always under obligation to The Missionary Monthly and the Literature Committee for their valuable assistance, and express to them our gratitude.

My personal thanks to all the faithful Christian Stewardship Secretaries, who across our country, in days of prosperity and in days of depression, year in and year out, in large groups and in small ones, are faithfully sowing the Stewardship seed. The faithful sowing is our task. The harvest is in God's care.

(MRS. M. A.) L. MAUDE LOVE, Secretary.

THE REPORT OF THE RETIREMENT FUND FOR 1949

The investments held for the Retirement Fund at book value as at December 31, 1949, were $964,405.75 in the Capital Account and $390,881.50 in the Annuity Account. The interest on the securities in the Retirement Fund was $42,280.51. Bank Interest was $159.15.

The investments in the Capital Account of the Rest Fund, which is administered by the Retirement Fund, were $272,937.50, and the interest on the securities in the Rest Fund was $9,410.17.

Grants of $5,000.00 to the Rest Fund and $20,000.00 to the Retirement Fund were made from General Fund.

Assessments of $5,595.00 were paid, by one hundred and eight-two missionaries. The residuum of nine Guaranteed Annuity Gifts amounted to $4,977.43. Five missionaries resigned for marital and health reasons, one continuing in another capacity in our work. Refunds were made to the amount of $578.05.

Annuities amounting to $27,167.79 from the Retirement Fund and $14,632.35 from the Rest Fund were paid to one hundred and seven retired missionaries. Action was taken that the maximum allowance, including a bonus of $100.00, be $800.00 for 1949. Seven missionaries retired during the year and were placed on the annuity list. God called two of our retired missionaries to their Heavenly Home.

Appreciation has been expressed to the Society by our retired missionaries for contacts made through correspondence, and through the Committee on Retired Missionaries in the Toronto area, convened by Mrs. J. R. Harris.

May I record my thanks to the Treasurer, to the Finance Committee, to Miss Edith McKenzie and staff.

Respectfully submitted,

(MRS. WALTER) ALDA UFFELMAN, Secretary

A SAFE AND RELIABLE INVESTMENT— A LIFE-LONG INCOME THAT WILL NOT SHRINK

By the Guaranteed Annuity Gift Plan of The Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada, a gift of money will be accepted at any time and the donor be paid income thereon at a most attractive rate, this depending upon the donor's age when the gift is made. Many friends are welcoming this Plan, for it not only makes possible the placing of their gift during lifetime (rather than a legacy later) which, upon maturity, becomes immediately effective without legal process or administration expense, but at the same time pays dividends. A suitable bond, over the signatures of the Officers of the Church and of the Society, guarantees the payment of the annual income.

Complete information may be secured upon application to the Assistant Treasurer, 413 Wesley Buildings, Toronto 2 B.
